Bomb Explosion Wave Continues In London

Cambodian Insurgents Stage Attack

PHNOM PENH, Cambodia (UPI) — Cambodian insurgents today launched their biggest attacks since the end of American bombing, firing rockets into the Phnom Penh airport, cutting a vital rice supply route and increasing pressure against a besieged provincial capital.

In neighboring South Vietnam, military sources said government artillery fired 1,000 rounds on Communist gun emplacements near the ancient imperial capital of Hue. The Communist guns had harassed the walled city for nearly 10 days. (See story page 2.)

The most serious action was at the provincial capital of Kompong Cham, 50 miles north of Phnom Penh, where Communists stepped up pressure against the town's besieged defenders. Kompong Cham is surrounded by Communist troops and some sources said the city is the next major target of Communist rebels.

Today's attacks were the first signs of a Communist offensive since the beginning of August, when the rebels began withdrawing from positions close to the capital.

The Cambodian high command said Communist gunners fired three 122 mm rockets at Phnom Penh's Pochentong airport at dawn, with no damage.

The airport has been a frequent target, but Saturday's shelling was the first since the United States ended its bombing support on Aug. 15.

Twelve miles north of the capital at Muk Kampoul, field reporters said five government troops were killed and eight wounded in an all-night battle.

Field reporters said insurgent troops seized a six-mile stretch of Highway 5 36 miles northwest of Phnom Penh. Highway 5 is the major "rice road" leading from Phnom Penh to Battambang, the center of the country's rice-growing provinces.

The command said the Communists repelled a government effort to recapture the highway. It was the first time since July that the Communists had cut the road which has been a frequent site of battle. Battambang also serves as a center for consumer goods smuggled into Cambodia from Thailand.

Incidents Blamed On IRA

LONDON (UPI) —A bombing wave blamed on the Irish Republican Army extended into the upper echelons of British society today. A bomb injured three persons at the Bank of England, another was found in a fashionable boutique and a bomb scare halted a cricket match, forcing 28,000 persons to evacuate the grounds.

Scotland Yard said the bombs were part of an IRA campaign to export the violence of Northern Ireland to England. Saturday was the seventh day of bombings in England.

The militant Provisional wing of the IRA said unofficially in Dublin that it was not responsible for the bombings, but Scotland Yard indicated the London branch of the IRA or a splinter anarchist group might be behind the bombings.

HEATH'S ORDERS

Heath personally instructed that all government departments be reminded to take all possible precautions and be reminded of guidelines on recognizing and handling of letter bombs and other suspicious packages.

Police put heavy security precautions into effect on flights from London to Belfast. Passengers were frisked and all suitcases and handbags were searched.

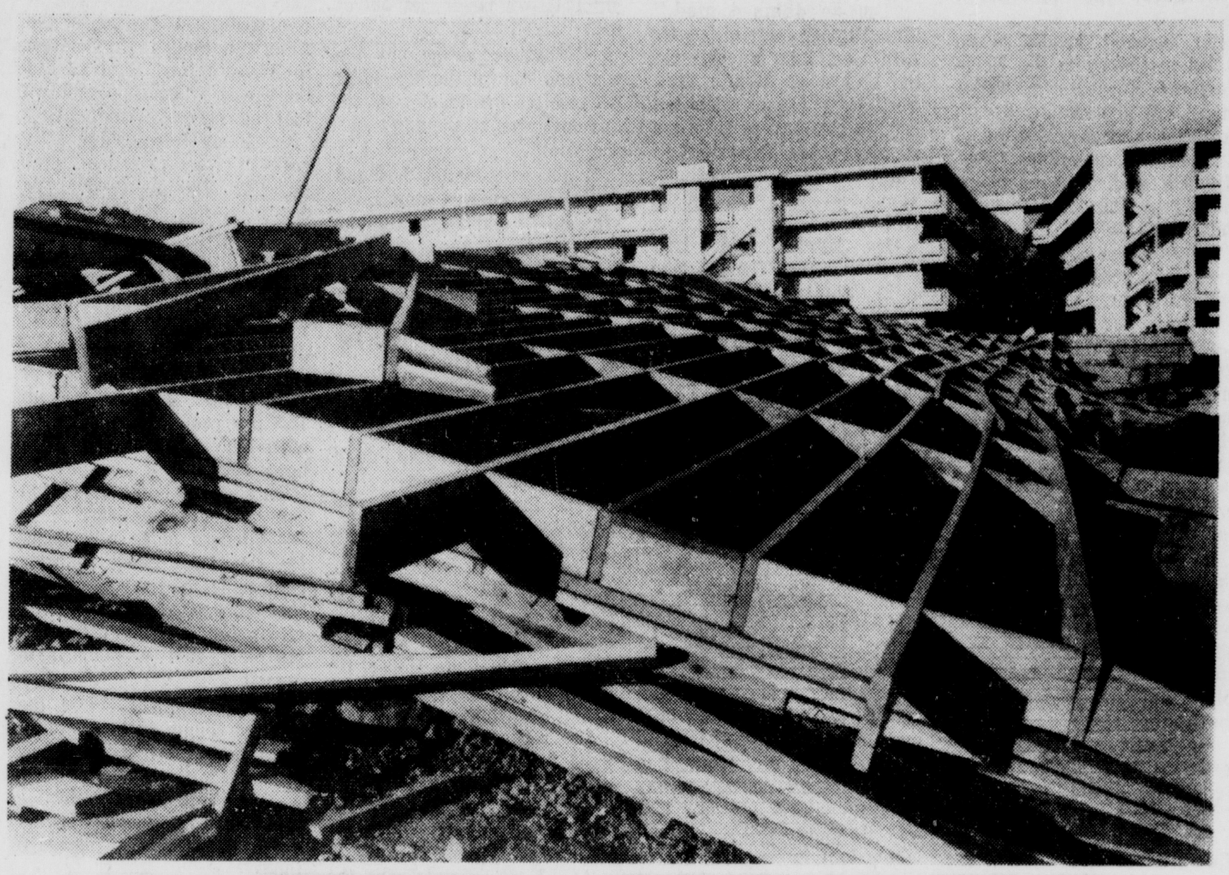
At the Bank of England, a bomb went off in the mail room. Derek Woodward, 44, a member of the bank staff, lost a hand in the explosion, St. Bartholomew's hospital said. Police said the three injured men were trying to surround the parcel containing the bomb with sandbags when the bomb went off.

In Belfast, Northern Ireland, an explosion destroyed a suspected IRA bomb factory Saturday, killing three persons, police said. The explosion demolished a garage behind a vacant house. Police said they found parts of three bodies and said they suspected the garage was used as a bomb factory by guerrillas.

PHONE WARNING

A caller with an Irish accent warned the British Press Association that a bomb was planted in a boutique on Oxford Street, one of the busiest shopping thoroughfares in London. The bomb, wrapped in a white plastic bag, failed to exploded because of a faulty detonator which went off with a "fizzle," according to a witness.

"If this had exploded it could have possibly killed or injured dozens of people," a police spokesman said.



WIND TOPPLES SAN RAFAEL STRUCTURE

Beams and wooden siding that formed the frame of a building under construction at 330 Canal Street lie in a heap after the structure was blown over by gusty winds about 6 p.m. yesterday. Fireman Edward Meager (below) surveys the damage. Children often play in the uncompleted building, but no one was injured in the collapse, according to the San Rafael Fire Department. The collapse of the structure, being built by contractor Ken Thorn, was the second in two weeks. Winds toppled a duplex under construction in Sausalito Aug. 16.

Bedayan Jurors Are Sent Home

By PAUL CANE

The jury charged with deciding the fate of Brent William Bedayan was sent home last night after it failed to reach a verdict in approximately three hours of deliberation.

The seven women and five men began reviewing evidence at 7:30 p.m. after Superior Court Judge Henry J. Broderick told them they must determine whether the 22-year-old Mill Valley man is guilty of first or second degree murder or voluntary manslaughter in the deaths of three members of a Mill Valley family.

Judge Broderick said the jury cannot find the defendant innocent since Public Defender Frank J. Cox has conceded that his client did shoot Melvin and Ruth Schallock and their son, Daniel, on March 16.

Throughout the 20-day trial, Cox has tried to show that Bedayan was not sane at the time of the killings. Dist. Atty. Bruce B. Bales has offered evidence to prove the defendant was legally sane and understood the consequences of his acts.

The sanity phase of the trial —to decide if the Mill Valley man is innocent by reason of insanity — will begin after the verdict is reached.

12 Acres Of Grassland Is Scorched

A windwhipped blaze started by a broken utility wire scorched 12 acres of grassland in Sleepy Hollow yesterday, the San Anselmo Fire Department reported.

Firemen said the blaze began behind Oak Crest Avenue and blackened a swath of land leading to Fawn Drive.

The fire, fanned by gusts of wind, raged for about an hour before being doused by units from the city and county fire departments.

The blaze began when high winds snapped a utility wire near 402 Oak Crest Avenue.

Joint Session Set Monday On Pleasure Faire

Marin and Sonoma County supervisors will meet jointly at 4:30 p.m. Monday at Marin Civic Center to discuss traffic and other problems related to the proposed permanent site of the Renaissance Pleasure Faire and Center.

The boards' second joint meeting will be held in Room 254 of the Hall of Justice.

Sonoma supervisors have vowed to fight the proposed fair location in court unless traffic problems can be solved. The site is located on the Marin side of the county line and would force some traffic through Petaluma to reach the fair.

Yemeni Airliner Is Hijacked To Ethiopia

BEIRUT, Lebanon (UPI) —A Yemeni airliner en route from the Arab Republic of Yemen to Asmara, Ethiopia was hijacked to Kuwait today, landing there after circling for more than an hour while negotiating for permission to land.

Authorities at Kuwait, located at the northeast corner of the Arabian peninsula, first shut down the airport and refused to permit the pirated plane to land. The aircraft was forced to circle the airport while the hijackers "negotiated" with Kuwaiti officials.

After more than an hour the plane was given permission to land and put down at 6:55 p.m. (11:55 a.m. EDT.)

The Beirut airport sources said the seized airliner was from the Arab Republic of Yemen, located at the southwest corner of the Arabian peninsula and to the west of Southern Yemen but the the identity of the hijackers was not known.

The sources said the plane was hijacked over Ethiopia as it approached Asmara and forced to land for refueling at Djibouti in the French Territory of Afars and Issas before making the long flight back across the Red Sea and over the Arabian desert to Kuwait.

Although the identify of the aerial pirates was not immediately established, there have been press reports of at least two political opposition groups active in Yemen against the government of Premier Abdullah El-Hajari.

The reports identified the groups as the Revolutionary Resisters Organization, founded in 1970, and the Revolutionary People's Army Organization, established last year. Both have the declared objective of overthrowing the "feudalist, reactionary regime" by means of armed violence.

The opposition put up by them, as well as other opponents of the regime, has prompted Hajari's government to start a drive against what the government calls "saboteurs and subversive elements."

Wiretapping Put Down By Rogers

WASHINGTON (UPI) —Outgoing Secretary of State William P. Rogers said today he did not know about and would not have approved the reported wiretapping of three of his top aides between 1969 and 1971 as part of a secret White House effort to stop news leaks.

Rogers' comment, through a State Department spokesman, seemed to put further distance between him and President Nixon, who has acknowledged authorizing wiretaps on telephones of some government officials and journalists to halt publication of "highly sensitive foreign policy initiatives ... which were obviously based on leaks."

Last Monday, two days before Nixon announced Rogers' resignation and appointment of Henry A. Kissinger to succeed him on Sept. 3, Rogers told a news conference the United States must not be "so obsessed with security matters that laws are freely violated" at the expense of individual rights.

MARIN LIVING SALUTES FAIR

So that Marin County residents can more fully enjoy their county fair, opening Thursday at the Marin Civic Center Fairgrounds, today's issue of the Independent-Journal's Marin Living section is a special edition, spotlighting some of the fair participants and programs.

The fair will run for five days, through Labor Day, with the fairgrounds open daily 10 a.m. to 10 p.m., and with free entertainment on the outdoor stage and in Marin Veterans Memorial Building.

Pipers Work On Big Glasgow Show

GLASGOW, Scotland (UPI) — The Prince Charles Pipe Band of Marin County, practiced in Glasgow yesterday for their biggest blow of the year today at the famous Cowal Games at Dunoon.

It is one of the world's biggest piping and drumming festivals and once was the scene of the World Pipe Band Championship. The contest is held in a magnificent setting of Scottish mountains, and a win at Cowal is an accolade for any piper or drummer.

The 40-strong Prince Charles party has 10 drummers, 22 pipers and two drum majors, aided by three instructors and three chaperones.

Drumming instructor Jack Sutherland of Corte Madera told what happened in Edinburgh when the band decided to put in a spot of practice in a park downhill from their hotel.

"We had finished our first spell of playing when the (Royal Air Force) Association sent down bottles of lemonade for the youngsters and invited the instructors in for a wee dram," he said.

"It looked as if our Edinburgh hosts were enjoying our playing. So we set out next day to give them some more entertainment, but this time a police sergeant approached us apologetically and told us it was a private park belonging to the local home owners.

"It appeared that one of them did not care much for the bagpipes. The sergeant suggested we might be able to find another park in town," Sutherland said.

But if the Prince Charles Band found disappointment in the park, there was none at Edinburgh Castle where, courtesy of Capt. John McLellan, commander of the Army School of Piping, they were shown over the castle, taken on a tour of the army school and other parts not normally open to the public.

The castles of Scotland have intrigued the young Californians. They have been to Linlithgow Castle and Stirling Castle

'STRATEGY BOOK'

Martha Ends Silence, Blasts Nixon's Talk

By HELEN THOMAS

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) —Martha Mitchell says she read a "campaign strategy book" written by President Nixon and H.R. Haldeman that she hinted included plans for Watergate-style operations. She said the Senate Watergate committee should call her to testify.

She said Nixon's news conference denial that her husband, former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell, had told him the details of Watergate, was "a damned lie."

Her husband shielded Nixon in his testimony to the Ervin committee because he hopes Nixon will pay him back with executive clemency if Mitchell is convicted of crimes, Mrs. Mitchell said in a telephone interview with UPI reporter Helen Thomas.

She said she thinks her husband is "a goddamned fool" to protect Nixon.

"I saw the leather bound campaign strategy book for 1972 that was written by Nixon and Haldeman," she said. "It included the whole procedures of everything that has happened. I saw it with my own two eyes, when I was trying to press John not to go into the campaign.

"It was at least two inches thick," she added. "Everything was there from a to zeta. That's why the (Ervin) Committee should call me." She added it included the 1968 campaign plans and strategy for Nixon's re-election.

She declined to amplify, but said that she should be called to testify in executive session, "not on television."

"This is the reason I think the Committee should hear me out," she said. She said she read part of the book.

She angrily disputed Nixon's statement that Mitchell had never told him about the Watergreak-in, and that he had not asked Mitchell about it.

"For God's sake he used to call John at two o'clock in the morning, and he said he didn't call his attorney general. He called him every night. I've got proof from Julia (her housekeeper).

"Why did they go out on the Sequoia (the presidential yacht) every night last summer during the reelection campaign," she said.

"Nixon was aware of the whole goddamned thing," she said angrily.

Mrs. Mitchell watched the presidential news conference last Wednesday and was particularly irate with Nixon's statement that "throughout I would have expected Mr. Mitchell to tell me in the event that he was involved or that anybody else was. He did not tell me. I don't blame him for not telling me. He has his reasons for not telling me. I regret that he did not, because he is exactly right. Had he told me, I would have blown my stack..."

Mitchell had testified that if he told Nixon he would have "blown the lid," a different expression, meaning expose the facts.

But Mrs. Mitchell believes that her husband defended the President's innocence "because he thinks he (Nixon) would give him (executive) clemency for what he has done for him."

Regarding her husband's testimony, she said: "I thought he was a goddamned fool ... like he has always been in trying to protect the President."

Mrs. Mitchell surfaced after a nearly month-long silence to express her views.

She said she fears "John Mitchell will never get out of it."

"My husband is the only one who can control the President because the President goes out and does what he shouldn't do," she said."

"I did not want my husband to be his campaign manager," she said. "I told him not to take it."

She indicated that there was friction between her and her husband because of "what Watergate has done to our lives. We have been suffering."

She also described Nixon as the "most egotistic person I have ever met in my life."

"He has a temper like I do, if I get mad at something.

"The President has assulted both John and me in taking everything we had or wanted," she said.

Speaking of her husband, she said: "The President did not exonerate him. He who put Nixon in the White House. He exonerated Haldeman and (John) Ehrlichman.

She repeated that her husband is "protecting the President."

Nixon, she claims, "dreamed the whole thing up," meaning his campaign plans.

At several points during the conversation, she insisted that her telephone was tapped. She made two calls from her New York apartment and a whistling sound could be heard at intervals.

She also said that she had been swamped with mail. "If you can see my letters from the women's libbers."

MARTHA IS BACK ON THE PHONE

NEW YORK (UPI) — Martha Mitchell tried early yesterday to communicate with the Western White House on her husband's relationship with President Nixon, but she was told to "call UPI," she said.

"I'm so damned mad," Mrs. Mitchell, wife of former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell told the UPI news desk in New York in a 3 a.m. telephone call. "I asked them to let me speak to the President. I wanted to tell him something. They told me, 'Tell it to UPI.' "

Mrs. Mitchell called UPI reporter Helen Thomas who is in California covering the president's activities.

Jump Seen In August Food Costs

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The cost of food per year for a typical family rose $12 in July to a record $1,529, and Agriculture Department officials warned yesterday the figures for August may be even higher because the price ceilings on all foods except beef have been lifted.

In a separate speech, Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz said the wholesale price index for all goods will make an astounding jump in August, but inflation should gradually decrease "once the bulge is behind us."

Addressing a meeting of the American Bankers Association in Washington, Shultz said there was a "good possibility" that the economy would make a "reasonably soft landing at a rate of four per cent real growth." The figure for the fourth quarter of 1972 and the first quarter of 1973 was twice that.

The Agriculture Department market basket report issued Friday includes a list of U.S.-produced farm foods for a hypothetical average household of 3.2 persons. The cost was up 14.3 per cent from December, when the current food price boom began.

The government raised the interest ceiling on federally insured home mortgages to a new high of 1.5 per cent. The move was made to help prospective middle-and low-income buyers compete for scarce mortgage funds.

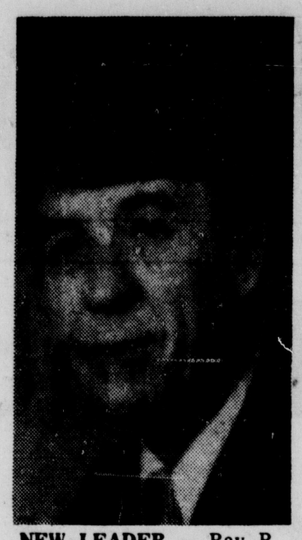
The Agriculture Department announced hearings next Friday at Clayton, Mo., that could lead to a substantial increase in minimum prices for bottling milk.

In New York, a group called Women United for Action filed an antitrust suit charging six major meat companies with conspiring to withhold beef from the market in order to drive the price up when the freeze on beef prices is lifted Sept. 12.

Marvin Gersten, purchase commissioner for New York City, inspected 100 freshly butchered beef carcasses he had just bought at the Spencer Foods Co. plant in Schuyler, Neb. and said, "I'm delighted. I can serve my hospitals Nebraska sirloin cheaper than I can buy pork tenderloin."

Governor's Feast

MONTGOMERY, Ala. (UPI) —George Corley Wallace turned 54 today and invited 15,000 persons to a barbecue picnic at Garrett Coliseum. Supporters of the Alabama governor amassed 4,000 barbecued chickens, 12,000 ears of corn, 1,500 watermelons and more than a million beans.



NEW LEADER — Ray R. Soden of Benseville, Ill., a public relations executive, has been elected commander in chief of the Veterans of Foreign War s. His election came yesterday at the group's 74th annual convention in New Orleans.

Talmadge Rules Out Impeachment

ATLANTA (UPI) —Sen. Herman Talmadge, a member of the Senate Watergate Committee, said yesterday impeachment of President Nixon is "completely out of the question."

Talmadge, appearing before the Atlanta Press Club, said the Watergate committee has heard no evidence that would warrant taking action against the President.

Impeachment is completely out of the question," said the Georgia democrat.

"The House would not vote a bill of indictment, and the Senate would not vote to convict," he said.

Talmadge said the only evidence implicating President Nixon had come from former White House counsel John Dean but under the "Anglo-Saxon system of justice," the committee would have to give greater credence to denials by the President.

Talmadge said he could not reach a conclusion about Dean's reliability as a witness, but he said his testimony was impressive. "He faced four days of interrogation without any serious discrepancies," he said.

Asked which witness he "feared the most," Talmadge replied without hesitation, "Mr. (John) Ehrlichman."

"He came through a little arrogant, a little overbearing," said Talmadge.

He said Ehrlichman, a former White House assistant, gave the impression he alone knew what was best for the country.

WORLD NEWS IN BRIEF

Auto Talks

DETROIT (UPI) — Chrysler Corp. and United Auto Workers bargainers met today in the first weekend negotiating session, just 21 days before the contract covering 127,500 workers expires.

While the sessions today and tomorrow were scheduled to last just three hours, it indicated both sides were feeling the pressure to put together a new contract before 11:50 p.m., Sept. 14. As the "Target" company, Chrysler must settle by the deadline or face a strike while Ford and General Motors continue to build cars.

Trio Killed

BELFAST (UPI) — An explosion demolished a garage which police said was an apparent terrorist bomb factory in Belfast today, killing three persons.

The blast came a few hours after British army troops opened a car abandoned on the border with the Irish Republic and found the body of a man the Irish Republican Army (IRA) said it had killed as an informer.

To Mexico City

MEXICO CITY (UPI) — Henry A. Kissinger flew to Mexico City yesterday to attend the silver wedding anniversary of Mexico's foreign minister in his first trip outside the U.S. since being nominated secretary of state.

Accompanied by his two children, Elizabeth, 14, and David, 10, Kissinger planned a two-day visit to the capital and scheduled talks later today with President Louis Behovorria.

The Mexican Foreign Relations Ministry said Kissinger was in Mexico for the 25th wedding anniversary celebration of Foreign Minister Emilie of Rabasa and his wife, Socorro.

Nuclear Test?

CANBERRA, Australia (UPI) — Prime Minister Gough Whitlam said today France has probably during off the fourth explosion in its 1973 series of Pacific nuclear tests.

Whitlam, in a statement released by the Foreign Affairs Department, said, "The Australian gove'nment has reason to believe that France has exploded another nuclear device today.

POW Annullment

SHERMAN, Tex. (UPI) — Former civilian war prisoner Alton Newingham and his bride have had their marriage annulled a week after returning from a Caribbean honeymoon.

Baker's Views

KNOXVILLE, Tenn. (UPI) — Sen. Howard Baker, vice chairman of the Senate Watergate Committee, said yesterday that President Nixon has been injured by the Watergate scandal "but not fatally."

Baker, R-Tenn., said he felt "the worst is over" as far as the Watergate scandal is concerned.

"The President has been injured by Watergate by not fatally," said Baker. "He is going to be able to govern."

Baker said the American people consider Watergate serious but not serious enough to remove Nixon from office, and he felt they have been "remarkable forebearing in their attitude toward Watergate."

Blasts Nixon

WASHINGTON (UPI) — AFL-CIO President George Meany rejected President Nixon's contention that the Senate Watergate hearings should be ended, saying the panel's investigation was needed to get "the full story of this ugly attempt to debase the democratic process."

In an editorial in this week's issue of the AFL-CIO News, Meansy said the hearings should continue "since we cannot get the truth from President Nixon."

Skylab Records

HOUSTON (UPI) — The Skylab 2 astronauts returned to orbital research today with their second successful spacewalk behind them and swept past the space endurance record, setting a new historic mark with each passing minute.

Alan L. Bean, Owen K. Garriott and Jack R. Lousma surpassed the Skylab 1 spaceflight record of 28 days, 49 minutes and 49 seconds at 40 seconds after 8 a.m. (EDT).

"I think we're all equally as healthy as they were, maybe a little bit better thanks to all their advice after their flight.'

Musical Festival

SIDNEY, Ohio (UPI) — Eome 5,000 persons jammed into the Shelby County Fairgrounds last night for the opening of the Rock of Ages '73 religious music festival, which continues through tomorrow.

Officials said they expected the crowd to double before the festival closes. Last year's festival drew 5,000.

The festival, sponsored by a group called The Way, has drawn more than 30 musical groups. They performed for 12 hours yesterday and planned to continue through midnight tonight.

Mideast Trip

UNITED NATIONS (UPI) — United Nations Secretary General Kurt Waldheim prepared to leave for a trip tonight to the Middle East, but didn't pack anynew any new plans, a U.N. spokesman said.

The spokesman said Waldheim would not present any specific proposals to Israel and the Arab states, but just wanted to sound out both sides on the continuing Middle East problem.

Waldheim was scheduled to fly first to Geneva for talks with Swedish Ambassador Gunnar V. Jarring, the Middle East peace envoy.

The spokesman said the secretary general was leaving a day ahead of schedule to give himself more time to talk with Jarring before meeting Middle East leaders.

Holiday Bonus

DETROIT (UPI) — About 13,000 American Motors workers will share in a $2 million Christmas bonus, the first time in seven years that the smallest of the automakers has been able to make a profit sharing payment.

Workers who have completed at least 1,700 hours, about 42 weeks, with AMC will receive a minimum of $150 in his paycheck during the week of Dec. 14, the United Auto Worker announced yesterday.

South Vietnamese Artillery Pounds Red Units Near Hue

SAIGON (UPI) — South Vietnamese artillery fired a 1,000 round barrage into Communist gun positions harassing the defense perimeter around the old imperial capital of Hue today with a rumble that echoed from the walls of the city's ruined Citadel.

Military sources told UPI correspondent Paul Vogle that the barrage, heaviest fired by government guns on the Hue front since the Jan. 28 ceasefire, was ordered after the government's 1st Infantry Division lost contact with two of its outposts in the wake of 10 days of Communist mortar, artillery and rocket harassment.

"We believe we are firing at these outposts," a military source told Vogle.

The outposts, each manned by 10 government soldiers, were located near the old U.S. 101st Airborne Division's Fire Base Lyon, 12 miles west of Hue.

A government staff officer at Hue told Vogle it was "still too early to know the enemy's intentions but the infiltration, shelling and not too serious attempts at ground attacks suggests they are trying to keep us off balance while they retrench themselves.

"Whether this is simply to build up their area for future development or to build up their area as a base for further attacks on us, we cannot know for sure," the officer said.

However, a government paratrooper officer told Vogle that Communist artillery harassment of the Airborne Division, defending the northwestern approaches to Hue, was aimed at masking Communist movements.

"The Communists are just taking pot shots at the Airborne so that the paratroopers will not interfere with their road movements," he said.

The outbreak of artillery dueling on the Hue front came on the eve of South Vietnam's seventh general election. Thirty-one seats in the country's 60 member Senate are to be filled in balloting Sunday.

'STRATEGY BOOK'

Martha Ends Silence, Blasts Nixon's Talk

By HELEN THOMAS

SAN CLEMENTE, Calif. (UPI) —Martha Mitchell says she read a "campaign strategy book" written by President Nixon and H.R. Haldeman that she hinted included plans for Watergate-style operations. She said the Senate Watergate committee should call her to testify.

She said Nixon's news conference denial that her husband, former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell, had told him the details of Watergate, was "a damned lie."

Her husband shielded Nixon in his testimony to the Ervin committee because he hopes Nixon will pay him back with executive clemency if Mitchell is convicted of crimes, Mrs. Mitchell said in a telephone interview with UPI reporter Helen Thomas.

She said she thinks her husband is "a goddamned fool" to protect Nixon.

"I saw the leather bound campaign strategy book for 1972 that was written by Nixon and Haldeman," she said. "It included the whole procedures of everything that has happened. I saw it with my own two eyes, when I was trying to press John not to go into the campaign.

"It was at least two inches thick," she added. "Everything was there from a to zeta. That's why the (Ervin) Committee should call me." She added it included the 1968 campaign plans and strategy for Nixon's re-election.

She declined to amplify, but said that she should be called to testify in executive session, "not on television."

"This is the reason I think the Committee should hear me out," she said. She said she read part of the book.

She angrily disputed Nixon's statement that Mitchell had never told him about the Watergreak-in, and that he had not asked Mitchell about it.

"For God's sake he used to call John at two o'clock in the morning, and he said he didn't call his attorney general. He called him every night. I've got proof from Julia (her housekeeper).

"Why did they go out on the Sequoia (the presidential yacht) every night last summer during the reelection campaign," she said.

"Nixon was aware of the whole goddamned thing," she said angrily.

Mrs. Mitchell watched the presidential news conference last Wednesday and was particularly irate with Nixon's statement that "throughout I would have expected Mr. Mitchell to tell me in the event that he was involved or that anybody else was. He did not tell me. I don't blame him for not telling me. He has his reasons for not telling me. I regret that he did not, because he is exactly right. Had he told me, I would have blown my stack..."

Mitchell had testified that if he told Nixon he would have "blown the lid," a different expression, meaning expose the facts.

But Mrs. Mitchell believes that her husband defended the President's innocence "because he thinks he (Nixon) would give him (executive) clemency for what he has done for him."

Regarding her husband's testimony, she said: "I thought he was a goddamned fool ... like he has always been in trying to protect the President."

Mrs. Mitchell surfaced after a nearly month-long silence to express her views.

She said she fears "John Mitchell will never get out of it."

"My husband is the only one who can control the President because the President goes out and does what he shouldn't do," she said."

"I did not want my husband to be his campaign manager," she said. "I told him not to take it."

She indicated that there was friction between her and her husband because of "what Watergate has done to our lives. We have been suffering."

She also described Nixon as the "most egotistic person I have ever met in my life."

"He has a temper like I do, if I get mad at something.

"The President has assulted both John and me in taking everything we had or wanted," she said.

Speaking of her husband, she said: "The President did not exonerate him. He who put Nixon in the White House. He exonerated Haldeman and (John) Ehrlichman.

She repeated that her husband is "protecting the President."

Nixon, she claims, "dreamed the whole thing up," meaning his campaign plans.

At several points during the conversation, she insisted that her telephone was tapped. She made two calls from her New York apartment and a whistling sound could be heard at intervals.

She also said that she had been swamped with mail. "If you can see my letters from the women's libbers."

MARTHA IS BACK ON THE PHONE

NEW YORK (UPI) — Martha Mitchell tried early yesterday to communicate with the Western White House on her husband's relationship with President Nixon, but she was told to "call UPI," she said.

"I'm so damned mad," Mrs. Mitchell, wife of former Atty. Gen. John Mitchell told the UPI news desk in New York in a 3 a.m. telephone call. "I asked them to let me speak to the President. I wanted to tell him something. They told me, 'Tell it to UPI.'"

Mrs. Mitchell called UPI reporter Helen Thomas who is in California covering the president's activities.

Jump Seen In August Food Costs

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The cost of food per year for a typical family rose $12 in July to a record $1,529, and Agriculture Department officials warned yesterday the figures for August may be even higher because the price ceilings on all foods except beef have been lifted.

In a separate speech, Treasury Secretary George P. Shultz said the wholesale price index for all goods will make an astounding jump in August, but inflation should gradually decrease "once the bulge is behind us."

Addressing a meeting of the American Bankers Association in Washington, Shultz said there was a "good possibility" that the economy would make a "reasonably soft landing at a rate of four per cent real growth." The figure for the fourth quarter of 1972 and the first quarter of 1973 was twice that.

The Agriculture Department market basket report issued Friday includes a list of U.S.-produced farm foods for a hypothetical average household of 3.2 persons. The cost was up 14.3 per cent from December, when the current food price boom began.

$46.2 Million Raw Heroin Haul In Italy

PADOVA, Italy (UPI) — Narcotics agents confiscated nearly $46.2 million worth of raw heroin destined for the United States and arrested two Sicilians with know Mafia connections, police said yesterday.

The 70 pounds of 90 per cent pure heroin were found concealed in a sedan. They were wrapped in 50 separate packets.

Police said U.S. narcotics agents helped the two-month-old investigation that led to the discovery of the heroin and the arrest of Giuseppe Palmeri, 58, and Pietro Ingoglia, 53.

It was one of the largest seizures of hard drugs in Italy.

The heroin came from France, police said, and was to be sent to the United States aboard a ship departing from the Italian port of Genoa.

The automobile containing the heroin belonged to a girl friend of Ingoglia and was parked in the Padova railway station when agents swooped on it.

In Washington the Drug Enforcement Administration said Italian police arrested three major international drug traffickers in the raid near Milan. The heroin originated in Marseilles and would have had a street value of $46.2 million in the United States, according to John R. Bartels, acting Federal Drug Administrator.

It also reported the arrest of Giuseppe Palmeri, Leonardo Crimi and Pietro Ingoglia, all Italian nationals. Bartels said Palmeri and Crimi are top level organized crime figures with underworld connections in the United States. Italian police said Palmeri and Ingoglia had long criminal records and were known to have Mafia connections.

They attracted the attention of narcotics agents after they were visited regularly by persons of Italian-French and Italian-American nationality who were suspected of making arrangements for the transport of hard drugs from France to the United States, police said.

'FINGERPRINTING'

A New Method Employed To Nail Guilty Vessels

By WARD MOREHOUSE III
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

Two ships are anchored in a bay containing an oil spill. Both deny doing the damage. There are no witnesses, no photographs and plenty of fouled beaches.

How to track down the polluter?

One answer is "fingerprinting" — taking samples of the oil, analyzing it in a laboratory, and checking it against computer data of oil samples from each ship.

And a team of scientists at Rhode Island University claims to have developed a "foolproof" fingerprinting method.

Their system, according to a spokesman for the university, is unique because it uses a region of the infra-red scale that has not been used before in investigating oil slicks. The way samples absorb or emit infra-red (heat) radiation of different wave-lengths depends on their molecular makeup.

Dr. Christopher Brown, director of the Rhode Island University project and himself an assistant professor of chemistry there, says that this kind of fingerprinting is the most accurate way of linking mystery oil spills to delinquent tankers. If a fingerprint — the specific molecular composition of oil in a mystery spill —has been previously coded by computer, he says, matching spill and source is simple and quick.

However, despite the test's reported accuracy, the method is not widely used. Dr. Robert Hildebrand, head of the U.S. Coast Guard's research and development center in New Groton, Conn., says only one civil case has been prosecuted thus far using lab tests; not a single criminal case has used the technique of "fingerprinting."

And the federal Environmental Protection Agency (EPA) calls lab testing "a last resort" for identifying polluter sources in court.

One problem is that not all suspects in an oil spill investigation want to cooperate.

Mark Ahadjian, equipped with an oil slick sample collector, acted as a sleuth for the Rhode Island scientists during their experiments. During one excursion, he was nabbed by an angry watchman on the water edge precincts of a leading Boston oil supplier. "No," said the guard, "Mr. Ahadjian could not take a quick sample of an oil slick. Confronting the firm's president, he met with a similar reply.

Undaunted, the slick Sherlock went down river and lowered his sample collector into the water from a bridge.

Dr. Brown says his team has analyzed a number of large and small spills over the past several months. Last April, for instance, when the "Pennant," an oil tanker, spilled 100,000 gallons of fuel oil in Narragansett Bay, fouling its beaches, they were able to pinpoint the tanker as the source of the slicks. But most mystery spills go unidentified, and polluters unpunished, because of the time lag between the spill discovery and the lab test results.

"We're trying to develop a machine that is portable enough to take with us on a boat," says Patricia Lynch, Dr. Brown's assistant.

New London U.S. Coast Guard Ensign John Bair, in charge of monitoring spills for the region, contends on-the-spot witnesses and photos are the best means of hooking offenders. Ensign Bair and the EPA — both backed by federal law —can obtain oil samples in places where Ahadjian is beginning to fear to tread.

Hildebrand said his research and development lab in New London has been "informally exchanging information" with the university team. "We're both going to the top of the pyramid. The Coast Guard is still at the nonoperational and development stage.

"We're trying to find the best method that will hold up in a court of law. The URI scientists think they discovered the unused infra-red spectrum method first, but we've had it in our back pocket for a long time."

Nevertheless, Hildebrand called gas chromatography and fluorescent spectroscopy "more promising fingerprinting methods."

Is there any cooperation from U.S. oil companies for the university's efforts? Yes, some have supplied oil and kerosene samples, but grants for research, no. At present, Miss Lynch and Mr. Ahadjian are working gratis.

According to Richard T. Deuling, vice-president of the analysis division for EPA Region 2 (including New York and New Jersey) no "standardized fingerprinting method" is likely to develop in the near future.

In short, he says, the more tests that are run on a sample, the more probability there is of a match-up. He calls analysis "the cherry on top of the ice cream and the cake."

The federal Water Pollution Control Act contains both civil and criminal penalties for oil spills. Enforced by the Coast Guard since January 1973, civil penalties bring a maximum of a $5,000 fine; criminal violations —so called when spillers fail to report spillage — are punishable by up to a $10,000 fine and a year in jail.

There were 20 spills in eastern Connecticut during 1972. Of these, 18 have been civil cases, two criminal, the Coast Guard reports.

Of 1,100 oil slicks reported in New York's city harbor 350 to 400 cases were prosecuted. Ten were criminal.

To date, the Coast Guard holds all hearings on violations.

White Sands Missile Test Program Ends

WHITE SANDS, N.M. (UPI) —A nine-year-old Air Force missile program that provided a great deal of information ended at White Sands Missile Range yesterday.

The 141st missile in the Air Force's Athena Missile Test Program was fired successfully from the range's Green River, Utah, launch complex and impacted at the southern New Mexico range.

The three-stage "H" missile was the last in a series of Athenas launched since August 1964. The firing program, to be taken over by the Army, will be moved to a launch complex at Wake Island in the Pacific.

A range spokesman described the Athena program as "highly successful," which accounted for its duration, despite some early spectacular failures.

One of the early missiles in 1964 went off course and landed in southern Colorado. It was not found until nearly a year later near Creede.

In July 1970 another Athena missile overshot the range and landed in northern Mexico. After some diplomatic maneuvering, a team from the range was granted permission to cross the border and recover the missile.

There have been two types of Athena missiles launched during the program, the regular four-stage missile and the three-stage "H" model. Both have been used to gather data for the Army, Navy, Air Force and the National Aeronautics and Space Administration on re-entry of space vehicles.

The program originally was intended only for about 12 launchings over a two-to-three year period.

Word Of Advice To Campers — Watch Bears

Neither ice chests, picnic baskets or even a locked car will keep a hungry bear from his appointed rounds, as a Santa Venetia man learned to his chagrin on a recent visit to Yosemite National Park.

Jerry McEowen said a bear broke into his auto near Tuolumne Meadows Aug. 15, rampaged through the vehicle and ate the family's entire food supply, as well as six tubes of lipstick and other apparently inedible items.

McEowen, camped in a nearby tent, managed to scare the beast away with a flashlight and some shrieks, but not before it had done $355 to his 1973 Pinto.

He urged other Marin residents planning camping trips to Yosemite to take extraordinary precautions with their food so it will not act as a lure for bears.

"Put it in a container, throw a rope around it and tie it to a tree," McEowen suggested yesterday, "or else the bears will get it, wherever it is."

McEowen is the second county resident to report widespread bear activity in the park. John L. Levinsohn of San Rafael reported that a bear crushed the rear window of his car in the park near May Lake last week.

Downtown Plan Session Monday

Tiburon is downtown plan and and proposed housing element will be discussed by the city planning commission Monday at 8 p.m. in city hall.

The plan, adopted three years ago, would turn the downtown into a village center, combining business and residential uses, according to Richard S. Arjo, director of community development.

The city is proposing to form a redevelopment agency to atract a developer who will build in accordance with the downtown plan.

$46.2 Million Raw Heroin Haul In Italy

PADOVA, Italy (UPI) — Narcotics agents confiscated nearly $46.2 million worth of raw heroin destined for the United States and arrested two Sicilians with know Mafia connections, police said yesterday.

The 70 pounds of 90 per cent pure heroin were found concealed in a sedan. They were wrapped in 50 separate packets.

Police said U.S. narcotics agents helped the two-month-old investigation that led to the discovery of the heroin and the arrest of Giuseppe Palmeri, 58, and Pietro Ingoglia, 53.

It was one of the largest seizures of hard drugs in Italy.

The heroin came from France, police said, and was to be sent to the United States aboard a ship departing from the Italian port of Genoa.

The automobile containing the heroin belonged to a girl friend of Ingoglia and was parked in the Padova railway station when agents swooped on it.

In Washington the Drug Enforcement Administration said Italian police arrested three major international drug traffickers in the raid near Milan. The heroin originated in Marseilles and would have had a street value of $46.2 million in the United States, according to John R. Bartels, acting Federal Drug Administrator.

It also reported the arrest of Giuseppe Palmeri, Leonardo Crimi and Pietro Ingoglia, all Italian nationals. Bartels said Palmeri and Crimi are top level organized crime figures with underworld connections in the United States. Italian police said Palmeri and Ingoglia had long criminal records and were known to have Mafia connections.

They attracted the attention of narcotics agents after they were visited regularly by persons of Italian-French and Italian-American nationality who were suspected of making arrangements for the transport of hard drugs from France to the United States, police said.

ALMANAC

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Saturday, Aug. 25, the 237th day of 1973 with 128 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus and Jupiter.

Pianist — composer Leonard Bernstein was born Aug. 25, 1918.

On this day in history:

In 1718, the city of New Orleans was founded.

In 1921, the United States signed a peace treaty with Germany, officially ending World War I.

In 1944, American troops liberated Paris in World War II.

In 1950, President Harry Truman seized the nation's railroads to prevent a general strike.

A thought for the day: Fifth American president, James Monroe, said, "National honor is national property of the highest value."

Gunman Is Closeted In Bank's Vault

STOCKHOLM (UPI) —Police armed with submachine guns burst into a barricaded bank office today, but a gunman carrying explosives had retreated with four hostages and a convict friend into the bank vault.

"There are indications that the gunman may attempt a breakout," a police official said.

Police said the unidentified gunman, armed with explosives and a submachine gun, entered the bank vault late last night with his four hostages— three women and a man. Also with him was Clark Olofsson, a 26-year-old convicted bank robber whose release the gunman demanded.

They said the man shut the vault door, but that it had not been locked.

Police dressed in bulletproof vests and steel helmets broke into the downtown bank office shortly after noon and took up positions outside the vault door.

There was no shooting.

Outside the bank, more than 100 policemen, including half a dozen sharpshooters, took up firing positions awaiting a possible attempt by the gunman to break out of the bank with his hostages and a $750,000 ransom.

Police parked a Ford Mustang outside the bank as a getaway car for the gunman, who demanded that he be allowed to leave with two of the hostages, the money, Olofsson and two guns.

Police refused the demand and said he must release the hostages if he wanted safe conduct.

The gunman, who has been holed up in the bank since Thursday, was first identified by police as a 22-year-old convicted bank robber, Kaj Robert Hansson.

Police said they sent Hansson's brother into the bank early yesterday and the robber fired at him because he did not recognize him. They said that they now believe the robber is a 32-year-old robber who served time with Olofsson.

Police said Hansson's mother also listened to a telephone interview from the bank and told police "this is not my son."

Man Held In Probe Of A Shooting

A Marin City man was arrested today for investigation of assault with intent to kill and being an accessory to a crime in connection with an attempt to shoot a deputy sheriff in the Southern Marin community.

No bail had been set for Wilbert Smith, 23, of 49 Cole Drive, who is to appear Monday in Marin Municipal Court. A companion, who deputies said actually fired the shots at Sgt. Kenneth Froberg, was being sought.

Froberg received a report of someone siphoning gas out of a car at 79 Cole Drive about 1:30 a.m. He saw a man leaving the scene when he arrived and chased him to a nearby apartment.

Two shots were fired at the deputy from the stairwell of the building, according to Froberg, who said he returned the fire.

The unidentified marksman, apparently uninjured by the deputy's bullets, jumped from the apartment's second story. He was later seen entering a waiting vehicle, identified as belonging to Smith.

Dixie Schools Slate Sign-Ups

Registration for new students in the Dixie School District will be held at all district schools next week through Thursday, according to Supt. Clifford W. Campbell.

Minimum age for admission to kindergarten is four year's, nine months old and for first grade is five years, nine months old as of Sept. 1, he said.

Parents should bring copies of birth certificates or other identification when registering children, he added.

Gnoss's Wife In Serious Condition

Gretchen Gnoss of 623 Olive Avenue, Novato, wife of former Marin County Supervisor William A. Gnoss, was reported in serious condition today in the intensive care unit at Novato General Hospital.

Mrs. Gnoss, reportedly suffered a stroke near the Novato Community House Monday.

response to questions about a New York Times report that the wiretaps authorized by Nixon were placed on 13 government officials, including William H. Sullivan, then deputy assistant secretary of state for East Asia; Richard F. Pedersøn, then counselor to the State Department, and Richard L. Sneider, now Sullivan's successor.

Spokesman Paul Hare said the State Department was unable to confirm the Times report because officials did not have access to the list of those whose telephones were tapped. But Hare said:

"I've been in touch with the secretary of state by phone and the secretary said he had no knowledge of these wiretaps, did not approve them and would not have approved them.

"He said the three officers mentioned in the story are very dedicated and loyal officers who served their country with great distinction."

Sullivan, now ambassador to the Philippines, left the State Department during the Vietnam peace talks last year to serve as an aide to Kissinger at the White House. Pedersen is ambassador to Hungary.

The reported wiretapping apparently was prompted by press disclosures of the secret U.S. negotiating position at the Soviet-American arms control talks.

Among other officials reported to have been under surveillance were some members of Kissinger's National Security Council staff, including Helmut Sonnenfeldt, Morton Halperin, Winston Lord, Daniel I. Davidson and Anthony Lake.

Richard Moose of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee staff and William Safire, a former White House speechwriter, also were said to have been on the list, as were Hedrick Smith of The New York Times, Henry Brandon of the London Sunday Times, Marvin Kalb of CBS, and William Beecher, who recently left The New York Times to become a Defense Department press spokesman.

Novato Driver Nabbed After Auto Accident

A Novato man was arrested yesterday for investigation of felony drunken driving after he and a passenger in his car were injured in an accident on Novato Boulevard about 4:30 p.m.

Gregory Cornell Smith, 22, of 3 Rebecca Way, was booked in absentia after his car left the roadway about 4:30 p.m., Novato police said.

Smith and his passenger, Cheryl A. Bertini of 15 Jules Drive, Novato, were admitted to Novato General Hospital for observation. Both were to be released today. The extent of their injuries was not available from the hospital.

No date for a court appearance has been set for Smith.

Subdivision Plan Due Study

The Novato Planning Commission will review a master plan for an 18-unit subdivision on 18.5 acres north of Plum Street at 8 p.m. Monday at the Novato Community House.

The development plan, submitted by Donald Perry, calls for building the single-family homes on 3.5 acres.

The remaining land would be dedicated to the city for open space.

The commission also will consider rezoning properties throughout Novato to bring them into conformance with the city's general plan.

Pair Bound Over On Pot Counts

A Novato man and his son have been ordered to stand trial on charges of possessing marijuana for sale and cultivating the weed.

Joseph Antone Homen, 42, and Joseph Antone Homen III, 20, were told to appear in Marin Superior Court Aug. 29, after Judge Peter Allen Smith ruled there is enough evidence to try them.

Two other men arrested in a raid on a Novato house Aug. 10 appear to be eligible for rehabilitation programs and a hearing to decide whether to drop criminal proceedings against them has been set for Sept. 14. They are Rickey Charles Tynes, 21, of Novato, and Richard Fremont Robinson, 19, of Denver.

The four were arrested after Novato police, acting on a tip, raided a house at 1500 South Novato Boulevard and found more than 200 suspected pot plants.

Sniffing Of Heroin Is Death Cause

Sniffing of heroin, not cocaine, contributed to the death of Lowell J. Fouch, the Marin probation officer found dead in his Sausalito home June 18, the Marin County Coroner's Office said today.

The Independent-Journal yesterday erroneously identified the drug as cocaine.

Laboratory tests found morphine in Fouch's body, created by the body's breakdown of heroin, coroner's deputies said. Fouch also was suffering from broncho-pneumonia, as a result of chronic bronchitis.

Investigators said a friend of the probation officer told them Fouch was experimenting with drugs to learn what his probationers might encounter in drug taking.

Nixon Threat Count Dropped

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) —A woman who said ex-policeman Edwin M. Gaudet Jr., threatened to kill President Nixon said yesterday she was not so sure and the charges were dropped.

Although the federal charges were quickly dropped, but Gaudet, 30, remained in an Albuquerque, N.M., jail on state charges of aggravated assault on a police officer with intent to commit a violent felony in connection with his arrest.

The woman, who was not identified, decided she was not sure who she heard threaten the President in a New Orleans drugstore.

Man In Hospital For Stab Wound

The victim of an apparent stabbing in Bolinas last night was reported in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Larry Freeman, 23, of 440 Birch Road, Bolinas, was brought to the hospital at 10:30 p.m. yesterday suffering from a puncture wound in the abdomen. No report on the assault was available from the Marin County Sheriff's department.

BEDAYAN

scribed as a paranoid schizophrenic by several psychiatrists, did not understand that killing the Schallocks went against the moral rules imposed by society.

He argued his client was incapable of "mature, meaningful reflection" on the gravity of his actions.

Cox likened Bedayan to a jungle animal. "A beast of the jungle can lie in wait for its prey, plan its escape and kill (with) intention to kill, but that in itself does not make a murder," he said.

Bales accused the defense of trying to cloud the real issues with extraneous testimony. He said evidence presented in the trial is fact, fiction and fantasy and cautioned the jury to examine only the facts to determine Bedayan's legal accountability for the crimes.

The facts, he said, are that Bedayan planned to kill Daniel Schallock, plotted a means of doing so, and immediately left the scene to avoid police capture. That Bedayan fled the area and was not found by officers until 21 hours later is a strong indication that he knew his act was unacceptable, Bales told the jury.

Defense witnesses who told of Bedayan's delusions and perceptions of reality only clouded the fact of the killings, Bales maintained.

But Cox said Bedayan's mental attitude toward his victims was vital. He reminded the panel that Bedayan believed that Daniel Schallock was "beaming waves of pain" at him, and that the elder Schallock was a Mafia enforcer.

Therefore, he said, in Bedayan's mind the killings were justified. "If you are an athlete and someone throws a ball to you, you catch it; you don't think. And if you are Brent Bedayan and you see a figure in Dan Schallock's window, you shoot. There is no deliberation. And that is manslaughter, not a whit more," the public defender said.

"Mr. Cox is spending the entire time on why Bedayan did what he did, and not on the facts of what he did," Bales countered. "This is the guilt phase of the trial — we're not concerned with sanity."

Judge Broderick said that if the jury finds that Bedayan had a "diminished capacity to make a mature, meaningful reflection on his actions," it could only find him guilty of manslaughter.

The jury will resume deliberations Monday.

BART Train Snatches Purse

OAKLAND (AP) — A Bay Area Rapid Transit train has achieved what may be a first in criminal history — a purse snatch.

A northbound BART train caught the straps of an unidentified woman's purse in its doors as she left the train at Oakland's 19th Street station Wednesday. And off it went.

BART General Manager B. R. Stokes told the story to BART directors Thursday night as they debated whether to spend $366,600 for elevator-like train doors that open instantly if someone — or something — gets caught.

"Her purse went to MacArthur station and she didn't," Stokes said.

Exhibit Opens

The Novato City Hall exhibit commemorating the 50th anniversary of the Novato Community House, opened yesterday. The Independent-Journal yesterday reported incorrectly that the show would start ext Friday.

OBITUARIES

MRS. GARRISON

Mercedes L. Garrison, of Tiburon died yesterday in a local hospital following a lengthy illness. She was 65.

Mrs. Garrison was born in San Francisco and lived there until she moved to Marin about eight years ago. She had been a professional musician in San Francisco.

She is survived by two sons, Randall L. Garrison of Fairfax and Lowell F. Garrison of Sacramento and six grandchildren.

A private funeral was held yesterday.

as well as at Holyrood Palace.

Beforea tour of Loch Lomond yesterday several of them relaxed in the Hall of Residence at the University of Strathclyde in Glasgow.

Marcia Campbell, 18-year-old piper of Tiburon hasn't decided whether she likes the Scots.

"I went into a store in Edinburgh for some cookies," she said. "and the man there looked at me. 'American?' he quieried. 'Well, we've got our problems now.' Was I insulted! I took my cookies and left," Marcia said.

William Merriman of San Rafael, instructor of the piping section, said that some of the Scottish hospitality was beginning to tell on him physically. And Trevor Atkinson, the side-drum instructor from Sonoma County agreed.

Downstairs some of the 17-year-olds were tucking into Chinese dishes in take-home bags, purchased in Glasgow's well-known Sauchiehall Street.

Another Skunk Is Found Rabid

A skunk found Tuesday on a hill near the Indian Valley Golf Course in Novato is Marin's 26th known rabid animal this year, the county public health officer said yesterday.

Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht said an examination of the animal's brain by the state virus laboratory in Berkeley disclosed the disease.

She cautioned golfers using the course to be alert for skunks and to avoid contact with them.

Skunk Is Killed

A skun who appeared to be acting strangely was shot by a San Rafael policeman near 5 Cresta Circle yesterday, police reported.

ALMANAC

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Today is Saturday, Aug. 25, the 237th day of 1973 with 128 to follow.

The moon is between its last quarter and new phase. The morning stars are Mercury, Mars and Saturn. The evening stars are Venus and Jupiter.

Pianist — composer Leonard Bernstein was born Aug. 25, 1918.

On this day in history:

In 1718, the city of New Orleans was founded.

In 1921, the United States signed a peace treaty with Germany, officially ending World War I.

In 1944, American troops liberated Paris in World War II.

In 1950, President Harry Truman seized the nation's railroads to prevent a general strike.

A thought for the day: Fifth American president, James Monroe, said, "National honor is national property of the highest value."

Gunman Is Closeted In Bank's Vault

STOCKHOLM (UPI) —Police armed with submachine guns burst into a barricaded bank office today, but a gunman carrying explosives had retreated with four hostages and a convict friend into the bank vault.

"There are indications that the gunman may attempt a breakout," a police official said.

Police said the unidentified gunman, armed with explosives and a submachine gun, entered the bank vault late last night with his four hostages— three women and a man. Also with him was Clark Olofsson, a 26-year-old convicted bank robber whose release the gunman demanded.

They said the man shut the vault door, but that it had not been locked.

Police dressed in bulletproof vests and steel helmets broke into the downtown bank office shortly after noon and took up positions outside the vault door.

There was no shooting.

Outside the bank, more than 100 policemen, including half a dozen sharpshooters, took up firing positions awaiting a possible attempt by the gunman to break out of the bank with his hostages and a $750,000 ransom.

Police parked a Ford Mustang outside the bank as a getaway car for the gunman, who demanded that he be allowed to leave with two of the hostages, the money, Olofsson and two guns.

Police refused the demand and said he must release the hostages if he wanted safe conduct.

The gunman, who has been holed up in the bank since Thursday, was first identified by police as a 22-year-old convicted bank robber, Kaj Robert Hansson.

Police said they sent Hansson's brother into the bank early yesterday and the robber fired at him because he did not recognize him. They said that they now believe the robber is a 32-year-old robber who served time with Olofsson.

Police said Hansson's mother also listened to a telephone interview from the bank and told police "this is not my son."

Man Held In Probe Of A Shooting

A Marin City man was arrested today for investigation of assault with intent to kill and being an accessory to a crime in connection with an attempt to shoot a deputy sheriff in the Southern Marin community.

No bail had been set for Wilbert Smith, 23, of 49 Cole Drive, who is to appear Monday in Marin Municipal Court. A companion, who deputies said actually fired the shots at Sgt. Kenneth Froberg, was being sought.

Froberg received a report of someone siphoning gas out of a car at 79 Cole Drive about 1:30 a.m. He saw a man leaving the scene when he arrived and chased him to a nearby apartment.

Two shots were fired at the deputy from the stairwell of the building, according to Froberg, who said he returned the fire.

The unidentified marksman, apparently uninjured by the deputy's bullets, jumped from the apartment's second story. He was later seen entering a waiting vehicle, identified as belonging to Smith.

Dixie Schools Slate Sign-Ups

Registration for new students in the Dixie School District will be held at all district schools next week through Thursday, according to Supt. Clifford W. Campbell.

Minimum age for admission to kindergarten is four year's, nine months old and for first grade is five years, nine months old as of Sept. 1, he said.

Parents should bring copies of birth certificates or other identification when registering children, he added.

Gnoss's Wife In Serious Condition

Gretchen Gnoss of 623 Olive Avenue, Novato, wife of former Marin County Supervisor William A. Gnoss, was reported in serious condition today in the intensive care unit at Novato General Hospital.

Mrs. Gnoss, reportedly suffered a stroke near the Novato Community House Monday.

response to questions about a New York Times report that the wiretaps authorized by Nixon were placed on 13 government officials, including William H. Sullivan, then deputy assistant secretary of state for East Asia; Richard F. Pedersen, then counselor to the State Department, and Richard L. Sneider, now Sullivan's successor.

Spokesman Paul Hare said the State Department was unable to confirm the Times report because officials did not have access to the list of those whose telephones were tapped. But Hare said:

"I've been in touch with the secretary of state by phone and the secretary said he had no knowledge of these wiretaps, did not approve them and would not have approved them.

"He said the three officers mentioned in the story are very dedicated and loyal officers who served their country with great distinction."

Sullivan, now ambassador to the Philippines, left the State Department during the Vietnam peace talks last year to serve as an aide to Kissinger at the White House. Pedersen is ambassador to Hungary.

The reported wiretapping apparently was prompted by press disclosures of the secret U.S. negotiating position at the Soviet-American arms control talks.

Among other officials reported to have been under surveillance were some members of Kissinger's National Security Council staff, including Helmut Sonnenfeldt, Morton Halperin, Winston Lord, Daniel I. Davidson and Anthony Lake.

Richard Moose of the Senate Foreign Relations Committee staff and William Safire, a former White House speechwriter, also were said to have been on the list, as were Hedrick Smith of The New York Times, Henry Brandon of the London Sunday Times, Marvin Kalb of CBS, and William Beecher, who recently left The New York Times to become a Defense Department press spokesman.

Novato Driver Nabbed After Auto Accident

A Novato man was arrested yesterday for investigation of felony drunken driving after he and a passenger in his car were injured in an accident on Novato Boulevard about 4:30 p.m.

Gregory Cornell Smith, 22, of 3 Rebecca Way, was booked in absentia after his car left the roadway about 4:30 p.m., Novato police said.

Smith and his passenger, Cheryl A. Bertini of 15 Jules Drive, Novato, were admitted to Novato General Hospital for observation. Both were to be released today. The extent of their injuries was not available from the hospital.

No date for a court appearance has been set for Smith.

Subdivision Plan Due Study

The Novato Planning Commission will review a master plan for an 18-unit subdivision on 18.5 acres north of Plum Street at 8 p.m. Monday at the Novato Community House.

The development plan, submitted by Donald Perry, calls for building the single-family homes on 3.5 acres.

The remaining land would be dedicated to the city for open space.

The commission also will consider rezoning properties throughout Novato to bring them into conformance with the city's general plan.

Pair Bound Over On Pot Counts

A Novato man and his son have been ordered to stand trial on charges of possessing marijuana for sale and cultivating the weed.

Joseph Antone Homen, 42, and Joseph Antone Homen III, 20, were told to appear in Marin Superior Court Aug. 29, after Judge Peter Allen Smith ruled there is enough evidence to try them.

Two other men arrested in a raid on a Novato house Aug. 10 appear to be eligible for rehabilitation programs and a hearing to decide whether to drop criminal proceedings against them has been set for Sept. 14. They are Rickey Charles Tynes, 21, of Novato, and Richard Fremont Robinson, 19, of Denver.

The four were arrested after Novato police, acting on a tip, raided a house at 1500 South Novato Boulevard and found more than 200 suspected pot plants.

Sniffing Of Heroin Is Death Cause

Sniffing of heroin, not cocaine, contributed to the death of Lowell J. Fouch, the Marin probation officer found dead in his Sausalito home June 18, the Marin County Coroner's Office said today.

The Independent-Journal yesterday erroneously identified the drug as cocaine.

Laboratory tests found morphine in Fouch's body, created by the body's breakdown of heroin, coroner's deputies said. Fouch also was suffering from broncho-pneumonia, as a result of chronic bronchitis.

Investigators said a friend of the probation officer told them Fouch was experimenting with drugs to learn what his probationers might encounter in drug taking.

Nixon Threat Count Dropped

NEW ORLEANS (UPI) —A woman who said ex-policeman Edwin M. Gaudet Jr., threatened to kill President Nixon said yesterday she was not so sure and the charges were dropped.

Although the federal charges were quickly dropped, but Gaudet, 30, remained in an Albuquerque, N.M., jail on state charges of aggravated assault on a police officer with intent to commit a violent felony in connection with his arrest.

The woman, who was not identified, decided she was not sure who she heard threaten the President in a New Orleans drugstore.

Man In Hospital For Stab Wound

The victim of an apparent stabbing in Bolinas last night was reported in satisfactory condition today at Marin General Hospital.

Larry Freeman, 23, of 440 Birch Road, Bolinas, was brought to the hospital at 10:30 p.m. yesterday suffering from a puncture wound in the abdomen. No report on the assault was available from the Marin County Sheriff's department.

scribed as a paranoid schizophrenic by several psychiatrists, did not understand that killing the Schallocks went against the moral rules imposed by society.

He argued his client was incapable of "mature, meaningful reflection" on the gravity of his actions.

Cox likened Bedayan to a jungle animal. "A beast of the jungle can lie in wait for its prey, plan its escape and kill (with) intention to kill, but that in itself does not make a murder," he said.

Bales accused the defense of trying to cloud the real issues with extraneous testimony. He said evidence presented in the trial is fact, fiction and fantasy and cautioned the jury to examine only the facts to determine Bedayan's legal accountability for the crimes.

The facts, he said, are that Bedayan planned to kill Daniel Schallock, plotted a means of doing so, and immediately left the scene to avoid police capture. That Bedayan fled the area and was not found by officers until 21 hours later is a strong indication that he knew his act was unacceptable, Bales told the jury.

Defense witnesses who told of Bedayan's delusions and perceptions of reality only clouded the fact of the killings, Bales maintained.

But Cox said Bedayan's mental attitude toward his victims was vital. He reminded the panel that Bedayan believed that Daniel Schallock was "beaming waves of pain" at him, and that the elder Schallock was a Mafia enforcer.

Therefore, he said, in Bedayan's mind the killings were justified. "If you are an athlete and someone throws a ball to you, you catch it; you don't think. And if you are Brent Bedayan and you see a figure in Dan Schallock's window, you shoot. There is no deliberation. And that is manslaughter, not a whit more," the public defender said.

"Mr. Cox is spending the entire time on why Bedayan did what he did, and not on the facts of what he did," Bales countered. "This is the guilt phase of the trial — we're not concerned with sanity."

Judge Broderick said that if the jury finds that Bedayan had a "diminished capacity to make a mature, meaningful reflection on his actions," it could only find him guilty of manslaughter.

The jury will resume deliberations Monday.

BART Train Snatches Purse

OAKLAND (AP) — A Bay Area Rapid Transit train has achieved what may be a first in criminal history — a purse snatch.

A northbound BART train caught the straps of an unidentified woman's purse in its doors as she left the train at Oakland's 19th Street station Wednesday. And off it went.

BART General Manager B. R. Stokes told the story to BART directors Thursday night as they debated whether to spend $366,600 for elevator-like train doors that open instantly if someone — or something — gets caught.

"Her purse went to MacArthur station and she didn't," Stokes said.

Exhibit Opens

The Novato City Hall exhibit commemorating the 50th anniversary of the Novato Community House, opened yesterday. The Independent-Journal yesterday reported incorrectly that the show would start ext Friday.

OBITUARIES

MRS. GARRISON

Mercedes L. Garrison, of Tiburon died yesterday in a local hospital following a lengthy illness. She was 65.

Mrs. Garrison was born in San Francisco and lived there until she moved to Marin about eight years ago. She had been a professional musician in San Francisco.

She is survived by two sons, Randall L. Garrison of Fairfax and Lowell F. Garrison of Sacramento and six grandchildren.

A private funeral was held yesterday.

as well as at Holyrood Palace.

Beforea tour of Loch Lomond yesterday several of them relaxed in the Hall of Residence at the University of Strathclyde in Glasgow.

Marcia Campbell, 18-year-old piper of Tiburon hasn't decided whether she likes the Scots.

"I went into a store in Edinburgh for some cookies," she said. "and the man there looked at me. 'American?' he quieried. 'Well, we've got our problems now.' Was I insulted! I took my cookies and left," Marcia said.

William Merriman of San Rafael, instructor of the piping section, said that some of the Scottish hospitality was beginning to tell on him physically. And Trevor Atkinson, the side-drum instructor from Sonoma County agreed.

Downstairs some of the 17-year-olds were tucking into Chinese dishes in take-home bags, purchased in Glasgow's well-known Sauchiehall Street.

Another Skunk Is Found Rabid

A skunk found Tuesday on a hill near the Indian Valley Golf Course in Novato is Marin's 26th known rabid animal this year, the county public health officer said yesterday.

Dr. Carolyn B. Albrecht said an examination of the animal's brain by the state virus laboratory in Berkeley disclosed the disease.

She cautioned golfers using the course to be alert for skunks and to avoid contact with them.

Skunk Is Killed

A skun who appeared to be acting strangely was shot by a San Rafael policeman near 5 Cresta Circle yesterday, police reported.

A NEW HOME

Hillary and Heather Cohn of Redwood City check their watches by an antique street clock — once a familiar San Rafael landmark — which now stands in the front yard of a private home in the Peninsula community. From 1902 to 1970 the 16-foot clock was in front of the Michael A. Gorb jewelry store at 1115 Fourth Street in San Rafael. LABOR DAY HOLIDAY SAFETY PROGRAM SET

Drunken drivers and others who drive dangerously will be the target of a traffic safety campaign over the Labor Day weekend.

The California Highway Patrol will put in more than 400 extra man hours in Marin between Aug.31 and Sept. 4, according to Capt. William S. Bloomer.

"We intend to really beef up our program that calls for identifying, arresting, jailing and prosecuting drinking drivers." Bloomer said. The patrol will also concentrate on other high risk drivers — the narcotics user, the tail gater, the speeder and the slow drivers in fast lanes.

The extra patrol is part of a statewide program that will keep patrol cars on the raod an additional 15,326 hours over the holiday weekend he said.

Allende Aims Sharp Words At Opponents

SANTIAGO, Chile (UPI) — President Salvador Allende angrily attacked his political opponents last night soon after still one more group of protesters staged violent demonstrations against his Marxist government.

The president issued a tough statement accusing the congressional opposition of virtually fomenting "civil war" and told critical legislators there was only one legal way to get rid of him—impeachment.

Riot police fought running battles near the Presidential Palace Friday with rampaging anti-government high school students armed with bamboo poles, slingshots and wooden clubs.

Officials reported 12 persons injured — one seriously—during the afternoon and evening in chashes between helmeted police and window-smashing students in downtown Santiago.

The students, who got to within two blocks of the Presidential Palace where Allende was at his desk, were protesting a government plan to extend Chile's current southern hemisphere winter school vacations.

In recent weeks, the Allende government has faced a bloody truckers' strike, two cabinet crises, military unrest, violent clashes between rightists and leftists, a congressional condemnation and a nationwide walkout of shopkeepers, professionals and laborers.

Allende issued his stinging statement through the government press service in response to Wednesday's congressional resolution accusing his administration of violating the constitution.

Bridge Directors Set Vote On Proposed Increase In Tolls

The Golden Gate Bridge District board yesterday set a showdown vote Sept. 14 on a proposed toll hike.

Bridge directors unanimously set the date after the staff said it will need a decision by then to get new commuter tickets ready by the time the toll increase would go into effect on Jan. 1. The staff has warned of severe congestion if ticket commuter tickets are eliminated.

The toll would go from 50 to 75 cents for a round trip crossing. Directors have not decided whether to sell commuter tickets at a discount, but the staff has recommended against a lower price.

The proposed increase will be reviewed first by the finance-auditing and transportation committees in a joint meeting at 9:30 a.m. on Sept. 13 in toll plaza offices.

The full board vote on the issue will, come the following day at 10 a.m., also in plaza offices.

Yesterday's call for a decision on the hike came after adoption of a $35 million budget that would push reserves almost $1 million below the $7.5 million set as a minimum by the board. Lowering the minimum also will be considered by the joint committee on Sept. 13. Several directors have indicated they would lower reserves only if tolls were increased.

Auditor-Controller Robert Tough told the Independent-Journal that the toll hike probably would have to be postponed until July 1 if the board does not approve it next month. An option to reorder commuter tickets will expire after next month, he said, so a failure to act on the hike would cause a delay of several months while new ticket bids are obtained.

The budget was passed on a 10-3 vote, the bare majority needed for approval. The district's share will be offset by more than $10 million in federal grants.

Golden Gate Bridge District board also:

SUICIDE — Voted 13-2 to promote a proposed suicide barrier on the priority list of projects from the "desirable" to the "necessary" category. A model of the barrier will be displayed at the toll plaza for public reaction.

STAFFING — Referred to committee a proposal by San Francisco Supervisor Robert E. Gonzales to hire full-time legal and public relations staff rather than part-time consultants. Gonzales argued the change would save money.

GAS — Agreed to buy gasoline for district vehicles through the state, at a cost of 24.8 cents per gallon.

FERRIES — Approved raising by five inches the sundeck of the three new ferryboats being built in San Diego, at a cost of $35,000.

SAN RAFAEL — Awarded a $1,740,000 contract to F. P. Lathrop of Emeryville to build maintenance and administration buildings and landscape the San Rafael bus base.

CLOSED — Terminated the restaurant lease in the round building at the toll plaza as of Sept. 3. It will be converted to office space for district staff.

PAINT — Purchased 1,200 gallons of vinyl paint from Fuller-O'Brien Corp. for $4,473.

Golden Tee

Your place in the fun.

KEEP YOUR COOL. Why sweat out the summer, when you can stay cool in one of our air conditioned two bedroom townhomes? At Golden Tee you can own your own home without laying out a lot of cold cash, and that beats paying rent to a landlord who takes all the tax breaks that come with home ownership. You can even stay cool outside, because owning a home at Golden Tee means you have full use of our cabana swim club and air conditioned clubhouse with pool tables and lounge.

DO YOUR OWN THING. There's plenty of time to do what you want to do at Golden Tee, because our homeowners association contracts professionals to perform all exterior maintenance and gardening. You can walk through the landscaped common green on cool evenings knowing you don't have to get up in the morning and push a lawn mower through them. You might want to play golf some weekend at the adjacent Bennett Valley Golf Course . . . or take off for the weekend, the choice is up to you.

GET IT ALL TOGETHER. Golden Tee is the one place in Santa Rosa where it all comes together. Spacious air conditioned homes . . . complete recreation facilities . . . maintenance-free living . . . and a price that fits young budgets. Shouldn't you get your place in the fun?

HELLO, DOWN THERE — The "world's tallest" man strides across the ring of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus, now at the Oakland Coliseum. The stilt-walker was only one of many acts which fascinated and delighted the audience at Thursday's opening show.

RINGLING BROS.

The Circus Still 'Greatest Show'

By FRED STREBEIGH

OAKLAND — The nostalgic magic of the "Greatest Show on Earth" still lives in the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus which opened Thursday to a packed house in the Oakland Coliseum.

Its rings still contain some of the finest showmanship around. And the best acts are often the traditional ones — the animal trainers, with their origins in Roman times and the clowns, acrobats and jugglers, descendents of the traveling minstrels of the Middle Ages.

Equally impressive are the acrobatics of the Bulgarian teeterboard troupe which climaxes its backward sommersault act with a pyramid five men high.

The evening's pinnacle of entertainment was probably the juggling of Gran Picaso who can juggle five Ping-Pong balls, using his mouth to pop them 12 feet in the air.

He thrilled the crowd by juggling four Frisbees on tosses of 40 feet while clamboring around the outer rail of the arena.

Can anyone learn to be a clown?

"My grandfather was the best clown in South America," said Mark Zapata, one of the college's graduates. "You can't teach someone to be a clown; to be creative as an artist, it really has to be in you."

Sometimes the size of the circus can overshadow the talents of its brilliant performers and then it moves toward vulgarity in shocking pink and turquoise flecked with sequins.

This degeneration was evident in the "Once Upon a Circus" spectacle, an amalgam of the Wizard of Oz and Alice in Wonderland in which the young king and queen of the circus wish away the evil witch and restore the dream world of the circus.

It was designed to be impressive, but the children in the audience looked bored.

The magic of the circus lies in its artists, not its gimmicks, and the "Greatest Show on Earth" is still finding the truly talented.

The spectacle and sawdust still holds its aura of the unworldly and continues to draw the enthusiastic crowds it has attracted for centuries.

The circus will continue in the coliseum through Tuesday, then move to the San Francisco Cow Palace Wednesday for a six-day run.

Symphony's Marin Series Is Announced

Maestro Seiji Ozawa will conduct two of four concerts scheduled for the San Francisco Symphony's fifth annual Marin series.

The Saturday night series will be at 8 p.m. at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building Dec. 8, Feb. 9, March 9 and May 18.

Ozawa will be on the podium for the opening and closing concerts. Guests artists will include the young German pianist, Christoph Eschenbach, and contralto Maureen Forrester.

Guest conducters for the second and third concerts will be Josef Krips, who led the orchestra for seven years, and the young American maestro, Lawrence Foster.

The opening concert will feature Eschenbach in Beethoven's Piano Concerto No. 2, as well as symphonies by Ives and Rachmanioff.

Order renewal forms are now in the mail to the previous season's subscribers who must order seats by Sept. 17 to retain their priority, according to symphony officials. After the deadline, orders from new subscribers will be filled.

Facilities Near Field On Agenda

The Marin County Planning Commission will continue a hearing on a campground, restaurant and shopping facilities adjacent to Gnoss Field, North of Novato at 9 a.m. Monday at Civic Center.

The development, proposed by Peter Lind is for 48 acres south of the county airport. The planning commission last month postponed action on the project until Gnoss Field master plan is completed later this year.

County supervisors, however, ordered the planning commission to proceed with its review of the project without waiting to determine what impact future airport growth will have on the site.

The commission also will hear a report on development at Synanon's three ranches near Marshall.

Woman Found Guilty In Arms Purchases

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A federal jury has found a San Francisco woman accountant guilty of 18 counts of using false identification to buy firearms and ammunition.

Sentencing for Rosemary A. McFadden, 27, was set for Sept. 28 by U.S. District Court Judge Lloyd Burke.

"In my 15 years on the bench, I have only sentenced two women to prison," Burke said Thursday. "One was a poisoner and the other sold heroin. You'll be the third."

Miss McFadden was allowed to remain free on $25,000 bail pending sentencing. Her attorney, Steven Kipperman, said an appeal would be filed.

She was charged with using false identification — drivers licenses and Social Security cards with six different names — to buy five automatic rifles and 16 boxes of ammunition. She faces similar charges in Oregon.

In a related case, Marilyn Jean Buck, 25, a South San Francisco blood technician, was convicted Aug. 9 of buying 150 rounds of ammunition using false identification.

U.S. district court Judge Samuel Conti put off first sentencing until he holds a "taint hearing" Sept. 17 on admitted government wiretapping.

It will attempt to determine if the wiretaps, made without court approval, tainted Miss Buck's right to a fair trial.

Soldier's Death Is Being Probed

FT. CAMPBELL, KY. (UPI) — A spokesman for the Army says it is still investigating the death of a Ft. Campbell sergeant killed while climbing down a helicopter rope at a Madison, Ohio, carnival.

The spokesman for the Army's Public Information Office said it was known Sgt. Roland W. Allard, 28, of Woonsocket, R.I., did not have the proper equipment to lower himself from the helicopter by rope Saturday.

Allard, according to the post PIO, also did not have the approval of the Army to perform the maneuver.

Allard was a member of the 101st Airborne Division.

HELLO, DOWN THERE — The "world's tallest" man strides across the ring of the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus, now at the Oakland Coliseum. The stilt-walker was only one of many acts which fascinated and delighted the audience at Thursday's opening show.

RINGLING BROS.

The Circus Still 'Greatest Show'

By FRED STREBEIGH

OAKLAND — The nostalgic magic of the "Greatest Show on Earth" still lives in the Ringling Bros. and Barnum and Bailey Circus which opened Thursday to a packed house in the Oakland Coliseum.

Its rings still contain some of the finest showmanship around. And the best acts are often the traditional ones — the animal trainers, with their origins in Roman times and the clowns, acrobats and jugglers, descendents of the traveling minstrels of the Middle Ages.

Trainer Gunther Gebel-Williams, who learned his way around the cages while his mother was making costumes for a German circus, combines stunning mastery of elephants, tigers and horses with the glee of a child on his first pony ride.

Equally impressive are the acrobatics of the Bulgarian teeterboard troupe which climaxes its backward sommersault act with a pyramid five men high.

The evening's pinnacle of entertainment was probably the juggling of Gran Picaso who can juggle five Ping-Pong balls, using his mouth to pop them 12 feet in the air.

He thrilled the crowd by juggling four Frisbees on tosses of 40 feet while clamboring around the outer rail of the arena.

Can anyone learn to be a clown?

"My grandfather was the best clown in South America," said Mark Zapata, one of the college's graduates. "You can't teach someone to be a clown; to be creative as an artist, it really has to be in you."

Sometimes the size of the circus can overshadow the talents of its brilliant performers and then it moves toward vulgarity in shocking pink and turquoise flecked with sequins.

This degeneration was evident in the "Once Upon a Circus" spectacle, an amalgam of the Wizard of Oz and Alice in Wonderland in which the young king and queen of the circus wish away the evil witch and restore the dream world of the circus.

It was designed to be impressive, but the children in the audience looked bored.

The magic of the circus lies in its artists, not its gimmicks, and the "Greatest Show on Earth" is still finding the truly talented.

The spectacle and sawdust still holds its aura of the unworldly and continues to draw the enthusiastic crowds it has attracted for centuries.

The circus will continue in the coliseum through Tuesday, then move to the San Francisco Cow Palace Wednesday for a six-day run.

Symphony's Marin Series Is Announced

Maestro Seiji Ozawa will conduct two of four concerts scheduled for the San Francisco Symphony's fifth annual Marin series.

The Saturday night series will be at 8 p.m. at the Marin Veterans Memorial Building Dec. 8, Feb. 9, March 9 and May 18.

Ozawa will be on the podium for the opening and closing concerts. Guests artists will include the young German pianist, Christoph Eschenbach, and contralto Maureen Forrester.

Guest conducters for the second and third concerts will be Josef Krips, who led the orchestra for seven years, and the young American maestro, Lawrence Foster.

The opening concert will feature Eschenbach in Beethoven's Piano Concerto No. 2, as well as symphonies by Ives and Rachmanioff.

Order renewal forms are now in the mail to the previous season's subscribers who must order seats by Sept. 17 to retain their priority, according to symphony officials. After the deadline, orders from new subscribers will be filled.

Facilities Near Field On Agenda

The Marin County Planning Commission will continue a hearing on a campground, restaurant and shopping facilities adjacent to Gnoss Field, North of Novato at 9 a.m. Monday at Civic Center.

The development, proposed by Peter Lind is for 48 acres south of the county airport. The planning commission last month postponed action on the project until Gnoss Field master plan is completed later this year.

County supervisors, however, ordered the planning commission to proceed with its review of the project without waiting to determine what impact future airport growth will have on the site.

The commission also will hear a report on development at Synanon's three ranches near Marshall.

Woman Found Guilty In Arms Purchases

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — A federal jury has found a San Francisco woman accountant guilty of 18 counts of using false identification to buy firearms and ammunition.

Sentencing for Rosemary A. McFadden, 27, was set for Sept. 28 by U.S. District Court Judge Lloyd Burke.

"In my 15 years on the bench, I have only sentenced two women to prison," Burke said Thursday. "One was a poisoner and the other sold heroin. You'll be the third."

Miss McFadden was allowed to remain free on $25,000 bail pending sentencing. Her attorney, Steven Kipperman, said an appeal would be filed.

She was charged with using false identification — drivers licenses and Social Security cards with six different names — to buy five automatic rifles and 16 boxes of ammunition. She faces similar charges in Oregon.

In a related case, Marilyn Jean Buck, 25, a South San Francisco blood technician, was convicted Aug. 9 of buying 150 rounds of ammunition using false identification.

U.S. district court Judge Samuel Conti put off first sentencing until he holds a "taint hearing" Sept. 17 on admitted government wiretapping.

It will attempt to determine if the wiretaps, made without court approval, tainted Miss Buck's right to a fair trial.

Soldier's Death Is Being Probed

FT. CAMPBELL, KY. (UPI) — A spokesman for the Army says it is still investigating the death of a Ft. Campbell sergeant killed while climbing down a helicopter rope at a Madison, Ohio, carnival.

The spokesman for the Army's Public Information Office said it was known Sgt. Roland W. Allard, 28, of Woonsocket, R.I., did not have the proper equipment to lower himself from the helicopter by rope Saturday.

Allard, according to the post PIO, also did not have the approval of the Army to perform the maneuver.

Allard was a member of the 101st Airborne Division.

Fuel Shortage Leaves Schools Worried

By MONTY HOYT
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

The familiar yellow school bus and the little red schoolhouse have come abruptly face-to-face with the fuel shortage.

Top state school administrators across the country have been bombarded with reports that school districts, just a week or two away from opening their doors this fall, have not been able to find suppliers for transportation fuel to keep school buses running or fuel oil and natural gas to heat school buildings.

"Local school districts usually contract for a year's supply of gasoline and fuel oil. But for this first time in memory, many have been unable to get any bidders. We're going into the school year without any clear indication of how long buses will be able to operate — and once cold weather sets in, how long fuel-oil supplies will last," says Dr. Byron Hansford, executive secretary for the Council of Chief State School Officers.

No area of the country appears to be immune to what school officials are calling the "wait-and-see" crisis.

"We're going to open without any problems," says Floyd T. Christian, Florida's commissioner of education. "But we're having to change our bidding procedures for all petroleum products. We're having to do the best we can when nobody wants to bid. I can remember a few years ago when suppliers were knocking the door down for our business."

Florida's warm climate minimizes problems of fuel-oil supplies for heating. But gasoline shortages may cause a cutback on school-bus routes, and special travel, such as educational field trips, administrators say.

In many states, school districts that have managed to secure fuel contracts have found that contracts have been limited to three months or less, allocations are smaller than last year's and prices have increased 50 to 100 per cent.

Some school districts have had to resort to tuying gasoline at retail-pump prices, adding enormous costs to their transportation budgets.

In a few cases, school districts have had to stop plans for new school construction because there were no guaranteed suppliers for either natural gas or fuel-oil heating.

"All our fuel tanks are topped now. But a severe winter — and we could be facing the same crisis as last year," reports Dr. Calvin Anderson, executive director of supporting services for the Colorado Department of Education.

Last winter, Colorado schools became the first in the nation to have a foretaste of the energy shortage. At least 25 schools were forced to close during a prolonged cold spell in January due to a shortage of natural gas.

The schools, including 23 in the Denver area, were on interruptible contracts and were forced to shut down for three to ten days when suppliers cut them off. Subzero temperatures sent demand for natural gas skyrocketing with interruptible customers paying the penalty.

Moreover, this year Colorado schools have been told they have reached the limit of natural-gas supply available for the next 15 years. And rural Colorado schools using propane are reported in "bad shape" once their storage-tank supplies are depleted.

Existing fuel-oil supplies, used as a standby energy source for Colorado schools, would not keep schools open more than a few days in an emergency, officials assert. And many districts have received no bids for future supplies.

In what is considered a "first" for the nation, Colorado will be holding a conference for all school custodians in October to discuss methods of conserving energy. The state also is developing new guidelines for future school construction, which will include energy-saving insulating and lighting.

School officials are critical of the government's voluntary fuel-allocation program which makes no mention of school operations (other than transportation) as a priority item.

"At least with a mandatory program, school districts would be assured a year-long supply rather than wondering where the next allotment will come from," says one disgruntled school official.

However, John A. Love, director of the President's energy policy office, says there are no plans to institute the mandatory program "at any specific time in the foreseeable future."

Some states, like Illinois, are conducting an inventory of fuel needs. Although final tabulations are not in, 85 per cent of Illinois' 353 school districts that rely on fuel oil for heating, report that they have no bids for this winter.

Annual statewide fuel oil needs, including Chicago schools, are estimated at 24 million gallons. Roughly one-third of the state's schools rely on fuel oil for heating. The majority use natural gas, which also is in short supply.

Illinois also uses 11 million gallons of gasoline for school-bus transportation. So far, more than one-quarter of the districts with busing programs have no fuel contracts for the coming ear. Furthermore, in cases where transportation is contracted out to private companies, it is being discovered that many of these do not have guaranteed supplies of gasoline.

"We haven't been receiving panic calls yet," says Michael J. Bakalis, Illinois superintendent of public instruction. "We're trying to anticipate any possible crisis and do something about it now rather than reacting in October or November."

Some states, like Nevada, are increasing fuel-storage capacity to combat future shortages.

IDLE BUSSES — Some school officials are afraid they won't be able to get their little yellow school buses rolling in September due to the fuel shortage. Officials have said that suppliers used to 'knock down the door' for business, but now, nobody wants to bid. So far, more than one-quarter of the districts with busing programs have no fuel contracts for the coming year.

Camera Theft Count Could Be Dismissed

Ever since his arrest a month ago, Mill Valley service station attendant Jeffrey Robert Fohlen has maintained he did not steal a $465 camera from a Saudalito man in March.

Now it appears that grand theft charges against Fohlen will be dropped because the 19-year-old youth has passed a lie detector test.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Joshua W. Thomas said yesterday his office will decide what to do after it receives a written report of young Fohlen's test results.

If the report confirms what a polygraph expert has already told the district attorney's office on the telephone — that Fohlen is telling the truth when he denied the theft — Thomas said the case will be dismissed.

Fohlen's troubles began when Robert L. Scharoun of Sausalito picked his photo out of a Tamalpais High School yearbook and said he was the man who answered an advertisement offering an expensive camera for sale.

Scharoun said Fohlen came to his house, asked to see the camera, then ran out the door with it.

Fohlen was charged with felony grand theft despite his claim he was working at a Mill Valley service station at the time of the theft.

Thomas said Fohlen's employer confirmed his story but had no records to back up his recollection. The district attorney's office agreed to the polygraph test after Fohlen found customers who remembered seeing him on duty when the theft occurred.

Judge Gary W. Thomas of Marin Municipal court had reduced the grand theft charge to a misdemeanor after an Aug. 13 preliminary hearing.

Teen-Age Screening Announced By Church

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Roman Catholic teenagers will have to be screened before they can be married in the church in the San Francisco Archdiocese, it was announced yesterday.

"Parents and even young people themselves should welcome this program," said Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken in announcing the new regulation effective Oct. 1.

A total of 177 students, including 80 from Marin and Southern Sonoma, were awarded degrees yesterday from Sonoma State College.

Local students receiving master of arts degrees were: Fredric J. Mitouer, Bill Roy and Rhoda Pregerson of Mill Valley; Jeanne Kline of Novato; Marion J. Francoz, Robert E. Mertle and Bernard A. Harris of San Rafael; Nora La Corte and Katharine M. Mermin of Larkspur; Ernest L. Cailatt, Richard D. Duisenberg, Christopher G. Redner, Pamela R. Roberts, Sidra A. Tankersley and Alberto P. Villodo, all of Cotati; Beatrice E. Cull of Petaluma; Toni L. Davis and Denis R. Trowbridge of Rohnert Park.

Bachelor of arts degrees went to these students:

Lesly S. Adamson, Michael J. DeBoer, Jovan Floric and Christopher W. Frazier, all of Cotati; Barbara J. Hendrick Sinclair of Corte Madera; Eric G. Ebert of Fairfax, Jerry L. Foster of Greenbrae; Gordon J. Dreier of Kentfield; Susan Binckley of Larkspur and Ray M. Powell and Linda G. Watson of Mill Valley.

Robert W. Pratt and Rita Taylor Siebert of Novato; Ronald J. Collotta, Angelica Barison, Linda L. Hall, David K. McCaffree, Valerie Merkel, Bruce F. Schmidt, William R. Sides, James F. Wallace and Pauline La Casse Wilen, all of Petaluma; James D. Baker, Eric D. Byrne, John W. Casto, Roberta K. Melgarejo, Sara J. Ridgel and Carl M. Jacobson, all of Rohnert Park.

Richard M. Rowland and Paul D. Van Leuven of San Anselmo; Dennis D. Aman, Donald F. DeGroot, Janet L. Messerschmidt, Paul J. Milholland and Deirdre M. Reilly, all of San Rafael and Steven Steen-Larsen of Woodacre.

Tiburon Tax Rate To Be Set Monday

The Tiburon's city council will set a 1973-74 tax rate Monday at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer has predicted a rate of 95.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation, up 22 cents over last year's. The increase is needed for interest and principal payments for the $1.25 million open space bond issue approved by voters last November.

Mayor Branwell D. Fanning has condemned the amount of tax rate increase.

The council will also consider an agreement with Belvedere to use Tiburon police clerks as police dispatchers for both cities.

Innocent Plea To Burglary

A preliminary hearing for Judy Soga, 20, of no known address, was set for Thursday by Judge Gary W. Thomas.

Sheriff's deputies said she was arrested Wednesday at the house of Kenneth D. Peterson, 53 Conifer Way.

Peterson returned home and allegedly saw Miss Saga and a male companion carrying a television set and tape recorder to a waiting car, according to officers.

Her companion escaped and is being sought.

Fuel Shortage Leaves Schools Worried

By MONTY HOYT
The Christian Science Monitor News Service

The familiar yellow school bus and the little red schoolhouse have come abruptly face-to-face with the fuel shortage.

Top state school administrators across the country have been bombarded with reports that school districts, just a week or two away from opening their doors this fall, have not been able to find suppliers for transportation fuel to keep school buses running or fuel oil and natural gas to heat school buildings.

"Local school districts usually contract for a year's supply of gasoline and fuel oil. But for this first time in memory, many have been unable to get any bidders. We're going into the school year without any clear indication of how long buses will be able to operate — and once cold weather sets in, how long fuel-oil supplies will last," says Dr. Byron Hansford, executive secretary for the Council of Chief State School Officers.

No area of the country appears to be immune to what school officials are calling the "wait-and-see" crisis.

"We're going to open without any problems," says Floyd T. Christian, Florida's commissioner of education. "But we're having to change our bidding procedures for all petroleum products. We're having to do the best we can when nobody wants to bid. I can remember a few years ago when suppliers were knocking the door down for our business."

Florida's warm climate minimizes problems of fuel-oil supplies for heating. But gasoline shortages may cause a cutback on school-bus routes, and special travel, such as educational field trips, administrators say.

In many states, school districts that have managed to secure fuel contracts have found that contracts have been limited to three months or less, allocations are smaller than last year's and prices have increased 50 to 100 per cent.

Some school districts have had to resort to tuying gasoline at retail-pump prices, adding enormous costs to their transportation budgets.

In a few cases, school districts have had to stop plans for new school construction because there were no guaranteed suppliers for either natural gas or fuel-oil heating.

"All our fuel tanks are topped now. But a severe winter — and we could be facing the same crisis as last year," reports Dr. Calvin Anderson, executive director of supporting services for the Colorado Department of Education.

Last winter, Colorado schools became the first in the nation to have a foretaste of the energy shortage. At least 25 schools were forced to close during a prolonged cold spell in January due to a shortage of natural gas.

The schools, including 23 in the Denver area, were on interruptible contracts and were forced to shut down for three to ten days when suppliers cut them off. Subzero temperatures sent demand for natural gas skyrocketing with interruptible customers paying the penalty.

Moreover, this year Colorado schools have been told they have reached the limit of natural-gas supply available for the next 15 years. And rural Colorado schools using propane are reported in "bad shape" once their storage-tank supplies are depleted.

Existing fuel-oil supplies, used as a standby energy source for Colorado schools, would not keep schools open more than a few days in an emergency, officials assert. And many districts have received no bids for future supplies.

In what is considered a "first" for the nation, Colorado will be holding a conference for all school custodians in October to discuss methods of conserving energy. The state also is developing new guidelines for future school construction, which will include energy-saving insulating and lighting.

School officials are critical of the government's voluntary fuel-allocation program which makes no mention of school operations (other than transportation) as a priority item.

"At least with a mandatory program, school districts would be assured a year-long supply rather than wondering where the next allotment will come from," says one disgruntled school official.

However, John A. Love, director of the President's energy policy office, says there are no plans to institute the mandatory program "at any specific time in the foreseeable future."

Some states, like Illinois, are conducting an inventory of fuel needs. Although final tabulations are not in, 85 per cent of Illinois' 353 school districts that rely on fuel oil for heating, report that they have no bids for this winter.

Annual statewide fuel oil needs, including Chicago schools, are estimated at 24 million gallons. Roughly one-third of the state's schools rely on fuel oil for heating. The majority use natural gas, which also is in short supply.

Illinois also uses 11 million gallons of gasoline for school-bus transportation. So far, more than one-quarter of the districts with busing programs have no fuel contracts for the coming ear. Furthermore, in cases where transportation is contracted out to private companics, it is being discovered that many of these do not have guaranteed supplies of gasoline.

"We haven't been receiving panic calls yet," says Michael J. Bakalis, Illinois superintendent of public instruction. "We're trying to anticipate any possible crisis and do something about it now rather than reacting in October or November."

Some states, like Nevada, are increasing fuel-storage capacity to combat future shortages.

IDLE BUSSES — Some school officials are afraid they won't be able to get their little yellow school buses rolling in September due to the fuel shortage. Officials have said that suppliers used to 'knock down the door' for business, but now, nobody wants to bid. So far, more than one-quarter of the districts with busing programs have no fuel contracts for the coming year.

Camera Theft Count Could Be Dismissed

Ever since his arrest a month ago, Mill Valley service station attendant Jeffrey Robert Fohlen has maintained he did not steal a $465 camera from a Saudalito man in March.

Now it appears that grand theft charges against Fohlen will be dropped because the 19-year-old youth has passed a lie detector test.

Deputy Dist. Atty. Joshua W. Thomas said yesterday his office will decide what to do after it receives a written report of young Fohlen's test results.

If the report confirms what a polygraph expert has already told the district attorney's office on the telephone — that Fohlen is telling the truth when he denied the theft — Thomas said the case will be dismissed.

Fohlen's troubles began when Robert L. Scharoun of Sausalito picked his photo out of a Tamalpais High School yearbook and said he was the man who answered an advertisement offering an expensive camera for sale.

Scharoun said Fohlen came to his house, asked to see the camera, then ran out the door with it.

Fohlen was charged with felony grand theft despite his claim he was working at a Mill Valley service station at the time of the theft.

Thomas said Fohlen's employer confirmed his story but had no records to back up his recollection. The district attorney's office agreed to the polygraph test after Fohlen found customers who remembered seeing him on duty when the theft occurred.

Judge Gary W. Thomas of Marin Municipal court had reduced the grand theft charge to a misdemeanor after an Aug. 13 preliminary hearing.

Teen-Age Screening Announced By Church

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Roman Catholic teenagers will have to be screened before they can be married in the church in the San Francisco Archdiocese, it was announced yesterday.

"Parents and even young people themselves should welcome this program," said Archbishop Joseph T. McGucken in announcing the new regulation effective Oct. 1.

A total of 177 students, including 80 from Marin and Southern Sonoma, were awarded degrees yesterday from Sonoma State College.

Local students receiving master of arts degrees were: Fredric J. Mitouer, Bill Roy and Rhoda Pregerson of Mill Valley; Jeanne Kline of Novato; Marion J. Francoz, Robert E. Mertle and Bernard A. Harris of San Rafael; Nora La Corte and Katharine M. Mermin of Larkspur; Ernest L. Cailatt, Richard D. Duisenberg, Christopher G. Redner, Pamela R. Roberts, Sidra A. Tankersley and Alberto P. Villodo, all of Cotati; Beatrice E. Cull of Petaluma; Toni L. Davis and Denis R. Trowbridge of Rohnert Park.

Bachelor of arts degrees went to these students:

Lesly S. Adamson, Michael J. DeBoer, Jovan Floric and Christopher W. Frazier, all of Cotati; Barbara J. Hendrick Sinclair of Corte Madera; Eric G. Ebert of Fairfax, Jerry L. Foster of Greenbrae; Gordon J. Dreier of Kentfield; Susan Binckley of Larkspur and Ray M. Powell and Linda G. Watson of Mill Valley.

Robert W. Pratt and Rita Taylor Siebert of Novato; Ronald J. Collotta, Angelica Barison, Linda L. Hall, David K. McCaffree, Valerie Merkel, Bruce F. Schmidt, William R. Sides, James F. Wallace and Pauline La Casse Wilen, all of Petaluma; James D. Baker, Eric D. Byrne, John W. Casto, Roberta K. Melgarejo, Sara J. Ridgel and Carl M. Jacobson, all of Rohnert Park.

Richard M. Rowland and Paul D. Van Leuven of San Anselmo; Dennis D. Aman, Donald F. DeGroot, Janet L. Messerschmidt, Paul J. Milholland and Deirdre M. Reilly, all of San Rafael and Steven Steen-Larsen of Woodacre.

Tiburon Tax Rate To Be Set Monday

The Tiburon's city council will set a 1973-74 tax rate Monday at 7:30 p.m. at city hall.

City Mgr. Bert A. Balmer has predicted a rate of 95.5 cents per $100 assessed valuation, up 22 cents over last year's. The increase is needed for interest and principal payments for the $1.25 million open space bond issue approved by voters last November.

Mayor Branwell D. Fanning has condemned the amount of tax rate increase.

The council will also consider an agreement with Belvedere to use Tiburon police clerks as police dispatchers for both cities.

Innocent Plea To Burglary

A preliminary hearing for Judy Soga, 20, of no known address, was set for Thursday by Judge Gary W. Thomas.

Sheriff's deputies said she was arrested Wednesday at the house of Kenneth D. Peterson, 53 Conifer Way.

Peterson returned home and allegedly saw Miss Saga and a male companion carrying a television set and tape recorder to a waiting car, according to officers.

Her companion escaped and is being sought.

Meat Shortage And Price Hike Could Affect Pet Food Also

By KAREN PETERSON

A woman recently reported that a visitor to her home was immediately overwhelmed by the family cat. Wondering at the uncommon show of affection, the woman quickly discovered the cause: her visitor's clothes still held a faint aroma of morning bacon, a treat neither the woman nor the cat had had for some time.

Pets may have noticed a decline in the amount of leftovers given out after meals, but the time may soon come when they will definitely find that their dry food is the exception rather than the rule for dinner.

Pet lovers, now spending an estimated $3 billion annually on food and supplies for their animals, may soon watch prices rise and the supply dwindle in the pet food sections of markets.

WHILE CANNED food, made up mostly of meat by-products, is not expected to rise in price or be subject to a shortage, dry food, or kibble, will suffer from the impending grain shortage and more specifically, any difficulty in obtaining soy beans.

Although Bernard Saccone, owner of the United Markets, has not seen any price increases yet, he did say they had been expected it, both on the canned and dry food. "There's been no rise," he said, "And I'm surprised at that. But up to now, we haven't noticed any changes in the prices or availability."

Similarly, Doug Thayer, owner of the Pet Food Cottage in San Anselmo, reported no price increases and has had very little trouble obtaining fresh meat. Prices remained at 54 cents a pound for pet burgers (beef) and between 59 and 70 cents a pound for horsemeat.

STABILITY ON the price of pet burgers, said Thayer, is related to the use of milk cows rather than steers for pet food contents.

Thayer did report a shortage of kibble and has heard that distributors are limiting purchases from the retailer (although this hasn't happened to him yet). One such case, he said, involved an order of 400 sacks of 50-pound kibble (a normal order for that retailer) being reduced to only 100 pounds.

In San Jose, a spokesman for the Kal Kan distributor in Northern California, said there wouldn't be a price increase in the future. If there were to be an increase, she said, it would have to be reported to the government 30 days before it became effective. Prices at Kal Kan, she said, rose in April; the first price increase in three years.

The only slight difficulty they've experienced, she said, was acquiring raw material or by-products for their pet food due to the lessened slaughtering of beef.

Because dry food is handled through an independent dealer, she said no information was available on any shortages.

If the prices rise at home, kennels, where numbers of pet dogs and cats are boarded, will also feel some pressure to raise their rates.

The Kennel Extraordinaire in Mill Valley reported no problems, but did say boarding prices would have to go up some if feeding became more difficult.

Pat Monahan, manager and part-owner of the Country Inn for Pets in Novato, said she had encountered some difficulties when purchasing the hamburger fed to the animals.

TO GET the beef, she said, they had to "get up early in the morning and pay exorbitant prices" at the butchers. She also said canned food prices had risen some 40 per cent.

Another area of concern is the kibble, and she said any shortage will first affect kibble with soy beans, a basic part of good kibble.

Another difficulty, she said, is the price freeze effect on volume ordering. Before the freeze, she explained, they could order 20 pounds of an item and get perhaps an extra four pounds in return from the wholesaler. Now this "discount bonus" has been eliminated.

"We will have to raise our prices for boarding," she said of any further purchase difficulties. "What we pay out has to be made up somehow."

No one knows for certain if pet food shortages will actually occur, but there is the possibility. Perhaps dogs and cats though, who really weren't fond of just kibble for dinner, will be cheered by the thought of gourmet dining on fish, beef, kidney and chicken flavored canned food.

LIFE OF PAINTING

San Anselmo Artist, Wife Observe Golden Anniversary

In the same year that Louise Leonardini was experiencing the San Francisco earthquake and fire, Othello Michetti arrived in New York from Alanno, Italy. Seventeen years later they were married, and Sunday they celebrated their golden wedding anniversary at a party attended by more than 95 friends and relatives at their San Anselmo home.

Only 6-years-old at the time of the earthquake, Mrs. Michetti remembers the fire, and the red sky over their home. Living on the outskirts of the City and not affected by the fire, Mrs. Michetti recalls picking up charred records and papers floating down the Bay from city hall.

Her future artist-husband arrived by boat in New York City on New Year's Eve, but because of the holiday, he stayed with his family on Ellis Island until Jan. 2, 1906. Growing up in New York, he trained at the Arts Student League, and moved to San Francisco in 1921 as art director for the Stecher-Traug-Schmidt Lithography Co. Michetti, who remained there as art director until his retirement in 1960, met his future bride in 1921, a secretary who typed orders for him in the office.

On their honeymoon, the Michettis sailed on the Harvard from San Francisco to Los Angeles. There they traveled by train to New York, stopping over to view the Grand Canyon.

A WATERCOLORIST, Michetti has shown his work throughout California, including the Laky Gallery in Carmel, the Torrance Gallery in San Anselmo, the Perry House in Monterey and the Rosicurician Gallery in San Jose.

He has won numerous awards including those at the Santa Cruz Watercolor annual, the Western Artists annual at the De Young Museum, and first prize at the Sacramento State Exhibition and Fair in 1965 and 1957, and first prize at the Bellafesta in Albany in 1964.

The couple began traveling extensively after his retirement. In 1961 they traveled to Europe, staying over a year. On their return to the United States, they toured the country where Michetti said he "probably painted all the covered bridges in Vermont."

He paints his way through their travels and said, "I can't go around taking photographs. From the last trip I painted over 300 pictures.

The Michettis have also traveled by boat to the Orient, where he spent three months sketching in the smaller towns. The watercolors from that trip were displayed at the Laky Galleries in Carmel.

"We couldn't speak a word of Japanese," said Michetti, "If they couldn't understand, I drew pictures." But the pictures didn't always work, and Mrs. Michetti remembered her husband, in an attempt to get a chicken salad sandwich, drew a chicken between two slices of bread. Instead, he got eggs, she said.

ON ONE trip to Europe the Michettis stayed on the Riveria and visited the house where Mrs. Michetti's mother was born. Their other trips included an extended stay in the Italian Alps, Alaska, Tahiti, Mexico and southwest America where Michetti was impressed with the "wild formations" including "three ladies, 70 feet high, standing on a pedestal in open space and carved by nature."

Michetti is associated with the Marin Society of Artists, the Society of Artists, the Society of Western Artists, the East Bay Society of Artists and the West Coast Watercolor Society.

Mrs. Mihetti enjoys writing letters and keeps up an active correspondence with people she has met on their travels.

The couple spent their summers in Marin beginning in 1929 and moved to the county in 1935. " 'I'm a gypsy," said Mrs. Michetti, "We've moved 14 times since we've been in the county."

The couple have three children, Armand, stationed in St. Louis,6Mo.; Robert, owner of an advertising agency in San Diego, and Laura, business manager of Loyola University.

Mrs. Michetti's sister, Mrs. Antoinettee Lee of San Francisco, was a member of the original wedding party and attended the anniversary reception. Michetti's sister, Desdamona Dominico of San Francisco, was also present. His other sister, Rita Dowdall, is traveling in Italy.

MR. AND MRS. Othello Michetti celebrated 50 years of married life Sunday at a reception hosted by their children. Michetti, a retired art director, is an award-winning watercolorist who has shown his works throughout the state. Since his retirement the couple has travelled extensively with Michetti recording their adventures on canvas.

Novatans To Host Granddaughter Who Embarks On Ballet Career

By MOLLY MARIN

Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson of Novato will host a reception honoring their granddaughter, Elizabeth Ashton, 19, daughter of Mrs. Lynn Ben of San Rafael, at 4 p.m. tomorrow in Novato.

Elizabeth has been accepted to perform with the American Ballet Theater in New York City.

Among the guests will be John Lo Piccolo, a pianist who performs in Marin and San Francisco, and Elizabeth's dance director, Richard Gibson, ballet master of Nederlands Danse Theater in Holland.

MRS. BERNARD Reilly of Forest Knolls was honored at a party Aug. 18 marking her 80th birthday by her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. William Reilly of Marinwood. Also attending the swimming and buffet party were her other children, Mrs. James Santos and her husband of San Rafael, Mrs. John Ritter and her husband from Santa Ana, John Reilly and his wife from San Jose, Jane Reilly of San Francisco and Mary A. Reilly of Santa Rosa.

Seventeen of Mrs. Reilly's 19 grandchildren and two great grandchildren also were party guests. Gifts to Mrs. Reilly included a pair of hiking shoes, as she enjoys climbing the hills near her home and tending her garden.

SEPT. 1 nuptials are planned by Mrs. J. P. McFarland of Kentfield and William Poynter of San Francisco, at the bridegroom's home. The couple, a widow and widower, will live in San Francisco.

MR. AND Mrs. Norman V. Petersen of Fairfax gave a dinner party for friends and family members to announce the marriage of their daughter Catherine Jean McDowell of San Anselmo to Robert David Benben. The couple exchanged vows in a Reno ceremony on July 16.

Cathy is also the daughter of M/Sgt. (ret.) John T. McDowell of Sacramento, and the sister of Mrs. John Beard of Anchorage, Alaska, Jan Petersen of Fairfax and Norman Petersen of Sacramento. Robert is the son of Michael Benben of St. Joseph, Mich., and Mrs. Juliana Benben of Stevensville, Mich.

DELLA SNYDER and Helen Nelson of Corte Madera were cruise guests aboard the SS Fairwind for a week's trip through the Caribbean. They called at the ports of San Juan, Puerto Rico, St. Thomas, Santo Domingo and Port-au-Prince, Haiti, before returning to Port Everglades, Fla.

NEWLYWED MR. and Mrs. William Broy Niccolls (Carol Sundquist) are living in San Jose after their marriage in Washington. The couple exchanged vows in a ceremony July 21 at St. Andrews House Hood Canal, Wash.

William is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Niccolls of Ross and the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sundquist of Aberdeen, Wash. Katie Niccolls of Ross, the bridegroom's sister, was among the attendants.

Carol and William both are graduates of Stanford University and she is attending University of Santa Clara Law School.

MR. AND MRS. Clifford Pehl Jr. of Novato became parents of a baby girl, Diane Jeannette, born on Aug. 17. The Pehls also have a 3-year-old son, Steven. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Doll of Mill Valley and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Pehl, formerly of Sausalito and now residents of Sun City, Ariz., and Northwood, N.H.

LIVING IN Mill Valley after their July 31 nuptials at South Lake Tahoe are Mr. and Mrs. Lannie Ross Allee. She is the former Gayle Lee, daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Royal T. Tibe. A graduate of Stephens College in Missouri, Mrs. Allee is vice president of Talus Enterprises at Lake Tahoe.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Allee of Greencastle, Ind., and he is an Indiana University graduate.

SAN RAFAEL NUPTIALS

Mary Lynne Hoffman and Stephen Michael Lamb were married at Mission San Rafael Arcangel and greeted guests at a reception at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross. The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Hoffman of San Rafael, and Stephen's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lamb of San Rafael. The couple will live in Chico following a wedding trip to Hawaii. (Les Walsh photo)

St. John's Church Setting Of Wedding Of Sara Alden Niccolls

St. John's Episcopal Church in Ross was the setting for the marriage of Sara Alden Niccolls of Ross to Thomas B. Hazlehurst of Atlanta, Ga., last night.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Alden Niccolls of Ross, was attended by her sister Dorothy Niccolls of Ross as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were another sister, Katherine Niccolls of Ross, Osceola Freear of San Marino, Mrs. Joseph Welsh of Menlo Park, and the bridegroom's sisters, Mrs. Wayne Bennett of Palo Alto and Judith Hazlehurst of Atlanta, Ga.

She is a graduate of the Katharine Branson School and Stanford University, and the bridegroom was graduated from Marist High School in Atlanta and Stanford. He plans to attend medical school in the fall.

Thomas is the son of Jacqueline S. Hazlehurst and Blackburn H. Hazlehurst of Atlanta. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smor of Atlanta and Mrs. Edith Hazlehurst of Honolulu, Hawaii.

Knee Socks Are Popular For Fall

Kneesocks are expected to be newly popular this winter, glitting with Lurez or stepping boldly with star and snowflake patterns.

Also coming back, says Women's Wear Daily, is the anklet sock, last seen in the bobby sox and rock and roll days of the '50s. Glittery pantyhose and knee socks are readied for the holiday season.

A WATERCOLORIST, Michetti has shown his work throughout California, including the Laky Gallery in Carmel, the Torrance Gallery in San Anselmo, the Perry House in Monterey and the Rosicurician Gallery in San Jose.

He has won numerous awards including those at the Santa Cruz Watercolor annual, the Western Artists annual at the De Young Museum, and first prize at the Sacramento State Exhibition and Fair in 1965 and 1957, and first prize at the Bellafesta in Albany in 1964.

The couple began traveling extensively after his retirement. In 1961 they traveled to Europe, staying over a year. On their return to the United States, they toured the country where Michetti said he "probably painted all the covered bridges in Vermont."

He paints his way through their travels and said, "I can't go around taking photographs. From the last trip I painted over 300 pictures.

The Michettis have also traveled by boat to the Orient, where he spent three months sketching in the smaller towns. The watercolors from that trip were displayed at the Laky Galleries in Carmel.

"We couldn't speak a word of Japanese," said Michetti, "If they couldn't understand, I drew pictures." But the pictures didn't always work, and Mrs. Michetti remembered her husband, in an attempt to get a chicken salad sandwich, drew a chicken between two slices of bread. Instead, he got eggs, she said.

ON ONE trip to Europe the Michettis stayed on the Riveria and visited the house where Mrs. Michetti's mother was born. Their other trips included an extended stay in the Italian Alps, Alaska, Tahiti, Mexico and southwest America where Michetti was impressed with the "wild formations" including "three ladies, 70 feet high, standing on a pedestal in open space and carved by nature."

Michetti is associated with the Marin Society of Artists, the Society of Artists, the Society of Western Artists, the East Bay Society of Artists and the West Coast Watercolor Society.

Mrs. Mihetti enjoys writing letters and keeps up an active correspondence with people she has met on their travels.

The couple spent their summers in Marin beginning in 1929 and moved to the county in 1935. " 'I'm a gypsy," said Mrs. Michetti, "We've moved 14 times since we've been in the county."

The couple have three children, Armand, stationed in St. Louis,6Mo.; Robert, owner of an advertising agency in San Diego, and Laura, business manager of Loyola University.

Mrs. Michetti's sister, Mrs. Antoinettee Lee of San Francisco, was a member of the original wedding party and attended the anniversary reception. Michetti's sister, Desdamona Dominico of San Francisco, was also present. His other sister, Rita Dowdall, is traveling in Italy.

MR. AND MRS. Othello Michetti celebrated 50 years of married life Sunday at a reception hosted by their children. Michetti, a retired art director, is an award-winning watercolorist who has shown his works throughout the state. Since his retirement the couple has travelled extensively with Michetti recording their adventures on canvas.

Novatans To Host Granddaughter Who Embarks On Ballet Career

By MOLLY MARIN

Mr. and Mrs. William Johnson of Novato will host a reception honoring their granddaughter, Elizabeth Ashton, 19, daughter of Mrs. Lynn Ben of San Rafael, at 4 p.m. tomorrow in Novato.

Elizabeth has been accepted to perform with the American Ballet Theater in New York City.

Among the guests will be John Lo Piccolo, a pianist who performs in Marin and San Francisco, and Elizabeth's dance director, Richard Gibson, ballet master of Nederlands Danse Theater in Holland.

MRS. BERNARD Reilly of Forest Knolls was honored at a party Aug. 18 marking her 80th birthday by her son and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. William Reilly of Marinwood. Also attending the swimming and buffet party were her other children, Mrs. James Santos and her husband of San Rafael, Mrs. John Ritter and her husband from Santa Ana, John Reilly and his wife from San Jose, Jane Reilly of San Francisco and Mary A. Reilly of Santa Rosa.

Seventeen of Mrs. Reilly's 19 grandchildren and two great grandchildren also were party guests. Gifts to Mrs. Reilly included a pair of hiking shoes, as she enjoys climbing the hills near her home and tending her garden.

SEPT. 1 nuptials are planned by Mrs. J. P. McFarland of Kentfield and William Poynter of San Francisco, at the bridegroom's home. The couple, a widow and widower, will live in San Francisco.

MR. AND Mrs. Norman V. Petersen of Fairfax gave a dinner party for friends and family members to announce the marriage of their daughter Catherine Jean McDowell of San Anselmo to Robert David Benben. The couple exchanged vows in a Reno ceremony on July 16.

Cathy is also the daughter of M/Sgt. (ret.) John T. McDowell of Sacramento, and the sister of Mrs. John Beard of Anchorage, Alaska, Jan Petersen of Fairfax and Norman Petersen of Sacramento. Robert is the son of Michael Benben of St. Joseph, Mich., and Mrs. Juliana Benben of Stevensville, Mich.

DELLA SNYDER and Helen Nelson of Corte Madera were cruise guests aboard the SS Fairwind for a week's trip through the Caribbean. They called at the ports of San Juan, Puerto Rico, St. Thomas, Santo Domingo and Port-au-Prince, Haiti, before returning to Port Everglades, Fla.

NEWLYWED MR. and Mrs. William Broy Niccolls (Carol Sundquist) are living in San Jose after their marriage in Washington. The couple exchanged vows in a ceremony July 21 at St. Andrews House Hood Canal, Wash.

William is the son of Mr. and Mrs. William A. Niccolls of Ross and the bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ray Sundquist of Aberdeen, Wash. Katie Niccolls of Ross, the bridegroom's sister, was among the attendants.

Carol and William both are graduates of Stanford University and she is attending University of Santa Clara Law School.

MR. AND MRS. Clifford Pehl Jr. of Novato became parents of a baby girl, Diane Jeannette, born on Aug. 17. The Pehls also have a 3-year-old son, Steven. Grandparents are Mr. and Mrs. Charles Doll of Mill Valley and Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Pehl, formerly of Sausalito and now residents of Sun City, Ariz., and Northwood, N.H.

LIVING IN Mill Valley after their July 31 nuptials at South Lake Tahoe are Mr. and Mrs. Lannie Ross Allee. She is the former Gayle Lee, daughter of the late Dr. and Mrs. Royal T. Tibe. A graduate of Stephens College in Missouri, Mrs. Allee is vice president of Talus Enterprises at Lake Tahoe.

The bridegroom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Ross Allee of Greencastle, Ind., and he is an Indiana University graduate.

SAN RAFAEL NUPTIALS

Mary Lynne Hoffman and Stephen Michael Lamb were married at Mission San Rafael Arcangel and greeted guests at a reception at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross. The bride is the daughter of Dr. and Mrs. Charles Hoffman of San Rafael, and Stephen's parents are Mr. and Mrs. Frank Lamb of San Rafael. The couple will live in Chico following a wedding trip to Hawaii. (Les Walsh photo)

St. John's Church Setting Of Wedding Of Sara Alden Niccolls

St. John's Episcopal Church in Ross was the setting for the marriage of Sara Alden Niccolls of Ross to Thomas B. Hazlehurst of Atlanta, Ga., last night.

The bride, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William Alden Niccolls of Ross, was attended by her sister Dorothy Niccolls of Ross as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were another sister, Katherine Niccolls of Ross, Osceola Freear of San Marino, Mrs. Joseph Welsh of Menlo Park, and the bridegroom's sisters, Mrs. Wayne Bennett of Palo Alto and Judith Hazlehurst of Atlanta, Ga.

She is a graduate of the Katharine Branson School and Stanford University, and the bridegroom was graduated from Marist High School in Atlanta and Stanford. He plans to attend medical school in the fall.

Thomas is the son of Jacqueline S. Hazlehurst and Blackburn H. Hazlehurst of Atlanta. He is the grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Smor of Atlanta and Mrs. Edith Hazlehurst of Honolulu, Hawaii.

Knee Socks Are Popular For Fall

Kneesocks are expected to be newly popular this winter, glitting with Lurez or stepping boldly with star and snowflake patterns.

Also coming back, says Women's Wear Daily, is the anklet sock, last seen in the bobby sox and rock and roll days of the '50s. Glittery pantyhose and knee socks are readied for the holiday season.

Don't Get Worried, Let Your Parents Dream Of Your Future

RAP:

I'm only 12 and already my parents are telling me what I shall be when I grow up. They aren't forcing me — yet — but they're dropping hints.

For example, my Dad wants me to be either an accountant like him, or work in an airline so when he retires his trip to Spain will be cheaper.

My mother wants me to be a teacher because she says I appeal to children. These things are not for me. I want to be a child psychiatrist.

What should I do? — UNDECIDED WITH PARENTS WHO ARE SURE

UWPWAS:

Your parents aren't forcing you, so don't get uptight about it. They're dreaming about your future as they did about their own, for having children, it would seem, is almost like living your own childhood all over again.

Also, they may be offering you several different ideas just to start you thinking early about a career. And they've succeeded, haven't they? — SUE

DEAR UNDECIDED:

A favorite parent game is "What will my child be when she (he) grows up?" It's about equal parts wishful thinking, pride, kidding around (that cheap trip to Spain) and "childhood revisited."

So play the game with equal parts of listening and friendly argument. You'll learn a lot about career choices that way. — HELEN

DEAR HELEN AND SUE:

I'm going with a guy my sister used to date. She cheated on Frank so they broke up. She tells everybody she dropped him, but it was the other way around.

He gave me a ring and she's green with jealousy because he never gave her one.

She won't leaveus alone. When he comes over she's there with her wisecracks and taunting remarks. She does everything to aggravate Frank and me.

The other day she said, "You get my leftovers, like a dog." It's obvious she still wants him, but why all the bunk?

Our parents tell her to leave us alone, but she won't let up. What should I do? — A DOG WITH SISTER'S LEFTOVERS

DEAR SIS:

If Frank didn't enjoy this double play for him, he wouldn't keep coming over to your house. Instead, he'd avoid "trouble" by taking you out.

If you weren't secretly afraid your sister might win him back, you could feel sorry for her, rather than furious.

So fact the fact that you're jealous and worried too, and don't be quite so hard on a sister who lost: it might be you next time. — HELEN

Wool Will Be Spotlighted

By EUNICE FARMER
Distributed by Register and Tribune Syndicate

DEAR EUNICE,

I have heard there is a new trend to wool for winter clothes, yet our fabric shop still carries nothing but polyesters. Is this going to be difficult to find this winter?

MRS. J.J.

DEAR MRS. J.J.:

Wool, along with many other items, will be more difficult to find this winter. Women are finally getting tired of nothing but polyester and realize there is much more depth and beauty as well as individuality in wools and wool combinations. Many shops have always featured wools in depth. These shops will continued to do so. However, because of the new awareness of this fabric, I wouldn't wait too long to begin your fall and winter planning.

Wools come in all prices, depending on the quality as well as the overall design. The more exclusive the fabric, the more expensive it will be. I have always felt that wool was a great investment. If you haven't worked with it, please try it this year.

For those of you who live in warmer climates, there are beautiful tissue sheer wool challis, also wool combined with silk, linen, polyester, and cotton. You can find any weight that is right for your part of the world.

MANY OF you have written about the shortage of a good skirt pattern. Some of you want a little fullness but not a completely gathered look. Others request a straight skirt, darted at the waistline; still others look for an A-line, both modified or exaggerated.

I think I have found a new skirt pattern that will cover most of your requests for a basic pattern. The one pattern has four styles gncluded. Look for this pattern at your local pattern counter. You will note that almost any style you choose will be good for fall. There are lots of flared skirts shown again which look right with the soft fabrics.

Did you know that a good basic skirt pattern can also be used as a skirt for your favorite dress? If the dress pattern has a waistline seam and you don't like the skirt they show but love the rest of the pattern, substitute the skirt pattern you like. After all, you're the one who must be satisfied with your finished garment.

If you prefer a skirt without a waistband, simply ease the waistline of the skirt to a premeasured piece of grosgrain ribbon that will turn down to the inside of your skirt.

Half the fun of making your clothes is to make them to suit yourself. It only takes a little courage to try new things. The first thing you know, you will find you have no limitations.

DEAR EUNICE,

My daughter is being married this winter and we will be making her wedding gown of satin. Are there any tips that you can give us on working with this fabric?

MRS. N.W.

DEAR MRS. N.W.,

There are a few cardinal rules to follow when working with satins. However, there are always variations depending on the weight of the fabric and the design of the gown.

It's best to begin by making a mock dress out of another fabric to be sure the fitting is perfect. Satin usually leaves marks when the machine stitching has been ripped, so it is best to baste the final fitting.

Be sure to use a very fine pin, called a silk pin, to avoid permanent marks on the fabric. Never machine stitch over these pins. Remove them as you come to them. It's best to cut all pieces in one direction to avoid shading of the fabric.

This fabric may be underlined in many different fabrics, depending on the effect. If the gown is to be kept soft, use si bonne or china silk for an underlining. If it is cut in a sweeping flared skirt that requires more shaping you may use si bonne with an additional 20 inches at the lower edge cut in another underlining fabric with more body to make the gown stand away from the body.

Many gowns are underlined in siri (a rather firm, closely woven underlining fabric); still others use pellon. Study the pattern carefully before deciding on the correct underlining.

DEAR EUNICE,

I am trying to remodel a dress and want to make it sleeveless, by removing the sleeves and adding a binding. When I tried the dress on, the armholes seemed much too loose and deep. Is there anything I can do to make this dress wearable?

MRS. B.C.C.

DEAR MRS. B.C.C.,

This is one alteration that is almost impossible to make because the armhole of a sleeveless garment is much higher than the one with a set in sleeve. Also, a garment with sleeves fits much looser under the arm. You can make the armhole a little smaller by taking in the underarm seam a little. There is no way I know to build up the armhole.

If you simply want to remodel a dress by removing the sleeves, then you can cut the armhole even deeper. You can use the dress as one of the new jumper looks that are so popular this season.

Special Course Helps Retarded Learn To Swim

A special swim course to help 12 mentally retarded girls attain Red Cross swimming certificates has been held the past 12 weeks at the pool of Mr. and Mrs. Benton A. Sifford Jr. in Larkspur.

The girls, some of whom are physically handicapped, are from Sonoma State Hospital, according to Grover S. Drengson, assistant to the medical director.

A Dentist Can't Keep Plaque Away

Dental researchers have found that professional tooth cleaning by a dentist or dental hygienist at regular intervals isn't sufficient to prevent tooth decay and gum problems. The plaque that develops on and between teeth reforms the very next day.

Plaque is a sticky, practically colorless film. It can be removed by effective toothbrusihng and use of dental floss at least once a day.

Wools come in all prices, depending on the quality as well as the overall design. The more exclusive the fabric, the more expensive it will be. I have always felt that wool was a great investment. If you haven't worked with it, please try it this year.

For those of you who live in warmer climates, there are beautiful tissue sheer wool challis, also wool combined with silk, linen, polyester, and cotton. You can find any weight that is right for your part of the world.

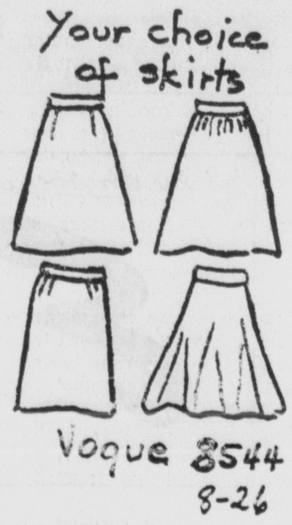
MANY OF you have written about the shortage of a good skirt pattern. Some of you want a little fullness but not a completely gathered look. Others request a straight skirt, darted at the waistline; still others look for an A-line, both modified or exaggerated.

I think I have found a new skirt pattern that will cover most of your requests for a basic pattern. The one pattern has four styles gncluded. Look for this pattern at your local pattern counter. You will note that almost any style you choose will be good for fall. There are lots of flared skirts shown again which look right with the soft fabrics.

Did you know that a good basic skirt pattern can also be used as a skirt for your favorite dress? If the dress pattern has a waistline seam and you don't like the skirt they show but love the rest of the pattern, substitute the skirt pattern you like. After all, you're the one who must be satisfied with your finished garment.

If you prefer a skirt without a waistband, simply ease the waistline of the skirt to a premeasured piece of grosgrain ribbon that will turn down to the inside of your skirt.

Half the fun of making your clothes is to make them to suit yourself. It only takes a little courage to try new things. The first thing you know, you will find you have no limitations.



DEAR EUNICE,

My daughter is being married this winter and we will be making her wedding gown of satin. Are there any tips that you can give us on working with this fabric?

MRS. N.W.

DEAR MRS. N.W.,

There are a few cardinal rules to follow when working with satins. However, there are always variations depending on the weight of the fabric and the design of the gown.

It's best to begin by making a mock dress out of another fabric to be sure the fitting is perfect. Satin usually leaves marks when the machine stitching has been ripped, so it is best to baste the final fitting.

Be sure to use a very fine pin, called a silk pin, to avoid permanent marks on the fabric. Never machine stitch over these pins. Remove them as you come to them. It's best to cut all pieces in one direction to avoid shading of the fabric.

This fabric may be underlined in many different fabrics, depending on the effect. If the gown is to be kept soft, use si bonne or china silk for an underlining. If it is cut in a sweeping flared skirt that requires more shaping you may use si bonne with an additional 20 inches at the lower edge cut in another underlining fabric with more body to make the gown stand away from the body.

Many gowns are underlined in siri (a rather firm, closely woven underlining fabric); still others use pellon. Study the pattern carefully before deciding on the correct underlining.

DEAR EUNICE,

I am trying to remodel a dress and want to make it sleeveless, by removing the sleeves and adding a binding. When I tried the dress on, the armholes seemed much too loose and deep. Is there anything I can do to make this dress wearable?

MRS. B.C.C.

DEAR MRS. B.C.C.,

This is one alteration that is almost impossible to make because the armhole of a sleeveless garment is much higher than the one with a set in sleeve. Also, a garment with sleeves fits much looser under the arm. You can make the armhole a little smaller by taking in the underarm seam a little. There is no way I know to build up the armhole.

If you simply want to remodel a dress by removing the sleeves, then you can cut the armhole even deeper. You can use the dress as one of the new jumper looks that are so popular this season.

A Dentist Can't Keep Plaque Away

Dental researchers have found that professional tooth cleaning by a dentist or dental hygienist at regular intervals isn't sufficient to prevent tooth decay and gum problems. The plaque that develops on and between teeth reforms the very next day.

Plaque is a sticky, practically colorless film. It can be removed by effective toothbrusihng and use of dental floss at least once a day.

Special Course Helps Retarded Learn To Swim

A special swim course to help 12 mentally retarded girls attain Red Cross swimming certificates has been held the past 12 weeks at the pool of Mr. and Mrs. Benton A. Sifford Jr. in Larkspur.

The girls, some of whom are physically handicapped, are from Sonoma State Hospital, according to Grover S. Drengson, assistant to the medical director.

Miss Ireland Entries Sought

Entry blanks are available for the annual Miss Ireland contest open to all 18 to 22-year-old women of Irish heritage in Northern California, the Irish Center in San Francisco announced.

Miss Ireland is chosen at the annual Irish Festival Week Oct. 20 to 27 in San Francisco and the winner also receives the titles of Miss Shamrock and Rose of Tralee.

Mill Valley Girl To Be On Television

Marking the 53rd anniversary of women's suffrage in the U.S., two programs will be broadcast tomorrow by KQED-TV, Channel 9.

"The Ages of Woman," will be shown at 7:30 p.m. and will include a women's rights discussion by 11-year-old Jenny Fulle of Mill Valley, who is attempting to join Little League baseball, Miriam Allen de Ford, 86, author and suffragist, and Elizabeth Duncan Koontz, former director of the Women's Bureau, U.S. Department of Labor.

Also on the show will be excerpts from the Women's Herstory Project at Sonoma State College, and segments on the Berkeley Women's Refuge and a Peninsula Bobby Sox tournament.

At 11 p.m. "Votes for Women," a documentary on the women's suffrage movement in America, will be shown. It is produced by the Women's History Project for KQED.

Election On Subdivision Will Go On

I-J Special Report

SANTA ROSA — Sonoma Superior Court Judge Lincoln F. Mahan has denied a preliminary injunction and paved the way for a Nov. 6 election on a proposed Petaluma Subdivision.

Mahan denied the request yesterday of attorney William L. Bettinelli to stop the scheduled referendum on plans by Arthur Condiotti Enterprises for a subdivision on I Street Extension at Sunnyslope Road.

The suit filed on behalf of three property owners who plan to sell the land to Condiotti charged the election would be a waste of taxpayers money since the city council has already rezoned the land and approved a tentative map for the project.

The election was called after Petaluma residents presented the city council with a raft of petitions opposing the subdivision and demanding a vote. Neighboring residents complained that the current traffic and drainage problems would be intensified by the development.

The election was originally scheduled for Sept. 11, but was pushed back to Nov. 6 to permit Mahan time to hand down a decision on the lawsuit.

Three Members Of Rock Group Sue Manager

Three members of Quicksilver Messenger Service, a Marin-based rock group, have sued their business manager for $100,000, charging he did not handle their financial affairs properly.

Chester Powers (who goes by the name Dino Valenti), Gary Duncan and Gregory Elmore charged that Sidney Frank of San Rafael, the group's accountant and business manager, acted "negligently, carelessly and recklessly."

Despite an oral contract, Frank failed to file federal and state income tax returns for the band members, the suit said.

As a result, the band had to hire auditors and accountants and pay penalties and interest, according to the suit, filed Thursday.

For his services, Frank was paid $11,500 in 1971 and in 1972 and $225 a week this year.

San Rafael Asks Fill Permit For Road Easement

The City of San Rafael has applied for a fill permit to fill a roadway easement south of the San Rafael Canal at the intersection of Kerner Boulevard and Canal Street, the Army Corps of Engineers said today.

The city would fill the 1.8-acre parcel eyed as a park site with 7,000 cubic yards of earth, according to J. L. Lammie, district engineer.

Residents opposing the application may forward objections to the district office, 100 McAllister Street, San Francisco, he said.

The city has a one-year option to the buy the property from McKeon Construction Co. of Sacramento, and may exercise that option regardless of whether the fill permit is issued, according to Raymond L. Meador, assistant to the city manager.

Parcel Proposed For Purchase As Park Site

The Novato Parks and Recreation Commission has recommended that the city acquire a 7,500-square-foot parcel at Alameda De La Loma and Fairway Drive for park use.

Recreation director Edward W. Adams said the commissin agreed Wednesday night with the staff recommendation that the city acquire the land, offered for dedication by the owner, Charles D. Kuhn.

As proposed, the city would spend up to $1,000 and seek a donation of $1,000 from the Marin Country Club Estates Homeowners Association for an irrigation system, plants, turfing and a pathway on the site.

The commission also agreed to ask if political science students at Sonoma State College would undertake a community survey on parks and recreation. Adams said the information gathered would be used in revamping the parks and recreation master plan to fit city's new general plan.

SPORTS ANALYSIS

Dipsea Handicap Pros And Cons

By RON LENT

There are times when a handicap proves to be an asset rather than a liability. Such is the case with the system employed by the sponsoring Mill Valley Jaycees in presenting the 63rd annual Dipsea race tomorrow starting at 10 a.m.

The handicap system, a brainstorm of four Mill Valley Jaycees thought out in July, 1972, is geared to enable some 1,500 runners to negotiate the difficult 6.8-mile layout on equal footing. And, when judged by competitors' feedback to the Dipsea Committee, it seems to be working admirably.

The handicap system, based on age and sex, works thusly:

Tomorrow at 10 a.m., the first group starts off at Lytton Square in downtown Mill Valley. The first runners consist of men 57 and over, women 26 and older, boys 8 and under and girls 13 and younger.

AT 10:02, men 55-56 and boys 9-10 leave; 10:05, men 50-54, 11-year-old boys, and women 14-25 depart; 10:07, men 45-49 and 12-year-old boys; 10:08, men 40-44; 10:09, boys 13-14; 10:10, men 35-39; 10:11, men 33-34 and 15-year-old boys; 10:12, men 30-32; 10:13, men 28-29; 10:14, men 25-27.

The remaining participants (16-24 year-old males) are lumped in the scratch group and commence at 10:15.

The trek is long and treacherous, but the runners turn out in large numbers yearly to compete in the famous race knowing that, with the handicap, their chances of winning are increased. At least, these are the beliefs of Hal Graves, Mill Valley Jaycees Dipsea Committee chairman.

"We used this system last year," Graves began, "and the runners seemed satisfied that they got a fair shake and that the handicaps were equitable."

IN EXPLAINING how the handicaps are determined, Graves noted that "We study last year's results and feed the data into a computer in San Francisco. We use the timings and ages from the last four years. The results were used in setting up the system we now use. No one has complained about it, and you know that in the past, the handicap system created a lot od controversy among the runners.

"That quieted down last year. We've used this same type of format since 1966, but now we're using a computer. That makes the difference. Until now, we had just been using our gut-feelings to determine our system."

But that changed in 1972 when Graves sat down with fellow Jaycees Bob McPeak, John Drew and Jerry Hauke to devise an effective handicap system.

IF THE computer and stopwatches have their way, the anticipated 1,500 runners will cross the finish line on Stinson Beach simultaneously.

"About 90 per cent of the field will have some kind of handicap," Drew said. Consequently, the system must be equitable if the results are to be creditable.

Apparently, the system is justified when considering that the numbers of competitors are increasing yearly. Graves estimated that 328 runners showed up in 1966. "We should have about 1,500 this year," Graves stated. Fifty ran in 1956. In 1967, 400 ran; about 800 took part in 1968.

The race, which was originated in 1905 by the Dipsea Indians of the San Francisco Olympic club, is sanctioned by the Pacific Association of the Amateur Athletic Union. During the 1950s, the handicap system was based primarily on runners' capabilities. The runners would leave at one-minute intervals in groups of 15.

THAT SYSTEM, among others, proved inadequate and race officials continued striving for a more effective system, culminating in the 1972 production.

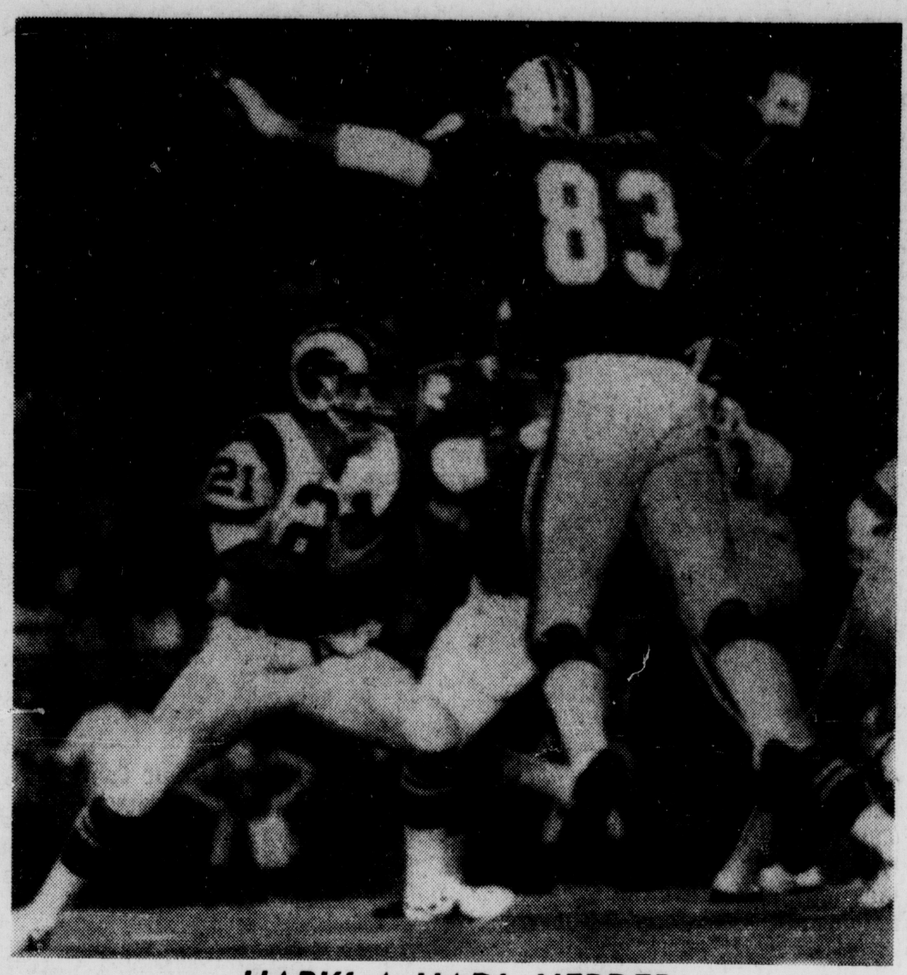
After viewing the system, its development and application, its pros and cons should be weighed.

Advantages: The format purportedly places all competitors on an equal basis by starting them off at different times; it gives each age group a chance to have a winner; the system spreads out the field, thus lessening injuries as 1,500 runners battle for position up the grueling stairs at the race's start; it gives officials a chance to control the race; and it encourages more people to take part.

Disadvantages: It is difficult to devise a system to insure an equitable and fair start; a fast runner, such as two-time and current champion Mike Boitano, can decrease his age group's handicap due to his sterling past performances, thus altering the computed system.

It seems that, although there are more advantages than disadvantages to the handicap system, the cons carry as much weight.

If the wrinkles can be ironed out of an otherwise smooth handicap system format, all concerned will benefit.



HARK! A HADL HERDER

Miami defensive end Vern Den Herder (83) rode herd on Los Angeles' John Hadl (21) in a National Football League exhibition game last night in Miami, forcing the Ram quarterback to forget his passing ambitions on this first-quarter play. The world champion Dolphins piled up an early 17-0 lead and coasted to a 17-14 victory. See football roundup, page 13. (UPI Telephoto)

63rd Dipsea Race On Tap

About 11 a.m. tomorrow, approximately 1,500 hot, sweaty and weary runners will be wondering why they didn't stay in bed and watch the San Francisco Giants-New York Mets baseball game or I Love Lucy re-runs.

At least one person will not, and if patterns run true to form, that one being Mike Boitano of San Francisco — winner of the past two Dipsea races.

Now 11 years old, Boitano will be seeking an unprecedented third consecutive Dipsea victory. The only other back-to-back winner in the previous 62 races was John G. Hassard of Oakland High School, who the first two races in 1905-06.

The only other double winners in the Dipsea annals are Oliver Millard (1910-13) and Jack Kirk of Petaluma (1951-67).

Boitano's chances of another victory are excellent, due to the nature of the handicap system employed by the sponsoring Mill Valley Jaycees. (see today's sports analysis for a comprehensive breakdown) Actually, Boitano's chances are quite good for the next few years.

When he won the race in 1971 with a 15-minute handicap, the then nine-year-old Boitano finished the grueling 6.8-mile course from Mill Valley to Stinson Beach in 58:53. Last year, his handicap was cut two minutes, but he knocked 2:16 off his scratch time to circumvent the handicap.

After his showing the past two years, Boitano will be given only a 10-minute handicap. But, presumably, a year's growth and training have cut another two or more minutes from his scratch time. That means, a scratch runner would have to shatter the course record of 46:08 (set by Ron Elijah of Novato in 1971) to beat Boitano.

One of the runners expected to challenge Boitano's Dipsea supremacy this year is Don Pickett of Tiburon, who won the event in 1968. Pickett's scratch time that year was 54:14. Now 45 years old, Pickett will be given an eight-minute handicap, so he should be in front of the pack with Boitano.

Actually, the difficulties inherent in tomorrow's running will be two-fold. First, the surging mob must negotiate the sometimes treacherous Dipsea trail, which begins at Lytton Square in downtown Mill Valley and ends at the post office in Stinson Beach. Then, adding insult to injury, the runners have to get back to wherever they left their transportation.

The race begins at 10 a.m., and entries will be accepted up until race time starting at 8 a.m. They will be processed in the Mill Valley City Council chamber on Corte Madera Avenue, a block from Lytton Square. Entry fee is $4, with $1.50 for an Amateur Athletic Union card if the runner doesn't have one.

AAU SWIMMING

Backhaus Upset In Fly; Meet To Finish Tonight

I-J Special Report

LOUISVILLE, KY. — Olympian Robin Backhaus of San Rafael was upset last night in the 200-meter butterfly at the National Amateur Athletic Union Long Course swimming championships here.

Backhaus swam four lengths of the Plantation Country Club pool in 2:04.53, just behind Steve Gregg of Huntington Beach. Gregg, who swam unattached, finished in 2:04.11.

"I suppose you could callit an upset," said Marin Aquatic Club coach Don Swartz about Backhaus' second-place finish. "He has the best listed 200-meter fly time in the world among active swimmers."

Swartz said that a long delay at the start of the race, the cold weather and water all contributed to the upset, but "it's not an excuse."

Marin got some unexpected help from Keith Strange of Terra Linda, who took sixth in the 200-meter breaststroke. Qualifying eighth, Strange swam a 2:31.94 in the finals — his best time ever by three seconds.

After three days of competition, Marin held on to its third place position, among men although the standings have been altered somewhat. The Gatorade Swim Team of Bloomington, Ind. took over the lead from the Santa Clara Swim Club, 234-219. Marin has 133 points.

Just behind Marin with 120 points are the Badger Dolphins of Madison, Wis., with the Pasadena Swim Association in fifth place with 102 points.

"I think we'll probably get caught by the Badgers and Pasadena might catch us too," Swartz predicted. "They both have relays left, and since relays score double points, that really hurts. But I'm pleased to still be in third after three days."

The most points Marin scored previously in the Nationals was 95.

The meet, which is a qualifier for the World Swimming Championships in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Sept. 1-9, will conclude tonight.

In the men's competition, Marin will have Rick DeMont swimming in the 1,500-meter freestyle and the 200-meter indivisual medley, with Backhaus and Art Morrill also in the 200 individual medley.

In the women's division, Maura Campion will be going in the 100-meter free and the 200 individual medley, and Jo Hislop will be in the 100 free.

"I expect Rick to win it," Swartz said about DeMont's chances in the 1,500 free. "The time is unpredictable, because he swims poorly in cold water. If we can get help from Robin and Art in the individual medley, I think we can hold on to fifth."

The 19-year-old sophomore at Stanford University vindicated himself somewhat with the record-shattering effort. Hencken caused the Santa Clara team's disqualification in the 400-meter medley relay Thursday when he jumped into the pool to congratulate a teammate before the race was over.

Moyer Decisions O'Connor In 10

ROCHESTER, Minn. (UPI)— Denny Moyer, Portland, Ore., won a split decision over Pat O'Connor of Rochester, Minn. Friday night in a 10-round bout at Mayo Civic Auditorium in Rochester.

The fight was fairly close most of the way but Moyer broke it open in the ninth round when he staggered O'Connor.

WARRIORS SELL FRITZ WILLIAMS

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — The Golden State Warriors announced Friday they have sold guard Fritz Williams to the Milwaukee Bucks for an undisclosed sum of money.

"We have a large number of guards, and with Charles Johnson coming on so well late last season plus the addition of Butch Beard, we felt Fritz was expendable," said Warriors general manager Bob Feerick.

With Williams gone the Warriors have such other guard candidates as Jeff Mullins, Jim Barnett and Beard and Johnson and if need be, could use the versatile Joe Ellis in the backcourt. Their first-round draft choice, Kevin Joyce of South Carolina, also is a guard.

Italian Club Ousted In DiMaggio Play

I-J Special Report

STOCKTON — Italian Athletic Club was eliminated from the State Joe DiMaggio Baseball League tournament here last night with a 4-3 extra-inning loss to Central Los Angeles.

Relief pitcher Jerry Wachowiak, who was an addition to the squad for the tourney, gave up a ninth-inning walk to Moses Vasquez who scored the winning run on a triple by Albert Delgado. Wachowiak suffered the loss.

The win gave Central revenge for an 11-0 no-hit loss at the hands of the Italian Club Wednesday night. Last year, the Italians were beaten by Central in the championship game.

The Italians scored their three runs in the sixth inning on two hits, a walk and two errors.

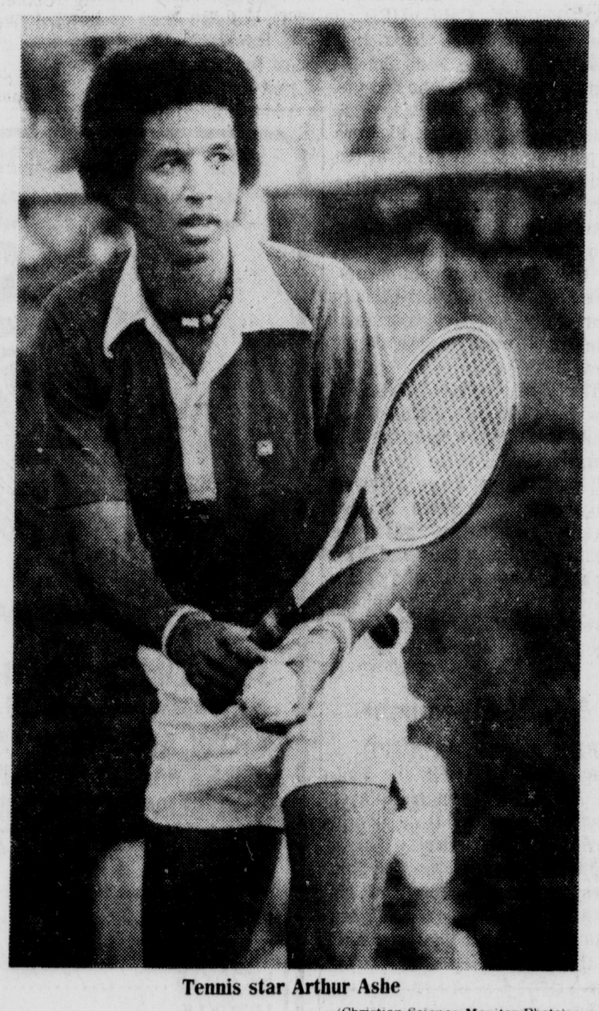
Winning Is Knowing How To Pace Yourself: Ashe

Tennis Star More Serious In 'Big Ones'

By PHIL ELDERKIN
The Christian Science Monitor News Service



Tennis star Arthur Ashe

Arthur Ashe was talking about the way he approaches a major tennis tournament.

"Since nobody can get up mentally for every tournament, I make it a point to take the important ones a little more seriously," he explained. "I think the higher the prize money, the more concentration I bring to the game.

"You sort of say to yourself — well, this is a big one, so let's see who is the best tennis player," Ashe continued. "Then you go out and try to prove that you're the best. And many times I've found that winning is merely knowing how to pace yourself."

How important is concentration?

"I may blow a few theories with this answer," Arthur replied, "but sometimes concentration isn't important at all. I've had days on the court when I couldn't do anything wrong. And I mean anything wrong.

"It doesn't happen often, but it has happened to me and so I figure it sometimes happens to the other guy, too. The thing to do if it happens to you is to enjoy it.

"You know, singles is a tough game. You're out there all alone with nobody to help you. If things start to go wrong, it's up to you to figure out why.

"For example, suppose your first serve suddenly starts to consistently wind up in the net. The thing to do is hit second serves for awhile.

Then, after you get control of your game again, you can go back to blasting the ball. But you have to do something, because it makes no sense at all to stick with things which are losing for you."

When Arthur talks about himself, he is really talking about the inner Ashe — the one you never see. He is not an emotional man on court. In fact, sometimes he hardly seems to be trying. But his desire to win is as great as any of his fellow pros.

Arthur has a blistering serve, excellent ground strokes, and a boarding-house reach. His overhead smashes often resemble silver darts and his passing shots at the net are also things of beauty.

Ashe, who grew up in Richmond, Va., often wonders where he'd be today if there hadn't been four old tennis courts within 50 feet of his house.

He was six at the time and, by his own description, had arms and legs no bigger round than soda straws. Sometimes his racket looked so massive that it appeared to be dragging him. But there was no doubt that he was some hitter for a six-year-old.

Arthur was eventually discovered by a 16-year-old playground instructor named Ronald Charity, who had taught himself to play tennis by reading a book. Since both had a habit of arriving at the courts early in the morning, it was inevitable that they would spend a lot of time hitting together. This, of course, was a big break for Ashe.

It was Charity who two years later entered Arthur in his first tennis tournament. Although he played well, Ashe lost to an 11-year-old named John Gordon, who later became tennis coach at Virginia Union.

On days when the big confidence flows from Arthur Ashe's racket, he is probably the best tennis player in the world. He may be anyway. But there always seems to be some expert in the vicinity who wants to give him a B for consistency or criticize some other aspect of his game.

Ashe has heard it all so many times before that it seems to run off him now, almost as if it had been programmed to do so. The time to judge Arthur's credentials is when he is serving, moving toward the net, and the stakes are high.

The shots he often makes are amazing.

SPORTS ANALYSIS

Dipsea Handicap Pros And Cons

By RON LENT

There are times when a handicap proves to be an asset rather than a liability. Such is the case with the system employed by the sponsoring Mill Valley Jaycees in presenting the 63rd annual Dipsea race tomorrow starting at 10 a.m.

The handicap system, a brainstorm of four Mill Valley Jaycees thought out in July, 1972, is geared to enable some 1,500 runners to negotiate the difficult 6.8-mile layout on equal footing. And, when judged by competitors' feedback to the Dipsea Committee, it seems to be working admirably.

The handicap system, based on age and sex, works thusly:

Tomorrow at 10 a.m., the first group starts off at Lytton Square in downtown Mill Valley. The first runners consist of men 57 and over, women 26 and older, boys 8 and under and girls 13 and younger.

AT 10:02, men 55-56 and boys 9-10 leave; 10:05, men 50-54, 11-year-old boys, and women 14-25 depart; 10:07, men 45-49 and 12-year-old boys; 10:08, men 40-44; 10:09, boys 13-14; 10:10, men 35-39; 10:11, men 33-34 and 15-year-old boys; 10:12, men 30-32; 10:13, men 28-29; 10:14, men 25-27.

The remaining participants (16-24 year-old males) are lumped in the scratch group and commence at 10:15.

The trek is long and treacherous, but the runners turn out in large numbers yearly to compete in the famous race knowing that, with the handicap, their chances of winning are increased. At least, these are the beliefs of Hal Graves, Mill Valley Jaycees Dipsea Committee chairman.

"We used this system last year," Graves began, "and the runners seemed satisfied that they got a fair shake and that the handicaps were equitable."

IN EXPLAINING how the handicaps are determined, Graves noted that "We study last year's results and feed the data into a computer in San Francisco. We use the timings and ages from the last four years. The results were used in setting up the system we now use. No one has complained about it, and you know that in the past, the handicap system created a lot od controversy among the runners.

"That quieted down last year. We've used this same type of format since 1966, but now we're using a computer. That makes the difference. Until now, we had just been using our gut-feelings to determine our system."

But that changed in 1972 when Graves sat down with fellow Jaycees Bob McPeak, John Drew and Jerry Hauke to devise an effective handicap system.

IF THE computer and stopwatches have their way, the anticipated 1,500 runners will cross the finish line on Stinson Beach simultaneously.

"About 90 per cent of the field will have some kind of handicap," Drew said. Consequently, the system must be equitable if the results are to be creditable.

Apparently, the system is justified when considering that the numbers of competitors are increasing yearly. Graves estimated that 328 runners showed up in 1966. "We should have about 1,500 this year," Graves stated. Fifty ran in 1956. In 1967, 400 ran; about 800 took part in 1968.

The race, which was originated in 1905 by the Dipsea Indians of the San Francisco Olympic club, is sanctioned by the Pacific Association of the Amateur Athletic Union. During the 1950s, the handicap system was based primarily on runners' capabilities. The runners would leave at one-minute intervals in groups of 15.

THAT SYSTEM, among others, proved inadequate and race officials continued striving for a more effective system, culminating in the 1972 production.

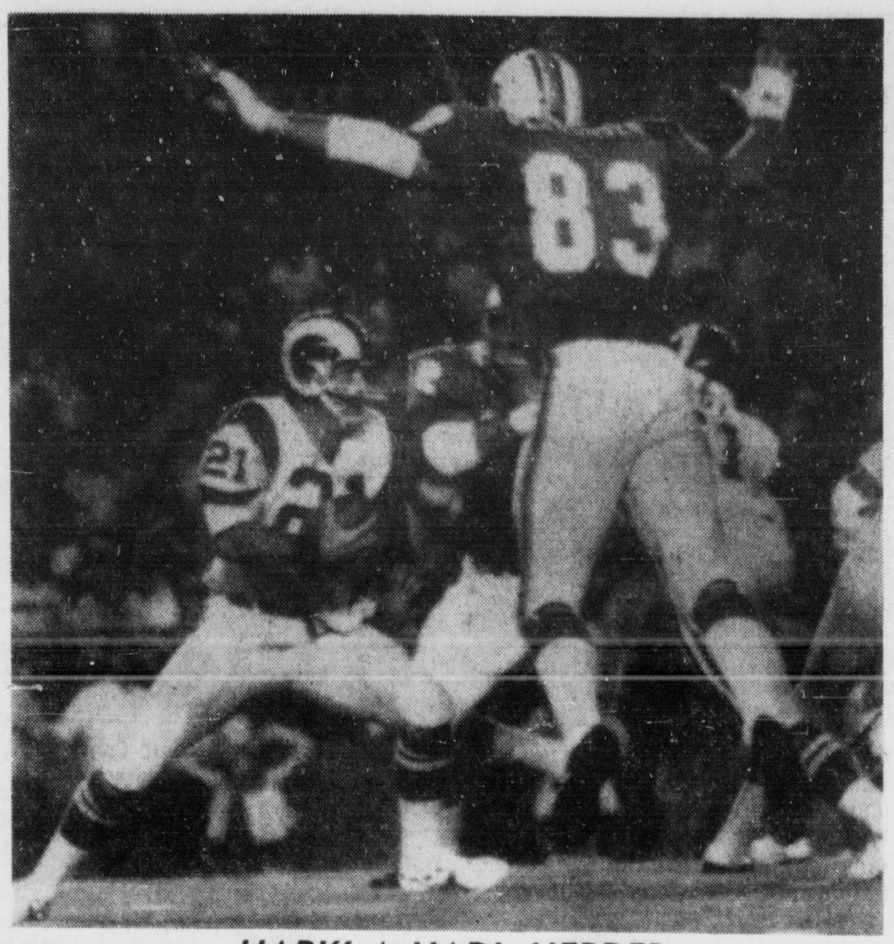
After viewing the system, its development and application, its pros and cons should be weighed.

Advantages: The format purportedly places all competitors on an equal basis by starting them off at different times; it gives each age group a chance to have a winner; the system spreads out the field, thus lessening injuries as 1,500 runners battle for position up the grueling stairs at the race's start; it gives officials a chance to control the race; and it encourages more people to take part.

Disadvantages: It is difficult to devise a system to insure an equitable and fair start; a fast runner, such as two-time and current champion Mike Boitano, can decrease his age group's handicap due to his sterling past performances, thus altering the computed system.

It seems that, although there are more advantages than disadvantages to the handicap system, the cons carry as much weight.

If the wrinkles can be ironed out of an otherwise smooth handicap system format, all concerned will benefit.



HARK! A HADL HERDER

Miami defensive end Vern Den Herder (83) rode herd on Los Angeles' John Hadl (21) in a National Football League exhibition game last night in Miami, forcing the Ram quarterback to forget his passing ambitions on this first-quarter play. The world champion Dolphins piled up an early 17-0 lead and coasted to a 17-14 victory. See football roundup, page 13. (UPI Telephoto)

63rd Dipsea Race On Tap

About 11 a.m. tomorrow, approximately 1,500 hot, sweaty and weary runners will be wondering why they didn't stay in bed and watch the San Francisco Giants-New York Mets baseball game or I Love Lucy re-runs.

At least one person will not, and if patterns run true to form, that one being Mike Boitano of San Francisco — winner of the past two Dipsea races.

Now 11 years old, Boitano will be seeking an unprecedented third consecutive Dipsea victory. The only other back-to-back winner in the previous 62 races was John G. Hassard of Oakland High School, who the first two races in 1905-06.

The only other double winners in the Dipsea annals are Oliver Millard (1910-13) and Jack Kirk of Petaluma (1951-67).

Boitano's chances of another victory are excellent, due to the nature of the handicap system employed by the sponsoring Mill Valley Jaycees. (see today's sports analysis for a comprehensive breakdown) Actually, Boitano's chances are quite good for the next few years.

When he won the race in 1971 with a 15-minute handicap, the then nine-year-old Boitano finished the grueling 6.8-mile course from Mill Valley to Stinson Beach in 58:53. Last year, his handicap was cut two minutes, but he knocked 2:16 off his scratch time to circumvent the handicap.

After his showing the past two years, Boitano will be given only a 10-minute handicap. But, presumably, a year's growth and training have cut another two or more minutes from his scratch time. That means, a scratch runner would have to shatter the course record of 46:08 (set by Ron Elijah of Novato in 1971) to beat Boitano.

One of the runners expected to challenge Boitano's Dipsea supremacy this year is Don Pickett of Tiburon, who won the event in 1968. Pickett's scratch time that year was 54:14. Now 45 years old, Pickett will be given an eight-minute handicap, so he should be in front of the pack with Boitano.

Actually, the difficulties inherent in tomorrow's running will be two-fold. First, the surging mob must negotiate the sometimes treacherous Dipsea trail, which begins at Lytton Square in downtown Mill Valley and ends at the post office in Stinson Beach. Then, adding insult to injury, the runners have to get back to wherever they left their transportation.

The race begins at 10 a.m., and entries will be accepted up until race time starting at 8 a.m. They will be processed in the Mill Valley City Council chamber on Corte Madera Avenue, a block from Lytton Square. Entry fee is $4, with $1.50 for an Amateur Athletic Union card if the runner doesn't have one.

Backhaus Upset In Fly; Meet To Finish Tonight

I-J Special Report

LOUISVILLE, KY. — Olympian Robin Backhaus of San Rafael was upset last night in the 200-meter butterfly at the National Amateur Athletic Union Long Course swimming championships here.

Backhaus swam four lengths of the Plantation Country Club pool in 2:04.53, just behind Steve Gregg of Huntington Beach. Gregg, who swam unattached, finished in 2:04.11.

"I suppose you could callit an upset," said Marin Aquatic Club coach Don Swartz about Backhaus' second-place finish. "He has the best listed 200-meter fly time in the world among active swimmers."

Swartz said that a long delay at the start of the race, the cold weather and water all contributed to the upset, but "it's not an excuse."

Marin got some unexpected help from Keith Strange of Terra Linda, who took sixth in the 200-meter breaststroke. Qualifying eighth, Strange swam a 2:31.94 in the finals — his best time ever by three seconds.

After three days of competition, Marin held on to its third place position, among men although the standings have been altered somewhat. The Gatorade Swim Team of Bloomington, Ind. took over the lead from the Santa Clara Swim Club, 234-219. Marin has 133 points.

Just behind Marin with 120 points are the Badger Dolphins of Madison, Wis., with the Pasadena Swim Association in fifth place with 102 points.

"I think we'll probably get caught by the Badgers and Pasadena might catch us too," Swartz predicted. "They both have relays left, and since relays score double points, that really hurts. But I'm pleased to still be in third after three days."

The most points Marin scored previously in the Nationals was 95.

The meet, which is a qualifier for the World Swimming Championships in Belgrade, Yugoslavia, Sept. 1-9, will conclude tonight.

In the men's competition, Marin will have Rick DeMont swimming in the 1,500-meter freestyle and the 200-meter indivisual medley, with Backhaus and Art Morrill also in the 200 individual medley.

In the women's division, Maura Campion will be going in the 100-meter free and the 200 individual medley, and Jo Hislop will be in the 100 free.

"I expect Rick to win it," Swartz said about DeMont's chances in the 1,500 free. "The time is unpredictable, because he swims poorly in cold water. If we can get help from Robin and Art in the individual medley, I think we can hold on to fifth."

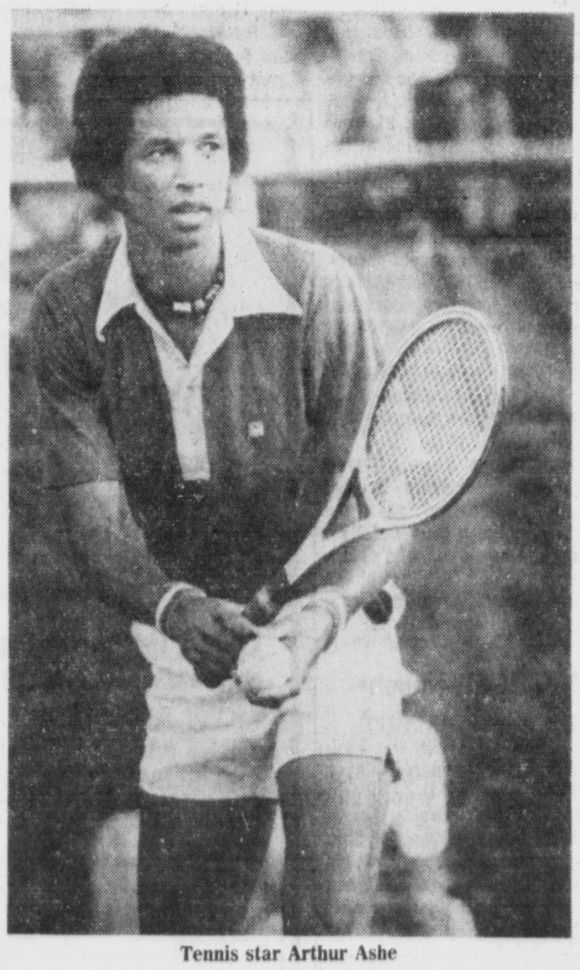
The 19-year-old sophomore at Stanford University vindicated himself somewhat with the record-shattering effort. Hencken caused the Santa Clara team's disqualification in the 400-meter medley relay Thursday when he jumped into the pool to congratulate a teammate before the race was over.

Winning Is Knowing How To Pace Yourself: Ashe

Tennis Star More Serious In 'Big Ones'

By PHIL ELDERKIN
The Christian Science Monitor News Service



Tennis star Arthur Ashe

Arthur Ashe was talking about the way he approaches a major tennis tournament.

"Since nobody can get up mentally for every tournament, I make it a point to take the important ones a little more seriously," he explained. "I think the higher the prize money, the more concentration I bring to the game.

"You sort of say to yourself — well, this is a big one, so let's see who is the best tennis player," Ashe continued. "Then you go out and try to prove that you're the best. And many times I've found that winning is merely knowing how to pace yourself."

How important is concentration?

"I may blow a few theories with this answer," Arthur replied, "but sometimes concentration isn't important at all. I've had days on the court when I couldn't do anything wrong. And I mean anything wrong.

"It doesn't happen often, but it has happened to me and so I figure it sometimes happens to the other guy, too. The thing to do if it happens to you is to enjoy it.

"You know, singles is a tough game. You're out there all alone with nobody to help you. If things start to go wrong, it's up to you to figure out why.

"For example, suppose your first serve suddenly starts to consistently wind up in the net. The thing to do is hit second serves for awhile.

Then, after you get control of your game again, you can go back to blasting the ball. But you have to do something, because it makes no sense at all to stick with things which are losing for you."

When Arthur talks about himself, he is really talking about the inner Ashe — the one you never see. He is not an emotional man on court. In fact, sometimes he hardly seems to be trying. But his desire to win is as great as any of his fellow pros.

Arthur has a blistering serve, excellent ground strokes, and a boarding-house reach. His overhead smashes often resemble silver darts and his passing shots at the net are also things of beauty.

Ashe, who grew up in Richmond, Va., often wonders where he'd be today if there hadn't been four old tennis courts within 50 feet of his house.

He was six at the time and, by his own description, had arms and legs no bigger round than soda straws. Sometimes his racket looked so massive that it appeared to be dragging him. But there was no doubt that he was some hitter for a six-year-old.

Arthur was eventually discovered by a 16-year-old playground instructor named Ronald Charity, who had taught himself to play tennis by reading a book. Since both had a habit of arriving at the courts early in the morning, it was inevitable that they would spend a lot of time hitting together. This, of course, was a big break for Ashe.

It was Charity who two years later entered Arthur in his first tennis tournament. Although he played well, Ashe lost to an 11-year-old named John Gordon, who later became tennis coach at Virginia Union.

On days when the big confidence flows from Arthur Ashe's racket, he is probably the best tennis player in the world. He may be anyway. But there always seems to be some expert in the vicinity who wants to give him a B for consistency or criticize some other aspect of his game.

Ashe has heard it all so many times before that it seems to run off him now, almost as if it had been programmed to do so. The time to judge Arthur's credentials is when he is serving, moving toward the net, and the stakes are high.

The shots he often makes are amazing.

UNIVERSITY GAMES

U.S. Satisfied After Cage Win

MOSCOW (UPI) — On the heels of triumphant victories by their men's basketball team and swimmers, United States athletes go home happy losers today with the close of the seventh World University Games.

Although beaten 68-19 in the gold medal chase by the host Soviet Union, the Americans restored much of their prestige on the final day of competition with a surprisingly easy 75-67 victory over the Russians in the finals of the men's basketball competition.

Coupled with that, the U.S. swimmers, led by Jack Tingley's second gold medal of the games, swept five of the seven firsts contested and wound up with a 16-6 edge over the Russians in that category.

It was the basketball final, however, that gave the Americans their most satisfaction. Haunted by the memory of last year's 51-50 defeat by the Russians at the Olympics and wearied by the unending publicity from Wednesday's chair-slinging brawl with Cuba, the U.S. cagers fast-breaked the Russians to an early death with a crucial 13-point spree midway through the first half.

Once again, it was North Carolina State's high-flying magician, David Thompson, who was the hero for the U.S., scoring a game-high 24 points and tacking on to that at least a half dozen blocked shots.

During the Americans' 13-point spurt (which put the U.S. ahead 31-17), the 6-foot-4 Thompson put in three buckets, capping the drive by leaping right over the Soviets' 6-9 Alexander Bolochev for a netripping dunk shot that wowed even the partisan capacity (14,000) audience.

"I'm glad I was able to have a part in this," said 7-foot-4 Tom Burleson of Newland, N.C, an N.C. State teammate of Thompsons. "Its a personal satisfaction beating the Russians. I only wish the other 11 guys in Munich could be here too."

Burleson, the only member of the American team to have also played at Munich, scored 10 points—all in the second half—while Quinn Buckner of Indiana was the other U.S. cager in double figures with 12.

The American swimmers also were ignoring the Russians' overall gold medal total and, in the third straight day of chilly, autumn-like weather, took firsts in the womens 100-meter backstroke, 200-meter medley and 400-meter freestyle relay plus the mens 1,500-meter freestyle and 400-meter medley relay.

The 6-foot-7 Tingley had the easiest time of it, using long and powerful stroke to win the 1,500-meter freestyle by a half pool length in a game record time of 16:02.2

After winning the 400-meter freestyle on Thursday, Tingley thus joined teammates Allen Poucher of Jacksonville, Fla., and David Johnson of San Diego as the only three U.S. athletes to win two individual gold medals in the Games.

The American women did their share with 1-2 sweeps by Ellen Feldman of Virginia and Elizabeth Tullis of Scottsdale, Ariz., in the 100-meter backstroke and Susie Atwood of Long Beach, Calif., and Cathy Carr of Albuquerque, N.M.,in the 2 00-meter medley.

Miss Feldman, matching Miss Tullis stroke for stroke over the last 50 meters won by a half-stroke in 1:07.0, while Miss Atwood's medley time was a games record of 2:26.4.

"I think we did very well under weather conditions more fit for football," was head U.S. coach Peter Daland's observation.

Only solace of the day for the Russians was a 1-2 sweep in the mens 100-meter breastroke behind Nikolai Pankin and Igor Tcherdakov and an 82-44 rout of the Americans in the finals of women's basketball.

SYMBOLIC VICTORY — U.S. basketball star David Thompson (10) of North Carolina State was hoisted on the shoulders of jubilant teammates for the symbolic net-cutting ceremony after the Americans avenged their controversial Olympic defeat with a 75-67 triumph over the Soviet Union in the World University Games yesterday.

BASEBALL ROUNDUP

Lee, Decker Stop Foes With Complete Games

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Bill Lee and Joe Decker, pitching with different motiviations but similar success, each hurled complete-game victories last night in American League play.

Decker, of Petaluma, handcuffed Milwaukee on four hits to give Minnesota a 3-0 shutout victory; while Lee, of Terra Linda, pitched Boston to a 3-2 triumph over California.

The victory was the eighth in 13 decisions for Decker, trying to establish himesef as a standout in his first full season as a starter. The right-hander struck out 10 and walked just two.

Lee won for the 14th time in 22 decisions, and seems to have regained the momentum he lost momentarily when he needed seven attempts to capture his 13th victory. The left-hander struck out seven, walked one and gave up eight hits.

Lee's victory kept Boston in the thick of the pennant race in the East, four games back of Baltimore; while Decker's kept the Twins ahead in a three-way battle for third in the West, 14½ behind Oakland.

In other AL games, Detroit edged Chicago 6-5, Cleveland blasted Texas 11-5, Oakland beat New York 5-1 and Baltimore stomped Kansas City 6-0.

National League action saw San Diego beat Montreal 5-3, New York nip San Francisco 1-0, Los Angeles blank Philadelphia 3-0, St. Louis clip Cincinnati 5-4, Atlanta beat Pittsburgh 3-2 and Houston down Chicago 4-2.

Baltimore got three-hit pitching from Dave McNally (13-13) and three runs batted in by Bobby Grich in its victory.

Norm cash's pinch-homer with one on and two out tied the score in the ninth inning and Mickey Stanley and Tony Taylor followed with a double and a single to cap a three-run inning and give detroit its victory over chicago.

Frank Duffy, who had averaged only one homer for every 224 at-bats in his major league career, hammered out two homers, a three-run shot and a solo blast, and sparked cleveland past Texas.

Tommy John tossed a three-hitter in pitching the Dodgers over the Phils. John Struck out six and walked only two in posting his 12th triumph. Willie Crawford and Von Joshua hit back-to-back triples in the sixth inning to tag Wayne Twitchell with the loss.

Jose Cruz' 10th homer with two out in the 11th inning led the Cardinals over the Reds after Cincinnati had tied the game on a homer by Andy Kosco in the ninth. Ted Simmons also had a two-run homer for the cards while Pete Rose had a solo blast for Cincinnati.

Dusty Baker's two-run homer off relief specialist Dave Guisti with none out in the bottom of the ninth gave the braves a victory over the pirates. Baker's homer came after a single by Darrell Evans and was one of only four hits the braves collected.

Doug Rader drove in to runs and scored anotherto lead the Astros over the Cubs. Jerry Reuss went the distance for Houstin, scattering 10 hits, to gain his 14th victory against nine losses.

Ivan Murrell hit a two-run homer to spark the Padres' victory over the Expos and bring rookie Rich Troedson his sixth triumph. Hal Breeden had a homer for Montreal, which lost its fourth in a row.

AFTER 5-1 WIN

Williams Lavish In Praise Of A's

OAKLAND (AP) — "We're getting good pitching, great hitting and good defense," manager Dick Williams of the Oakland Athletics said following a 5-1 victory over the New York Yankees.

Jim (Catfish) Hunter and Darold Knowles provided the pitching Friday night, Reggie Jackson and Dick Green the hitting and everyone else the defense for Oakland's 11th victory in 12 games.

The victory pushed the A's three games ahead of Kansas City in the American League West.

Williams was pleased with a solid seven-inning performance by Hunter, who was making his second start since suffering a broken right thumb in the All-Star game a month ago.

"We wanted him to go seven innings. After that we had Knowles," Williams said.

Hunter, who won his 16th game of the season and 11th in succession, gave up two singles with one out in the eighth inning.

Knowles came in to retire the side on one pitch, a sinker ball that Roy White hit into a double play.

Jackson continued his hot hitting with a pair of singles to drive in the first two Oakland runs. He now has 105 runs batted in this season.

"If we had played like this all season, we would be ahead by 15 games," Jackson said.

Green wrapped up the scoring with a two-run homer in the eighth inning.

The Yankees scored in the fifth inning on a leadoff double by Graig Nettles and a single by Gene Michael. Hunter allowed only five hits. He struck out four and walked two.

"All Hunter does is throw strikes, strikes, and more strikes," said Matty Alou of the Yankees. Alou was Hunter's teammate on the world champion Oakland team last year.

Ralston And His Broncos Battle 49ers Tomorrow

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The San Francisco 49ers put their show on display for the home fans tomorrow against the Denver Broncos.

The Broncos have a lot of local rooters since their coach, John Ralston, in his last two years at Stanford took the club to a pair of Rose Bowl victories.

Denver, still rebuilding in Ralston's second year, is 1-1 thus far in the exhibition season, coming off an impressive 38-17 victory over St. Louis. The Broncos lost their opener to Washington 14-10.

Ralston has a flock of rookie candidtaes so he's expected to look at most of them against the 49ers.

"We have to make a lot of decisions soon," he said, "and we are running out of time and games. This is always the toughest part of a coach's job—deciding which rookies to keep and which to release."

Thus the 49ers, who are 3-1, can expect to see any number of combinations, especially with quarterback Steve Ramsey hobbled by an ankle sprain. However, Ralston is in no hurry to use Ramsey because he's anxious for longer looks at Mike Ernst and John Hufnagel.

"We are certainly here with the thought of winning," said Ralston, "but realizing it is the last chance to really put some of the younger players under fire before having to trim the squad from 63 to 49 next week."

The 49ers have no such problems, except in a few positions. They are, for the most part, a set club with Coach Dick Nolan mostly interested in backup people.

Steve Spurrier will start at quarterback for San Francisco in Nolan's schedule to give each of his three quarterbacks equal time in the exhibition games. Last week, Joe Reed, currently No. 3, was impressive in leading the club to a 19-7 victory over San Diego. Lost in the scuffle, though, was a brief but fine performance by John Brodie. In two series of downs the 17 year pro hit on 7-of-8 passes for 78 yards and one score.

METS PREVAIL

Giants' Overtime Win String Ends

NEW YORK (UPI) —The New York Mets ended San Francisco's string of one-run extra-inning victories last night and beat old nemesis Juan Marichal to boot.

Marichal, who held a 26-7 lifetme record against the Mets prior to the game, was working on a seven-hit shutout going into the 10th inning when New York suddenly erupted for the game's only run on a single by pinchhitter Ken Boswell, Willie Mays' sacrifice and Felix Millan's game winning single.

The loss evened Marichal's record for the season at 10-10.

Jerry Koosman, victim of poor New York hitting support all season, scattered seven hits in picking up his 10th victory against 14 losses.

Millan hit a 2 and 1 slider that looped between Bobby Bonds and Garry Maddox in right centerfield. Bonds' dove for the ball in a vain attempt to catch the game-winning safety. The loss was the first in extra innings by the Giants this season after ll consecutive overtime victories.

"The pitch to Millan was a strike," Marichal said.

San Francisco had its best scoring chance in the fourth inning when the Giants loaded the bases.

Bonds led off with a single and then was picked off first by Koosman. Willie McCovey walked, but his tired legs could only carry him to third base when Garry Maddox doubled. Chris Spier was purposely passed to load the bases, but Koosman eased out of the jam as Mike Phillips popped up and Dave Rader whacked a sinking liner to left field that Cleon Jones caught as he tumbled to the grass.

Bee Takes Nor Cal Junior Net Doubles

PORTOLA VALLEY — Bee Kilgore of Tiburon combined with Marna Louie of San Francisco yesterday to win the girls 18 doubles crown at the NorCal Junior Tennis Sectionals here with a 6-2, 6-2 victory over Carrie and Anne Zarraonandia of Mill Valley.

In other tournament action, Cary Stansbury of Tiburon beat Larry Stefanki, 6-1, 6-3, in the boys 16 semi-finals, and Herman Bauer of Tiburon scored a tough 7-5, 6-4 victory over Larry Marx in a boys 14 semi-final match. Doug Carlisle of San Rafael was dropped by Ricky Cowden, 6-3, 6-2, in his boys 16 semi-final.

U.S. Bids For Rout In Wightman Tennis

BROOKLINE, Mass. (UPI)— Linda Tuero, Chris Evert and Marita Redondo today will attempt to continue what could become a total rout of the British in the Wightman Cup Tennis championships at the Longwood Cricket Club here where the United States holds a 2-0 lead.

Miee Tuero, 22, of New Orleans, will face 19-year-old Glynis Coles, and then the American teenagers, 18-year-old Miss Evert and 17-year-old Miss Redondo, will face Miss Coles and Virginia Wade in the first doubles match of the seven-match series.

Miss Evert got her team off winging Friday night, cooly disposing of Miss Wade, the British captain, 6-4, 6-2, and Patti Hogan of LaJolla, Calif., used a drop shot effectively in stopping Veronica Burton, 6-4, 6-3.

"I was very confident," said Miss Hogan, "even though I had lost to Veronica in Indianapolis last week." Miss Burton won that one, 6-2, 6-2 in the first round of the clay court championships, then lost to Miss Evert 6-4, 6-3 in the final.

The Evert-Wade match was a classic example of Miss Evert's unflapable approach to the game. Keeping firmly to her baseline, displaying her increasingly effective ground strokes and maintaining the lobs which were her hallmark two years ago, she kept Miss Wade at bay throughout the 65-minute encounter.

Raiders Confront Vikings

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — The unbeaten but once tied Oakland Raiders and the 2-0 Minnesota Vikings, who meet in the National Football League season opener on Sept. 16, were to play a practice game at the University of California today.

It's the first meeting ever between the Raiders and Vikes, two of the most consistent clubs in the NFL in recent years. Each has won division titles in four of the last five years and Minnesota went to the Super Bowl in 1969.

The Vikes defeated the Kansas City Chiefs, 13-10, late week while the Raiders beat the Los Angeles Rams, 16-3.

The Vikings have allowed only one touchdown in two games, indicating that once again Minnesota fans and NFL rivals can expect a solid defensive unit, one of the club's strong points since Bud Grant became head coach.

Youth Movement

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Ken Brett, now with the Phillies, was the youngest player ever to perform in a World Series. In 1967, Brett, then a member of the Boston Red Sox, was just two weeks past his 19th birthday when he pitched against the St. Louis Cardinals in the fall classic.

UNIVERSITY GAMES

U.S. Satisfied After Cage Win

MOSCOW (UPI) — On the heels of triumphant victories by their men's basketball team and swimmers, United States athletes go home happy losers today with the close of the seventh World University Games.

Although beaten 68-19 in the gold medal chase by the host Soviet Union, the Americans restored much of their prestige on the final day of competition with a surprisingly easy 75-67 victory over the Russians in the finals of the men's basketball competition.

Coupled with that, the U.S. swimmers, led by Jack Tingley's second gold medal of the games, swept five of the seven firsts contested and wound up with a 16-6 edge over the Russians in that category.

It was the basketball final, however, that gave the Americans their most satisfaction. Haunted by the memory of last year's 51-50 defeat by the Russians at the Olympics and wearied by the unending publicity from Wednesday's chair-slinging brawl with Cuba, the U.S. cagers fast-breaked the Russians to an early death with a crucial 13-point spree midway through the first half.

Once again, it was North Carolina State's high-flying magician, David Thompson, who was the hero for the U.S., scoring a game-high 24 points and tacking on to that at least a half dozen blocked shots.

During the Americans' 13-point spurt (which put the U.S. ahead 31-17), the 6-foot-4 Thompson put in three buckets, capping the drive by leaping right over the Soviets' 6-9 Alexander Bolochev for a netripping dunk shot that wowed even the partisan capacity (14,000) audience.

"I'm glad I was able to have a part in this," said 7-foot-4 Tom Burleson of Newland, N.C. an N.C. State teammate of Thompsons. "Its a personal satisfaction beating the Russians. I only wish the other 11 guys in Munich could be here too."

Burleson, the only member of the American team to have also played at Munich, scored 10 points—all in the second half—while Quinn Buckner of Indiana was the other U.S. cager in double figures with 12.

The American swimmers also were ignoring the Russians' overall gold medal total and, in the third straight day of chilly, autumn-like weather, took firsts in the womens 100-meter backstroke, 200-meter medley and 400-meter freestyle relay plus the mens 1,500-meter freestyle and 400-meter medley relay.

The 6-foot-7 Tingley had the easiest time of it, using long and powerful stroke to win the 1,500-meter freestyle by a half pool length in a game record time of 16:02.2

After winning the 400-meter freestyle on Thursday, Tingley thus joined teammates Allen Poucher of Jacksonville, Fla., and David Johnson of San Diego as the only three U.S. athletes to win two individual gold medals in the Games.

The American women did their share with 1-2 sweeps by Ellen Feldman of Virginia and Elizabeth Tullis of Scottsdale, Ariz., in the 100-meter backstroke and Susie Atwood of Long Beach, Calif., and Cathy Carr of Albuquerque, N.M.,in the 2 00-meter medley.

Miss Feldman, matching Miss Tullis stroke for stroke over the last 50 meters won by a half-stroke in 1:07.0, while Miss Atwood's medley time was a games record of 2:26.4.

"I think we did very well under weather conditions more fit for football," was head U.S. coach Peter Daland's observation.

Only solace of the day for the Russians was a 1-2 sweep in the mens 100-meter breastroke behind Nikolai Pankin and Igor Tcherdakov and an 82-44 rout of the Americans in the finals of women's basketball.

SYMBOLIC VICTORY — U.S. basketball star David Thompson (10) of North Carolina State was hoisted on the shoulders of jubilant teammates for the symbolic net-cutting ceremony after the Americans avenged their controversial Olympic defeat with a 75-67 triumph over the Soviet Union in the World University Games yesterday.

Lee, Decker Stop Foes With Complete Games

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Bill Lee and Joe Decker, pitching with different motiviations but similar success, each hurled complete-game victories last night in American League play.

Decker, of Petaluma, handcuffed Milwaukee on four hits to give Minnesota a 3-0 shutout victory; while Lee, of Terra Linda, pitched Boston to a 3-2 triumph over California.

The victory was the eighth in 13 decisions for Decker, trying to establish himesef as a standout in his first full season as a starter. The right-hander struck out 10 and walked just two.

Lee won for the 14th time in 22 decisions, and seems to have regained the momentum he lost momentarily when he needed seven attempts to capture his 13th victory. The left-hander struck out seven, walked one and gave up eight hits.

Lee's victory kept Boston in the thick of the pennant race in the East, four games back of Baltimore; while Decker's kept the Twins ahead in a three-way battle for third in the West, 14½ behind Oakland.

In other AL games, Detroit edged Chicago 6-5, Cleveland blasted Texas 11-5, Oakland beat New York 5-1 and Baltimore stomped Kansas City 6-0.

National League action saw San Diego beat Montreal 5-3, New York nip San Francisco 1-0, Los Angeles blank Philadelphia 3-0, St. Louis clip Cincinnati 5-4, Atlanta beat Pittsburgh 3-2 and Houston down Chicago 4-2.

Baltimore got three-hit pitching from Dave McNally (13-13) and three runs batted in by Bobby Grich in its victory.

Norm cash's pinch-homer with one on and two out tied the score in the ninth inning and Mickey Stanley and Tony Taylor followed with a double and a single to cap a three-run inning and give detroit its victory over chicago.

Frank Duffy, who had averaged only one homer for every 224 at-bats in his major league career, hammered out two homers, a three-run shot and a solo blast, and sparked cleveland past Texas.

Tommy John tossed a three-hitter in pitching the Dodgers over the Phils. John Struck out six and walked only two in posting his 12th triumph. Willie Crawford and Von Joshua hit back-to-back triples in the sixth inning to tag Wayne Twitchell with the loss.

Jose Cruz' 10th homer with two out in the 11th inning led the Cardinals over the Reds after Cincinnati had tied the game on a homer by Andy Kosco in the ninth. Ted Simmons also had a two-run homer for the cards while Pete Rose had a solo blast for Cincinnati.

Dusty Baker's two-run homer off relief specialist Dave Guisti with none out in the bottom of the ninth gave the braves a victory over the pirates. Baker's homer came after a single by Darrell Evans and was one of only four hits the braves collected.

Doug Rader drove in to runs and scored anotherto lead the Astros over the Cubs. Jerry Reuss went the distance for Houstin, scattering 10 hits, to gain his 14th victory against nine losses.

Ivan Murrell hit a two-run homer to spark the Padres' victory over the Expos and bring rookie Rich Troedson his sixth triumph. Hal Breeden had a homer for Montreal, which lost its fourth in a row.

AFTER 5-1 WIN

Williams Lavish In Praise Of A's

OAKLAND (AP) — "We're getting good pitching, great hitting and good defense," manager Dick Williams of the Oakland Athletics said following a 5-1 victory over the New York Yankees.

Jim (Catfish) Hunter and Darold Knowles provided the pitching Friday night, Reggie Jackson and Dick Green the hitting and everyone else the defense for Oakland's 11th victory in 12 games.

The victory pushed the A's three games ahead of Kansas City in the American League West.

Williams was pleased with a solid seven-inning performance by Hunter, who was making his second start since suffering a broken right thumb in the All-Star game a month ago.

"We wanted him to go seven innings. After that we had Knowles," Williams said.

Hunter, who won his 16th game of the season and 11th in succession, gave up two singles with one out in the eighth inning.

Knowles came in to retire the side on one pitch, a sinker ball that Roy White hit into a double play.

Jackson continued his hot hitting with a pair of singles to drive in the first two Oakland runs. He now has 105 runs batted in this season.

"If we had played like this all season, we would be ahead by 15 games," Jackson said.

Green wrapped up the scoring with a two-run homer in the eighth inning.

The Yankees scored in the fifth inning on a leadoff double by Graig Nettles and a single by Gene Michael. Hunter allowed only five hits. He struck out four and walked two.

"All Hunter does is throw strikes, strikes, and more strikes," said Matty Alou of the Yankees. Alou was Hunter's teammate on the world champion Oakland team last year.

Ralston And His Broncos Battle 49ers Tomorrow

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI)— The San Francisco 49ers put their show on display for the home fans tomorrow against the Denver Broncos.

The Broncos have a lot of local rooters since their coach, John Ralston, in his last two years at Stanford took the club to a pair of Rose Bowl victories.

Denver, still rebuilding in Ralston's second year, is 1-1 thus far in the exhibition season, coming off an impressive 38-17 victory over St. Louis. The Broncos lost their opener to Washington 14-10.

Ralston has a flock of rookie candidtaes so he's expected to look at most of them against the 49ers.

"We have to make a lot of decisions soon," he said, "and we are running out of time and games. This is always the toughest part of a coach's job—deciding which rookies to keep and which to release."

Thus the 49ers, who are 3-1, can expect to see any number of combinations, especially with quarterback Steve Ramsey hobbled by an ankle sprain. However, Ralston is in no hurry to use Ramsey because he's anxious for longer looks at Mike Ernst and John Hufnagel.

"We are certainly here with the thought of winning," said Ralston, "but realizing it is the last chance to really put some of the younger players under fire before having to trim the squad from 63 to 49 next week."

The 49ers have no such problems, except in a few positions. They are, for the most part, a set club with Coach Dick Nolan mostly interested in backup people.

Steve Spurrier will start at quarterback for San Francisco in Nolan's schedule to give each of his three quarterbacks equal time in the exhibition games. Last week, Joe Reed, currently No. 3, was impressive in leading the club to a 19-7 victory over San Diego. Lost in the scuffle, though, was a brief but fine performance by John Brodie. In two series of downs the 17 year pro hit on 7-of-8 passes for 78 yards and one score.

Raiders Confront Vikings

BERKELEY, Calif. (UPI) — The unbeaten but once tied Oakland Raiders and the 2-0 Minnesota Vikings, who meet in the National Football League season opener on Sept. 16, were to play a practice game at the University of California today.

It's the first meeting ever between the Raiders and Vikes, two of the most consistent clubs in the NFL in recent years. Each has won division titles in four of the last five years and Minnesota went to the Super Bowl in 1969.

The Vikes defeated the Kansas City Chiefs, 13-10, late week while the Raiders beat the Los Angeles Rams, 16-3.

The Vikings have allowed only one touchdown in two games, indicating that once again Minnesota fans and NFL rivals can expect a solid defensive unit, one of the club's strong points since Bud Grant became head coach.

Youth Movement

PHILADELPHIA (UPI) — Ken Brett, now with the Phillies, was the youngest player ever to perform in a World Series. In 1967, Brett, then a member of the Boston Red Sox, was just two weeks past his 19th birthday when he pitched against the St. Louis Cardinals in the fall classic.

METS PREVAIL

Giants' Overtime Win String Ends

NEW YORK (UPI) —The New York Mets ended San Francisco's string of one-run extra-inning victories last night and beat old nemesis Juan Marichal to boot.

Marichal, who held a 26-7 lifetme record against the Mets prior to the game, was working on a seven-hit shutout going into the 10th inning when New York suddenly erupted for the game's only run on a single by pinchhitter Ken Boswell, Willie Mays' sacrifice and Felix Millan's game winning single.

The loss evened Marichal's record for the season at 10-10.

Jerry Koosman, victim of poor New York hitting support all season, scattered seven hits in picking up his 10th victory against 14 losses.

Millan hit a 2 and 1 slider that looped between Bobby Bonds and Garry Maddox in right centerfield. Bonds' dove for the ball in a vain attempt to catch the game-winning safety. The loss was the first in extra innings by the Giants this season after ll consecutive overtime victories.

"The pitch to Millan was a strike," Marichal said.

San Franeisco had its best scoring chance in the fourth inning when the Giants loaded the bases.

Bonds led off with a single and then was picked off first by Koosman. Willie McCovey walked, but his tired legs could only carry him to third base when Garry Maddox doubled. Chris Spier was purposely passed to load the bases, but Koosman eased out of the jam as Mike Phillips popped up and Dave Rader whacked a sinking liner to left field that Cleon Jones caught as he tumbled to the grass.

Bee Takes Nor Cal Junior Net Doubles

PORTOLA VALLEY — Bee Kilgore of Tiburon combined with Marna Louie of San Francisco yesterday to win the girls 18 doubles crown at the NorCal Junior Tennis Sectionals here with a 6-2, 6-2 victory over Carrie and Anne Zarraonandia of Mill Valley.

In other tournament action, Cary Stansbury of Tiburon beat Larry Stefanki, 6-1, 6-3, in the boys 16 semi-finals, and Herman Bauer of Tiburon scored a tough 7-5, 6-4 victory over Larry Marx in a boys 14 semi-final match. Doug Carlisle of San Rafael was dropped by Ricky Cowden, 6-3, 6-2, in his boys 16 semi-final.

U.S. Bids For Rout In Wightman Tennis

BROOKLINE, Mass. (UPI)— Linda Tuero, Chris Evert and Marita Redondo today will attempt to continue what could become a total rout of the British in the Wightman Cup Tennis championships at the Longwood Cricket Club here where the United States holds a 2-0 lead.

Miee Tuero, 22, of New Orleans, will face 19-year-old Glynis Coles, and then the American teenagers, 18-year-old Miss Evert and 17-year-old Miss Redondo, will face Miss Coles and Virginia Wade in the first doubles match of the seven-match series.

Miss Evert got her team off winging Friday night, cooly disposing of Miss Wade, the British captain, 6-4, 6-2, and Patti Hogan of LaJolla, Calif., used a drop shot effectively in stopping Veronica Burton, 6-4, 6-3.

"I was very confident," said Miss Hogan, "even though I had lost to Veronica in Indianapolis last week." Miss Burton won that one, 6-2, 6-2 in the first round of the clay court championships, then lost to Miss Evert 6-4, 6-3 in the final.

The Evert-Wade match was a classic example of Miss Evert's unflapable approach to the game. Keeping firmly to her baseline, displaying her increasingly effective ground strokes and maintaining the lobs which were her hallmark two years ago, she kept Miss Wade at bay throughout the 65-minute encounter.

BOWLING

Mrs. Hoffmann Has Top Score

Bea Hoffmann of San Rafael Wednesday night bowled a 772 series to finish in first place in the L and L Castle Lanes-sponsored West Coast Eliminations in San Francisco.

Mrs. Hoffmann, 36, concluded the 13th round 50 pins ahead of Rose Skellen of San Francisco. Next Wednesday, the five finalists will play head-to-head matches for the $150 first prize. The number five bowler will meet number four, with the winner playing number three and that winner facing number two. The winner among the four women will then face Mrs. Hoffmann twice for the championship.

Mrs. Hoffmann had games of 237, 190, 183 and 160. "I started off with a bang, and then went downhill from there," she joked. "I'm bowling good right now and I love it."

Marilyn Epidendio of San Rafael is in fifth place.

ED HENRY of San Rafael began play today in the 13th annual Cal-State Masters Championship at Grand Lanes in Hayward. Henry, who finished the 13 week qualifying period with 1,219 points, will go against Gary Madison of San Bernardino, who scored 1,234.

MATCH PLAY

Unknown Golfer Draws Nicklaus

CARY, N.C. (UPI)—Joe Porter, a winless unknown after five sporadic years on the Professional Golfers Association tour, played head-to-head golf yesterday with Lanny Wadkins, fourth on the money list and winner of two tournaments this year, and beat him. Today, he gets to try the same on Jack Nicklaus.

Nicklaus is in the match play because he had three exemptions -being defending champ, winning the 1973 PGA tournament and standing No. 1 on the Tournament Players Division point list for 1972.

Porter is in the match play because he put together rounds of 69 and 71 in the $100,000 L&M Open for a 140 total through 36 holes—a tie for eighth place—then outlasted six other players in a playoff with five straight pars. Wadkins was the last to succumb, bogeying the No. 5 hole at MacGregor Downs Country Club.

"He's probably happy that he's playing a rabbit (players who have to qualify for each event)," said Porter of Nicklaus. "He handles pressure better than any golfer in the world."

Seven other players had an easier time of qualifying for the match play—accomplished by being one of the top eight second round leaders in the L&M Open.

Veteran J.C. Snead led the way, carding his second straight three-under-par 68 for a 136 total. Runnerup to Snead in the second L&M round was young John Schroeder, who shot a course record 65 Friday to go with a first round 73 for a 138 total.

Five players earned their spots in the match play with 139s, three under par. They were Dan Sikes Jr., who faces Lee Trevino today; Brian "Buddy" Allin, who is matched against Masters Champ Tommy Aaron; Artie McNickle, who plays U.S. Open winner Johnny Miller; DeWitt Weaver, who won the match play championship in 1971, faces George Archer; and Allen Miller, who faces Tom Weiskopf, winner of five tournaments including the British Open, this year.

Schroeder will be playing against Grier Jones and Snead against Jerry Heard.

With the departure of the eight players from the L&M field for the more prestigious and more financially rewarding match play, the six playoff losers took over a joint lead in the L&M with two-under-par 140s.

They are Wadkins (71-69), Paul Moran (71-69), former PGA champion Dave Stockton (67-73), Bob Smith (72-68), Bobby Mitchell (73-67 and Rik Massengale (71-69).

Two matches Sunday morning will decide the finalist in match play and the title will be decided Sunday afternoon before a national television audience.

Germann Selected

T.W. Burgess points Gertrude Ederle towards England

TIME MACHINE

Gertrude Ederle Swims Channel

CAPE GRIS-NEZ, France—An Englishman, T.W. Burgess, who battled and defeated these same waters of the English Channel 15 years ago, gives last minute instructions to his 19-year-old protege.

Moments later, at 7:09 a.m., this Aug. 6, 1926, Gertrude Ederle plunges into the water for what she hopes will be an historic swim.

A woman has never conquered these challenging waters.

Last summer Miss Ederle was pulled out of the water six and a half miles from the English coast on her first attempt at a channel-crossing.

Today she starts out strongly and covers the first four miles in three hours.

She is accompanied by people on two tugs. One of them has her father, sister, a few other channel aspirants and Burgess aboard. The other tug is for newsmen and photographers.

Last year a jazz band was here to urge her on. This time there's no band, but those on the tugs have been singing American songs for Gertrude's encouragement. "The Star Spangled Banner" is being sung frequently.

Early in the afternoon it begins to rain. Gertrude is also facing a strong wind, choppy water and treacherous crosstides.

There is talk of giving up at 6 p.m. and Gertrude's emphatic response is No!

Finally, the cliffs of England are in sight. Thousands of people are on the shore and hundreds of automobile lights and flares illuminate the beach to guide her in.

An exhausted Gertrude Ederle, 14 hours and 31 minutes after entering the water at Cape Gris-Nez, walks onto the beach at Kingsdown in England.

She has swam the English Channel faster than any person in history.

Britain Closes Gap In Walker Cup Golf

BROOKLINE, Mass. (UPI)—Willie Milne may make a career of skipping school.

The burly 22-year-old civil engineer from Scotland began playing hooky a year ago when he "gave up college so I could join the Walker Cup team."

Today, the British team that has scored only two wins in 23 previous meetings with the United States is still very much in the running for the 1973 Walker Cup, thanks to Milne's performance.

Milne shot nearly perfect golf Friday to lead Britain to a 5-3 triumph in singles play, enabling his countrymen to pull with one point of the U.S. for the day's round, 6 ½ to 5 ½. The American took three doubles matches earlier in the day and tied the fourth.

Milne scored a strong 4 and 3 win over Mark Pfeil, 22, of Redondo Beach, Calif., in his singles match at The Country Club. He toured the front nine in four-under par 31 to all but wrap up the contest.

He added three birdies and a bogey over the next seven holes, then carded an eagle 3 on the 505-yard ninth hole.

Milne wrapped up his win in the midst of some rather odd circumstances on the 15th hole.

"A man fainted just beside the green as Pfeil leaned over to putt," Milne said. "He stepped back to look, then holed a 20-footer. Then I had a five-footer left unless we were to go on to the 16th, I sank it."

Dolphins Show They're Ready With 17-14 Win

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

The Miami Dolphins gave notice to the National Football League Friday night—they're ready.

The final score—17-14 over the Los Angeles Rams—may not indicate it but the game could very well have been a complete rout if Coach Don Shula hadn't yanked his first team midway through the second quartaer.

But while they were in the game, Bob Griese and Company gave an awesome performance and showed just why the Dolphins finished 17-0 last season and captured the Super Bowl.

Griese, playing for the first time in two weeks after an elbow injury, directed the Dolphins to two touchdowns and a field goal the first three times they handled the ball. Shula sent in the subs after Miami had a 17-0 lead and the second and third-line Dolphin defense held off a determined effort by James Harris, the Rams' No. 2 quarterback, to win.

Harris taking over for John Hadl in the second quarter, combined with Larry McCutcheon on a 30-yard screen pass for one TD and threw 58 yards to Harold Jackson for another. David Ray, who missed a 27-yard field goal attempt with no time remaining in the first half, blew a 33-yard attempt with 4:30 left to kill the Rams' hopes for a tie.

In the only other NFL preseason game, Ken Anderson threw an 81-yard TD pass to tight end Bob Trumpy to lead the Cincinnati Bengals to a 17- 10 victory over the Detroit Lions.

Trumpy's TD, following a one-yard scoring run by Doug Dressler, gave Cincinnati a 14-0 lead. Detroit battled back on a 30-yard field goal by Errol Mann and a three-yard TD by Nick Eddy but Horst Muhlmann's 31-yard field goal ended the Lions' comeback hopes.

In pre-season action today, Oakland meets Minnesota at Berkeley, Calif., while tonight Atlanta plays Cleveland at Knoxville, Tenn., Baltimore is at Washington, New England at New Orleans, Philadelphia at San Diego and the New York Jets at St. Louis.

Detroit Lions Get Go-Ahead From Court To Build Stadium

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

LANSING, Mich. — The Michigan Supreme Court yesterday upheld the legality of a $15.9 million bonding program enacted in Oakland County to finance the construction of a stadium for use by the Detroit Lions football team.

The ruling appeared to clear the last legal roadblock to the building of the stadium, assuring the Lions of a new home outside their native Detroit.

Track-Field

ATHENS — Zvetla Slateva of Bulgaria broke the women's world record for 800 meters yesterday with a time of one minute, 57.48 seconds at the opening of the Balkan Track and Field Games.

Football

NEW ORLEANE — The New Oreleans Saints traded offensive tackle Glenn Ray Hines to the Oakland Raiders for an undisclosed draft choice yesterday and picked up former Grambling quarterback Matthew Reed as a free agent.

WILLIAMSPORT, PA — Huang Ching-Hui, who pitched a perfect game in his last outing, and Mike Fimbers, who fired a one-hitter, were to be on the mound today when Tainan City, Taiwan, met Tucson, Ariz., in the finals of the 27th annual Little League World Series.

WASHINGTON, Pa. — Santa Clara, Calif., challenges undefeated Fort Worth, Tex., tonight for the championship of the Pony League World Series. Santa Clara eliminated Honolulu, Hawaii, 5-1, last night behind the three-hit pitcheing of Jeff Fricke.

Tennis

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. — The professional "old man" of tennis — Pancho Gonzales — used a strong arm instead of quick feet in advancing to the semi-finals of the $30,000 Eastern Medi-Quick Tennis Open.

Gonzales, 45, outfought Paul Gerken of East Norwalk, Conn., in a pair of tiebreaker games, 7-6, 7-6, yesterday.

TORONTO — Unseeded Ivan Molina pulled off his second major upset at the $100,000 Canadian Open Tennis Championships Friday, advancing to the semi-finals with a 6-4, 6-3 win over second-seeded Arthur Ashe.

Boxing

NEW YORK — Bob Arum, president of Top Rank Inc., and Muhammad Ali's legal advisor, received a $3.5 million offer yesterday for his fighter to meet heavyweight champion George Foreman in Seattle, Wash.

BOWLING

Mrs. Hoffmann Has Top Score

Bea Hoffmann of San Rafael Wednesday night bowled a 772 series to finish in first place in the L and L Castle Lanes-sponsored West Coast Eliminations in San Francisco.

Mrs. Hoffmann, 36, concluded the 13th round 50 pins ahead of Rose Skellen of San Francisco. Next Wednesday, the five finalists will play head-to-head matches for the $150 first prize. The number five bowler will meet number four, with the winner playing number three and that winner facing number two. The winner among the four women will then face Mrs. Hoffmann twice for the championship.

Mrs. Hoffmann had games of 237, 190, 183 and 160. "I started off with a bang, and then went downhill from there," she joked. "I'm bowling good right now and I love it."

Marilyn Epidendio of San Rafael is in fifth place.

ED HENRY of San Rafael began play today in the 13th annual Cal-State Masters Championship at Grand Lanes in Hayward. Henry, who finished the 13 week qualifying period with 1,219 points, will go against Gary Madison of San Bernardino, who scored 1,234.

MATCH PLAY

Unknown Golfer Draws Nicklaus

CARY, N.C. (UPI)—Joe Porter, a winless unknown after five sporadic years on the Professional Golfers Association tour, played head-to-head golf yesterday with Lanny Wadkins, fourth on the money list and winner of two tournaments this year, and beat him. Today, he gets to try the same on Jack Nicklaus.

Nicklaus is in the match play because he had three exemptions -being defending champ, winning the 1973 PGA tournament and standing No. 1 on the Tournament Players Division point list for 1972.

Porter is in the match play because he put together rounds of 69 and 71 in the $100,000 L&M Open for a 140 total through 36 holes—a tie for eighth place—then outlasted six other players in a playoff with five straight pars. Wadkins was the last to succumb, bogeying the No. 5 hole at MacGregor Downs Country Club.

"He's probably happy that he's playing a rabbit (players who have to qualify for each event)," said Porter of Nicklaus. "He handles pressure better than any golfer in the world."

Seven other players had an easier time of qualifying for the match play—accomplished by being one of the top eight second round leaders in the L&M Open.

Veteran J.C. Snead led the way, carding his second straight three-under-par 68 for a 136 total. Runnerup to Snead in the second L&M round was young John Schroeder, who shot a course record 65 Friday to go with a first round 73 for a 138 total.

Five players earned their spots in the match play with 139s, three under par. They were Dan Sikes Jr., who faces Lee Trevino today; Brian "Buddy" Allin, who is matched against Masters Champ Tommy Aaron; Artie McNickle, who plays U.S. Open winner Johnny Miller; DeWitt Weaver, who won the match play championship in 1971, faces George Archer; and Allen Miller, who faces Tom Weiskopf, winner of five tournaments including the British Open, this year.

Schroeder will be playing against Grier Jones and Snead against Jerry Heard.

With the departure of the eight players from the L&M field for the more prestigious and more financially rewarding match play, the six playoff losers took over a joint lead in the L&M with two-under-par 140s.

They are Wadkins (71-69), Paul Moran (71-69), former PGA champion Dave Stockton (67-73), Bob Smith (72-68), Bobby Mitchell (73-67 and Rik Massengale (71-69).

Two matches Sunday morning will decide the finalist in match play and the title will be decided Sunday afternoon before a national television audience.

Germann Selected

CHARLOTTE, N.C. (UPI)—Ken Germann, athletic director at Columbia University since 1968, has been named commissioner of the Southern Conference, replacing Lloyd Jordan who retires in December.

The Miami Dolphins gave notice to the National Football League Friday night—they're ready.

The final score—17-14 over the Los Angeles Rams—may not indicate it but the game could very well have been a complete rout if Coach Don Shula hadn't yanked his first team midway through the second quartaer.

But while they were in the game, Bob Griese and Company gave an awesome performance and showed just why the Dolphins finished 17-0 last season and captured the Super Bowl.

Griese, playing for the first time in two weeks after an elbow injury, directed the Dolphins to two touchdowns and a field goal the first three times they handled the ball. Shula sent in the subs after Miami had a 17-0 lead and the second and third-line Dolphin defense held off a determined effort by James Harris, the Rams' No. 2 quarterback, to win.

Harris taking over for John Hadl in the second quarter, combined with Larry McCutcheon on a 30-yard screen pass for one TD and threw 58 yards to Harold Jackson for another. David Ray, who missed a 27-yard field goal attempt with no time remaining in the first half, blew a 33-yard attempt with 4:30 left to kill the Rams' hopes for a tie.

In the only other NFL preseason game, Ken Anderson threw an 81-yard TD pass to tight end Bob Trumpy to lead the Cincinnati Bengals to a 17- 10 victory over the Detroit Lions.

Trumpy's TD, following a one-yard scoring run by Doug Dressler, gave Cincinnati a 14-0 lead. Detroit battled back on a 30-yard field goal by Errol Mann and a three-yard TD by Nick Eddy but Horst Muhlmann's 31-yard field goal ended the Lions' comeback hopes.

In pre-season action today, Oakland meets Minnesota at Berkeley, Calif., while tonight Atlanta plays Cleveland at Knoxville, Tenn., Baltimore is at Washington, New England at New Orleans, Philadelphia at San Diego and the New York Jets at St. Louis.

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

LANSING, Mich. — The Michigan Supreme Court yesterday upheld the legality of a $15.9 million bonding program enacted in Oakland County to finance the construction of a stadium for use by the Detroit Lions football team.

The ruling appeared to clear the last legal roadblock to the building of the stadium, assuring the Lions of a new home outside their native Detroit.

Track-Field

ATHENS — Zvetla Slateva of Bulgaria broke the women's world record for 800 meters yesterday with a time of one minute, 57.48 seconds at the opening of the Balkan Track and Field Games.

Football

NEW ORLEANE — The New Oreleans Saints traded offensive tackle Glenn Ray Hines to the Oakland Raiders for an undisclosed draft choice yesterday and picked up former Grambling quarterback Matthew Reed as a free agent.

WILLIAMSPORT, PA — Huang Ching-Hui, who pitched a perfect game in his last outing, and Mike Fimbers, who fired a one-hitter, were to be on the mound today when Tainan City, Taiwan, met Tucson, Ariz., in the finals of the 27th annual Little League World Series.

WASHINGTON, Pa. — Santa Clara, Calif., challenges undefeated Fort Worth, Tex., tonight for the championship of the Pony League World Series. Santa Clara eliminated Honolulu, Hawaii, 5-1, last night behind the three-hit pitcheing of Jeff Fricke.

Tennis

SOUTH ORANGE, N.J. — The professional "old man" of tennis — Pancho Gonzales — used a strong arm instead of quick feet in advancing to the semi-finals of the $30,000 Eastern Medi-Quick Tennis Open.

Gonzales, 45, outfought Paul Gerken of East Norwalk, Conn., in a pair of tiebreaker games, 7-6, 7-6, yesterday.

TORONTO — Unseeded Ivan Molina pulled off his second major upset at the $100,000 Canadian Open Tennis Championships Friday, advancing to the semi-finals with a 6-4, 6-3 win over second-seeded Arthur Ashe.

Boxing

NEW YORK — Bob Arum, president of Top Rank Inc., and Muhammad Ali's legal advisor, received a $3.5 million offer yesterday for his fighter to meet heavyweight champion George Foreman in Seattle, Wash.

WE MAKE ALLOWANCES FOR MISTAKES.

If you spent a lot of money on a car that won't last long enough to let you repent it at leisure, your salvation lies in a Volvo 164.

We'll give you a generous trade-in allowance and put you in Volvo's largest, most powerful sedan. (More legroom in front than a Cadillac, more in back than a Buick, more trunkroom than a Lincoln. And a big 6-cylinder engine.)

While we can't guarantee how long a 164 will last, it is a Volvo. And they last an average of eleven years in Sweden.

So when we take your mistake off your hands, it should be years before you can buy another one.

TRADE IN YOURS FOR A VOLVO 164.

Appeal Planned By Developers Of Shelter Hill

Developers of the Shelter Hill moderate income housing project will ask the Mill Valley Planning Commission Monday at 8 p.m. at city hall to reverse the recent rejection of the design of the complex by the city's architectural advisory committee.

The architectural advisory group had objected that the 12 buildings in the complex had too many flights of stairs. Each building in the 72-unit project had five flights.

Also Monday the commission will consider granting a development permit to Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. to build 11,000 square feet of offices on a site just off East Blithedale Avenue between the Red Cart Market and a proposed Alpha-Beta market.

Trial Is Ordered On Theft Charge

Enough evidence exists to try Leroy Francis Nace Jr., 34, on charges of stealing a car and equipment from a boat, a Marin Municipal Court Judge ruled yesterday.

Judge Gary W. Thomas ordered Nace, of no known address, bound over to superior court to appear Sept. 4.

Nace is said to have stolen a car and electronic equipment belonging to a Sacramento man who hired Nace as a deckhand. The theft reportedly occurred May 24 in Tiburon, after the man left Nace in charge of his boat and car.

Appeal Planned By Developers Of Shelter Hill

Developers of the Shelter Hill moderate income housing project will ask the Mill Valley Planning Commission Monday at 8 p.m. at city hall to reverse the recent rejection of the design of the complex by the city's architectural advisory committee.

The architectural advisory group had objected that the 12 buildings in the complex had too many flights of stairs. Each building in the 72-unit project had five flights.

Also Monday the commission will consider granting a development permit to Pacific Telephone and Telegraph Co. to build 11,000 square feet of offices on a site just off East Blithedale Avenue between the Red Cart Market and a proposed Alpha-Beta market.

Trial Is Ordered On Theft Charge

Enough evidence exists to try Leroy Francis Nace Jr., 34, on charges of stealing a car and equipment from a boat, a Marin Municipal Court Judge ruled yesterday.

Judge Gary W. Thomas ordered Nace, of no known address, bound over to superior court to appear Sept. 4.

Nace is said to have stolen a car and electronic equipment belonging to a Sacramento man who hired Nace as a deckhand. The theft reportedly occurred May 24 in Tiburon, after the man left Nace in charge of his boat and car.

"I sold our house myself. But I'd never try to do it again!"

"You know how it is. You hear you can save money if you sell your home yourself. Well, I tried it, and learned a painful lesson the hard way.

I ran an ad and before I knew it, my family's life was turned upside-down. Our phone rang at all hours and total strangers appeared at the door demanding to be shown through. Our flowers were trampled and one day, as we came home, people were sitting on our doorstep.

I thought I had the house sold, but problems of the escrow impounds, closing costs, title insurance, pre-payment penalty, termite work, eliminating deed encumbrances — delayed everything. (How can this stuff be so complicated!)

Then after all this, the buyer couldn't qualify for a loan. The house was finally sold, but while we were suffering by doing it ourselves, our neighbor's house across the street was sold for 15% more than ours. And it was essentially the same house! His sale was quick, smooth and professionally handled through a Realtor, who knew the true market value of the house. Sell your own home yourself? Take my advice and use a Realtor. You'll be glad you did."

"I sold our house myself. But I'd never try to do it again!"

"You know how it is. You hear you can save money if you sell your home yourself. Well, I tried it, and learned a painful lesson the hard way.

I ran an ad and before I knew it, my family's life was turned upside-down. Our phone rang at all hours and total strangers appeared at the door demanding to be shown through. Our flowers were trampled and one day, as we came home, people were sitting on our doorstep.

I thought I had the house sold, but problems of the escrow impounds, closing costs, title insurance, pre-payment penalty, termite work, eliminating deed encumbrances — delayed everything. (How can this stuff be so complicated!)

Then after all this, the buyer couldn't qualify for a loan. The house was finally sold, but while we were suffering by doing it ourselves, our neighbor's house across the street was sold for 15% more than ours. And it was essentially the same house! His sale was quick, smooth and professionally handled through a Realtor, who knew the true market value of the house. Sell your own home yourself? Take my advice and use a Realtor. You'll be glad you did."

INTERESTING FACT:

Did you ever stop to think of the oddities connected with the names of some of the states of U.S.? For instance, Rhode Island is NOT an island. Part of Virginia is actually farther west than the whole state of West Virginia. Wyoming is named for the Wyoming Valley of Pennsylvania and yet the Wyoming Valley of Pennsylvania has nothing to do with the state of Wyoming. And, part of North Carolina is farther south than parts of South Carolina. AND HERE ARE OTHER INTERESTING FACTS . . .

INTERESTING FACT:

Did you ever stop to think of the oddities connected with the names of some of the states of U.S.? For instance, Rhode Island is NOT an island. Part of Virginia is actually farther west than the whole state of West Virginia. Wyoming is named for the Wyoming Valley of Pennsylvania and yet the Wyoming Valley of Pennsylvania has nothing to do with the state of Wyoming. And, part of North Carolina is farther south than parts of South Carolina. AND HERE ARE OTHER INTERESTING FACTS . . .

Fox & Carskadon offer you the opportunity to assume a 5½% loan so you can afford the nearly-perfect home — (absolutely perfect, when it's all yours!)
It has rooms, 9 of them — land, 1.06 acres, a FAIRHILLS setting, high above the hubbub of San Rafael, yet 5 minutes to town proper. Walk into the most "well-groomed" home you will ever see; warmly beckoning — its every feature from honey-gold tones of color in carpeting & draperies set off by gleaming wood-paneled interior all await sounds of family living. The decor lends itself to almost any period furniture you prefer. Rarely will you find a more livable home, ideal for casual as well as formal living. A raised central hearth accents dining room and living room. Sliding glass doors open onto decks on both upper and lower floors. Each window has its own picturesque view; the city below, a sylvan dell, even a secret garden — a well-tended lawn and your own mini-orchard (24 young fruit trees), plus easily maintained shrubs with sprinkling system throughout, complete the picture.
It goes without saying that the Master bedroom has its individual baths, that there are 2 rooms with bath below, all the closet space you could wish for, an AEK, a cozy and carpeted laundry/utility room which opens out into the double garage. Call us today for an appointment.
Added bonus: Owner will help with financing!

Fox & Carskadon offer you the opportunity to assume a 5½% loan so you can afford the nearly-perfect home — (absolutely perfect, when it's all yours!) It has rooms, 9 of them — land, 1.06 acres, a FAIRHILLS setting, high above the hubbub of San Rafael, yet 5 minutes to town proper. Walk into the most "well-groomed" home you will ever see; warmly beckoning — its every feature from honey-gold tones of color in carpeting & draperies set off by gleaming wood-paneled interior all await sounds of family living. The decor lends itself to almost any period furniture you prefer. Rarely will you find a more livable home, ideal for casual as well as formal living. A raised central hearth accents dining room and living room. Sliding glass doors open onto decks on both upper and lower floors. Each window has its own picturesque view; the city below, a sylvan dell, even a secret garden — a well-tended lawn and your own mini-orchard (24 young fruit trees), plus easily maintained shrubs with sprinkling system throughout, complete the picture.
It goes without saying that the Master bedroom has its individual baths, that there are 2 rooms with bath below, all the closet space you could wish for, an AEK, a cozy and carpeted laundry/utility room which opens out into the double garage. Call us today for an appointment.

Mortgage Loan Rules Are Eased

WASHINGTON (UPI) —In response to the recent mortgage market squeeze, the government has decided to allow commercial banks more leeway to make mortgage loans.

The Committee on Interest and Dividends, headed by Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur Burns, announced new rules yesterday which would allow banks to make government-backed loans on terms and conditions established by the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) and the Veterans Administration (VA).

The regulations also stipulate that banks may use the effective yields on FHA-VA mortgages in their communities in determining the rates for conventional mortgage loans.

Guarded Prognosis For Ex-Astronaut

"He's still listed as critical with prognosis guarded," a spokesman at the John Sealy Hospital burn clinic said.

Mortgage Loan Rules Are Eased

WASHINGTON (UPI) —In response to the recent mortgage market squeeze, the government has decided to allow commercial banks more leeway to make mortgage loans.

The Committee on Interest and Dividends, headed by Federal Reserve Board Chairman Arthur Burns, announced new rules yesterday which would allow banks to make government-backed loans on terms and conditions established by the Federal Housing Administration (FHA) and the Veterans Administration (VA).

The regulations also stipulate that banks may use the effective yields on FHA-VA mortgages in their communities in determining the rates for conventional mortgage loans.

Guarded Prognosis For Ex-Astronaut

"He's still listed as critical with prognosis guarded," a spokesman at the John Sealy Hospital burn clinic said.

Church Fire Is Blamed On Arson

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Firemen battled the third church fire in a month yesterday and Fire Chief Keith Calden declared, "We have a church arsonist."

A $100,000 fire at the People's Temple of the Disciples of Christ, Denomination Brotherhood, was battled by 114 firemen yesterday.

A premonition of trouble by the pastor, The Rev. James Jones, kept 40 young persons from sleeping inside the church Wednesday night, Jones said. He said there had been past threats against the church and his own life.

The Holy Order of Man Church and the Metropolitan Community Church were struck earlier by firebugs, firemen said.

TRUMP

You trump the third round of hearts, lead a diamond to dummy's king and return a trump. East plays low, and you must play either the king or jack of trumps. Which?

To find the best "percentage" play, imagine that you must play the hand several hundred times. Somebody shuffles the opponents' cards each time. The correct play is the one that wins for you more often.

KING WILL WORK

The play of the king will work when East as A-x, but the play of the jack will work when East has Q-x. These two situations will occur the same number of times in the long run. Therefore we cannot say that either play is better than the other.

What if West has only one trump? The jack loses immediately if West has the singleton queen. The jack gains nothing, moreover, even if West has the singleton ace. You cannot get back to dummy to take a second finesse through East's queen.

PLAY GAINS

The play of the king does gain something when West has the singleton queen. You capture the queen and can then lead the jack to force out the ace.

This gives us our percentage play. Put up the king in all such situations. The play will win when you capture a singleton queen. In all other cases, the play of the king is just as likely to work as the play of the jack.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ - 9 6 3
♥ - K 8 5
♦ - K 6 3
♣ - Q 5 4 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two hearts. This is slightly more encouraging than a response of one notrump. If partner has a long but weak trump suit, this kind of encouragement may be just what he needs for a jump to game.

An Honor For Late Film Star

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) — Bruce Lee, the late star of 10 oriental martial arts movies, has been honored in a ceremony in Union Square here.

The San Francisco native died in Hong Kong July 20.

Lee, 32, a former houseboy on the television "Batman" series, was recognized as master in the art of Kung Fu.

The ceremony Wednesday was highlighted by numerous demonstrations of the martial arts discipline. The ceremony coincided with the opening of Lee's last movie at a local theater

Novato Jaycees Plan Flea Market

The Novato Jaycees will sponsor a flea market from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m., Sept. 8 at the Marion Elementary School site, Seventh Street and Grant Avenue, with the proceeds to go toward Jaycee Community projects.

Individuals or organizations that want to participate in the flea market can get further information from Donald Benstine of 869 Eucalyptus Avenue.

Church Fire Is Blamed On Arson

SAN FRANCISCO (UPI) — Firemen battled the third church fire in a month yesterday and Fire Chief Keith Calden declared, "We have a church arsonist."

A $100,000 fire at the People's Temple of the Disciples of Christ, Denomination Brotherhood, was battled by 114 firemen yesterday.

A premonition of trouble by the pastor, The Rev. James Jones, kept 40 young persons from sleeping inside the church Wednesday night, Jones said. He said there had been past threats against the church and his own life.

The Holy Order of Man Church and the Metropolitan Community Church were struck earlier by firebugs, firemen said.

TRUMP

You trump the third round of hearts, lead a diamond to dummy's king and return a trump. East plays low, and you must play either the king or jack of trumps. Which?

To find the best "percentage" play, imagine that you must play the hand several hundred times. Somebody shuffles the opponents' cards each time. The correct play is the one that wins for you more often.

KING WILL WORK

The play of the king will work when East as A-x, but the play of the jack will work when East has Q-x. These two situations will occur the same number of times in the long run. Therefore we cannot say that either play is better than the other.

What if West has only one trump? The jack loses immediately if West has the singleton queen. The jack gains nothing, moreover, even if West has the singleton ace. You cannot get back to dummy to take a second finesse through East's queen.

PLAY GAINS

The play of the king does gain something when West has the singleton queen. You capture the queen and can then lead the jack to force out the ace.

This gives us our percentage play. Put up the king in all such situations. The play will win when you capture a singleton queen. In all other cases, the play of the king is just as likely to work as the play of the jack.

DAILY QUESTION

Partner opens with one heart, and the next player passes.

You hold:

♠ - 9 6 3
♥ - K 8 5
♦ - K 6 3
♣ - Q 5 4 2.

What do you say?

ANSWER: Bid two hearts. This is slightly more encouraging than a response of one notrump. If partner has a long but weak trump suit, this kind of encouragement may be just what he needs for a jump to game.

A Man Who Became Part Of San Rafael

WHEN ANDY Pedroli died early this week, an irreplaceable part of San Rafael was lost.

First there was his "broken" English.

Although he came to the U.S.A. as a young man and lived here nearly half a century, his Italian accent persisted. It was obvious that Pedroli never had the advantage of a competent English teacher; he had learned the language of his adopted country from other Italian immigrants who picked up only bits and pieces without formal study.

But Andy's "broken" English was a misleading facade. He had the ability to communicate. In his barber shop, his jokes came through loud and clear. When he spoke out publicly in opposition to one-way streets or parallel parking, he made his opposition crystal clear. Those who had business dealings with him knew exactly where he stood.

In business, he was regarded as tough and uncompromising, especially by some of the tenants of the San Rafael business properties he had acquired over the years.

To his friends he was a generous giver, asking nothing in return. An avid fisherman and duck hunter, Andy kept a good many friends supplied with fish and ducks for years, with nothing more than a "thank you" in return.

Like his brother, the nurseryman, Andy had a green thumb when it came to fruit trees and vegetables. When Andy learned that a friend or good customer was moving into a new home, he often offered to supply a fruit tree or two for the new garden. Recipients could be sure that the trees were well adapted to Marin soil and climate; they would bear heavily. Again, he expected nothing in return.

ANDY PEDROLI was a classic example of fast-disappearing breed of American.

He came here with nothing as a young man. He worked hard. He saved his money. He lived frugally. He acquired property. At the age of 64 or 65, he was able to retire from the daily grind at his barber shop to spend more time fishing, hunting, gardening, and tending his properties.

The idea of sponging food stamps, welfare payments, or any other kind of government handout was foreign to him.

In short, he made it the hard way. And he gave every sign of enjoying every minute of it.

He enjoyed his work, his play and his service to his fellow man through service clubs, youth organizations, lodges and what not.

ANDY PEDROLI and Nikita Krushchev were look-alikes. When Krushchev's picture was on the front page, Andy liked nothing better than to walk down the street drawing startled glances from those who didn't know him and wisecracks from those who did.

Andy's vigorous participation in life continued almost until the end. When cancer overtook him, he refused to slow down and went about his daily living with zest despite pain and travail.

He did as his friends are sure he would have preferred, "with his boots on." That is to say, he did not wind up a hospitalized invalid. He stayed at home and went about living as best he was able until the very last day, a burden on no one. Finally, one morning he just did not wake up.

Even in death he spared others. When the family went to make funeral arrangements, they found Andy had already been there and specified that there would be no conventional funeral. He wished to spare his loved ones the pain of the ceremony.

IN A SENSE, Andy Pedroli was a package of contradictions. He didn't appear to speak English very well; but he always understood and was never misunderstood by others.

He was tough, uncompromising businessman, but generous and open handed with friends.

He was tough and outspoken in opinions and dealings with others, but his soft heart made it impossible for him to knowingly hurt anyone.

He was an immigrant who came here as a young adult with many Old World ways and thoughts which he never lost; but he was American to the core.

He strongly disapproved of those who sought handouts, but he worked diligently to help others through his lodge, service club and youth organization affiliations.

At times he disapproved strongly of editorial positions taken by the I-J, but his friendly relationships with I-J people continued ininterrupted.

With his passing, we have lost another irreplaceable bit of old San Rafael.

She Finds No Humor In 'Endangered Species'

This is in regard to "Man, Endangered Species."

As I read Mr. Thompson's letter, I became furious . . .

In my opinion, women do have the right to have an abortion. Why not? They have been given the responsibility. They have to go through it all. It's not the worry of going through strenuous activity for nine months, or getting out of shape for nine months. It's a very tough decision to decide whether or not to have a baby.

. . . I had an abortion not too long ago, not that I'm proud of it, by any means. But I do consider myself brave in some ways, because I not only took a risk on my life, I also took a risk for my sisters. It's just sometimes the best thing to do, because I realized that in my life, things that I do, would have a bad effect on the child if it were born. I wanted the baby but then again I thought it would be wrong, because I didn't want a sick baby. It was very hard for me to make that decision not to have the baby. And I feel in a sincere way that my decision was a good one.

Reasons For Expanding Golden Gate Ferries

In a letter to the editor published on Aug. 18, Alan D. Canfield quotes from a draft of the Metropolitan Transportation Commission's regional transportation plan in support of his view that buses are better than ferries. Those who read Mr. Canfield's letter should be informed that the Commissioners of MTC immediately repudiated the staff-written material in the draft relating to ferry service; and indicated that it should not have been released since it was by no means the policy of MTC.

Mr. Canfield also indicated that it might be difficult to imagine how any enlargement of the ferry system could be considered in view of what we have now. The decision to proceed, however, with an interim system of buses and ferries in an effort to provide public transportation for 50 per cent of the daily commuters to San Francisco by the year 1980 was made by the board of directors of the Gold Gate Bridge, Highway and Transportation District after six years of urging by the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, eleven major feasibility and patronage studies, 144 related bridge board Resolutions, 28 public hearings and the support of the State of California and of the federal government . . .

The initial phase of the expanded ferry system extends the service north to the Corte Madera-Larkspur area, where over 50 per cent of the daily commuters live. In addition to approximately 1,200 parking stalls, plus provisions for bicycle and motorcycle storage, the vessels department from this central Marin terminal will be served by approximately 15 feeder buses . . .

With the construction of new and larger office buildings moving ever closer to the San Francisco Ferry Building, the convenience and logic of water transit as a means of commuting is becoming more apparent to other communities which border upon the bay . . .

We hope that the foregoing will provide some insight into the reasons why we are continuing to develop a balanced transportation system consisting of both buses and ferries.

ART BUCHWALD

A New Joy In Air Travel: Reassuring (?) Pilot Monologue

(Art Buchwald has gone off for a few weeks to forget about Watergate. He left behind some of his all-time favorite columns which he insists to the best of his recollection, at that point in time and in hindsight, everyone wanted to read again.)

WASHINGTON — There's a new breed of pilot flying our commercial airways, and he's becoming a menace to the peace and tranquility of the traveler. The taciturn James Stewart-type pilot is being replaced by the extroverted David Susskind-type, who not only never stops talking but tells you a lot more about flying than you want to know.

In the old days of air transportation, you hardly heard from the captain up forward. He might have told you when you were taking off and when you could expect to land, but outside of that he spent his time flying the plane, which is the most anyone expects of his pilot anyway.

But now, because he's either lonely or bored, or because the public relations departments of the airlines are in charge of the crews, the captain does a complete monologue from the time you get on the plane to the time you land. This is how it goes:

"HI, FOLKS, this is your captain. Well, we we're going to have a great flight today to L.A. Your hostesses are Kitty, Patti and I'm Jack. I'm married and have three fine children — Hildy, Freddy and Lisa — and we live in Roslyn, Long Island. We have a swell house and we belong to the First Congregational Church.

"There are some clouds over Kansas City, so we'll just avoid Kansas City today, which is not a great problem because we can get to L.A. anyway. It's lucky we're not going up to Montreal because they're really socked in there, and there's a hurricane off Puerto Rico. But that shouldn't bother us today.

"We had some trouble with the turbofram which delayed us a few minutes, but it's been fixed now. We really don't need the turbofram, but government regulations require that it be in working order, just in case the gyrowhizzit goes out, which is hardly likely.

"NOW, WHEN WE GET in the air, you're going to hear a change in pitch in the motors, but don't let that bother you. If you didn't hear a change, then you should be bothered. Ha-ha-ha.

"I'll be putting up my wheels as soon as I take off, and you may hear a slight thump, but don't be disturbed by it. You have to get those wheels up fast when you're taking off — otherwise you don't get the lift, and a plane this size needs all the lift it can get, believe you me.

"I can't see if the wheels are up or not, but I do have a red light on my panel, and if that red light goes on I would, of course, abort the flight.

"We're second in line to take off. There are planes landing and taking off every minute and, while the traffic may appear heavy to you, they seem to have it under control. Once we get away from the airport, we'll be out of danger.

"WELL, HERE WE go . . . There — we made it! No red light. I'm getting a slight reading on my oil pressure gauge, but it doesn't seem serious.

"As we fly across the United States, I'll point out every town and city to you, and even if you can't see it because of the cloud cover it's real beautiful country. You people on the right, if you look down now you'll see Interstate 5344 over by the river. Sorry you people on the left can't see it. I hope to be driving on it soon. I'm taking the wife and children out to visit her mother on my vacation in a couple of weeks.

"We're going to turn the seat belt sign off, but I'd advise you not to unbuckle your seat belt and walk around. You can get a great deal of turbulence up here, and without any warning the plane could hit an air pocket and take a dive, though, of course, it's unlikely

"The temperature outside is now 80 degrees below zero, so I guess you're all glad to be inside. Ha-ha-ha. Say, I heard one I'll bet you folks haven't heard. There was this little kid and the teacher asked him . . ."

Maryland Senator's Record Proves Integrity In Politics

WASHINGTON. — The late summer smog in this capital is compounded by the miasma of doubt and suspicion that is a heritage of Watergate. How much President Nixon has done to dispel the fog by his televised address and his press conferences, the days ahead will tell. As for his vice president, Spiro Agnew, the cloud hangs heavy over his head growing out of the charges of corruption and fraud in the letter sent him by United States Dist. Atty. George Beall notifying him he was under investigation.

Since the Agnew story broke, with the charges based in large part on Agnew's record as governor of Maryland, the media have had a field day with the politics of that ancient state. A catalogue of horrors is starred with the conviction of former Sen. Daniel Brewster for accepting a bribe.

AGAINST THE BACKGROUND of gloom and doom, this observer would like to record an example that goes directly contrary to the current cynicism that all politicians are crooked. In Sen. Charles McC. Mathias Jr., Maryland has one of the ablest men in the Congress. A Republican, he defeated Brewster, a Democrat, in 1968, which means he will be up for reelection next year.

Mathias is one of perhaps a dozen Republican senators who on issue after issue have asserted their independence. They have been in effect cut off from the Nixon administration almost as completely as though they were of the opposition party. Asked when he had last visited the White House, Mathias recently replied: "When I was there the last time the food was good, the wine was good, and Lyndon Johnson was a gracious host."

Although the election is a year off, these independents, along with other Republicans of similar outlook in the House, are brooding on their fate as they touch base with the voters. It is not merely the shadow cast by Watergate over their party. As he did in the 1972 campaign, the President has been blithely indifferent to the fate of congressional candidates. One of the White House lists that surfaced during the Watergate hearings was of 100 Democrats friendly to the Administration in whose districts Republican efforts were to be held to a minimum.

Mathias and like-minded Republicans realize they will be on their own in 1974. Even if the President should decide to give aid and succor to those who have often dissented from his policies, it is doubtful now much his help would count. Last year he went into Rhode Island to boost former Secy. of the Navy John Chaffee to defeat Sen. Claiborne Pell. Pell won by a comfortable margin.

VOTING TO CUT off all bombing in Cambodia, Mathias opposed the Aug. 15 compromise as a capitulation to the President's war policy. He voted against the President's nominees to the Supreme Court, Clement F. Haynsworth and G. Harrold Carswell. The last was the unforgivable sin as the President made plain when he excoriated the Senate for turning down the two cadidates he had proposed.

Countering the cynical admonition that surfaced in the Watergate hearings — stay out of politics and government — Mathias came up through the political ranks. After service in the Navy he was assistant attorney general of Maryland and later was elected to the House of Delegates. He served four terms in the House of Representatives before his election to the Senate.

While it is much too early to indulge in predictions about '74, if able, independent men like Mathias are knocked off next year the tragedy of Watergate will be multiplied by a geometric ratio. His roots are deep in his native state and he has moderate independent means, an advantage in these times when the smell of outside money sets the bloodhounds of righteousness to baying.

AS IN OTHER states, the Democrats in Maryland are in disarray. They are snarled in the same web of campaign contributions and contributions in which Agnew is caught up.

The vice president as a Marylander is continuing to make the correct political moves. He went down to the eastern shore to speak at a bull roast for Arthur Bauman, the Republican candidate in a special election to fill the seat of William O. Mills. Accused in a matter involving campaign contributions, Mills committed suicide. Those who knew Mills were astonished, saying he could easily have refuted the the charge.

What happens before the grand jury in Baltimore will determine far more than the fate of the former governor who was plummeted into national fame in the vice presidency. The outcome can set the stage not only for '74 but for 1976.

Diplomatic Chess Game Replaces Bombs In Cambodia

The smoke from American bombs on Cambodia has drifted away disclosing, not sudden Communist advances on the ground predicted by official Washington, but probably the liveliest interplay of big power politics for a very long time.

Indeed, as the last American bombs were falling Moscow's first citizen and in-all-but-name czar, Leonid Brezhnev, flew to Kazakhstan to make another speech in favor of his current big project, a "collective security system for Asia."

There, in the heart of Asia, just above China's great inland province of Sinkiang, Mr. Brezhnev boasted of a good Russian grain harvest this year, and invited small countries of Asia to look toward Moscow for comfort.

FROM WHOSE THREAT do the small countries of Asia need comfort? That was easy for Moscow operators when American bombs were falling. But the implication is clear that Russia now has China in thought and is bending her vast propaganda and diplomatic machine toward competition with China for friends in Asia.

In Washington, Mr. Nixon once labeled 1973 as "the year of Europe." In Moscow, Mr. Brezhnev seems to name it as "the year of Asia." He is, of course, active enough in Europe, but he is doing reasonably well there, and has no immediate concern.

The links between Washington and Western Europe are fraying and declining. The Common Market is not getting more closely knit. On the contrary, the British are unhappy about the price they are paying for membership. They might even try to get out.

Under these circumstances Moscow's prime concern is not Europe, but Asia. Only in Asia has Soviet influence been declining. Only in Asia is there any serious danger of the emerging new power, China, displacing Soviet influence. And the danger is all the more acute because the decline in American influence opens the way for something else to take its place.

THERE ARE, of course, two sides to the picture of the great powers maneuvering for influence among the smaller countries of Asia. The other side is the maneuvering of the small countries to gain or improve their independence from the large ones, playing one off against another.

The game is immensely more complex for the great in the new multipower world, but easier and more promising for the small. In the old days being "uncommitted" or neutral was difficult or impossible. Big powers usually operate on the assumption that whoever is not for me is against me. The small were coerced.

Now — and Cambodia is the immediate and prime example — a small country anywhere in Asia can operate among the United States (which has not abandoned all interest in influence in Asia), Russia (which wants more than it has), and China (which is there).

Typical of the kind of situation which is likely to be repeated is the fact that neither the North Vietnamese nor the local native Communists rushed into Phnom Penh as the last American bomber flew away. Nor has Prince Sihanouk rushed back to Cambodia itself. Perhaps he wants to talk to Mr. Kissinger somewhere, before he makes his decisive move. Perhaps he is waiting until the Chinese tell him what to do.

Whatever the explanation, the fact is that no one anywhere knows exactly what is going to happen next. Instead of the certainty of American bombs, there is the uncertainty of who might want to do what next. The immediate beneficiaries are the little people in the villages and cities of Cambodia itself. They seem to be enjoying the unusual treat of being able to sleep peacefully at night.

This is in regard to "Man, Endangered Species."

As I read Mr. Thompson's letter, I became furious . . .

In my opinion, women do have the right to have an abortion. Why not? They have been given the responsibility. They have to go through it all. It's not the worry of going through strenuous activity for nine months, or getting out of shape for nine months. It's a very tough decision to decide whether or not to have a baby.

. . . I had an abortion not too long ago, not that I'm proud of it, by any means. But I do consider myself brave in some ways, because I not only took a risk on my life, I also took a risk for my sisters. It's just sometimes the best thing to do, because I realized that in my life, things that I do, would have a bad effect on the child if it were born. I wanted the baby but then again I thought it would be wrong, because I didn't want a sick baby. It was very hard for me to make that decision not to have the baby. And I feel in a sincere way that my decision was a good one.

Reasons For Expanding Golden Gate Ferries

In a letter to the editor published on Aug. 18, Alan D. Canfield quotes from a draft of the Metropolitan Transportation Commission's regional transportation plan in support of his view that buses are better than ferries. Those who read Mr. Canfield's letter should be informed that the Commissioners of MTC immediately repudiated the staff-written material in the draft relating to ferry service; and indicated that it should not have been released since it was by no means the policy of MTC.

Mr. Canfield also indicated that it might be difficult to imagine how any enlargement of the ferry system could be considered in view of what we have now. The decision to proceed, however, with an interim system of buses and ferries in an effort to provide public transportation for 50 per cent of the daily commuters to San Francisco by the year 1980 was made by the board of directors of the Gold Gate Bridge, Highway and Transportation District after six years of urging by the San Francisco Board of Supervisors, eleven major feasibility and patronage studies, 144 related bridge board Resolutions, 28 public hearings and the support of the State of California and of the federal government . . .

The initial phase of the expanded ferry system extends the service north to the Corte Madera-Larkspur area, where over 50 per cent of the daily commuters live. In addition to approximately 1,200 parking stalls, plus provisions for bicycle and motorcycle storage, the vessels department from this central Marin terminal will be served by approximately 15 feeder buses . . .

With the construction of new and larger office buildings moving ever closer to the San Francisco Ferry Building, the convenience and logic of water transit as a means of commuting is becoming more apparent to other communities which border upon the bay . . .

We hope that the foregoing will provide some insight into the reasons why we are continuing to develop a balanced transportation system consisting of both buses and ferries.

Maryland Senator's Record Proves Integrity In Politics

WASHINGTON. — The late summer smog in this capital is compounded by the miasma of doubt and suspicion that is a heritage of Watergate. How much President Nixon has done to dispel the fog by his televised address and his press conferences, the days ahead will tell. As for his vice president, Spiro Agnew, the cloud hangs heavy over his head growing out of the charges of corruption and fraud in the letter sent him by United States Dist. Atty. George Beall notifying him he was under investigation.

Since the Agnew story broke, with the charges based in large part on Agnew's record as governor of Maryland, the media have had a field day with the politics of that ancient state. A catalogue of horrors is starred with the conviction of former Sen. Daniel Brewster for accepting a bribe.

AGAINST THE BACKGROUND of gloom and doom, this observer would like to record an example that goes directly contrary to the current cynicism that all politicians are crooked. In Sen. Charles McC. Mathias Jr., Maryland has one of the ablest men in the Congress. A Republican, he defeated Brewster, a Democrat, in 1968, which means he will be up for reelection next year.

Mathias is one of perhaps a dozen Republican senators who on issue after issue have asserted their independence. They have been in effect cut off from the Nixon administration almost as completely as though they were of the opposition party. Asked when he had last visited the White House, Mathias recently replied: "When I was there the last time the food was good, the wine was good, and Lyndon Johnson was a gracious host."

Although the election is a year off, these independents, along with other Republicans of similar outlook in the House, are brooding on their fate as they touch base with the voters. It is not merely the shadow cast by Watergate over their party. As he did in the 1972 campaign, the President has been blithely indifferent to the fate of congressional candidates. One of the White House lists that surfaced during the Watergate hearings was of 100 Democrats friendly to the Administration in whose districts Republican efforts were to be held to a minimum.

Mathias and like-minded Republicans realize they will be on their own in 1974. Even if the President should decide to give aid and succor to those who have often dissented from his policies, it is doubtful now much his help would count. Last year he went into Rhode Island to boost former Secy. of the Navy John Chaffee to defeat Sen. Claiborne Pell. Pell won by a comfortable margin.

VOTING TO CUT off all bombing in Cambodia, Mathias opposed the Aug. 15 compromise as a capitulation to the President's war policy. He voted against the President's nominees to the Supreme Court, Clement F. Haynsworth and G. Harrold Carswell. The last was the unforgivable sin as the President made plain when he excoriated the Senate for turning down the two cadidates he had proposed.

Countering the cynical admonition that surfaced in the Watergate hearings — stay out of politics and government — Mathias came up through the political ranks. After service in the Navy he was assistant attorney general of Maryland and later was elected to the House of Delegates. He served four terms in the House of Representatives before his election to the Senate.

While it is much too early to indulge in predictions about '74, if able, independent men like Mathias are knocked off next year the tragedy of Watergate will be multiplied by a geometric ratio. His roots are deep in his native state and he has moderate independent means, an advantage in these times when the smell of outside money sets the bloodhounds of righteousness to baying.

AS IN OTHER states, the Democrats in Maryland are in disarray. They are snarled in the same web of campaign contributions and contributions in which Agnew is caught up.

The vice president as a Marylander is continuing to make the correct political moves. He went down to the eastern shore to speak at a bull roast for Arthur Bauman, the Republican candidate in a special election to fill the seat of William O. Mills. Accused in a matter involving campaign contributions, Mills committed suicide. Those who knew Mills were astonished, saying he could easily have refuted the the charge.

What happens before the grand jury in Baltimore will determine far more than the fate of the former governor who was plummeted into national fame in the vice presidency. The outcome can set the stage not only for '74 but for 1976.

Diplomatic Chess Game Replaces Bombs In Cambodia

The smoke from American bombs on Cambodia has drifted away disclosing, not sudden Communist advances on the ground predicted by official Washington, but probably the liveliest interplay of big power politics for a very long time.

Indeed, as the last American bombs were falling Moscow's first citizen and in-all-but-name czar, Leonid Brezhnev, flew to Kazakhstan to make another speech in favor of his current big project, a "collective security system for Asia."

There, in the heart of Asia, just above China's great inland province of Sinkiang, Mr. Brezhnev boasted of a good Russian grain harvest this year, and invited small countries of Asia to look toward Moscow for comfort.

FROM WHOSE THREAT do the small countries of Asia need comfort? That was easy for Moscow operators when American bombs were falling. But the implication is clear that Russia now has China in thought and is bending her vast propaganda and diplomatic machine toward competition with China for friends in Asia.

In Washington, Mr. Nixon once labeled 1973 as "the year of Europe." In Moscow, Mr. Brezhnev seems to name it as "the year of Asia." He is, of course, active enough in Europe, but he is doing reasonably well there, and has no immediate concern.

The links between Washington and Western Europe are fraying and declining. The Common Market is not getting more closely knit. On the contrary, the British are unhappy about the price they are paying for membership. They might even try to get out.

Under these circumstances Moscow's prime concern is not Europe, but Asia. Only in Asia has Soviet influence been declining. Only in Asia is there any serious danger of the emerging new power, China, displacing Soviet influence. And the danger is all the more acute because the decline in American influence opens the way for something else to take its place.

THERE ARE, of course, two sides to the picture of the great powers maneuvering for influence among the smaller countries of Asia. The other side is the maneuvering of the small countries to gain or improve their independence from the large ones, playing one off against another.

The game is immensely more complex for the great in the new multipower world, but easier and more promising for the small. In the old days being "uncommitted" or neutral was difficult or impossible. Big powers usually operate on the assumption that whoever is not for me is against me. The small were coerced.

Now — and Cambodia is the immediate and prime example — a small country anywhere in Asia can operate among the United States (which has not abandoned all interest in influence in Asia), Russia (which wants more than it has), and China (which is there).

Typical of the kind of situation which is likely to be repeated is the fact that neither the North Vietnamese nor the local native Communists rushed into Phnom Penh as the last American bomber flew away. Nor has Prince Sihanouk rushed back to Cambodia itself. Perhaps he wants to talk to Mr. Kissinger somewhere, before he makes his decisive move. Perhaps he is waiting until the Chinese tell him what to do.

Whatever the explanation, the fact is that no one anywhere knows exactly what is going to happen next. Instead of the certainty of American bombs, there is the uncertainty of who might want to do what next. The immediate beneficiaries are the little people in the villages and cities of Cambodia itself. They seem to be enjoying the unusual treat of being able to sleep peacefully at night.

ART BUCHWALD

A New Joy In Air Travel: Reassuring (?) Pilot Monologue

(Art Buchwald has gone off for a few weeks to forget about Watergate. He left behind some of his all-time favorite columns which he insists to the best of his recollection, at that point in time and in hindsight, everyone wanted to read again.)

WASHINGTON — There's a new breed of pilot flying our commercial airways, and he's becoming a menace to the peace and tranquility of the traveler. The taciturn James Stewart-type pilot is being replaced by the extroverted David Susskind-type, who not only never stops talking but tells you a lot more about flying than you want to know.

In the old days of air transportation, you hardly heard from the captain up forward. He might have told you when you were taking off and when you could expect to land, but outside of that he spent his time flying the plane, which is the most anyone expects of his pilot anyway.

But now, because he's either lonely or bored, or because the public relations departments of the airlines are in charge of the crews, the captain does a complete monologue from the time you get on the plane to the time you land. This is how it goes:

"HI, FOLKS, this is your captain. Well, we we're going to have a great flight today to L.A. Your hostesses are Kitty, Patti and I'm Jack. I'm married and have three fine children — Hildy, Freddy and Lisa — and we live in Roslyn, Long Island. We have a swell house and we belong to the First Congregational Church.

"There are some clouds over Kansas City, so we'll just avoid Kansas City today, which is not a great problem because we can get to L.A. anyway. It's lucky we're not going up to Montreal because they're really socked in there, and there's a hurricane off Puerto Rico. But that shouldn't bother us today.

"We had some trouble with the turbofram which delayed us a few minutes, but it's been fixed now. We really don't need the turbofram, but government regulations require that it be in working order, just in case the gyrowhizzit goes out, which is hardly likely.

"NOW, WHEN WE GET in the air, you're going to hear a change in pitch in the motors, but don't let that bother you. If you didn't hear a change, then you should be bothered. Ha-ha-ha.

"I'll be putting up my wheels as soon as I take off, and you may hear a slight thump, but don't be disturbed by it. You have to get those wheels up fast when you're taking off — otherwise you don't get the lift, and a plane this size needs all the lift it can get, believe you me.

"I can't see if the wheels are up or not, but I do have a red light on my panel, and if that red light goes on I would, of course, abort the flight.

"We're second in line to take off. There are planes landing and taking off every minute and, while the traffic may appear heavy to you, they seem to have it under control. Once we get away from the airport, we'll be out of danger.

"WELL, HERE WE go . . . There — we made it! No red light. I'm getting a slight reading on my oil pressure gauge, but it doesn't seem serious.

"As we fly across the United States, I'll point out every town and city to you, and even if you can't see it because of the cloud cover it's real beautiful country. You people on the right, if you look down now you'll see Interstate 5344 over by the river. Sorry you people on the left can't see it. I hope to be driving on it soon. I'm taking the wife and children out to visit her mother on my vacation in a couple of weeks.

"We're going to turn the seat belt sign off, but I'd advise you not to unbuckle your seat belt and walk around. You can get a great deal of turbulence up here, and without any warning the plane could hit an air pocket and take a dive, though, of course, it's unlikely.

"The temperature outside is now 80 degrees below zero, so I guess you're all glad to be inside. Ha-ha-ha. Say, I heard one I'll bet you folks haven't heard. There was this little kid and the teacher asked him . . ."

Soybeans Playing Key Role

By JOHN D. MOORHEAD
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

What is helping keep meat prices high, feeding Mexican children, disturbing the Japanese, and perhaps holding part of your house together?

Soybeans.

These unassuming yellow beans are the richest and cheapest source of protein known. And their meal makes the world's best animal feed.

World-wide demand for soy meal is soaring, pushing up the price of the feed, the cost of the animals that eat it and, eventually, prices at the meat counter.

A bumper soybean crop this year will ease the pressure but not eliminate it.

So President Nixon, at the end of June, slapped an embargo and then strict controls on exports of soybeans. He was aiming to cut down the pressure on soybean prices.

Also, soybean exports were growing so fast that a serious domestic shortage was feared. Exports of soybean meal were running 27 per cent ahead of expected levels. William Walker, acting deputy director of the Cost of Living Council, predicted a shortage in the United States of 1.1 million tons this year.

The soybean has been doing a few other things besides pushing up prices.

Feeding the Mexican children, for instance.

The children of an Indian tribe living about 250 miles south of Mexico City, suffering from malnutrition, attended a government boarding school during the week, and, as an experiment, their normal diet of tortillas (flat corn cakes) and biscuits was fortified with soy protein. They also were given a soy-based soft drink. The children gained an average of eight pounds in two months.

Many Americans first met soybeans during World War II when they were used as a meat substitute. Some people are turning back to them today to avoid the fat content in meat, or just the prices.

When properly prepared, in a casserole for instance, soybeans have a pleasant, nut-like flavor. Several good soybean cookbooks are available. Some people who have tried soybeans are not rushing back for more, though; they cite a grassy, beany or not-much-of-anything taste.

Soybeans have a multitide of uses, some quite unlikely.

They are used as an adhesive in the manufacture of plywood and other building materials. Paints, ink, insecticides, rubber cosmetics, plastics and linoleum are manufactured with the help of soybean oil.

And soybeans may be a fortifying agent in many foods you eat, without you ever knowing. The American Soybean Association says it is working for a labelling law that will require listing of soybeans on the labels of products that contain them.

Some foods that may contain soybeans: baked goods, spaghetti, wieners and franks, chili con carne, beef patties, cereals, pancake mixes, baby food, candy and imitation spices.

A new process can even turn soybeans into "meat." The process spins soy protein into fibers that approximate the texture of meat; artificial flavor is added to make the "analog" taste like beef, ham or chicken.

'A GREAT FUTURE'

Hearings Elevating Tennessee Senator

By GODFEY SPERLING JR.
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Television and radio sometimes make presidential candidates. A rather obscure governor from Illinois, Adlai Stevenson, was "found" by the big, nationally broadcast talk shows. People who were listening in began to ask, "Who is that eloquent fellow?" Estes Kefauver was thrust into the political limelight by TV hearings on organized crime in which he played a leading role.

Now a less-than-widely-known young man from Tennessee by the name of Howard Baker is gaining fame through the Watergate hearings. Already, Senator Baker, who for a long time was only known nationally as Senator Dirksen's son-in-law, is becoming what politicians call a "household word" — a cliche that roughly translated means, "We better keep an eye on him, boys."

An informal poll on Baker in which GOP leaders in every region were asked to comment about this little man with the big, deep voice showed he had become a presidential "possibility." A few said he had become their favorite. Said a woman national committeewoman from New England: "I've been a Baker supporter for years, ever since he came here for a fund raiser seven years ago."

Said a state chairman in the Northwest: "Baker is the star of this Watergate TV show. This man has a great future."

While sitting with a group of reporters over breakfast the other day, Senator Baker was asked, point blank, if he was interested in running for president. The Senator, in his usual lawyer style, was cautious. "Almost any answer I would give," he said with a smile, "would sound self-serving." Then he added: "If that situation developed, it would have to come after the hearing."

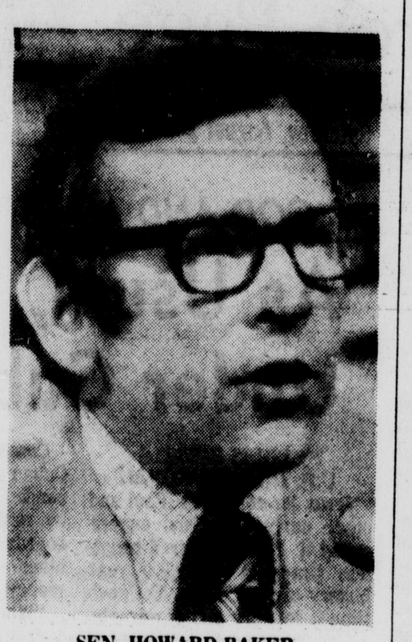
"But," he was asked, "would he rule out a run for the presidency?" "No, I would not do that," he said.

Asked how his mail was coming in on his performance in the hearings, the Senator said that it was running about 3 to 1 in favor of what he was doing. He granted that a lot of people were saying that he should run for president. But he also said he was stirring up a lot of negative mail, too. "There is a fair amount of people," he said, "who say I should hush up and come back home to Tennessee and practice law again. Many are saying I am using my office to crucify the President."

Baker's reference to his mail prompted this reporter to visit the Baker office and rummage through his letters which, sparked by Watergate, are coming in at the rate of about 300 a day. I wanted to weigh for myself the extent of the Baker sentiment, both pro and con.

On the critical side the feeling was sometimes intense. Wrote a woman from New York City: "So we hear that you are now in line for the presidency. . . . We never heard of you before, and we wish we had not heard of you now. And it would be a great service to the nation if you and all the members of your great investigation committee would get yourselves off TV and from the pages of the newspaper. You do not seem to have a particle of judgment now that you are in 'show business.' You are only thinking about this big opportunity of getting to be known across the land."

Then from a man in Arizona: "Dear Fellow Democrat (I can't believe that you are a Republican). I have heard this Watergate all the way through and I have never seen anything that has so degraded our government in my life. The people on your committee are sure enjoying this mess."



SEN. HOWARD BAKER
National limelight

And a wire from a man in St. Louis: "I am wondering what your father-in-law would think of you at this point?"

These were typical of the anti-Baker messages. But then there was the fan mail, far outnumbering the dissent, with comments like these, the first from a woman from Colorado: "Many people in my area share my opinion that you appear to be the man we have been waiting for, for a long time."

Then from a man from New Mexico: "I am a registered Democrat. You are a Republican. Should the occasion arise, and you run for president, you have my vote." And from a woman in Ohio: "It's rather ironic that my first fan letter in my life (I'm 62 and a Democrat) should be to a young Republican. I have been impressed with your thorough and unbiased handling of the witnesses, and your in-depth probing of the whys and wherefores of this mess. I hope you consider running for the presidency. You're young, vigorous, and fair minded. We surely need this!"

The Baker mail, in itself, corroborates what many of us have assumed from the first day of the hearing: that Senator Baker had become a celebrity overnight.

Now from celebrity to presidential nominee is obviously a long road. But I would suggest that you write it down: Senator Baker is better than a dark horse possibility for 1976. He stands a very good chance of overtaking people like Agnew, Reagan, Rockefeller, Connally, and Percy and going all the way.

This Week In The World

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

President Nixon, for the second week in a row, went into the public spotlight this week to talk about Watergate, although that was not what he wanted to talk about.

Nixon called a news conference at San Clemente, his first in five months, to announce that Secretary of State William P Rogers had resigned and that his successor would be Henry A. Kissinger, the President's foreign policy adviser. The reporters, however, focused their questions on Watergate. He chided them, but he answered the questions.

Nixon said that what went on within the White House in the Watergate affair was "scandalous conduct" and said he "would have blown my stack" if former Attorney General John N. Mitchell had told him all the facts about Watergate.

When asked how much blame he accepted for Watergate, Nixon replied "I accept it all." And he said flatly he would not resign over Watergate.

"When you say, do I consider resigning, the answer is no, I shall not resign," he said.

Nixon, who gave a televised speech a week earlier in which he said the Watergate affair should be moved from Congress to the courts, had hoped to be questioned about foreign policy. He began by announcing that Secretary of State William P. Rogers had resigned and that his successor would be Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's foreign policy adviser.

The President also defended Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and denounced leaks to the news media about the inquiry into possible kickbacks to Agnew.

Agnew, who is being investigated for activities while he served in state offices in Maryland, also held a news conference—his second on the investigation.

He charged Justice Department employes who had been leaking information with trying to indict him in the press. He called on Attorney General Elliot Richardson to investigate the leaks.

Around The World, Around The Clock:

NEW ORLEANS — President Nixon canceled plans for a motorcade in downtown New Orleans when the Secret Service uncovered what said to be a plot to assassinate him. Nixon took an alternate route from the airport to a convention center where he addressed the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Authorities charged Edwin Gaudet, a former policeman, with threatening to kill Nixon. Gaudet surrendered in northern New Mexico after hiding out for two days following a shooting incident with policemen who tried to arrest him.

WASHINGTON — A court fight began over the Watergate tapes that President Nixon refuses to release. A presidential lawyer said courts cannot compel the President to release secret communications if he has determined it is not in the public interest. Archibald Cox, the special Watergate prosecutor, argued not even a President has the right to keep vital evidence from a grand jury.

VIENTIANE, Laos — A plane carrying an exiled Laotian general who attempted a coup against the government was shot down. The general was killed.

ATHENS — George Papadopoulos was sworn in as first president of Greece. He declared a general amnesty for some 300 political prisoners and ended martial law, which had been effect since a 1967 coup.

SANTIAGO, Chile -- Leftist labor leaders warned of alleged plots to overthrow the government of Marxist President Salvador Allende. Antigovernment workers had occupied about 100 plants since an uprising in July. The Marxist-led Central Labor Federation ordered its member to fortify factories against the dissidents.

WASHINGTON — The Cost of Living Council announced it would hold hearings on requests by the steel and auto industries to raise their prices. The council also proposed new food price regulations to begin Sept. 12. The new rules would allow retail food prices to rise with farm prices. They are also are intended to reflect any reductions at the farm level.

MILWAUKEE — The United Auto Workers selected Chrysler Corp. from the "big three" automakers as the strike target in the current contract negotiations.

WASHINGTON — The International Brotherhood of Teamsters repudiated some contracts negotiated by its representatives with California grape growers. The Teamsters and the rival United Farm Workers union, led by Cesar Chevaz, have been involved in a running, sometimes violent dispute over representation of the grape pickers.

NANTUCKET, Mass. — Joseph P. Kennedy III, son of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, was convicted of negligent driving in an automobile accident and fined $100.

NEW ORLEANS — District Attorney Jim Garrison went on trial on charges of accepting bribes from owners of pinball companies. Garrison gained national note for prosecuting Clay Shaw, who was acquitted, on charges of involvement in the killing of President Kennedy.

Many Americans first met soybeans during World War II when they were used as a meat substitute. Some people are turning back to them today to avoid the fat content in meat, or just the prices.

When properly prepared, in a casserole for instance, soybeans have a pleasant, nut-like flavor. Several good soybean cookbooks are available. Some people who have tried soybeans are not rushing back for more, though; they cite a grassy, beany or not-much-of-anything taste.

Soybeans have a multitide of uses, some quite unlikely.

They are used as an adhesive in the manufacture of plywood and other building materials. Paints, ink, insecticides, rubber cosmetics, plastics and linoleum are manufactured with the help of soybean oil.

And soybeans may be a fortifying agent in many foods you eat, without you ever knowing. The American Soybean Association says it is working for a labelling law that will require listing of soybeans on the labels of products that contain them.

Some foods that may contain soybeans: baked goods, spaghetti, wieners and franks, chili con carne, beef patties, cereals, pancake mixes, baby food, candy and imitation spices.

A new process can even turn soybeans into "meat." The process spins soy protein into fibers that approximate the texture of meat; artificial flavor is added to make the "analog" taste like beef, ham or chicken.

'A GREAT FUTURE'

Hearings Elevating Tennessee Senator

By GODFEY SPERLING JR.
The Christian Science Monitor
News Service

WASHINGTON, D.C. — Television and radio sometimes make presidential candidates. A rather obscure governor from Illinois, Adlai Stevenson, was "found" by the big, nationally broadcast talk shows. People who were listening in began to ask, "Who is that eloquent fellow?" Estes Kefauver was thrust into the political limelight by TV hearings on organized crime in which he played a leading role.

Now a less-than-widely-known young man from Tennessee by the name of Howard Baker is gaining fame through the Watergate hearings. Already, Senator Baker, who for a long time was only known nationally as Senator Dirksen's son-in-law, is becoming what politicians call a "household word" — a cliche that roughly translated means, "We better keep an eye on him, boys."

An informal poll on Baker in which GOP leaders in every region were asked to comment about this little man with the big, deep voice showed he had become a presidential "possibility." A few said he had become their favorite. Said a woman national committeewoman from New England: "I've been a Baker supporter for years, ever since he came here for a fund raiser seven years ago."

Said a state chairman in the Northwest: "Baker is the star of this Watergate TV show. This man has a great future."

While sitting with a group of reporters over breakfast the other day, Senator Baker was asked, point blank, if he was interested in running for president. The Senator, in his usual lawyer style, was cautious. "Almost any answer I would give," he said with a smile, "would sound self-serving." Then he added: "If that situation developed, it would have to come after the hearing."

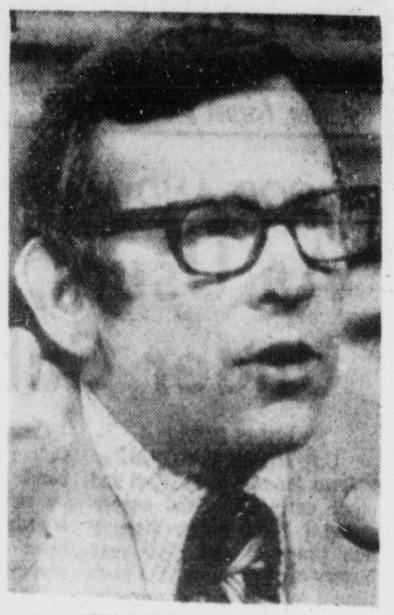
"But," he was asked, "would he rule out a run for the presidency?" "No, I would not do that," he said.

Asked how his mail was coming in on his performance in the hearings, the Senator said that it was running about 3 to 1 in favor of what he was doing. He granted that a lot of people were saying that he should run for president. But he also said he was stirring up a lot of negative mail, too. "There is a fair amount of people," he said, "who say I should hush up and come back home to Tennessee and practice law again. Many are saying I am using my office to crucify the President."

Baker's reference to his mail prompted this reporter to visit the Baker office and rummage through his letters which, sparked by Watergate, are coming in at the rate of about 300 a day. I wanted to weigh for myself the extent of the Baker sentiment, both pro and con.

On the critical side the feeling was sometimes intense. Wrote a woman from New York City: "So we hear that you are now in line for the presidency. . . . We never heard of you before, and we wish we had not heard of you now. And it would be a great service to the nation if you and all the members of your great investigation committee would get yourselves off TV and from the pages of the newspaper. You do not seem to have a particle of judgment now that you are in 'show business.' You are only thinking about this big opportunity of getting to be known across the land."

Then from a man in Arizona: "Dear Fellow Democrat (I can't believe that you are a Republican). I have heard this Watergate all the way through and I have never seen anything that has so degraded our government in my life. The people on your committee are sure enjoying this mess."



SEN. HOWARD BAKER
National limelight

And a wire from a man in St. Louis: "I am wondering what your father-in-law would think of you at this point?"

These were typical of the anti-Baker messages. But then there was the fan mail, far outnumbering the dissent, with comments like these, the first from a woman from Colorado: "Many people in my area share my opinion that you appear to be the man we have been waiting for, for a long time."

Then from a man from New Mexico: "I am a registered Democrat. You are a Republican. Should the occasion arise, and you run for president, you have my vote." And from a woman in Ohio: "It's rather ironic that my first fan letter in my life (I'm 62 and a Democrat) should be to a young Republican. I have been impressed with your thorough and unbiased handling of the witnesses, and your in-depth probing of the whys and wherefores of this mess. I hope you consider running for the presidency. You're young, vigorous, and fair minded. We surely need this!"

The Baker mail, in itself, corroborates what many of us have assumed from the first day of the hearing: that Senator Baker had become a celebrity overnight.

Now from celebrity to presidential nominee is obviously a long road. But I would suggest that you write it down: Senator Baker is better than a dark horse possibility for 1976. He stands a very good chance of overtaking people like Agnew, Reagan, Rockefeller, Connally, and Percy and going all the way.

This Week In The World

By U.P. INTERNATIONAL

President Nixon, for the second week in a row, went into the public spotlight this week to talk about Watergate, although that was not what he wanted to talk about.

Nixon called a news conference at San Clemente, his first in five months, to announce that Secretary of State William P Rogers had resigned and that his successor would be Henry A. Kissinger, the President's foreign policy adviser. The reporters, however, focused their questions on Watergate. He chided them, but he answered the questions.

Nixon said that what went on within the White House in the Watergate affair was "scandalous conduct" and said he "would have blown my stack" if former Attorney General John N. Mitchell had told him all the facts about Watergate.

When asked how much blame he accepted for Watergate, Nixon replied "I accept it all." And he said flatly he would not resign over Watergate.

"When you say, do I consider resigning, the answer is no, I shall not resign," he said.

Nixon, who gave a televised speech a week earlier in which he said the Watergate affair should be moved from Congress to the courts, had hoped to be questioned about foreign policy. He began by announcing that Secretary of State William P. Rogers had resigned and that his successor would be Henry A. Kissinger, Nixon's foreign policy adviser.

The President also defended Vice President Spiro T. Agnew and denounced leaks to the news media about the inquiry into possible kickbacks to Agnew.

Agnew, who is being investigated for activities while he served in state offices in Maryland, also held a news conference—his second on the investigation.

He charged Justice Department employes who had been leaking information with trying to indict him in the press. He called on Attorney General Elliot Richardson to investigate the leaks.

Around The World, Around The Clock:

NEW ORLEANS — President Nixon canceled plans for a motorcade in downtown New Orleans when the Secret Service uncovered what said to be a plot to assassinate him. Nixon took an alternate route from the airport to a convention center where he addressed the Veterans of Foreign Wars. Authorities charged Edwin Gaudet, a former policeman, with threatening to kill Nixon. Gaudet surrendered in northern New Mexico after hiding out for two days following a shooting incident with policemen who tried to arrest him.

WASHINGTON — A court fight began over the Watergate tapes that President Nixon refuses to release. A presidential lawyer said courts cannot compel the President to release secret communications if he has determined it is not in the public interest. Archibald Cox, the special Watergate prosecutor, argued not even a President has the right to keep vital evidence from a grand jury.

VIENTIANE, Laos — A plane carrying an exiled Laotian general who attempted a coup against the government was shot down. The general was killed.

ATHENS — George Papadopoulos was sworn in as first president of Greece. He declared a general amnesty for some 300 political prisoners and ended martial law, which had been effect since a 1967 coup.

SANTIAGO, Chile -- Leftist labor leaders warned of alleged plots to overthrow the government of Marxist President Salvador Allende. Antigovernment workers had occupied about 100 plants since an uprising in July. The Marxist-led Central Labor Federation ordered its member to fortify factories against the dissidents.

WASHINGTON — The Cost of Living Council announced it would hold hearings on requests by the steel and auto industries to raise their prices. The council also proposed new food price regulations to begin Sept. 12. The new rules would allow retail food prices to rise with farm prices. They are also are intended to reflect any reductions at the farm level.

MILWAUKEE — The United Auto Workers selected Chrysler Corp. from the "big three" automakers as the strike target in the current contract negotiations.

WASHINGTON — The International Brotherhood of Teamsters repudiated some contracts negotiated by its representatives with California grape growers. The Teamsters and the rival United Farm Workers union, led by Cesar Chevaz, have been involved in a running, sometimes violent dispute over representation of the grape pickers.

NANTUCKET, Mass. — Joseph P. Kennedy III, son of the late Sen. Robert F. Kennedy, was convicted of negligent driving in an automobile accident and fined $100.

NEW ORLEANS — District Attorney Jim Garrison went on trial on charges of accepting bribes from owners of pinball companies. Garrison gained national note for prosecuting Clay Shaw, who was acquitted, on charges of involvement in the killing of President Kennedy.

Pentecostals Are A Rapidly Growing Denomination

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Senior Editor

A few years ago, other Christians scornfully referred to them as "holy rollers." Today they are respected by Protestants and Catholics as one of the fastest-growing and most vital sectors of the Christian family.

They call themselves "Pentecostals".

There are at least 22 organized Pentecostal denominations in the United States, ranging in size from the Assemblies of God, (more than one million members in nearly 9,000 local churches) to the Pentecostal Fire-Baptized Holiness Church (about 550 members in 41 congregations.)

In addition, there are thousands of local Pentecostal congregations not affiliated with any denomination, and there are substantial numbers of individuals within the Roman Catholic Church, the Episcopal Church, and other mainstream denominations who are Pentecostal in personal orientation. Altogether, there are probably three or four million Pentecostals in America today.

During the past two years, while many other large Protestant denominations were suffering drops in membership, the Assemblies of God posted a gain of 8.4 per cent. Its active foreign missions program has boosted its worldwide membership to five million.

The term "Pentecostal" comes from the Day of Pentecost, 50 days after the resurrection of Christ. On that day, the Book of Acts records, the disciples of Jesus were gathered together in the upper room of a house in Jerusalem waiting, as he had instructed them to do, for "power from on high."

"Suddenly there was a noise from the sky which sounded like a strong wind blowing, and it filled the whole house where they were sitting. Then they saw what looked like tongues of fire spreading out; and each person there was touched by a tongue. They were all filled with the Holy Spirit and began to talk in other languages as the Spirit enabled them to speak."

Pentecostals say this phenomenon — which they call "Spirit-baptism" or "fire-baptism" — still occurs, although it is not necessarily accompanied by the same audible and visible signs (a rushing wind and tongues of fire) that were observed on the original Day of Pentecost.

Most Pentecostals attach considerable importance to one external sign of "Spirit-baptism" —namely, the gift of ecstatic utterance, otherwise known as "glossalalia" or "speaking in tongues." The "tongues" need not be—indeed, usually are not—any recognizable human language. To the uninitiated, they may sound like gibberish.

But Pentecostals devoutly believe that one who is moved to speak in tongues is giving utterance to words beyond human comprehension which are directly inspired by the Spirit of God who has taken possession of that person's vocal powers.

The whole business of tongue-speaking has been a subject of controversy among Christians since the time of the Apostle Paul, who said he had personally experienced the phenomenon. Paul warned early Christians not to make a big thing of it, lest they baffle rather than edify outsiders they wished to win as converts. "If everybody starts speaking with strange sounds," he asked, "won't ordinary people say that you are all crazy?"

Paul argued—and many Pentecostals today will readily agree—that much more important "charismas" (a term dervied from the Greek word for "gifts) are conferred on persons who allow the Spirit of God to take control of their lives.

In his letter to the church at Galatia, Paul listed these less spectacular but more basic "gifts of the Spirit" as:

"Love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfullness, humility and self-control."

Thus it is entirely possible, according to Paul, for a person who has undergone "baptism of the Spirit" to show no dramatic external manifestation of the fact, but simply reflect its fruits in the pattern of his or her everyday life.

Although Pentecostals accept this in principle—and although mainstream denominations accept in principle the validity of occasional cases of ecstatic utterance—their differences in emphasis have, in the past, been so pronounced that the two groups seemed to have little in common.

In recent years, however, there has been a widespread rediscovery among Catholics and Protestants of the fundamental New Testament teaching that whatever strength the Church may have in any period is derived directly and solely from the power and presence of the Holy Spirit within a Christian community.

This renewed appreciation of the Spirit as the motivating and enabling force that makes Christianity something more than dry dogma and mumbo-jumbo ritual has prompted at least some formerly scornful Christians to suspect that they just might have something to learn from Pentecostals.

The fact that Pentecostal churches are packing them in, while conventional churches play to half-empty houses, has contributed to this reappraisal. The very least a grudging outsider can concede to contemporary Pentecostalism is that it seems to offer something that a lot of people are seeking: direct, personal experience of the reality of God.

Pentecostal worship is apt to be quite startling to anyone accustomed to the sedate rituals of other Christian bodies. Free expression of feelings and uninhibited exuberance are encouraged in all Pentecostal congregations. Any person who feels "moved by the Spirit" may at any point in the service interrupt the proceedings with shouts, handclapping, impromptu singing, marching around the aisles, or speaking in tongues. Sometimes Pentecostals display religious ecstasy by falling to the floor in a trance. This is what earned them the derisive nickname of "holy rollers."

Pentecostalism developed out of the great wave of religious revivals that swept through the United States near the turn of this century. Most of its early adherents came from Baptist or Methodist backgrounds.

Because Pentecostals spend a vast portion of their church income in support of missions, they rarely invest large sums in bricks and mortar. There are exceptions, such as the sumptuous modernistic, air-conditioned Christ Church on Massachusetts Avenue in Washington, D.C. But the typical Pentecostal congregation is satisfied with the humble housing of a simple frame building or even a rented store front. To a large extent, Pentecostals have taken over the role once played by Baptists and Methodists as "the church of the poor."

Their low overhead enables Pentecostals to stay on the job in inner city slums of urban America—a desperately needful mission field from which too many "respectable" Protestant bodies—and lately, even the Catholics—have been steadily retreating toward the more affluent suburbs.

Although there are minor variations in doctrine from one Pentecostal denomination to another, they all are fundamentalist in theology, holding to the "verbal infallibility" of the Bible.

In common with certain nonPentecostal bodies such as the Church of the Nazarene, they place heavy emphasis on John Wesley's doctrine of "entire sanctification" of life—which means, simply, that a Christian should strive for the highest possible degree of holiness in his everyday life. Thus Pentecostals who take their faith seriously are extremely austere in their personal habits. They disapprove of drinking, smoking, dancing, card-playing and any kind of "frivolity" — even reading a newspaper—on the Sabbath.

If you have any Pentecostal neighbors, please save this article for them to read. I'd like them to know that one reporter who has had long and close association with their movement has a profound admiration for them. (Next: The Mormons and Adventists)

BOB HYMERS
To speak on prophecy

Sermon Set On Bible Prophecies

A sermon on current world events, as they have been interpreted by him in the light of Biblical prophecy, will be given by evangelist Bob Hymers at the Church of the Open Door Sunday night.

Hymers, who has spent several years studying the subject of prophecy, is a graduate of the California State University at Los Angeles and Golden Gate Baptist Seminary. His sermon will be titled "The Second Coming of Satan."

Also appearing on the program will be "The Sons of Thunder" from Oakland, and Tommy Gaulden, a solist from Marin County. The program is set for 7 p.m. at the church at Scout Hall, 177 E. Blithedale, Mill Valley. A nursery will be provided.

Korean To Study In San Anselmo

A military chaplain from Seoul, Korea, will be among 100 new students pursuing graduate studies next year at the Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary in Mill Valley.

Lt. Colonel Chang Ki You, 39, will begin work on a Master of Religious Education degree in January, according to Dr. Harold Graves, seminary president.

The Golden Gate seminary has agreed to sponsor the chaplain's educational and housing expenses in the year that he is in Marin, and the Korean army will pay his transportation and regular salary.

According to Graves, the school needs approximately $1,500 to sponsor the chaplain's tuition and housing. Approximately $300 has already been raised through private contributions.

Chang, a graduate of the Hankuk Theological Seminary in Seoul, has been an army chaplain for 16 years. He is married and has four children, but he will not bring his family with him during his stay, Graves said.

Originally, two Korean chaplains were scheduled to study at Golden Gate, but the second applicant was not adequately proficient to be admitted, Graves said.

The seminary president said he hoped to make the Korean program an annual one. "It would be a real ecumenical service, a service to the whole Christian cause," he said.

CHANG KI YOU
Korean army chaplain

Although Chang is a Presbyterian, there will be no doctrinal conflicts with the seminary's teaching, according to Graves. "What students learn is a universal thing. There is one body of truth," he said, pointing out that 17 non-Baptist denominations are represented in the 300-member student body at Golden Gate.

Chang's educational background is approximately equal to a bachelor's degree in the United States, Graves estimated. "From his experience, I'd say he's had good training in biblical and theological history fields, but is weak in areas like methods of education, administration and counseling. These would be the things we would stress during his 12 months here."

New Pastor Called By St. Luke's

Members of St. Luke Presbyterian Church in East San Rafael have called the Reverend Ian Frazer Young to serve as their minster.

A native of Santa Barbara, Rev. Young is a graduate of Occidental College in Los Angeles and holds a bachelor of divinity degree from San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo.

Following student service in Bozeman, Montana, and at Stanford University, he served his first pastorate in Manhattan, Montana, in 1961. After four years there, he was called to the Carmichael, Calif. Presbyterian Church, where he has been since.

Rev. Young, his wife Sue, and their children expect to move to San Rafael in September. The installation date will be announced soon.

OF GOD AND MAN

As Usual, Church Thrives Under Cuban Persecution

By LOUIS CASSELS
U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Jesus foretold it. St. Paul and other early Christians experienced it. It has occurred countless times in the 2,000 year history of the Church. Yet each time it seems a sort of miracle.

Under persecution, instead of collapsing, the church thrives.

This phenomenon is now occurring once again under the Communist regime of Fidel Castro in Cuba.

Persecution of Christians seems to be something all new Communist dictatorships feel they must try. Older Communist governments, such as that of the Soviet Union, have learned halfheartedly, at most.

But Castro's Cuba is a relative newcomer to the roster of red nations, and it still is putting some muscle into harassment of Christians.

According to the Rev. Bibiano Molina, who has retired in Fort Worth, Tex., after spending 50 years as a Baptist pastor in Cuba, Castro's antichurch activity is producing the same result as every other persecution of Christians since the time of the Roman emperor Nero.

Castro first tried to cripple Cuban churches which had depended on support from broad by refusing to permit mission boards in the United States or other countries to send any money or manpower into Cuba.

"When this happened, Christian ministers and lay people of Cuba reacted by supporting themselves," Molina said in a recent report to the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board.

The government continues to make life difficult for Cuban churches, according to the Baptist pastor.

"The government blocks off both ends of the street whenever a church holds a service," he said. "The streets are used for baseball, soccer and track, and the games are conducted while church is in session. But this does not keep young people from coming to church. Cuban churches are filled with young people each Sunday."

In an effort to avoid the overt appearance of persecution, which is out of favor with more advanced Communist countries, the Castro government uses indirect harassments such as a law stipulating that preaching is allowed only inside a church, never outside in the open.

Services are normally allowed only at the customary hours on Sundays. A special permit must be sought to conduct a revival meeting with week night services.

Despite these and other forms of "strong government opposition," Molina said, "the church is still very much alive in Cuba."

"It is a mircale," he said. "Church members are stronger than ever in their faith. Churches once dependent on mission boards are now self-supporting."

Best of all, the future seems assured, because young people, told they should not go to church, are responding as any parent might have told Castro they would. They go to church —voluntarily, openly, stubbornly.

That the church thrives under persecution should come as no surprise to any reader of the New Testament. In one of his last talks with his disciples, Jesus worned them!

"You will be arrested and persecuted and put in prison."

But they should not be dismayed when that happens, he said, for "this is your best chance to preach the gospel."

St. Paul urged Christians of Nero's Rome to "look forward" to persecutions.

"We can rejoice when we run into problems and trials," said the great apostle, who finally lost his own life in one of Rome's persecutions.

"Trials and troubles are good for us because they help us to learn patience," Paul said. "And patience strengthens our character. It teaches us to trust God more firmly each time we suffer, until finally our confidence in Him is complete."

The paradox of churches thriving under persecution has been demonstrated so often you would think even the most pig-headed dictator would have learned the lesson by now. But absolute power has rarely been associated with wisdom in any age.

PAUL POTTER
Christian school administrator

New School Executive Is Named

Paul Potter, a new resident of San Rafael and Marin County, will take over the administrative helm of Valley Christian School of San Rafael when classes begin Sept. 11.

Potter, 39, succeeds Warren Leuty, who resigned from his administrative position to become a full-time teacher at the school.

"I believe it's the leading of God that I come here," Potter said. "I think this is where He wants me to be."

The new administrator was formerly principal of the Hesperia Christian School in San Bernardino County. He also will serve as assistant pastor at the Vallay Baptist Church.

Both schools are part of the 330-member California Association of Christian Schools, which operate on the belief that "all subjects are founded on the word of God as set down in the Bible," according to Potter.

Valley Christian, serving 130 students in grades kindergarten through eight, will begin its fifth year of instruction this fall.

Potter's family has not yet joined him in Marin, but his wife, Jan, and two teen-age daughters will move to the family's new home at 239 Glen Park Avenue, on Sept. 15.

Seminary Center Opening Set In Los Angeles

Dedication services for the Los Angeles Center, of Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary, Strawberry, will be Sept. 9 at 3 p.m.

According to Dr. Harold K. Graves, seminary president, the dedication will launch three days of open house, Sept. 10 - 12, for the offices and library located at 12311 Chapman Ave., Suite 219 - 221, Garden Grove, Calif.

Classes will begin Oct. 1, with registration for the fall quarter set for Sept. 24 - 28.

Dr. John H. Parrott, associate professor of preaching and Center director, has announced two master's level courses and one doctoral level seminar for the fall.

Dr. J. Lyn Elder, professor of pastoral care, will spend several days each week at the center, commuting from the campus at Strawberry.

Parrott will teach Preaching 131, a basic preaching course for M. Div. students.

Los Angeles Pastor To Be Featured Evangelist

The Rev. Benjamin F. Reid, pastor of the First Church of God in Los Angeles and a member of the board of directors of the Los Angeles Council of Churches, will be the featured evangelist at an inter-denominational and interracial religious conference Aug. 27 through Sept. 1 at Manzanita Center in Marin City.

Discussions will be held each day from 6 to 7:30 p.m., followed by evangelistic services from 7:45 to 9:30 p.m., according to the Rev. Fred Small, pastor of the Marin City Church of God and conference sponsor.

Reid will discuss urban ministries, family life, youth and cultures, senior citizens and citizenship, ministers and gifts of the spirit. He is a contributing editor to the periodical Vital Christianity and author of the book "Confessions of A Happy Preacher."

Campus Ministry Leader Is Elected

Brueggeman, campus pastor at Northwestern University, previously had served as Central Regional representative on the LCMA council. He succeeds Virginia Buus, campus minister at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Christ Church To Audition For Choristers

Auditions will be held Saturday, Sept. 8, 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at Christ Church, San Carlos and Santa Rosa avenues, Sausalito, for choristers, both juniors (ages 8-15), and seniors (16 and up.)

These volunteer choirs will rehearse once a week and sing at the 10 a.m. Sunday services.

It is hoped also that instrumental accompaniment with cello, recorder, flute, oboe, harpsichord, etc., may occasionally be used. Semi-professionals or volunteers in this area are also desired.

Professor Is Speaker For Seminary Retreat

Dr. Charles W. Lavaroni, assistant professor of education and director of elementary student teaching at Dominican College, San Rafael, was the featured speaker at the Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary's faculty retreat, Aug. 23 - 25, according to Dr. Harold K. Graves, seminary president.

The seminary faculty travelled to Asilomar, a state-operated conference center in Pacific Grove, near Monterey, for three days of fellowship, conferences and recreation.

Dr. Lavaroni addressed Thursday and Friday sessions on "Instructional Objectives." Instructional objectives is a method for teachers to set goals before a class then provide a means of evaluating the effectiveness of the class.

Dr. Wayne Peterson, associate professor of Old Testament interpretation at the seminary and chairman of the Faculty Retreat Committee, said, "As far as I know, instructional objectives have not been previously applied to theological education."

Two sessions were held for the faculty to discuss the doctor of ministry degree which the seminary began last year.

This is the fourth year for the faculty to meet prior to the September term. Classes start at the seminary, Sept. 4.

Pentecostals Are A Rapidly Growing Denomination

By LOUIS CASSELS
UPI Senior Editor

A few years ago, other Christians scornfully referred to them as "holy rollers." Today they are respected by Protestants and Catholics as one of the fastest-growing and most vital sectors of the Christian family.

They call themselves "Pentecostals".

There are at least 22 organized Pentecostal denominations in the United States, ranging in size from the Assemblies of God, (more than one million members in nearly 9,000 local churches) to the Pentecostal Fire-Baptized Holiness Church (about 550 members in 41 congregations.)

In addition, there are thousands of local Pentecostal congregations not affiliated with any denomination, and there are substantial numbers of individuals within the Roman Catholic Church, the Episcopal Church, and other mainstream denominations who are Pentecostal in personal orientation. Altogether, there are probably three or four million Pentecostals in America today.

During the past two years, while many other large Protestant denominations were suffering drops in membership, the Assemblies of God posted a gain of 8.4 per cent. Its active foreign missions program has boosted its worldwide membership to five million.

The term "Pentecostal" comes from the Day of Pentecost, 50 days after the resurrection of Christ. On that day, the Book of Acts records, the disciples of Jesus were gathered together in the upper room of a house in Jerusalem waiting, as he had instructed them to do, for "power from on high."

"Suddenly there was a noise from the sky which sounded like a strong wind blowing, and it filled the whole house where they were sitting. Then they saw what looked like tongues of fire spreading out; and each person there was touched by a tongue. They were all filled with the Holy Spirit and began to talk in other languages as the Spirit enabled them to speak."

Pentecostals say this phenomenon — which they call "Spirit-baptism" or "fire-baptism" — still occurs, although it is not necessarily accompanied by the same audible and visible signs (a rushing wind and tongues of fire) that were observed on the original Day of Pentecost.

Most Pentecostals attach considerable importance to one external sign of "Spirit-baptism" —namely, the gift of ecstatic utterance, otherwise known as "glossalalia" or "speaking in tongues." The "tongues" need not be—indeed, usually are not—any recognizable human language. To the uninitiated, they may sound like gibberish.

But Pentecostals devoutly believe that one who is moved to speak in tongues is giving utterance to words beyond human comprehension which are directly inspired by the Spirit of God who has taken possession of that person's vocal powers.

The whole business of tongue-speaking has been a subject of controversy among Christians since the time of the Apostle Paul, who said he had personally experienced the phenomenon. Paul warned early Christians not to make a big thing of it, lest they baffle rather than edify outsiders they wished to win as converts. "If everybody starts speaking with strange sounds," he asked, "won't ordinary people say that you are all crazy?"

Paul argued—and many Pentecostals today will readily agree—that much more important "charismas" (a term dervied from the Greek word for "gifts) are conferred on persons who allow the Spirit of God to take control of their lives.

In his letter to the church at Galatia, Paul listed these less spectacular but more basic "gifts of the Spirit" as:

"Love, joy, peace, patience, kindness, goodness, faithfullness, humility and self-control."

Thus it is entirely possible, according to Paul, for a person who has undergone "baptism of the Spirit" to show no dramatic external manifestation of the fact, but simply reflect its fruits in the pattern of his or her everyday life.

Although Pentecostals accept this in principle—and although mainstream denominations accept in principle the validity of occasional cases of ecstatic utterance—their differences in emphasis have, in the past, been so pronounced that the two groups seemed to have little in common.

In recent years, however, there has been a widespread rediscovery among Catholics and Protestants of the fundamental New Testament teaching that whatever strength the Church may have in any period is derived directly and solely from the power and presence of the Holy Spirit within a Christian community.

This renewed appreciation of the Spirit as the motivating and enabling force that makes Christianity something more than dry dogma and mumbo-jumbo ritual has prompted at least some formerly scornful Christians to suspect that they just might have something to learn from Pentecostals.

The fact that Pentecostal churches are packing them in, while conventional churches play to half-empty houses, has contributed to this reappraisal. The very least a grudging outsider can concede to contemporary Pentecostalism is that it seems to offer something that a lot of people are seeking: direct, personal experience of the reality of God.

Pentecostal worship is apt to be quite startling to anyone accustomed to the sedate rituals of other Christian bodies. Free expression of feelings and uninhibited exuberance are encouraged in all Pentecostal congregations. Any person who feels "moved by the Spirit" may at any point in the service interrupt the proceedings with shouts, handclapping, impromptu singing, marching around the aisles, or speaking in tongues. Sometimes Pentecostals display religious ecstasy by falling to the floor in a trance. This is what earned them the derisive nickname of "holy rollers."

Pentecostalism developed out of the great wave of religious revivals that swept through the United States near the turn of this century. Most of its early adherents came from Baptist or Methodist backgrounds.

Because Pentecostals spend a vast portion of their church income in support of missions, they rarely invest large sums in bricks and mortar. There are exceptions, such as the sumptuous modernistic, air-conditioned Christ Church on Massachusetts Avenue in Washington, D.C. But the typical Pentecostal congregation is satisfied with the humble housing of a simple frame building or even a rented store front. To a large extent, Pentecostals have taken over the role once played by Baptists and Methodists as "the church of the poor."

Their low overhead enables Pentecostals to stay on the job in inner city slums of urban America—a desperately needful mission field from which too many "respectable" Protestant bodies—and lately, even the Catholics—have been steadily retreating toward the more affluent suburbs.

Although there are minor variations in doctrine from one Pentecostal denomination to another, they all are fundamentalist in theology, holding to the "verbal infallibility" of the Bible.

In common with certain nonPentecostal bodies such as the Church of the Nazarene, they place heavy emphasis on John Wesley's doctrine of "entire sanctification" of life—which means, simply, that a Christian should strive for the highest possible degree of holiness in his everyday life. Thus Pentecostals who take their faith seriously are extremely austere in their personal habits. They disapprove of drinking, smoking, dancing, card-playing and any kind of "frivolity" — even reading a newspaper—on the Sabbath.

If you have any Pentecostal neighbors, please save this article for them to read. I'd like them to know that one reporter who has had long and close association with their movement has a profound admiration for them. (Next: The Mormons and Adventists)

BOB HYMERS
To speak on prophecy

Sermon Set On Bible Prophecies

A sermon on current world events, as they have been interpreted by him in the light of Biblical prophecy, will be given by evangelist Bob Hymers at the Church of the Open Door Sunday night.

Hymers, who has spent several years studying the subject of prophecy, is a graduate of the California State University at Los Angeles and Golden Gate Baptist Seminary. His sermon will be titled "The Second Coming of Satan."

Also appearing on the program will be "The Sons of Thunder" from Oakland, and Tommy Gaulden, a solist from Marin County. The program is set for 7 p.m. at the church at Scout Hall, 177 E. Blithedale, Mill Valley. A nursery will be provided.

Korean To Study In San Anselmo

A military chaplain from Seoul, Korea, will be among 100 new students pursuing graduate studies next year at the Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary in Mill Valley.

Lt. Colonel Chang Ki You, 39, will begin work on a Master of Religious Education degree in January, according to Dr. Harold Graves, seminary president.

The Golden Gate seminary has agreed to sponsor the chaplain's educational and housing expenses in the year that he is in Marin, and the Korean army will pay his transportation and regular salary.

According to Graves, the school needs approximately $1,500 to sponsor the chaplain's tuition and housing. Approximately $300 has already been raised through private contributions.

Chang, a graduate of the Hankuk Theological Seminary in Seoul, has been an army chaplain for 16 years. He is married and has four children, but he will not bring his family with him during his stay, Graves said.

Originally, two Korean chaplains were scheduled to study at Golden Gate, but the second applicant was not adequately proficient to be admitted, Graves said.

The seminary president said he hoped to make the Korean program an annual one. "It would be a real ecumenical service, a service to the whole Christian cause," he said.

CHANG KI YOU
Korean army chaplain

Although Chang is a Presbyterian, there will be no doctrinal conflicts with the seminary's teaching, according to Graves. "What students learn is a universal thing. There is one body of truth," he said, pointing out that 17 non-Baptist denominations are represented in the 300-member student body at Golden Gate.

Chang's educational background is approximately equal to a bachelor's degree in the United States, Graves estimated. "From his experience, I'd say he's had good training in biblical and theological history fields, but is weak in areas like methods of education, administration and counseling. These would be the things we would stress during his 12 months here."

New Pastor Called By St. Luke's

Members of St. Luke Presbyterian Church in East San Rafael have called the Reverend Ian Frazer Young to serve as their minster.

A native of Santa Barbara, Rev. Young is a graduate of Occidental College in Los Angeles and holds a bachelor of divinity degree from San Francisco Theological Seminary in San Anselmo.

Following student service in Bozeman, Montana, and at Stanford University, he served his first pastorate in Manhattan, Montana, in 1961. After four years there, he was called to the Carmichael, Calif. Presbyterian Church, where he has been since.

Rev. Young, his wife Sue, and their children expect to move to San Rafael in September. The installation date will be announced soon.

OF GOD AND MAN

As Usual, Church Thrives Under Cuban Persecution

By LOUIS CASSELS
U.P. INTERNATIONAL

Jesus foretold it. St. Paul and other early Christians experienced it. It has occurred countless times in the 2,000 year history of the Church. Yet each time it seems a sort of miracle.

Under persecution, instead of collapsing, the church thrives.

This phenomenon is now occurring once again under the Communist regime of Fidel Castro in Cuba.

Persecution of Christians seems to be something all new Communist dictatorships feel they must try. Older Communist governments, such as that of the Soviet Union, have learned halfheartedly, at most.

But Castro's Cuba is a relative newcomer to the roster of red nations, and it still is putting some muscle into harassment of Christians.

According to the Rev. Bibiano Molina, who has retired in Fort Worth, Tex., after spending 50 years as a Baptist pastor in Cuba, Castro's antichurch activity is producing the same result as every other persecution of Christians since the time of the Roman emperor Nero.

Castro first tried to cripple Cuban churches which had depended on support from broad by refusing to permit mission boards in the United States or other countries to send any money or manpower into Cuba.

"When this happened, Christian ministers and lay people of Cuba reacted by supporting themselves," Molina said in a recent report to the Southern Baptist Home Mission Board.

The government continues to make life difficult for Cuban churches, according to the Baptist pastor.

"The government blocks off both ends of the street whenever a church holds a service," he said. "The streets are used for baseball, soccer and track, and the games are conducted while church is in session. But this does not keep young people from coming to church. Cuban churches are filled with young people each Sunday."

In an effort to avoid the overt appearance of persecution, which is out of favor with more advanced Communist countries, the Castro government uses indirect harassments such as a law stipulating that preaching is allowed only inside a church, never outside in the open.

Services are normally allowed only at the customary hours on Sundays. A special permit must be sought to conduct a revival meeting with week night services.

Despite these and other forms of "strong government opposition," Molina said, "the church is still very much alive in Cuba."

"It is a mircale," he said. "Church members are stronger than ever in their faith. Churches once dependent on mission boards are now self-supporting."

Best of all, the future seems assured, because young people, told they should not go to church, are responding as any parent might have told Castro they would. They go to church —voluntarily, openly, stubbornly.

That the church thrives under persecution should come as no surprise to any reader of the New Testament. In one of his last talks with his disciples, Jesus worned them!

"You will be arrested and persecuted and put in prison."

But they should not be dismayed when that happens, he said, for "this is your best chance to preach the gospel."

St. Paul urged Christians of Nero's Rome to "look forward" to persecutions.

"We can rejoice when we run into problems and trials," said the great apostle, who finally lost his own life in one of Rome's persecutions.

"Trials and troubles are good for us because they help us to learn patience," Paul said. "And patience strengthens our character. It teaches us to trust God more firmly each time we suffer, until finally our confidence in Him is complete."

The paradox of churches thriving under persecution has been demonstrated so often you would think even the most pig-headed dictator would have learned the lesson by now. But absolute power has rarely been associated with wisdom in any age.

PAUL POTTER
Christian school administrator

New School Executive Is Named

Paul Potter, a new resident of San Rafael and Marin County, will take over the administrative helm of Valley Christian School of San Rafael when classes begin Sept. 11.

Potter, 39, succeeds Warren Leuty, who resigned from his administrative position to become a full-time teacher at the school.

"I believe it's the leading of God that I come here," Potter said. "I think this is where He wants me to be."

The new administrator was formerly principal of the Hesperia Christian School in San Bernardino County. He also will serve as assistant pastor at the Vallay Baptist Church.

Both schools are part of the 330-member California Association of Christian Schools, which operate on the belief that "all subjects are founded on the word of God as set down in the Bible," according to Potter.

Valley Christian, serving 130 students in grades kindergarten through eight, will begin its fifth year of instruction this fall.

Potter's family has not yet joined him in Marin, but his wife, Jan, and two teen-age daughters will move to the family's new home at 239 Glen Park Avenue, on Sept. 15.

Seminary Center Opening Set In Los Angeles

Dedication services for the Los Angeles Center, of Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary, Strawberry, will be Sept. 9 at 3 p.m.

According to Dr. Harold K. Graves, seminary president, the dedication will launch three days of open house, Sept. 10 - 12, for the offices and library located at 12311 Chapman Ave., Suite 219 - 221, Garden Grove, Calif.

Classes will begin Oct. 1, with registration for the fall quarter set for Sept. 24 - 28.

Dr. John H. Parrott, associate professor of preaching and Center director, has announced two master's level courses and one doctoral level seminar for the fall.

Dr. J. Lyn Elder, professor of pastoral care, will spend several days each week at the center, commuting from the campus at Strawberry.

Parrott will teach Preaching 131, a basic preaching course for M. Div. students.

Los Angeles Pastor To Be Featured Evangelist

The Rev. Benjamin F. Reid, pastor of the First Church of God in Los Angeles and a member of the board of directors of the Los Angeles Council of Churches, will be the featured evangelist at an inter-denominational and interracial religious conference Aug. 27 through Sept. 1 at Manzanita Center in Marin City.

Discussions will be held each day from 6 to 7:30 p.m., followed by evangelistic services from 7:45 to 9:30 p.m., according to the Rev. Fred Small, pastor of the Marin City Church of God and conference sponsor.

Reid will discuss urban ministries, family life, youth and cultures, senior citizens and citizenship, ministers and gifts of the spirit. He is a contributing editor to the periodical Vital Christianity and author of the book "Confessions of A Happy Preacher."

Further information may be obtained by contacting Small at P.O. Box 516, Sausalito, 94965.

Campus Ministry Leader Is Elected

Brueggeman, campus pastor at Northwestern University, previously had served as Central Regional representative on the LCMA council. He succeeds Virginia Buus, campus minister at the University of California at Los Angeles.

Professor Is Speaker For Seminary Retreat

Dr. Charles W. Lavaroni, assistant professor of education and director of elementary student teaching at Dominican College, San Rafael, was the featured speaker at the Golden Gate Baptist Theological Seminary's faculty retreat, Aug. 23 - 25, according to Dr. Harold K. Graves, seminary president.

The seminary faculty travelled to Asilomar, a state-operated conference center in Pacific Grove, near Monterey, for three days of fellowship, conferences and recreation.

Dr. Lavaroni addressed Thursday and Friday sessions on "Instructional Objectives." Instructional objectives is a method for teachers to set goals before a class then provide a means of evaluating the effectiveness of the class.

Dr. Wayne Peterson, associate professor of Old Testament interpretation at the seminary and chairman of the Faculty Retreat Committee, said, "As far as I know, instructional objectives have not been previously applied to theological education."

Two sessions were held for the faculty to discuss the doctor of ministry degree which the seminary began last year.

This is the fourth year for the faculty to meet prior to the September term. Classes start at the seminary, Sept. 4.

Christ Church To Audition For Choristers

Auditions will be held Saturday, Sept. 8, 11:30 a.m. to 12:30 p.m. at Christ Church, San Carlos and Santa Rosa avenues, Sausalito, for choristers, both juniors (ages 8-15), and seniors (16 and up.)

These volunteer choirs will rehearse once a week and sing at the 10 a.m. Sunday services.

It is hoped also that instrumental accompaniment with cello, recorder, flute, oboe, harpsichord, etc., may occasionally be used. Semi-professionals or volunteers in this area are also desired.

The Pryces Prepare To Harvest Ribbons At The County Fair

A brother-sister team from Terra Linda will be going after top prizes in horticulture and floriculture competitions of the 1973 Marin County Fair, opening Thursday at the Marin Civic Center Fairgrounds.

And, if last year is any indiction, they will come away with several blue ribbons.

They are Matthew Pryce, 7, and his 15-year-old sister, Rebecca, whose flowers and vegetables are just about ready for viewing by the fair judges.

Prize fruits, vegetables and flower arrangements, along with the award-winning art, photography and films, will be on display on the fairgrounds or in the Veterans Memorial Building through Sept. 3 (Labor Day), in the continuation of an annual event that attracts thousands of Marin adults and youngsters.

ALSO INCLUDED in the attractions will be free daily entertainment on the outdoor stage, on the lawn and in a large circus tent, along with free programs in the auditorium theater.

But for the Pryces, attention will focus mainly on the horticulture-floriculture department, for they are a family of gardeners with well-proven green thumbs. Along with her son and daughter, the mother, Mary Jane Pryce, will also be entering beans and cucumbers in the 1973 competition.

She, too, was an award winner last year.

Matthew, a Santa Margarita School second grader, is raising pumpkins and radishes for the fair competition, and he will also enter the flower arrangements in his class. Last year he won a first, a second and a third for his efforts, and he hopes to do as well this coming week.

HIS SISTER, a sophomore at Terra Linda High School, is more interested in flowers, and she will be among the entrants in the flower arrangement competition.

Their father William Pryce and older brother Michael offer moral support to the fair participants, and they are available to help carry home the prize ribbons.

Although the entire Pryce family enjoys the horticulture and floriculture aspects of the fair, they also spend hours at the carnival and the boat rides, viewing the prize-winning programs which this year will be offered free in the Veterans Memorial Building patronizing the various food booths operated by Marin organizations.

"We find that it takes us many hours to enjoy all that the fair has to offer," Mrs. Pryce chuckles, "and we usually spend more than one day seeing it all."

INCLUDED AS fair entertainment will be the Banana Splits, one of the favorite children's television groups in Northern California; the Mitchell Marionettes; the Musical Wheelers; High Country, a country western band; the San Francisco Strutters, and the Olema Owls, a Dixieland band also featured last year.

The Sacramento Youth Band and the Watsonville Marching Band also are on the entertainment schedule, along with turtle races and, to cap the five-day fair, a fiddle contest on Sept. 3.

In the theater the famed mimes Robert Shields and his wife, Lorene Yarnell, will offer their first public performances in Marin on Friday and Saturday, and the Marin Civic Ballet will perform Thursday and Sunday.

The Pryce family has lived in Terra Linda for the past 12 years, moving there from San Francisco where William is still a school teacher.

MATTHEW AND Rebecca were inspired to enter the fair last year by Mrs. Pryce who had been competing since before the fair was moved to the Civic Center. She already had a collection of ribbons to show for her efforts.

When he is not gardening, how does Matthew keep busy?

"I like to build my fort," he answered, indicating a wooden structure on a corner of the Pryces' back lot. "It's mostly wood, with some metal, and there is room for five people.

"I also swim, ride my bike, read story books, and watch TV," he added. "My favorites are 'Star Trek' and 'Hogan's Heroes.'"

A MUSICIAN and an embryo politician, Rebecca plays the flute in the Terra Linda High School band, and is interested in school government.

Last year, as a freshman, she was a student council representative, and she ran for vice-president of the sophomore class, but did not win. She is also interested in cheerleading and diving.

"I just want to try the flips, and you can do that both in cheerleading and diving," she commented. "It's like being on a trampoline, and that really is great."

This summer has been a busy one for Rebecca.

"I WAS AWAY for several weeks, at the Campfire Girls camp near Sierraville, and I was a bit concerned about my flowers," she said, "but when I got back I saw they were really coming along."

Rebecca, who plays the guitar as well as the flute, serves once a week as a volunteer at Sonoma State Hospital, working in the Red Cross program with the mentally retarded. She also enjoys dancing, and participates in the Pacific Dance Guild program in Mill Valley.

As a family the Pryces enjoy hiking on Mount Tamalpais and at Point Reyes, but of late that has had to wait because of the preparations for the fair.

Rebecca enjoys working with field flowers such as anise, cattails and herbs, and she also arranges zinnias and marigolds, "because I love their colors," she smiled.

THE GARDEN behind the Pryce home is quite different from what they had when they lived in San Francisco, Mrs.

The Hanging Of An Art Show Presents A Creative Challenge Of Its Own Kind

Houlgate Davenport is a Marin artist and printmaker who works in a unique medium — she produces color viscosity printing, and is one of only a few people in the country doing that kind of work.

But Mrs. Davenport has put aside her rollers and plates and special inks in the past few weeks for an important assignment, that of special assistant for the art exhibit for the 1973 Marin County Fair.

Mrs. Davenport, who works in the house she and her guitar-maker husband Roy own on the slope of a Mill Valley hill, is intrigued by the three-dimensional quality she can produce in her prints, and she spends most of her creative time working in this medium.

MRS. DAVENPORT, basically a painter, says she got into "viscosity printing" because of her love of color.

"And I wanted my color all at once. I didn't want to have to wait for it, the way the conventional printmaker must do, rolling several plates onto the press to get your different colors."

In the technique she has developed a single rolling of the press produces as many as five different colors.

She owns her own etching press, hand operated.

"I call it a kind of three-dimensional chess," she says of the technique.

HOWEVER, SHE still paints in oils in a style she calls "stylized realism," and she had both prints and oils accepted for the art exhibit of the fair in 1971. She was to have entered prints for judging this year. But Mrs. Davenport's involvement with the 1973 fair, which is scheduled from Thursday through Sept. 3 (Labor Day) on the Marin Civic Center Fairgrounds, is something more than that of an entrant or exhibitor.

Mrs. Davenport is responsible for "hanging" the fair's 28th annual art show of jury-selected paintings, sculpture, graphics and weaving.

Mrs. Davenport says she got into hanging art shows while a member of the Marin Society of Artists. It was her choice for the volunteer work that the society requires regularly of all its members.

SHE HAS BEEN involved in the hanging of the Marin fair show since the years when the event was held at the Marin Art and Garden Center in Ross and was known as the Marin Art and Garden Center.

"Achieving an arrangement that has cohesion, and yet shows off to best effect the individuality of each artist's work" is the hardest part of her job of hanging the entries in the 1973 Marin County Fair art exhibit, says Houlgate Davenport.

The toughest part of the task of hanging a show?

"Achieving an arrangement that has cohesion, and yet shows off to best effect the individuality of each artist's work."

Does she sometimes get "static" from artists who are displeased with the display of their work?

She smiles. "Well, it is never possible to please everyone. But on the whole, I have had a very good understanding with our artists. They are nice people to work with." Temperament, she says, is less a quality of artists than the stereotype presumes.

Using her own experience as an artist to good advantage, Mrs. Davenport will display the prize-winning selections in the auditorium of the Veterans Memorial Building so that the works can be best viewed by the thousands of fair visitors who consider the art exhibit as one of the event's major attractions.

HOULGATE DAVENPORT is well qualified "to hang" this year's show because her work as an artist requires pre-planning and intense concentration on design.

Her color viscosity printing uses different inks applied with different rollers to produce a variety of color and texture.

As a professional artist for the past 20 years, Mrs. Davenport has appeared in a number of local and national shows, and

The Fine Art Of Hanging A Show

HOULGATE DAVENPORT, printmaker and artist of high repute, shows one of the unusual prints she creates in her workshop in her Mill Valley home — work she has had to put aside while she supervises the hanging of the juried art show which will be one of the features of the 1973 Marin County Fair. Mrs. Davenport expects to provide the same kind of creativity in the hanging of the prize-winning art that she brings to her own prints and oil paintings. she has also had several one-woman shows in the Bay Area.

She was born in Pasadena, and was graduated from the University of Southern California and the San Francisco Art Institute.

SHE MOVED TO the Bay Area in the early 1950s, when she married Roy, who, at that time, was working for United Press International. They have lived in Marin for the past 18 years, the first eight years in Tiburon, and the past decade in Mill Valley.

A painting by Mrs. Davenport was selected as "best in show" in the Mill Valley Fall Festival, and a set of four prints was a prize winner in the San Francisco Women's Artists graphics show at the Richmond Museum.

She has also shown in the Northwest Printmakers 40th annual exhibit, in the Seattle Art Museum Pavillion exhibit, in the Portland Art Museum show, at the American Graphics show at the College of Pacific, at the show sponsored by the Silver Mine Guild of Artists in New Canaan, Conn., and at the California Society of Printmakers National Show.

She is currently exhibiting with the Gumps Gallery in San Francisco, and at Gallery III in Corte Madera.

BUT AFTER THE three-person jury, consisting of Wanda Hansen, co-director of the Hansen-Fuller Gallery in San Francisco, Martin Stoelzel, art instructor at College of Marin, and Ian White, director of museums for the California Palace of the Legion of Honor, selected the works to be shown in the Marin County Fair Art Show, Mrs. Davenport has been putting her creativity to work to "hang" the winners.

This effort will be finished by Thursday, and when visitors to the fair inspect the Art Show they should consider how the works are shown as well as what they show.

The "how" is a work of art, too. And one of Marin's fine artists, Houlgate Davenport, is responsible.

Stalking Africa's Animals On Film

Some people travel to Africa because of the breath-taking scenery, and others because of the unusual people and the variety and mixture of cultures.

Still others visit the Dark Continent because they like to shoot animals, and you can count Mrs. Thomas Welsh of Kentfield, among this group. But Pat Welsh does her "shooting" with a camera.

As the accompanying photographs indicate, Mrs. Welsh has a feel for capturing animals on film, and, following her third visit to Africa, she is currently putting together a sound-and-film show of the results of these trips.

AS A MEMBER of the Ross Valley Camera Club Mrs. Welsh is involved in the photography show which will be presented four times daily in the auditorium of the Marin Veterans Memorial Building during the Marin County Fair, which will begin Thursday and continue through Sept. 3 (Labor Day).

The photography program in the theater will be free to the public, part of the variety of exhibits and displays included in the fair's admission prices of $1.50 for adults and $1 for persons from 12 to 18. Youngsters under 12 are admitted free.

The fair's annual photography exhibition will include black-and-white and color prints and color slides.

After the fair, Mrs. Welsh will return to planning her own show, which is scheduled for later this year, when she will combine taped birdcalls with her African photographs.

PAT WELSH, whose family first arrived in San Francisco more than 100 years ago, was born in the city and was graduated from the University of California at Berkeley.

Her academic interest in zoology sparked her later enthusiasm for photographing animals, and she has taken many pictures around Marin, as well as on her African safaris.

But she limits herself to wildlife — "no people," she said. And the results of her efforts justify this special interest.

WITH HER PHOTOGRAPHIC gear beside her, Pat Welsh, Kentfield amateur photographer who recently returned from a safari in Africa, displays one of her favorite closeup shots of a lion she encountered on the trip. Mrs. Welsh is among the Ross Valley Camera Club members who have put aside their own work temporarily to help in the photography display at the 1973 Marin County Fair, opening Thursday at Marin Civic Center.

THIS VARIED COLLECTION of unusual and interesting animal photographs is part of the work that Pat Welsh brought back with her from her recent safari to Africa. Whether she "shoots" the sleeping lion cub or a flying bird, or storks in the water, Mrs. Welsh demonstrates a feel for animals. In her home county of Marin, she also prefers to concentrate upon animals and birds for her photographic subjects. "No people," she says.

Some people travel to Africa because of the breath-taking scenery, and others because of the unusual people and the variety and mixture of cultures.

Still others visit the Dark Continent because they like to shoot animals, and you can count Mrs. Thomas Welsh of Kentfield, among this group. But Pat Welsh does her "shooting" with a camera.

As the accompanying photographs indicate, Mrs. Welsh has a feel for capturing animals on film, and, following her third visit to Africa, she is currently putting together a sound-and-film show of the results of these trips.

AS A MEMBER of the Ross Valley Camera Club Mrs. Welsh is involved in the photography show which will be presented four times daily in the auditorium of the Marin Veterans Memorial Building during the Marin County Fair, which will begin Thursday and continue through Sept. 3 (Labor Day).

The photography program in the theater will be free to the public, part of the variety of exhibits and displays included in the fair's admission prices of $1.50 for adults and $1 for persons from 12 to 18. Youngsters under 12 are admitted free.

The fair's annual photography exhibition will include black-and-white and color prints and color slides.

After the fair, Mrs. Welsh will return to planning her own show, which is scheduled for later this year, when she will combine taped birdcalls with her African photographs.

PAT WELSH, whose family first arrived in San Francisco more than 100 years ago, was born in the city and was graduated from the University of California at Berkeley.

Her academic interest in zoology sparked her later enthusiasm for photographing animals, and she has taken many pictures around Marin, as well as on her African safaris.

But she limits herself to wildlife — "no people," she said. And the results of her efforts justify this special interest.

THIS VARIED COLLECTION of unusual and interesting animal photographs is part of the work that Pat Welsh brought back with her from her recent safari to Africa. Whether she "shoots" the sleeping lion cub or a flying bird, or storks in the water, Mrs. Welsh demonstrates a feel for animals. In her home county of Marin, she also prefers to concentrate upon animals and birds for her photographic subjects. "No people," she says.

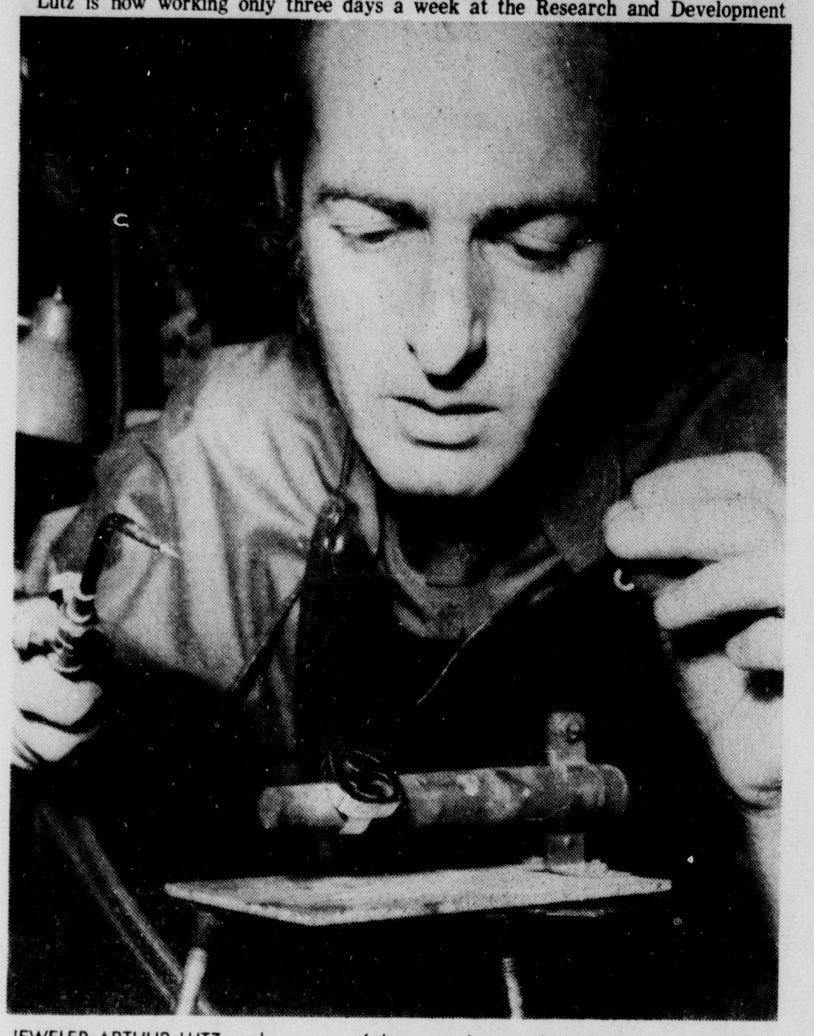
A Jewelry-Maker Goes To The Fair

"I started making rings as a hobby, and now I am almost a full-time jeweler," said Arthur Lutz, Larkspur craftsman whose interest in design and whose ability as a medical instrument-maker have been combined into a new vocation.

Lutz is now working only three days a week at the Research and Development Laboratory of the University of California Medical Center in San Francisco, and is spending the rest of his time designing and making jewelry.



JEWELER ARTHUR LUTZ works on one of the unusual rings which he designs and makes, and which he will display as part of the crafts exhibit at the Marin County Fair, which opens Thursday and continues through Labor Day at the fairgrounds at Marin Civic Center. When he is not making jewelry, Lutz designs and makes medical instruments.

Lutz works out the designs of his jewelry, mainly rings, but also including bracelets and pendants, and then works directly in the metal. This is different from most jewelers, who work in wax and then cast their products.

"BECAUSE I SPENT years working to very close tolerances as a lab technician and as a designer and producer of medical instruments, I am careful about planning my jewelry in advance, and every element has a design purpose," Lutz said.

"My jewelry is what I call 'rational' design — that is, it is simple, with an absence of rococo," he added.

Lutz will be one of the craftsmen who will be on hand when the Marin County Fair opens on Thursday for five days at the Marin Civic Center Fairgrounds.

He was accepted as part of the crafts exhibit last year, too, and Lutz said he was very pleased with the comments about his work

"I REALLY ENJOY exhibiting at fairs because they are basically happy events, and I expect the Marin Fair to be the same up-beat occasion it was last year," Lutz said.

"Even though it is very tiring to exhibit from 10 in the morning until 10 at night for five days, the visitors you meet and the other craftsmen you talk with make it worthwhile," he added. "And I expect that my wife, Karla, and even my two daughters, Ericka, 13, and Jessica, 10, will be on hand to help me."

Lutz, a native of New York, met Karla, who was born in San Francisco, at Bard College in upstate New York. He studied for a graduate degree in experimental psychology at the University of Wisconsin in Madison, but became interested in crafts while there, and never finished his academic work.

"I ALWAYS COULD work with my hands, and my father, who was a tool and dyemaker in New York, gave me the opportunity to learn to use tools," Lutz said.

"So when we moved to San Francisco in 1960 my lab work in psychology and my interest in tools helped my eventually to become a medical instrument-maker at the U.C. Medical Center."

"I even have my own patent on a piece of equipment I made for one of the urologists on the staff," Lutz commented. "But about five years ago I felt I wanted to do things that had a sculptural form for their own sake and were not quite so utilitarian.

"So I started making rings, and other people saw them and liked them, and here I am."

LAST YEAR HE won a San Francisco Art Commission Award at the San Francisco Art Festival, and he also won a purchase award at the Broadway Art Festival in Walnut Creek.

"I became interested in design apart from function, and one of our neighbors in San Francisco, before we moved to Marin three years ago, was Merry Renk, who is a famous jeweler and has had her own shows," Lutz revealed. "She helped me expand my interest in making jewelry."

Lutz works in silver and gold, although the rise in the price of the latter has all but eliminated it for the design oriented jeweler.

"I THINK GOLD detracts from a design," Lutz said. "Now people must look at the design of a piece of jewelry rather than at the metal, and I am all for this."

Lutz combines an interest in design and architecture and esthetics with a fine competence as a craftsman, and the results are interesting and unusual jewelry.

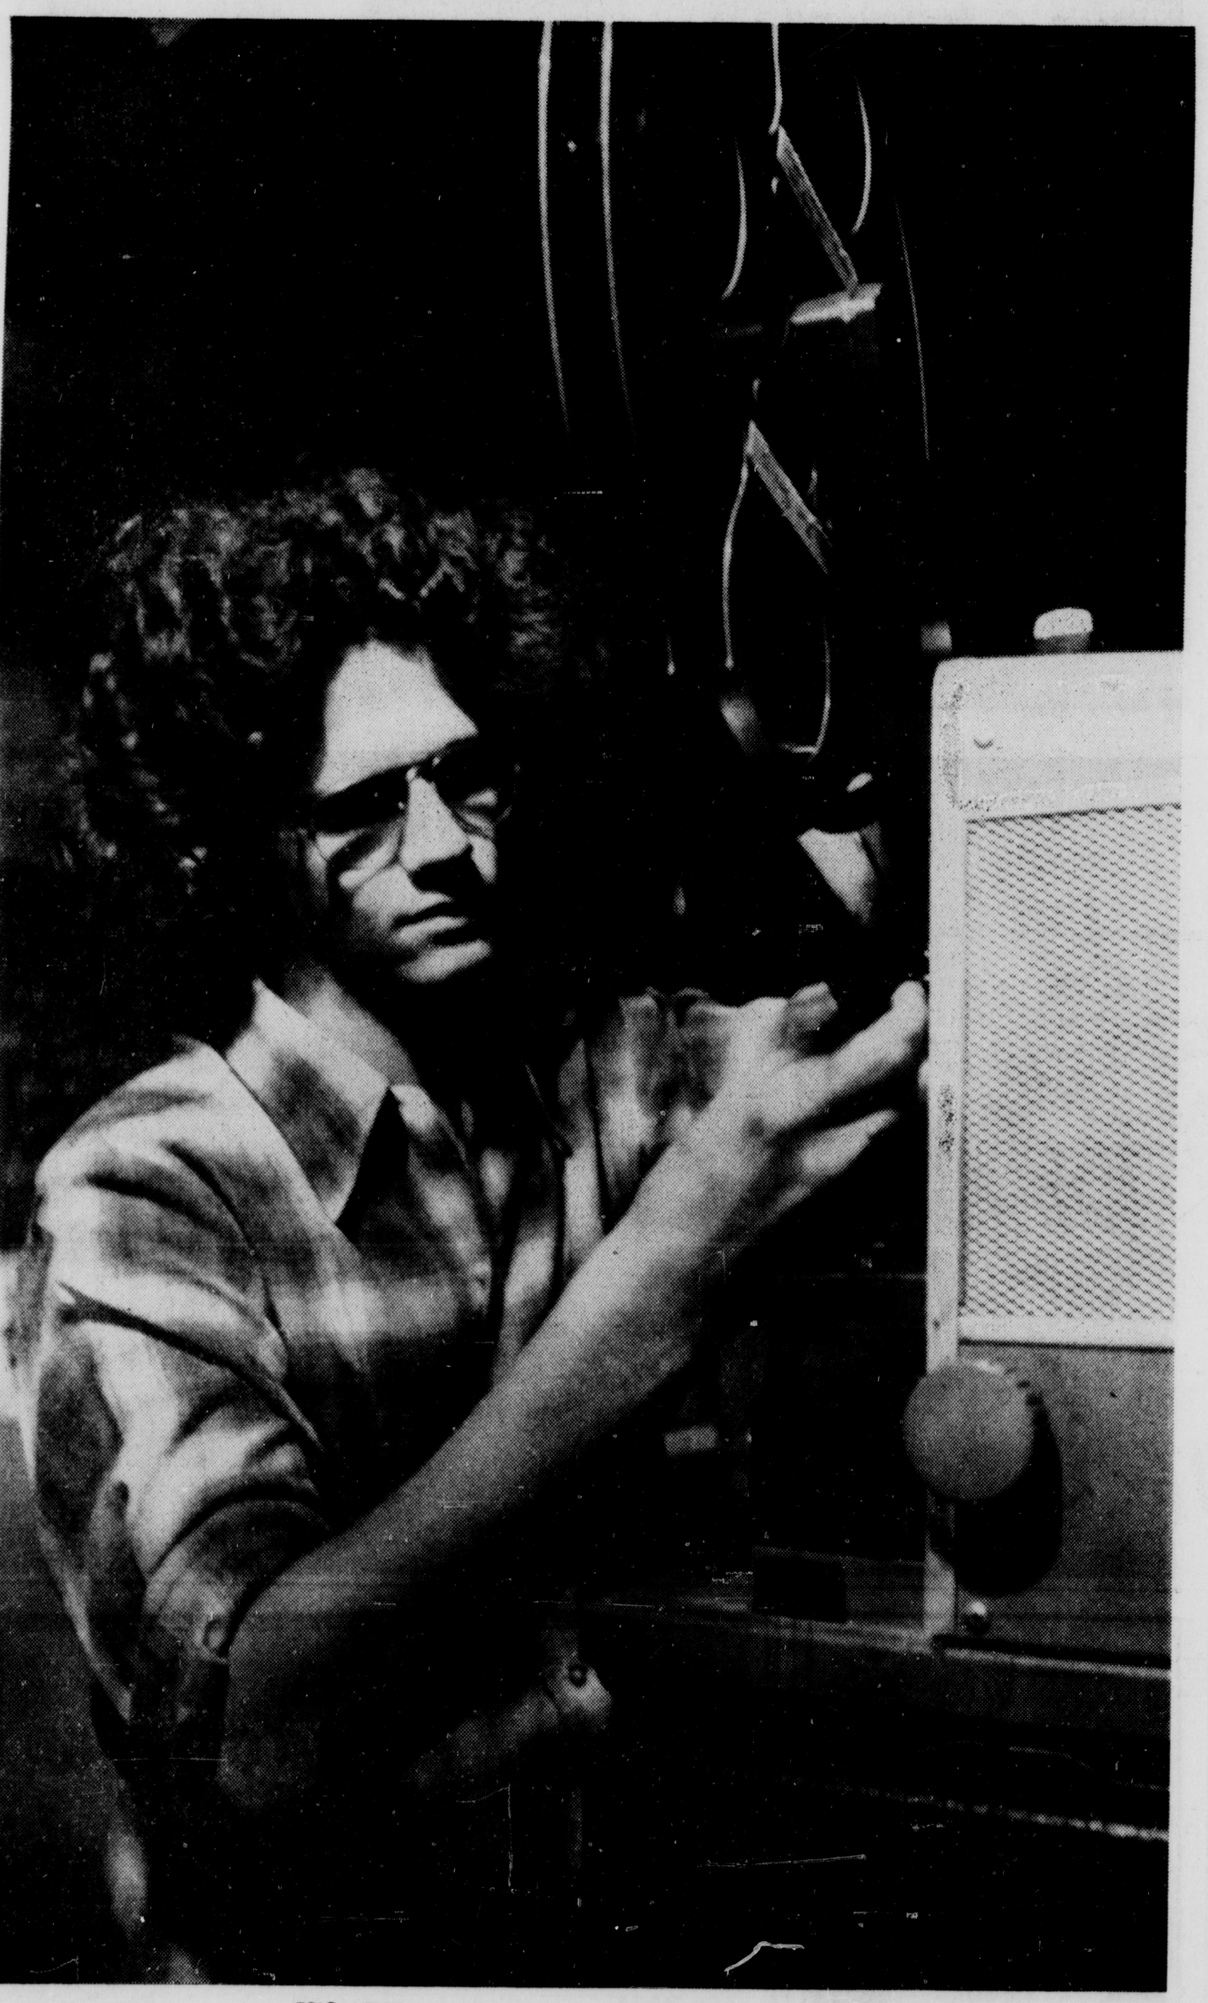
MARIN LIVING

Marin County Becomes Capital For The Creative Cinema



ERIC KELLY, now a University of California film-making and television student, began his acquaintance with cinematography and its equipment in a class at Terra Linda High School, with Barbara Rosenberg as his teacher.

Marin's active and growing film colony includes students, amateur and professional film-makers, and film buffs whose interest lies more in history of the art form than in productions.

One of these students, whose interest in film-making was developed in Marin and who has now expanded his horizons to include the film-making curriculum at Univeristy of California at Los Angeles, is Eric Kelly, now a resident of Novato but who began making films at Terra Linda High School.

Eric's film teacher at Terra Linda High, Barbara Rosenberg, has given him a new assignment. But happily it ties in with his entrenched enthusiasm for the film industry.

MRS. ROSENBERG, the film competition coordinator for the Marin County Fair, has hired young Eric to be her assistant, and to put together the program of films to be shown free four times daily in the theater of the Marin Veterans Memorial Building beginning Thursday and continuing until the end of the fair on Sept. 3 (Labor Day) — 20 shows in all.

Under Mrs. Rosenberg's guidance, Eric is reviewing the prize-winning films which have been selected by the film competition judges, and other outstanding films which were entered in the national event, and is arranging a program scheduled for noon, 2 p.m., 4 p.m. and 6 p.m. showings daily during the fair.

He helped Mrs. Rosenberg pre-screen the entries in the nation-wide competition, and was responsible for presenting the films to the judges at the final screening last week.

ERIC BEGAN making films the first year a film class was offered at Terra Linda High, in 1969.

"I started with a Kodak, and my first film attempted to depict a day in the life of a high school student, using black-and-white to show actual scenes, and color to show the student's daydreams," Eric recalled.

"But the film was 18 minutes long, and I discovered that I had made the usual error of the beginner — taking too much time to tell a story," he grinned.

"We start students with one roll of film, just three minutes," Mrs. Rosenberg explained, "because we want them to learn that extra film does not mean extra good." Eric was not long in learning that vital lesson.

"MY SECOND film was an animated short, using color dots, which I made with Kerry Myrtle, another student.

"You really can't enjoy a film until you have seen it for the second or third time," believes Barbara Rosenberg, teacher and county fair coordinator.

When she and I entered it in the Marin County High School Film Festival we won a first," Eric added.

Now, at UCLA, where he is studying both film-making and television, Eric is maintaining the discipline of brevity. His first film at UCLA was two minutes long, and it was shown during the 1971 Marin Fair Film Competition. It earned a favorable response although it did not win an award.

"I found it easier to make films in high school, because then there is the time and energy to do things, and you know where things are that can solve many production problems," he said. Then as an afterthought: "Maybe it was just the fun of being in on the beginning of something at Terra Linda High that made it seem easier."

BOTH KELLY and Mrs. Rosenberg are inveterate film-goers. Eric sees from five to 10 feature films a week, and Mrs. Rosenberg on occasion may top that.

"You really can't enjoy a film until you have seen it for the second or third time," she smiled.

They expect to satisfy this craving for films — temporarily — by the time the 1973 fair is over, and they expect to see many other Marin film enthusiasts in the theater watching the programs.

"My first film was 18 minutes long, and I discovered I had made the usual error of the beginner — taking too much time to tell the story," says young filmmaker Eric Kelly who has learned the virtue of brevity and practices it in his cinema production.

"AFTER ALL," Eric said, "the price is right. You can't beat watching these fine films for free."

Meanwhile the prestige of the fair's film program is growing annually, so that it is becoming a major cinematic event in a country that has become increasingly film conscious. More and more, the film world is directing its attention toward Marin County where, for a five day period, county fair means quality films as well as the traditional carnival, ribbon-winning produce, balloons and cotton candy.

THIS SUMMER Eric Kelly has taken on a special assignment that ties in perfectly with his interest in film-making. Working for Barbara Rosenberg, film coordinator for the 1973 Marin County Fair, he has been made responsible for arranging the free programs of award-winning and other superior films that will be shown four times daily in Marin Veterans Memorial Building, adjacent to the fairgrounds. Here he goes through a market basket full of reels that are just some of the entries in the Marin Fair's film competition, and an event that is growing steadily in prestige and participation.

"We had an apartment and we didn't even have room for a flower box," she grinned.

"Now look," and she waved at the myriad of colors surrounding the lush green lawn adjacent to their patio.

Matthew and his mother have their vegetables at one end of the garden, with tomatoes, pumpkins, cucumbers, beans and radishes in the black earth.

THE FLOWERS are at the other end with the grass separating them.

"It's fun to grow things," Matthew said, as he bounced off to inspect the results of his efforts.

His blonde sister, sitting more sedately as befits a teen-age lady, agreed and her eyes lighted up.

"The flowers are so pretty, and they look so colorful on the table, that I probably would grow them even if there were no county fair," she said.

"But winning the ribbons is a satisfying feeling," she added, and her mother and brother nodded in agreement.

MATTHEW PRYCE TURNS OVER some of the dirt in his vegetable garden behind his home in Terra Linda, while his sister, Rebecca, is an interested spectator. Matthew will enter several of his prize vegetables in the Marin County Fair horticulture competition, and Rebecca will enter the flower arrangement division, both hoping to collect even more awards than they did last year. Their mother also has been a consistent ribbon-winner in the fair.

HIS FAVORITE PUMPKIN gets careful and tender treatment from 7-year-old Matthew Pryce as the Terra Linda youngster gets ready to harvest this large specimen for display at the Marin County Fair. Matthew has been working hard all summer to have his horticulture entries at their peak for the fair, which opens Thursday. The giant pumpkin is evidence of his success.

TOW-HEADED MATTHEW PRYCE uses his special hoze nozzle and makes certain his vegetables have plenty of water while preparing to enter several categories in the Horticulture Department of the Marin County Fair. Hundreds of Marin gardeners will match their prize flowers and vegetables, with the winners on display from Thursday, when the fair opens at the Civic Center Fairgrounds, through Labor Day.

California's Laureate Poet Ina Coolbrith

INA COOLBRITH by Raymond F. Wood and Joseph DeWitt Rhodehamel; Brigham Young University Press, 489 pages, $11.95. Reviewed by Sarah Mizel.

When Ina Coolbrith, librarian and poet, died at age 87 on Feb. 29, 1928, she left behind major literary contributions to the state which had designated her its poet laureate.

Born in Nauvoo, Ill., as Josephine Donna Smith, she was the niece of the Mormon prophet Joseph Smith. She was later to adopt the pet name Ina and her mother's maiden name Coolbrith.

She came to Los Angeles at age 16 and began publishing her poems in the old Los Angeles Star. In 1862 she moved to San Francisco, then or soon to be the home of luminaries such as Bret Harte, Joaquin Miller, Charles Warren Stoddard and Samuel Clements, among others. Many celebrities were guests in her Russian Hill home, and she was a special inspiration to Jack London.

Her own work was much published, and she became Oakland's first city librarian.

Her commencement ode "California" was used at San Rafael's Dominican College, and became a Golden State classic. In 1915 the movement was launched that culminated in the naming of Mill Coolbrith as California's poet laureate, with appropriate ceremony at San Francisco's Civic Center. Further honors included, in 1923, an honorary degree as master of arts from Mills College.

Her own poetry, these biographers point out, reflected personal tragedies in her life. But while she held a clear perception of suffering and disappointment, there was also work of faith and joy, with religion and nature her sources of strength and hope. Hers was a personal creed of universal strength and spiritual evolution.

Ina Coolbrith is a worthy subject for biographical treatment. And it is a pleasure to note that this cultured woman, both patroness of and contributor to a bright literary era in our region's history, has been accorded a continuing recognition by the very active poetry group, the Ina Coolbrith Circle, that perpetuates her name.

BROWSING BOOKMAN

Ballantine Books has published a $2 paperback of David Bruce's "Bird of Jove" the story of Sam Barnes' training of a Berkut golden eagle, Atalanta, in Snowdonia, Wales, first published in 1971.

Its appearance in the U.S. is timely since interest in falconry has grown greatly in recent years. The Federal Aviation Administration is even studying the possibility of using falcons to scare away accident-causing flocks of birds from airports.

Sam Barnes acquired his eagle only because he is supposed to be ill, in a remote part of the Soviet Union where the mountains rise to 20,000 feet. He eventually got her to his home in Wales and proceeded to train her without using the cruel ancient techniques of sewing the eyes shut and starving the bird. Through an arduous training period, with the long-suffering help of his 80-year-old mother, friends, and Shep, a sheepdog, he finally won the bird's confidence and success.

Excellent black and white photos help the reader to visualize th training process.

"ONE OF THE best things about rock crafting is that your basic materials are a gift of nature," Elyse Sommer begins her "Rock and Stone Craft" (Crown, $4.95 hardback, $2.95 paperbound). The author-artist tells and shows you, with the aid of 184 photographs and 24 color plates, how those rocks you trod upon along the beach, on the hiking trail or even in your backyard can be converted, by painting, etching, sculpturing or a number of other techniques, into beautiful, functional or humorous articles. Lots of ideas, and some expert instruction.

CHARLES E. TUTTLE, the specialists in books on the Orient, has reprinted Dr. P. The paperback editions sell at $2.95 and $3.50 respectively.

The Panthers And Judge Murtagh

THE BRIAR PATCH by Murray Kempton; Dutton, 282 pages, $7.95. Reviewed by Don Keown.

A few years back when the "law and order" syndrome was at its shrillest, opportunistic politicians, some of them now confronted with indictment themselves, used to play upon the public fears by chastising the courts for "coddling criminals."

Of course, aside from such demagoguery, judges and juries, applying sentiment rather than reason, do sometimes come up with rulings that favor the accused or convicted and cheat society.

When those clearly guilty of serious crimes escape conviction or get off with unrealistically light sentences, then an injustice has been done and everyone but the criminal suffers.

But in the hysteria of the time, another danger posed by sentiment within a supposedly unbiased court system went virtually unnoticed. When judge, jury or other officers of the court, including the prosecutor, are strongly prejudiced against the defendants, their associates or their attorneys, and are influenced accordingly, an even worse perversion of the judicial processes becomes possible. The situation is most likely to arise in cases with political overtones.

A prosecutor overzealous to the point of fanatacism and a prejudiced judge steeped in contempt, hatred or fear of the defendants and what they represent pose a particularly dangerous combination. Fortunately, in at least some recent cases, the jurors have proven to be a leavening, moderating influence, bringing a measure of justice back into the courtroom.

All these elements came together in New York City in 1970 in the extended trial (18 months) of a group of young black men and women who came to be known as the Panther 21.

Asst. Dist. Atty. Joseph Phillips prosecuted the case with a singlemindedness that reflected an obsession for conviction rather than the determination of the truth to the charges of arson, conspiracy and attempted murder. Supreme Court Justice John M. Murtagh presided with an obvious disdain for the defendants that was exceeded only by his distaste for their attorneys, and made little attempt to control or hide his partiality.

In truth, the defendants were anything but examples of decorum in the courtroom, sassing the judge, taunting the prosecutor, baiting the witnesses, most of these police undercover agents and informers who had infiltrated the Panthers.

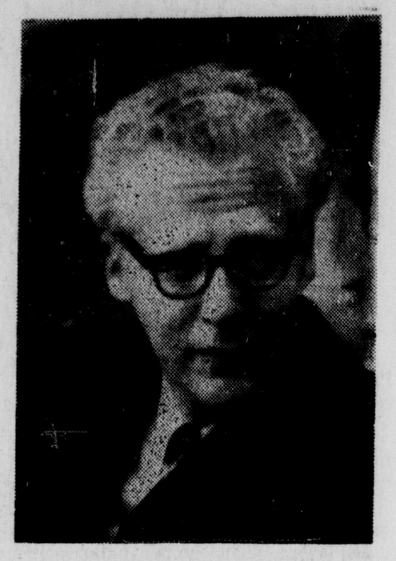
But, while a defendant may subject himself to restraint and to contempt penalties by his behavior, there is nothing in the American system of justice that provides that he can also be deprived of his right to a fair and impartial judgment. And even those who sympathize with Judge Murtagh in his resentment of this unorthodox and often unruly behavior of a social segment he little knew or understood will still be hard put to excuse his extreme antagonism for their lawyers, who had sufficient problems of their own without the added burden of a hostile arbiter.

Murray Kempton, one of the bright lights of New York journalism, reviews the trial record, and its roots, in his book "The Briar Patch." It is an eye-opener as to the special problem that now confronts and tests the American system of justice when men and women from outside the mainstream must subject themselves and their futures to the standards and the morals of establishment-controlled institutions.

For the Panthers in New York, the trial ended in acquittal of all defendants on all charges. The jurors in this case showed they expected a higher level of conduct from officers of the court than from untrained defendants, and plainly the conduct of Phillips and Murtagh rebounded against the prosecution.

But Kempton questions if the acquittal really constituted justice for the accused, pointing out that most of the defendants with bail set unreasonably high, had spent two years in jail awaiting trial and its conclusion.

"The institutions that had kept Lumumba Shakur and the others in prison more than two years had watched these defendants acquitted in two hours and could, without reflection, cherish this judgment upon their vices as an ultimate proof of their virtues." Murray Kempton in "The Briar Patch."



Being human, Murray Kempton is not without some bias of his own. His personal distaste for the prosecutor and judge, particularly the former, is apparent. And even his basic argument on behalf of the Panthers is a rather strained one. It is not that they did not conspire, and even in some cases act illegally, but rather that the plotting was so haphazard, so faulty, so sporadic, so lacking in preparation, that the supposed conspiracy took on a Keystone Kop quality, and therefore should not be taken seriously. But there is nothing in the law that makes ineptness a defense for crimes. And a better "defense" would have been the questionability of the prosecution's evidence and witnesses, the illegality of methods used in compiling some of that evidence, and the tendency, as so often occurs in conspiracy cases, to attribute the wrongful acts of a few to many, indiscriminately.

It is unfortunate that Kempton, a crack journalist, has chosen to follow the methodology of novelists Truman Capote and Norman Mailer in the writing of the book, producing what has been called "a fact novel" that permits the author greater leeway for his opinions and speculation. Even a liberal of Kempton's credentials is hardly qualified to assess the thoughts and attitudes of a group as distant from his own way of life as these young black militants. The writing style is somewhat highblown and pretentious, in comparison to the clean, concise writing of a Kempton column, although one becomes accustomed to his rhetoric and the reading becomes easier. Straightforward Kemptonese would probably have served the writer better.

But "The Briar Patch" is a good and important book that poses vital questions about American justice, even though it might be less successful in its efforts to also interpret the complexities of human nature.

Genius — Always Inborn, Or Can It Be Cultivated?

Is genius inborn, or can it be cultured like a flower in a garden with special soil and care?

It's an old question that has long tantalized the experts, most of them favoring the idea that genius is very largely a matter of the genes.

One young mother, identified only as Maria in this book, thought otherwise. In a carefully controlled environment, she thought, her own children could be reared so as to realize, perhaps even expand, their utmost potential in creativity. More important to her, their moral characters could also achieve the utmost strength.

She and her equally dedicated husband chose an isolated cottage in rural Wales as the site for their controlled environment, and settled there to rear their four children away from television, violence, competition and the other distractions of society.

Michael Deakin, a Yorkshire television producer, went there, seeking a subject for a TV documentary. What he found astounded him.

The eldest son, 11, was a mathematics whiz who had already passed his university entrance examinations and who dealt, for relaxation, with the most complicated geometrical equations and astronomical projections.

His 9-year-old brother was a brilliant piano prodigy. Their little sister, while the least extraordinary of the brood creatively, a serene and self-possessed child with a gift for painting and other arts. And 4-year-old Paul was beginning to follow the path charted by oldest brother Christian, already deeply concerned with Euclidian geometry, decimals and negative numerals.

What was this controlled environment in which these remarkable youngsters were reared?

It was, first of all, a home in which the young mother was completely dedicated to the needs of the children. Not her own needs, not even her housekeeping, were permitted to interfere. She was totally available to them, to work and play with them, to help them with their questions, whenever they desired her to do so. She was constantly, lovingly attentive, as was the father when at home.

It was, too, a home from which aggression, competition, tension and guilt were absent. As remarkable as their intellectual and cultural achievements was the "togetherness" of the family — no clashes of ego, no refusal to share, no jealousies.

It was a home in which barriers between play and study had been erased, so that the two intermingled and became inseparable. There was no television, no comic books or other time-wasters to entice the children. But, otherwise, they were free to do what they would, when they would. There was no compulsion.

As for that central question, genetics or environment and training:

"Maria's own view is the simple and probably correct one that her children are genetically endowed with considerable intelligence, and that 'the process,' with its freedom from such diversions as television and comics, and from what she sees as the debilitating tension arising from aggression and violence, has allowed them an untrammelled development."

Michael Deakin has disguised the identity of the family to protect their privacy and so as not to endanger their bold experiment. Martin, Maria and their four children have since moved to an industrial city so that young Adam would be close to a piano instructor and so that all four youngsters would have greater social and cultural contacts. But the basic "process" continues.

This is a small book, but a gem. It is loaded with provocative ideas about child rearing in particular and our society in general. One cannot read "The Children on the Hill" without feeling a deep admiration for Martin and Maria, their devotion to their children, their willingness to pioneer, and yet their basic common sense.

"It contains a whole goldmine of insights," said one reviewer of its earlier edition in England. "This moving book can be read for enlightenment and profit by educationist and parent alike," said another.

No small accomplishment by author Deakin is that he has made the child genius, so often difficult to like, understandable, attractive, appealing, even lovable.

A 'No Sale' For The Discards Of Kesey And Pals

KESEY'S GARAGE SALE by Ken Kesey; Viking Press, 238 pages, $8.95 clothbound, $3.95 paperback. Reviewed by Lee Hopkins.

Consumer advocates have warned that some garage sales are frauds which do not sell honest secondhand goods, but instead offer substandard commercial merchandise under the guise of "just folks" getting rid of their junk. And this is true of "Kesey's Garage Sale," a big untidy non-book featuring wastebasket ramblings and oddities by Ken Kesey, with self-proclaimed "guest leftovers" by Paul Krassner, Neal Cassady, Allen Ginsberg and Hugh Romney.

All are alike in their sexual materialism, mental famine and proverty of imagination.

It is all in the vein of spontaneous writing, as circular and repetitious as a drunk's conversation. This school of crypto-prose holds that the noraml disciplines of composition, such as structure and revision (and, of course, correct spelling and syntax), are bourgeois swaddling clothes that inhibit the full range of infantile capering. "Kesey's Garage Sale" has production values to match the writing, as the format is that of the late "Whole Earth Catalog," with ragged columns of ugly typography decorated with graffiti and doodles of poor quality and no wit.

Though in his introduction Arthur Miller tells us gravely that "Kesey saw America saved by LSD," LSD has not saved Ken Kesey. And even Miller concedes that "cynics will easily dispose" of this book "as a transparent attempt to capitalize on twice-published material, plus stuff lying at the bottom of the drawer." But worse than that is Kesey's essential failure, which falls short of what Samuel Johnson called the ability to be dull in a new way.

Color it dumb.

Twice within weeks a rapist-murder strikes — in the same New York apartment. The two women had nothing in common, except their occupancy at different times of the same dwelling — and their violent fate. But the circumstances of the killings are very close, including the fact that both murders occurred with new, apparently intruder-proof locks upon the door.

Police suspicion falls upon a guileless young boxer who has befriended one of the women. But they can't prove their case. And Stein moves you along inevitably to the third murder — again in the death apartment. Only then, does he begin to let you in upon his secrets.

It's a cleverly plotted and tautly written crime novel, with a lot of truth about human nature thrown in as your bonus.

California's Laureate Poet Ina Coolbrith

INA COOLBRITH by Raymond F. Wood and Joseph DeWitt Rhodehamel; Brigham Young University Press, 489 pages, $11.95. Reviewed by Sarah Mizel.

When Ina Coolbrith, librarian and poet, died at age 87 on Feb. 29, 1928, she left behind major literary contributions to the state which had designated her its poet laureate.

Born in Nauvoo, Ill., as Josephine Donna Smith, she was the niece of the Mormon prophet Joseph Smith. She was later to adopt the pet name Ina and her mother's maiden name Coolbrith.

She came to Los Angeles at age 16 and began publishing her poems in the old Los Angeles Star. In 1862 she moved to San Francisco, then or soon to be the home of luminaries such as Bret Harte, Joaquin Miller, Charles Warren Stoddard and Samuel Clements, among others. Many celebrities were guests in her Russian Hill home, and she was a special inspiration to Jack London.

Her own work was much published, and she became Oakland's first city librarian.

Her commencement ode "California" was used at San Rafael's Dominican College, and became a Golden State classic. In 1915 the movement was launched that culminated in the naming of Mill Coolbrith as California's poet laureate, with appropriate ceremony at San Francisco's Civic Center. Further honors included, in 1923, an honorary degree as master of arts from Mills College.

Her own poetry, these biographers point out, reflected personal tragedies in her life. But while she held a clear perception of suffering and disappointment, there was also work of faith and joy, with religion and nature her sources of strength and hope. Hers was a personal creed of universal strength and spiritual evolution.

Ina Coolbrith is a worthy subject for biographical treatment. And it is a pleasure to note that this cultured woman, both patroness of and contributor to a bright literary era in our region's history, has been accorded a continuing recognition by the very active poetry group, the Ina Coolbrith Circle, that perpetuates her name.

BROWSING BOOKMAN

Ballantine Books has published a $2 paperback of David Bruce's "Bird of Jove" the story of Sam Barnes' training of a Berkut golden eagle, Atalanta, in Snowdonia, Wales, first published in 1971.

Its appearance in the U.S. is timely since interest in falconry has grown greatly in recent years. The Federal Aviation Administration is even studying the possibility of using falcons to scare away accident-causing flocks of birds from airports.

Sam Barnes acquired his eagle only because he is supposed to be ill, in a remote part of the Soviet Union where the mountains rise to 20,000 feet. He eventually got her to his home in Wales and proceeded to train her without using the cruel ancient techniques of sewing the eyes shut and starving the bird. Through an arduous training period, with the long-suffering help of his 80-year-old mother, friends, and Shep, a sheepdog, he finally won the bird's confidence and success.

Excellent black and white photos help the reader to visualize th training process.

The Panthers And Judge Murtagh

THE BRIAR PATCH by Murray Kempton; Dutton, 282 pages, $7.95. Reviewed by Don Keown.

A few years back when the "law and order" syndrome was at its shrillest, opportunistic politicians, some of them now confronted with indictment themselves, used to play upon the public fears by chastising the courts for "coddling criminals."

Of course, aside from such demagoguery, judges and juries, applying sentiment rather than reason, do sometimes come up with rulings that favor the accused or convicted and cheat society.

When those clearly guilty of serious crimes escape conviction or get off with unrealistically light sentences, then an injustice has been done and everyone but the criminal suffers.

But in the hysteria of the time, another danger posed by sentiment within a supposedly unbiased court system went virtually unnoticed. When judge, jury or other officers of the court, including the prosecutor, are strongly prejudiced against the defendants, their associates or their attorneys, and are influenced accordingly, an even worse perversion of the judicial processes becomes possible. The situation is most likely to arise in cases with political overtones.

A prosecutor overzealous to the point of fanatacism and a prejudiced judge steeped in contempt, hatred or fear of the defendants and what they represent pose a particularly dangerous combination. Fortunately, in at least some recent cases, the jurors have proven to be a leavening, moderating influence, bringing a measure of justice back into the courtroom.

All these elements came together in New York City in 1970 in the extended trial (18 months) of a group of young black men and women who came to be known as the Panther 21.

Asst. Dist. Atty. This is a really good suspense yarn The very experienced Aaron Marc Stein was never in better form.

Twice within weeks a rapist-murder strikes — in the same New York apartment. The two women had nothing in common, except their occupancy at different times of the same dwelling — and their violent fate. But the circumstances of the killings are very close, including the fact that both murders occurred with new, apparently intruder-proof locks upon the door.

Police suspicion falls upon a guileless young boxer who has befriended one of the women. But they can't prove their case. And Stein moves you along inevitably to the third murder — again in the death apartment. Only then, does he begin to let you in upon his secrets.

It's a cleverly plotted and tautly written crime novel, with a lot of truth about human nature thrown in as your bonus.

Finally, the sports machine with seating for four. The hand-finished Mercedes-Benz 450SLC. Just to see it is worth the trip.

Only 2000 of them will be imported this year. But then, that's no more than you'd expect with a lovingly engineered, hand-finished sports machine like the Mercedes-Benz 450SLC.

Obviously, the 450SLC is no ordinary sporting automobile. It seats four, not the usual two. Lush leather interior is standard. So are the 4.5-liter, fuel-injected overhead-cam V-8 engine, 4-wheel disc brakes and a fully independent suspension system...a combination that gives you true sports car handling, braking and performance and luxurious 4-seater comfort and ride.

The 450SLC is a remarkable achievement, even for the engineers of Mercedes-Benz. In it, they've created a truly extraordinary machine.

There are few things in life quite like the Mercedes-Benz 450SLC. Yet it's surprisingly easy to experience. Call us. You'll see just how easy it is to arrange a test drive.

THE TRAVEL PAGE

HAVERMALE ISLAND, in upper center, is the middle of the roaring Spokane River, will be the heart of Spokane's Expo '74 World's Fair, beginning a six-month run next May. The huge island, together with smaller Crystal Island, left center, and both river banks, will be covered with pavilions and exhibits representing most of the major nations and this country's leading industrial and environmental organizations. Nearly four and a half million people are expected to attend the environmental exposition.

Going To The Spokane World's Fair? Now Is The Time To Reserve Room

Visiting a World's Fair can be either the highlight of an exciting, fulfilling vacation, or a frustrating experience full of no-vacancy signs as you search for a place to stay.

Inevitably, there will be visitors in both categories among the estimated five million coming to Spokane's 1974 World's Fair (Expo '74), but those who plan ahead can avoid the frustrations.

The solution is a letter to Hospitality Services, the lodging and information bureau set up by Expo '74 and the Spokane Chamber of Commerce. It will be the clearinghouse for all requests for information about Spokane, the World's Fair and lodging availability.

And, under the direction of Alan C. Edmunds, Hospitality Services will provide reservation service at no charge to the traveler.

What does that mean for the traveler from San Francisco, New York, or Miami, or anywhere else? It means Hospitality Services will reserve a room which meets the traveler's requirements, and it means the traveler need only worry about getting himself to Spokane and the fair. A letter now to Hospitality Services takes care of the rest. (Mail address: Post office Box 1974, Spokane, Wash., 99210.)

Edmunds said the letter should contain an outline of type of accommodations desired, for how many persons and when the trip to Spokane is planned. Hospitality Services will then match the request with available accommodations and reserve the room, through a computerized link with all available facilities in the Spokane area. The prospective traveler is then notified of arrangements, and all that is needed is a deposit of the first night's room fee to confirm the reservation.

For peak month (July, August) requests, some compromises may have to be made.

For example, Edmunds said, if a person has some very specific requirements, "such as a first-floor room because of a wheelchair, or a motel which takes pets," he should include in his letter alternate dates for his trip. Or, he may find himself a little further from Spokane than anticipated.

But for the most part, Edmunds said he expects the operation to work smoothly in matching up requested accommodations and dates with available facilities.

Requests are already starting to come in, Edmunds said, although he doesn't anticipate a large rush until late fall. However, he added, the sooner a request is made the sooner the person is assured a bed in Spokane next summer.

For the past six months, Hospitality Services has been cataloguing and inspecting all available facilities in the Spokane area. They have gone as far as 100 miles from Spokane in their search, preparing for the peak crowds expected in mid-July and early August.

"We're primarily interested in cleanliness," Edmunds said, "and, of course, in keeping prices down."

Included are hotels, motels, campsites, even college residence halls, which will be available for hostel-like accommodations. Apartments and condominiums may also be used, if needed.

In their search, Hospitality Services has found about 3,500 "usable commercial rooms in Spokane". Within an hour's drive of the city, there are an additional 1,100 to 1,200 hotel-motel rooms, as well as condominiums and apartments which will be made available.

Facilities in Spokane include two first-class downtown hotels with over 300 rooms, eight hotels and motels with between 100 and 200 rooms, approximately seven with 50 to 100 units, and some 50 with less than 25.

For students traveling on a budget, or families looking for low-cost convenient lodging, the area college campuses will be opened up during the summer months. Within a 20-minute ride of the Expo '74 site, there are almost 2,000 rooms on the campuses of Eastern Washington State College, Gonzaga University, Whitworth College and Fort Wright College.

"Not everyone will want to stay in the informal atmosphere of a college dormitory," Edmunds said, but those who do will find "clean, modern lodging at a convenient price," in both barracks-style dormitories and private and semi-private rooms. And, he added, there may be times when the informality of a campus will be the alternative to a long drive.

"During mid-July and early August," he cautioned, "visitors shouldn't be surprised if they find themselves as far away as Pullman (about 60 miles)." An hour's drive is not unreasonable, though, for a reserved room in Pullman, as opposed to a no-vacancy sign in Spokane.

Camping travelers, too, will be serviced through Hospitality Services. Area campgrounds will be included in the reservations set-up, since an estimated one-third of World's Fair visitors will be arriving in recreational vehicles.

For them, there are about 4,500 individual compsites in the Spokane area, and many of these will be available through Hospitality Services. Although Washington State and national parks are currently excluded from the H.S. network, numerous private campgrounds will be a part of the system.

The Tourist In England Can Eat And Sleep Where History Occurred

By ROBIN WRIGHT

One was once the hunting lodge of Henry VIII. Now it can be your hideaway, too.

Another was once part of Thomas A. Becket's home. Now it can be your home, too.

A third was a monastery. Now you can hibernate there, too.

And a fourth served as the headquarters for Bonnie Prince Charlie during the 1745 rebellion. Now it can be your headquarters, too.

HOW COME YOU can usurp such historical power? Because each of these historical landmarks — as well as 97 others — now offers foreigners a different way to experience the rich British past firsthand by staying there overnight. For, believe it or not, each of these sites is now an inn.

Located throughout the four principalities, most of Britain's 101 historical inns date back to the 1700s with some going as far back as 1420, 1381, 1320, 1232, and even 1135. Some have been inns all along, others have been converted.

But each has its own distinctive story. Besides featuring antiques and treasures from the past, some specialize in the personalities associated with the area.

At Stratford-on-Avon, for example, one inn which has been there since before Shakespear's birth has named and decorated each of its rooms after one of Shakespeare's characters.

ANOTHER ONE in Kent with close connections to nearby Hever Castle has the love letters of Henry VII and Anne Boleyn on exhibit.

Others have displays and plaques noting them as the favorite inn or lodge of Charles II or Oliver Cromwell, Elizabeth I or Queen Victoria, Richard II or Sir Walter Scott.

But whatever the historical connections, each of these inns has four-poster bed charm, a simple Old World mellowness that takes visitors deep into British tradition.

Whitewashed or rough old ivy-covered stone, thatched roofs and cobblestone courtyards, each is colored with character. Among other aesthetic tastes: stained-glass windows and period furniture, copper and brass cookware, open fireplaces, Jacobean staircases, and medieval wall decorations.

SOME INNS EVEN go to the ultimate route with such revivals as tudor-costumed "wenches" serving dinner.

The majority of these inns are in England — the greater London area alone claims 20 — although there are just over a dozen in Scotland and a few more than that in Wales.

There are only three in Northern Ireland.

The prices vary from 1.90 pounds to 9.50 pounds for a single (the average is three pounds) and three pounds to 12.50 pounds for a double (the average is five pounds to six pounds). The cheaper ones are in the country, beyond the 20-mile radius of London's core. Most are near touring centers and have facilities ranging from four to 73 rooms.

EQUALLY PICTURESQUE and traditional but not as historical are the informal farmhouse inns which also cover Great Britain. Most are unlisted bed-and-breakfast type places and only stumbled upon by accident, although there is one service that will set up a route for tourists based on farmhouse inns.

Farm Autour will arrange a personal itinerary from a list of selected sites or else based on personal interest such as architecture, antiques, sports, history, and literature or others.

Contrary to the historic inns, there are none in London.

Farmhouses all must meet certain standards and are rated as three, four, or five-star facilities.

For further information on either the historical inns or the Farm Autour write: British Tourist Authority, 64-65 St. James Place, London, England.

Helen Hayes' Mexico: 'A Perfect Contentment'

By INGA RUNDVOLD

"A feeling of perfect contentment comes over me when I visit Mexico," says Helen Hayes. "And as soon as I finish taping four 90-minute TV shows in California this summer I hope to go down to my house in Cuernavaca and remain there until after Christmas!"

The first lady of the American stage continued, "I've never gained any fame in Mexico or acquired a big name there. Everyone knows me as Mrs. MacArthur.

"The people are so nice all the time."

THEN SHE LIFTED her eyebrows and said, "Fame doesn't hurt when you go shopping or try to get a cab in the states. But you don't need fame in Mexico to get a friendly response. They are the warmest, happiest people I have ever met."

Miss Hayes spends most of her time in her Nyack, N.Y., home and thinks it's really "weird and foolish" to be struggling by herself to maintain a garden and big house which used to be adequately staffed. In Mexico where the help situation is "no problem" she has three employees year round and goes there only for short visits.

"For $150 a month or something like that," she said, "I have a housekeeper, a maid, and gardener."

In describing what it is like to live in the central part of Mexico, Miss Hayes said: "A typically pleasurable day in Mexico for me is quite different from those along the coast. Cuernavaca is nestled in the hills, and from my back garden and from my veranda ('we don't say veranda down there,' she pointed out — 'we say galeria') ... I can see two snow-capped volcanoes — Popocatepetl and Ixtaccihuatl. I call them Popo and Extla for short. They seem to say 'good morning' to me when I go out there to have my breakfast.

"And then I sit there watching the colors on the snow change with the color in the sky. When the clouds catch on top of Popo, it looks like he's wearing funny hats.

"Then, Jose, the gardener, gets the morning paper and I devour the news with great calm and deliberation.

"Next, a stroll into the village and I poke around — a little marketing, a trip to the post office, maybe a stop to visit some friends. In the afternoon I might play cards or get some exercise in my swimming pool. I usually do about 10 lengths.

"I get invited to a lot of parties in the evening, but I only go to the ones given by the friends I love the most!"

This lady of so much bubbling energy continuously smiles and rolls her eyes like a little girl when she talks to you. She has such warmth and love for life it's a pleasure to be in her company.

When I asked her if she could speak Spanish, she said, "I speak kitchen Spanish. I've never stayed in Mexico long enough to really master it. When I've been there about two months, I become quite good at it. Once I took a whole course from the Berlitz School because I wanted to be one of those North Americans who moved to Mexico and took a place in the local community."

Then Miss Hayes told what she liked and disliked about traveling to Mexico.

"I hate the bullfights," she flatly stated. "I've had to attend a few in Spain with my friends of the American Embassy. Once I took my son Jim to one in Mexico City because he wanted to see some world famous fighter. But I really hate the whole idea of the bullfights!"

"There's one thing I really love and never get tired of doing, and that's sightseeing," she said with inexhaustible enthusiasm. "My companion-secretary Vera Benlian and I drive the station wagon from Nyack to Cuernavaca so we can do some sightseeing along the way and have a car down there to get around in. We've been to Yucatan, Acapulco, all over.

"The most beautiful building in the whole world is the Museo Nacional de Antropologis in Mexico City. I visit that museum almost every time we drive over, and that's about once a week.

"I hate to pack, so I keep an entire wardrobe at my Mexico house. Every time I get ready to leave the country, I take an inventory of what's left of my cosmetics, creams, and wardrobe to guide me in my shopping for the next trip down.

"And shopping — it can't be beat. I like to buy pretty clothes for the young people I know. When my son and his wife came to visit me a couple of years ago, my daughter-in-law became so entranced with the things she bought for herself that she returned to buy enough stuff to open a shop in Honolulu where they now live. My son (James MacArthur) is involved in the production of a television series. "I've seen her shop. It's darling — full of papier-mache things, ceramics, iron works, glass and tin — just all kinds of attractive things."

A Companion For Hiking The Austrian Alps

A vacation that offers a true change-of-pace?

How about a hike into the Alps of Central Europe?

And for the perfect companion, take along the newly-published Sierra Club totebook, "Hut Hopping in the Austrian Alps," by William E. Reifsnyder.

Compact so as to fit neatly in your pack, sturdily bound to withstand the rigors of the trek, packed with useful information and maps, it is hailed as "a unique introduction to one of the world's most beautiful mountain regions."

Reifsnyder tells you how to plan your holiday, how to get to the Alps, what accommodations to expect when you get there, what to wear on the trails, etc. And suggests three week-long rambles broken down into one-day walks from hut to hut, with photos of those facilities and scale maps of the trails.

The book, priced at $3.95, is part of a most promising new Sierra Club totebooks series that also covers such places as the American Smokies, our Tetons and the Yellowstone back-country, in its summer, 1973, issues.

Riding The Bus In Haiti Style

The adventurous tourist who rides a Haitian "tap tap," the gaily painted truck-buses indigenous to the countryside, generally gets First Class treatment.

This means he is invited to ride up front with the driver at no extra charge, so he doesn't get wedged in between the cargo of natives, chickens and vegetables.

The marquees of the buses bear religious exclamations rather than destinations. And as the bus takes off from the "Greyhound Station" — a flat field next to the waterfront with buses waiting tire-to-tire for a load to the hinterlands — one can see why the vehicle is named "Mon Dieu" ("My God"); the rider feels "Nearer My God To Thee" as the bus careens around hairpin turns, often meeting "Pray For Me" hurtling in the other directions.

Located throughout the four principalities, most of Britain's 101 historical inns date back to the 1700s with some going as far back as 1420, 1381, 1320, 1232, and even 1135. Some have been inns all along, others have been converted.

But each has its own distinctive story. Besides featuring antiques and treasures from the past, some specialize in the personalities associated with the area.

At Stratford-on-Avon, for example, one inn which has been there since before Shakespear's birth has named and decorated each of its rooms after one of Shakespeare's characters.

ANOTHER ONE in Kent with close connections to nearby Hever Castle has the love letters of Henry VII and Anne Boleyn on exhibit.

Others have displays and plaques noting them as the favorite inn or lodge of Charles II or Oliver Cromwell, Elizabeth I or Queen Victoria, Richard II or Sir Walter Scott.

But whatever the historical connections, each of these inns has four-poster bed charm, a simple Old World mellowness that takes visitors deep into British tradition.

Whitewashed or rough old ivy-covered stone, thatched roofs and cobblestone courtyards, each is colored with character. Among other aesthetic tastes: stained-glass windows and period furniture, copper and brass cookware, open fireplaces, Jacobean staircases, and medieval wall decorations.

SOME INNS EVEN go to the ultimate route with such revivals as tudor-costumed "wenches" serving dinner.

The majority of these inns are in England — the greater London area alone claims 20 — although there are just over a dozen in Scotland and a few more than that in Wales.

There are only three in Northern Ireland.

The prices vary from 1.90 pounds to 9.50 pounds for a single (the average is three pounds) and three pounds to 12.50 pounds for a double (the average is five pounds to six pounds). The cheaper ones are in the country, beyond the 20-mile radius of London's core. Most are near touring centers and have facilities ranging from four to 73 rooms.

EQUALLY PICTURESQUE and traditional but not as historical are the informal farmhouse inns which also cover Great Britain. Most are unlisted bed-and-breakfast type places and only stumbled upon by accident, although there is one service that will set up a route for tourists based on farmhouse inns.

Farm Autour will arrange a personal itinerary from a list of selected sites or else based on personal interest such as architecture, antiques, sports, history, and literature or others.

Contrary to the historic inns, there are none in London.

Farmhouses all must meet certain standards and are rated as three, four, or five-star facilities.

For further information on either the historical inns or the Farm Autour write: British Tourist Authority, 64-65 St. James Place, London, England.

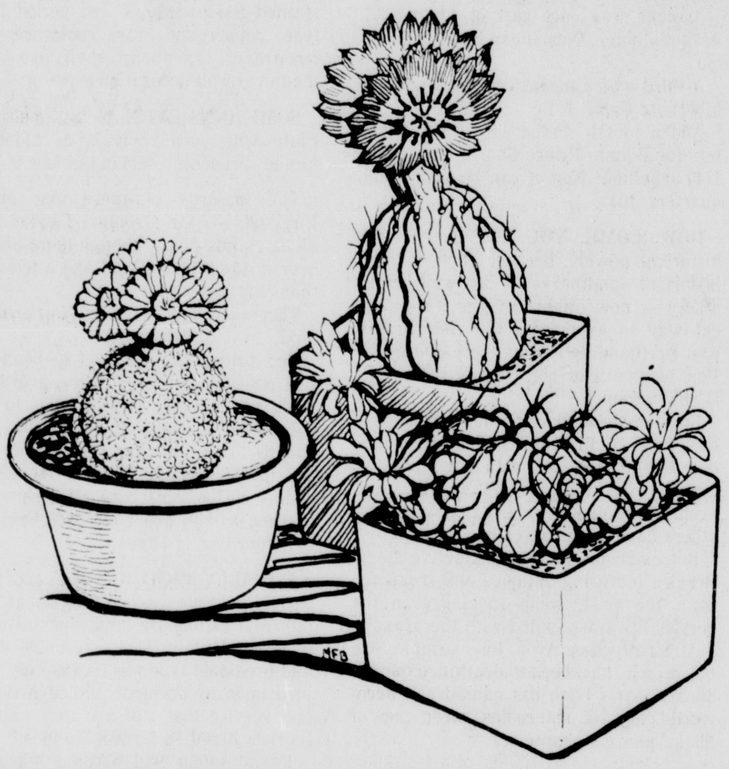
There's Good Reason For Popularity Succulents Enjoy With Californians

Succulents come in endless variety of sizes and shapes which have fascinated people for ages.

Countless cactophiles (and lovers of other succulents) exist here in California, as dedicated hobbyists surround themselves with these favorites, planting them almost to the exclusion of other types of plants.

Gardeners in temperate climes use succulents to contrast with other plants and with masonry or wood textures in the landscape architecture.

TODAY'S "RETURN to nature" trend is evidenced in cactus-succulents, as well, states the California Association Nurserymen. The ultra-personal relationship that can exist between man and plants is manifested in a rapidly growing interest in what many, previously, felt were thorny horticultural marvels, or oddities.



INTEREST IN GROWING cactus and other succulent plants is growing fast among gardeners as they discover new members of a family already well established for its versatility and hardiness.

For the benefit of the uninitiated, succulents are plants that store moisture in their tissues. All cacti are succulents, but not all succulents are cacti.

Not everyone engrossed in growing the plants cares about such definitions.

Californians are deeply involved today in collecting and in hobbies relating to cactus and succulents. The common prickly pears and barrel cactus are sought after by those specializing in cacti. Others prefer succulents such as euphorbias, agave, aloes, crassulas, echevarias and bromeliads. Some people go for both.

WHILE THERE ARE many exciting, exotic plants for collectors to discover and get acquainted with, some of the traditional favorites, such as hens-and-chickens, and familiar groundcovers retain their popularity.

Ice plant and sedums may be familiars succulents, but there is nothing commonplace about their beauty or their versatility for use in the home and garden. Besides serving as durable groundcovers, certain varieties excel in hanging baskets, or trailing over the top of a window box.

Nurseries offer smaller sizes of succulents and cactus, easily transplanted into pots or decorative containers. Shopping for additions to a collection may lead to finding larger-sized specimen plants for displaying on the patio, where the beauty can be enjoyed close-up.

THIS SIMPLE GREENHOUSE erected in the economical, easily-heated lean-to style, provides its owners with a year-around abundance of floral color, including exotics that could not be grown outdoors. Even in mild climated Marin, gardeners find that a greenhouse expands their growing opportunities and adds new joy to their hobbying.

Sodding Gives You An Instant Lawn — Providing You First Prepare The Soil

Many Californians are taking to sodding, to create an instant lawn.

With sod it's possible to have a carpet of green surrounding your home in a matter of hours. Also, repairing or replanting an existing lawn is simple with sod.

Turf sod comes in strips of weed-free, commercially-grown grass, ready to plant. Many nurseries have a supply of sod in stock, or are able to arrange for delivery of whatever amount you need.

SODDING DOES NOT eliminate the necessity of soil preparation for a lawn. Remember, the roots are contained within the two or three inch-thick strips of sod, and they will almost immediately begin penetrating into the soil. Soil preparation is important, as are other considerations. Here are some of the steps involved:

First, after rocks, weeds and debris are removed from the area to be sodded, loosen the soil — a rented rototiller is most practical — and mix in peat moss, redwood compost or other organic material.

Then, rake the area smooth and even — leveling as you go. The soil surface should be an inch below cement walkways, patio slabs, the driveway and sprinkler heads, to accommodate the thickness of the sod.

Ask your nurseryman to recommend a chemical fertilizer and apply it over the entire area to be planted. Next, roll out and plant the strips of sod quickly. The lengths should be staggered, as in laying bricks.

WATER THOROUGHLY. If sodding a large area, don't wait until the entire expanse is installed before watering the sod you planted first. A rule of thumb might be to install a third or half the area, then stop and water the newly-installed lawn. Your nurseryman can offer advice on whether rolling the lawn is necessary after installation — using a waterfilled roller that can be rented.

Bluegrass, dichondra and hybrid Bermuda grasses are generally available in sod form.

Your nurseryman can offer recommendations as to variety, based on climate, use and maintenance requirements.

JUST THE RIGHT TOUCH

ENGLISH IVY and its cousins are best known for their use as groundcovers, as lawn substitutes and as climbers. But a simple pot of English ivy in a distinctive container can add a refreshing touch to indoor surroundings or the patio.

A CHECKLIST FOR MARIN GARDENERS

✔The earliest of the fall-planted bulbs, the colchium or summer crocus, can go into the ground now. These increasingly popular plants can be grown indoors wittout soil or water, as well as in the garden. Other early flower bulbs such as Freesias, Star of Bethlehem and Snowfale are generally due in two or three more weeks at Marin nurseries.

✔You can prepare seedbeds now for new lawns, as well as getting the soil ready for your other fall planting.

✔As the dry season progresses, overhead sprinkling becomes more and more important to your camellias and fuchsias.

✔Put those leaves and other fallen plant debris in your yard back into use by starting a compost pile. But be sure the material is from trees and shrubs that are not diseased.

✔Prolong the bloom of your summer annuals by keeping them well watered and by removing faded flowers.

✔If summer has compacted the soil in your yard, go to work with the aerator, opening it up to air and water.

✔Remember: Take in the horticulture and floriculture departments of the 1973 Marin County Fair to learn what your neighbors are doing in their gardens.

You, Too, Can Own A Greenhouse, And Enjoy Year-Around Gardening

By MILLICENT TAYLOR

You don't have to be wealthy to have your own greenhouse.

There is a greenhouse for nearly every size budget, and one to fit every location. No matter where you live, some sort of greenhouse can add eo your year-around gardening pleasure.

You can make a hobby of some favorite plant like African violets or orchids. You can raise your own plants for the outdoor garden. You can propagate new plants from old for an adventure. You can supply the house with flowers all year.

You can even raise tomatoes, lettuce, cucumbers, and other vegetables when the temperatures outdoors dip to freezing.

CAN YOU SPARE a minimum space of ground six by 10 feet that gets a least three hours a day of winter sunshine? They you have room for a greenhouse.

The lean-to can be an attractive addition to your home and is probably the most economical style. It can be set on foundations that match your house, or be a glass-to-ground model that doubles your growing space.

There is also one so slender it takes no more room than a flower bed.

For the free-standing type — which has more bench space — there are straight sided and curved designs, sitting on masonry foundations that come partway up or glass-to-ground on barely seen cement rims.

MOST MODEST-PRICED of all are the "solar" greenhouses that fit outside house windows. These add growing space to the indoor room and can be heated from the house. They are sized to fit most windows. It is really amazing how much can be grown in them.

Is heating the greenhouse on your mind? It is easier and costs less than you might think. Costs will vary, of course, according to the size and model of your greenhouse, but it is minimal in sunny California. The firm you buy from can give you advice and an estimate.

At night in California, for example, electric or small gas heaters will do the job with a cost as low as $75 a year. In New England this might run to $175. Heaters can burn gas, oil or use electricity. Steam or hot water heating as an extension from the house after installation is the least expensive.

WHETHER YOU hire men locally to set up your greenhouse or undertake the job yourself, most greenhouse firms send it prefabricated, and some make a specialty of do-it-yourself models with directions and all the fixings.

You can have masonry foundations built locally of cement, cinder blocks, stone, treated wood or what you will. The floor can be of gravel or bricks.

An interesting variation of the greenhouse that I have seen in New England is the sun-heated pit. A deep trench is dug and a peaked roof built over it, the south side of which is made of coldframe lids or something similar. The glass roof on this side slants at 45 degrees to get all possible winter sun. The excavation is lined with cement or building blocks.

In heavy soils adequate drainage must be provided. Thich pads cover the glass at night. It is a sort of glorified coldframe that one can crawl into.

IF YOU SET your greenhouse during the next few weeks — and a husband and wife team, after the foundation is built, can do it in a weekend — here are some of the gardening projects you might be doing this winter:

Make up a supply of potting soil mixtures. Bring in and repot plants from the garden you wish to carry over. Sow seeds of begonias, calceolarias, calendulas, lupine, larkspur, stock to have flowers coming along from January to March. Tender blubs can be planted also, like amaryllis, freesias, callas, and anemones.

In current garden magazines you will find advertisements of orchid plants and roots, lily bulbs, African violets, and other plants, seeds, and roots you can get to start your greenhouse adventure.

THERE ARE BOOKS and articles on plant propagation you may find interesting. Lord & Burnham, the big greenhouse people (Irvington, N.Y., 10533, gets out a helpful little bimonthly magazine, Under Glass, to which you might like to subscribe.

If you really love gardening, a greenhouse of any size and model can make it a year-around pleasure.

So little time? Busy homemakers and professional people will find it especially relaxing. They can take advantage of odd moments in the daytime and on weekends, or in the evening after dark when outdoor gardening can't be done.

Some Expert Advice On How To Tame The Wildflowers

Raising wildflowers is one of the more rapidly growing gardening specialties today. But wildflowers and ferns have very particular requirements for soil, sunlight, moisture and nutrients — requirements that frequently discourage the amateur.

Now in a new book, "Growing Wildflowers: A Gardener's Guide" ($8.95), Marie Sperka, veteran nurserywoman, explains step-by-step how wildflowers can be raised without the help of a professional gardener. Described as the most complete guide available on raising wildflowers in North America, it has been published by Harper and Row.

MARIE SPERKA has been watching and raising wildflowers — first for pleasure and then later as a business — for more than 40 years. In her new book she shares her knowledge about the specific requirements for growing and propagating various species of wildflowers.

"I have found that, with care. . .it is often possible to grow wild plants in an environment entirely different from their native habitat," Mrs. Sperka writes.

This guide, which includes more than 200 pencil drawings by Charles Clare Jr., botanical artist associated with New York's Botanical Gardens, gives detailed instructions on ground preparation, planting, rooting and propagation for each of more than 250 species. Each is described with detailed information on its growing requirements and care.

"GROWING WILDFLOWERS" includes special appendixes which classify wildflowers according to color, according to best growing conditions, and also gives information on where to buy wildflowers. One appendix treats in detail the especially complex problems of raising one of the great wildflower favorites, the lady's slipper.

Marie Sperka has owned and operated the Woodland Acres Nursery in Crivitz, Wis., for nearly 25 years. Her wildflowers are shipped throughout the United States.

Among her horticultural accomplishments was the development of the hybrid Dicentra luxuriant, an outstanding fluorescent red bleeding heart.

The Nosegay Back In Style

The old fashioned nosegay of flowers for the prom was reported really "in" this year, accenting the feminine look, dainty in a wide variety of blooms in small, plump, circular style.

Lace, streamers and bows added variety and color.

Wrist corsages were most popular, according to a poll. They permit flexibility while dancing and remain visible. Also popular were the standard pin-on corsage — a single flower or combination of blooms, colors, shapes and sizes.

More unusual is the floral choker, a special accessory to the dress or throat. Some are made of daisies, pompons or cornflowers glued to a velvet ribbon.

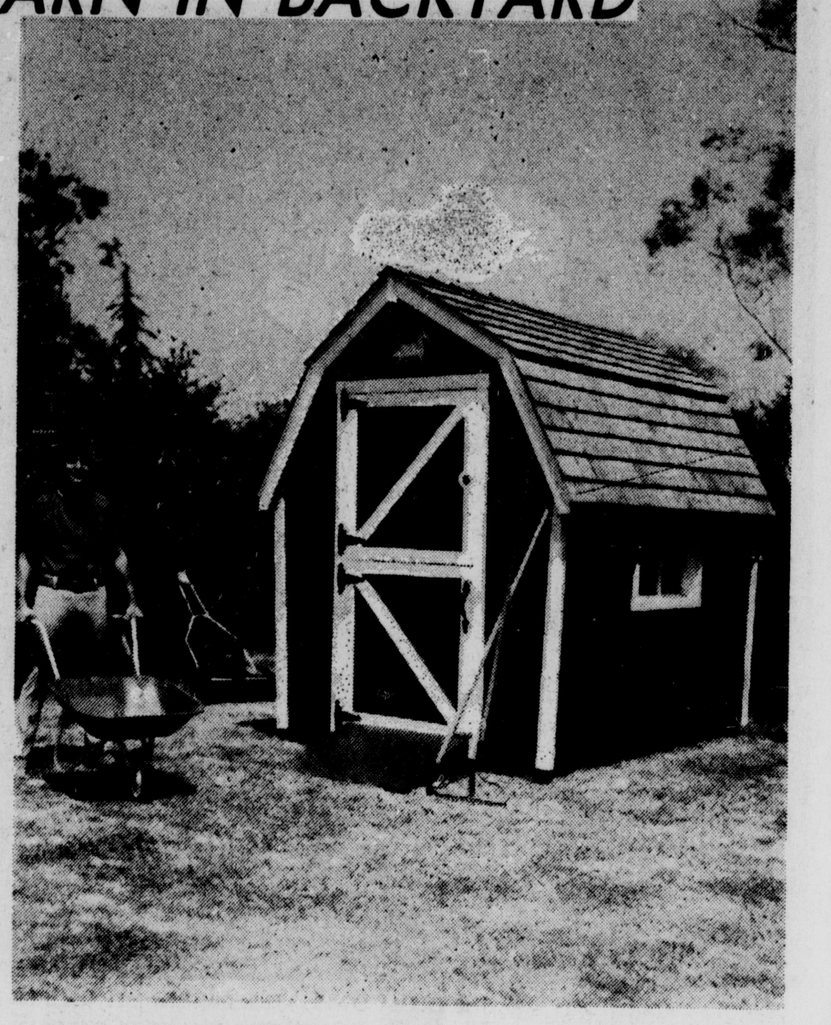
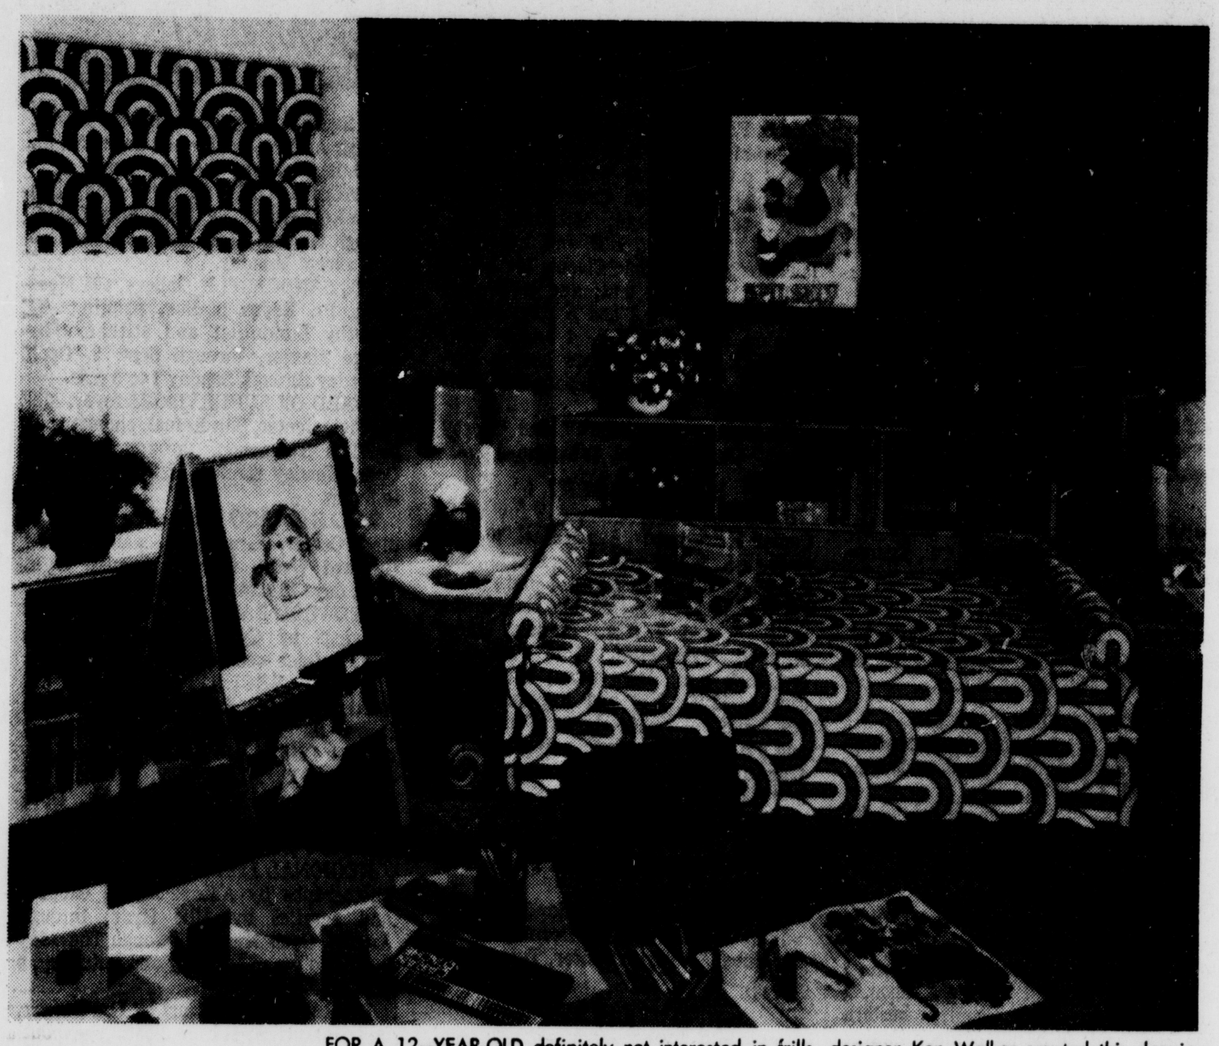
LITTLE RED BARN IN BACKYARD

IF YOUR HOUSE has the storage blues, you can bet that your gardening and lawn tools and your outdoor furniture constitute one of your most critical problem areas. Actor Tom Troupe is demonstrating in the photograph on the right one answer to your puzzle. It's a little red barn that not only provides generous storage space, but which also represents an aesthetic asset to your backyard. And it is economical, as well, when built by the home handyman with the help of a Steve Ellingson pattern. To get started, send $2 to Steve Ellingson, Independent-Journal pattern department, Post Office Box 2383, Van Nuys, Calif., 91409, and ask for Barn Pattern 461. The barn pictured measures sx feet by eight feet by eight feet, ideal for most purposes. But if your needs are larger, you can alter the plans for greater size. The stp-by-step directions are easy to follow, and there are photographs demonstrating the various stages of construction. A list of the needed materials is also included. Finished, it's even big enough for the motorcycle or the garden tractor. And in the unlikely event you don't need it for storage, the youngsters will be happy to take it over as a playhouse. Other possible uses include potting shed and workshop. Another popular Steve Ellingson project is his "Big Barn" doghouse — Pattern 448 — available for $1. And yet another: his leaf-bagger, No. 493, also $1.



THE HOMES PAGE



FOR A 12--YEAR-OLD definitely not interested in frills, designer Ken Walker created this sleeping corner with a diagonal bed and storage concept, and with bands of boldly painted colors that serve as a new kind of canopy. A lime-green shag carpet provides a softening touch.

INSIDE YOUR HOME

A Corner For Carla That Is Cozy And Colorful In Contemporary Vein

By CAROLYN MURRAY

Every room has at least one — a place where nothing fits; consequently, you leave it empty.

The corner has you cornered. So you usually just ignore it.

How nice to find a house where a corner has been put to work, as in the girl's room shown above. It was conceived by Ken Walker, a young man who heads his own design firm.

WHEN HIS CLIENTS introduced him to their 12-year-old daughter, Carla, he could see she was definitely a contemporary girl with a yen for color and crafts. Her bedroom was identical to most other rooms in the house — nothing unique or especially interesting about it. He might have gone the way of most designers by suggesting a four-poster bed embellished with ruffles, but he felt Carla was too much of an individual for that cop-out solution.

Walker worked at the drawing board making floor plans, trying to find out the best use of that static space. His architectural training led him to search for a really functional solution. Finally he decided to put the corner to work.

THIS MEANS A diagonal position for Carla's bed, as well as a diagonal arrangement of storage in back of and above the bed. She gets more daylight with the bed in this position and finds it an agreeable spot for comfortable study sessions.

There's nothing "beddy" about this corner.

While Walker felt Carla was not the ruffled-canopy type, he felt he could play up the importance of this corner with a cheerful canopy of pure color. So he asked Carla's father to start at the floor and paint wide bands of green, cherry-red and blue, carrying the colors up and across the ceiling. The result is smashing.

THAT WAS ALMOST enough color for any room. But just to add a pattern punch, Walker selected a Kirk Brummel fabric for coverlet and window shade. He might have used inexpensive sheets if the budget had been groaning, since there are numerous designs available with a similarly strong graphic look.

For another wall, Walker designed a Formica work table. It's placed in an island position, so friends can join Carla in her work sessions.

The floor covering offered some choices, but Walker and Carla decided on lime-green shag made of Monsanto Acrilan acrylic fibers.

Since Carla is her own "roomkeeper," an easy-care plan was needed to solve the problem of paint pots and craft materials.

Ideal For Sauna

How Home Owner Can Keep His Cool During Hot Weather

Warm weather spells are also the peak load spells for electric utilities in Marin and most parts of the country.

The reason for this is obvious: the increase in air conditioner use during hot spells greatly escalates the demand for electricity.

Home owners have been boning up on the fine points of house insulation recently, because of the energy crisis and their desire to hold down household expenses. But there are several other things they should consider that will help cool their homes in hot weather:

1. Awnings, shades and sunscreens will reduce the amount of heat gain through windows and other glass areas.

2. An attic fan is one of the most effective ways to cool a home. Fan manufacturers say a properly installed fan can reduce summertime attic temperatures by 50 degrees or more, thereby making operation of air conditioning more efficient.

3. Shade trees and landscaping can help lighten the load on air conditioners by keeping the house cooler. Living plants inside the house also are a freshening influence.

4. Even the color of your roof is a factor. A roof of white asphalt shingles is about 30 degrees cooler than a dark roof on a hot day, because that white reflects heat. If you live in an area that is unusually humid, the Asphalt Roofing Manufacturers Association suggests that you use fungus and alga-resistant shingles designed to stay white longer. They are available from most asphalt shingle manufacturers.

5. Louver vents in the attic are important. In addition to helping to cool a home in hot weather, a properly ventilated attic is less likely to have condensation problems in cold weather.

To Cure A Squeaky Floor, Just Use The Proper Nails

By ANDY LANG

The number of things that can cause a floor to squeak would make a list stretching from here to the bottom of this page.

The causes, therefore, will be passed over to allow space for the cures. And most of those cures are possible simply with the proper use of the proper nails.

SINCE THE UNDERSIDE of the floor cannot be reached (except in the case of a floor over an unfinished basement), the attack must be made from above. Occasionally, a squeak can be pinpointed just by standing on a particular board and jumping up and down on it a little.

Most of the time, however, the squeaking noise is a bit elusive. You think it's coming from one spot, then you decide, no, it's coming from another.

A sure way to trace the exact area of a squeak is to have someone walk back and forth over every part of the floor, perhaps two or three times. Get down on all fours and, every time you hear a noise, mark it with a piece of chalk.

I should have told you that you'd better forget about the whole thing if you can't lift the rug and work directly on the surface of the wood.

NOW, AT EACH chalked point, drive two nails into the wood at an angle so that the points nearly come together. If driven properly, and if you could see through the wood, you would see that the two nails roughly form a "V."

Be sure to use threaded or grooved finishing nails. If the floor is made of softwood (pine, for instance), first drill a pilot hole smaller than the thickness of the nail, then hammer the nail into that opening. Remember to drill each of those holes at the suggested angle.

Each nail should be hammered slightly below the surface with the nailset. The tiny nail hole then can be filled with wood putty or plastic wood.

When the squeak is on a floor over an unfinished basement, it sometimes can be eliminated by driving wedges between the joists and the flooring.

HERE, TOO, IT is necessary for someone to walk on the floor while you locate the noise areas while standing on a stepladder in the basement. If this does not work, and it appears that the squeaks are occurring because the subflooring has come loose from the top, finished flooring, try driving some screws into the subflooring from underneath. The screws must be long enough so that they draw the two floors together, yet not so long that they show on the topside.

Squeaky floors and stairs, and concrete and plaster patching are among the 35 problems discussed in Andy Lang's handbook, "Practical Home Repairs," available by sending $1 to Andy Lang at Box 5, Teaneck, N.J., 07666.)

HERE'S YOUR ANSWER

By ANDY LANG

Q. — About three years ago, when we bought our present house, the previous owner told me that he had never put a finish of any kind on the knotty pine walls in our family room. The walls seemed all right then, but now they appear to have a considerable amount of dirt on them. I would like to finish them with shellac as I did a similar room some years ago in another house, but I would like to ask your advice about the best way to get the dirt off.

A. — The best cleansing agent for the walls, since you are going to finish them with shellac, is denatured alcohol. Use a clean cloth saturated with the alcohol and rub as much as is needed to remove the dirt. Change cloths when the one you are using gets dirty. Be sure to dilute the shellac before applying it to the walls. Use 50 per cent shellac and 50 per cent denatured alcohol. Even white orclear shellac will darken the wood somewhat. If you want a more pronounced color, use orange shellac.

Q. — I know that it is important to mix the right amount of water with sand and gravel to make concrete. Since the amount of water depends on whether the sand is wet or dry, I would like to know the difference between damp sand and wet sand. Sometimes one is mentioned, sometimes the other.

A. — To determine just how wet sand is, pick up a handful of it, then open your hand and let go of it. If the sand felt wet but your hand was dry after you released it, then it generally is classified as damp. If the sand felt wet and it left your hand wet after you let go of it, then it is considered wet sand.

Q. — I have to do some painting around our farm. Is it safe to use aluminum paint on such things as feed bins and water troughs or is there a possibility that it might poison the animals if they happen to chew on it?

A. — Aluminum paint is usually lead-free and its pigment is nontoxic. But since there is always the possibility of a formula that is not safe for your purpose, read the label carefully to be sure the paint does not contain either lead or mercury.

Gilding With Gold Leaf Is Ancient Skill For Which There Is Still Great Demand

Gilding with gold leaf would seem to represent about the ultimate in craftsmanship.

Artisan Donald L. Chambers admits that gold leafing, an ancient skill, is also an almost vanished art. But, he says, the demand for the services for the gilder are on the increase. And almost anyone endowed with patience and some aptitude for craftswork can master the techniques.

Chambers makes his assertions in his book, "How to Gold Leaf Antiques and Other Art Objects," published by Crown Publishers at $7.95.

He offers step-by-step instructions, with a wealth of photographs, 40 of these in color, on how to work with gold leaf — from repairing antique frames to gilding furniture and art pieces. The emphasis is upon procedure, the preparation, the application, the burnishing. There is also direction for antiquing and for the making of molds and casting. And finally some suggestions as to thing gold leaf can beautify. The selection of supplies and tools, and their care, are also covered.

Chambers recommends gold leafing as either a hobby or a money-making trade.

"It is not nearly as difficult as it may seem at first," he insits. Certainly his text with its excellent illustrations constitute a model for craft books. Gold leafing might not come as easy for the average householder as Chambers believes. But if he doesn't succeed, it can hardly be the fault of this well done, detailed, very comprehensive book. D.K.

Rails Can Add Utility As Well As Beauty

Railings, plain or fancy, offer more than safety to a porch, deck or stairway. They also can add privacy, extra seating and a design flavor to complement house and yard.

When designing railings, first clear with local building code requirements, then embellish as you wish using easily worked western woods.

Special effects are possible, adding an Oriental mood with a shoji screen type railing, or a picket-fence copy for a traditional home.

For privacy, or to protect sitting decks where winds are too persistent, a solid screen railing is ideal. This also is helpful as a backdrop for container plantings.

Railings built as benches serve a dual purpose. With careful styling of backrests, they also offer eye-pleasing privacy and a windbreak.

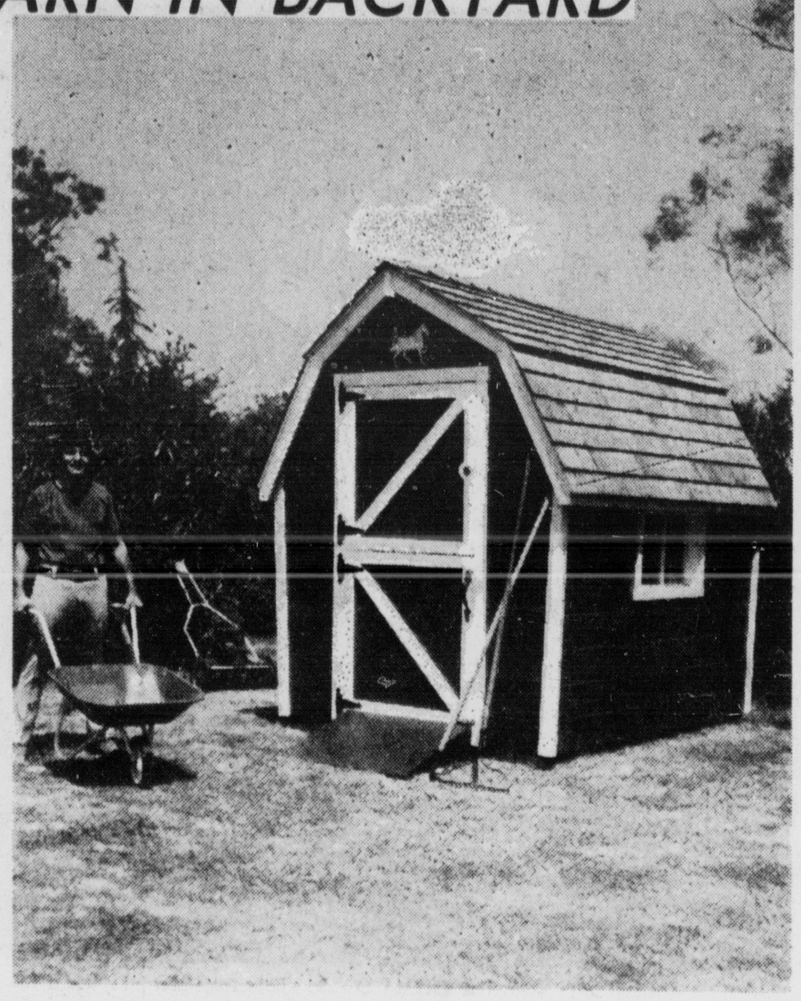
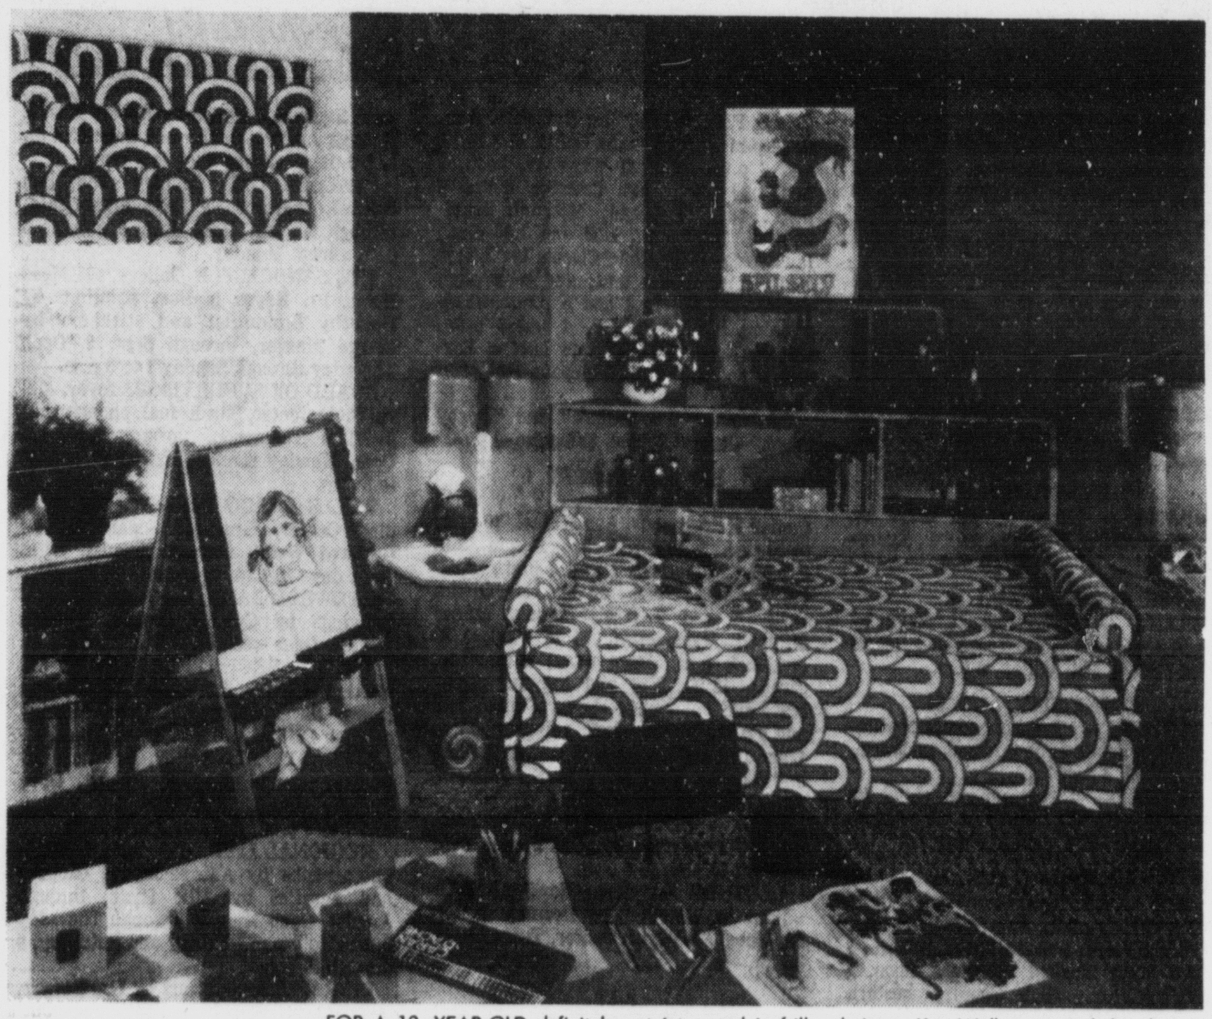
LITTLE RED BARN IN BACKYARD



IF YOUR HOUSE has the storage blues, you can bet that your gardening and lawn tools and your outdoor furniture constitute one of your most critical problem areas. Actor Tom Troupe is demonstrating in the photograph on the right one answer to your puzzle. It's a little red barn that not only provides generous storage space, but which also represents an aesthetic asset to your backyard. And it is economical, as well, when built by the home handyman with the help of a Steve Ellingson pattern. To get started, send $2 to Steve Ellingson, Independent-Journal pattern department, Post Office Box 2383, Van Nuys, Calif., 91409, and ask for Barn Pattern 461. The barn pictured measures sx feet by eight feet by eight feet, ideal for most purposes. But if your needs are larger, you can alter the plans for greater size. The stp-by-step directions are easy to follow, and there are photographs demonstrating the various stages of construction. A list of the needed materials is also included. Finished, it's even big enough for the motorcycle or the garden tractor. And in the unlikely event you don't need it for storage, the youngsters will be happy to take it over as a playhouse. Other possible uses include potting shed and workshop. Another popular Steve Ellingson project is his "Big Barn" doghouse — Pattern 448 — available for $1. And yet another: his leaf-bagger, No. 493, also $1.

THE HOMES PAGE



FOR A 12--YEAR-OLD definitely not interested in frills, designer Ken Walker created this sleeping corner with a diagonal bed and storage concept, and with bands of boldly painted colors that serve as a new kind of canopy. A lime-green shag carpet provides a softening touch.

INSIDE YOUR HOME

A Corner For Carla That Is Cozy And Colorful In Contemporary Vein

By CAROLYN MURRAY

Every room has at least one — a place where nothing fits; consequently, you leave it empty.

The corner has you cornered. So you usually just ignore it.

How nice to find a house where a corner has been put to work, as in the girl's room shown above. It was conceived by Ken Walker, a young man who heads his own design firm.

WHEN HIS CLIENTS introduced him to their 12-year-old daughter, Carla, he could see she was definitely a contemporary girl with a yen for color and crafts. Her bedroom was identical to most other rooms in the house — nothing unique or especially interesting about it. He might have gone the way of most designers by suggesting a four-poster bed embellished with ruffles, but he felt Carla was too much of an individual for that cop-out solution.

Walker worked at the drawing board making floor plans, trying to find out the best use of that static space. His architectural training led him to search for a really functional solution. Finally he decided to put the corner to work.

THIS MEANS A diagonal position for Carla's bed, as well as a diagonal arrangement of storage in back of and above the bed. She gets more daylight with the bed in this position and finds it an agreeable spot for comfortable study sessions.

There's nothing "beddy" about this corner.

While Walker felt Carla was not the ruffled-canopy type, he felt he could play up the importance of this corner with a cheerful canopy of pure color. So he asked Carla's father to start at the floor and paint wide bands of green, cherry-red and blue, carrying the colors up and across the ceiling. The result is smashing.

THAT WAS ALMOST enough color for any room. But just to add a pattern punch, Walker selected a Kirk Brummel fabric for coverlet and window shade. He might have used inexpensive sheets if the budget had been groaning, since there are numerous designs available with a similarly strong graphic look.

For another wall, Walker designed a Formica work table. It's placed in an island position, so friends can join Carla in her work sessions.

The floor covering offered some choices, but Walker and Carla decided on lime-green shag made of Monsanto Acrilan acrylic fibers.

Since Carla is her own "roomkeeper," an easy-care plan was needed to solve the problem of paint pots and craft materials.

How Home Owner Can Keep His Cool During Hot Weather

Warm weather spells are also the peak load spells for electric utilities in Marin and most parts of the country.

The reason for this is obvious: the increase in air conditioner use during hot spells greatly escalates the demand for electricity.

Home owners have been boning up on the fine points of house insulation recently, because of the energy crisis and their desire to hold down household expenses. But there are several other things they should consider that will help cool their homes in hot weather:

Leon Russell's Very Much Alive Album May Be Best Of Its Kind In Rock History

By BRUCE MEYER

Rock is the first music in history aimed primarily at recording, with performances before live audiences playing a strictly secondary role.

The millions of Americans who annually spend two billion dollars on records and tapes flock to see their favorite bands when they come to town, sure. But the reason they come is because they've heard them on records and they come to watch them play in the same songs they've listened to at home.

All this is relative, of course. There are groups which have a reputation as good "live" acts, as well as those known almost exclusively for their recordings. John Fogerty, former Creedence Clearwater Revivalist, has gone the whole route by creating the Blue Ridge Rangers, a band which exists only in the studio. He plays all the instruments, writes all the songs, arranges and produces the whole thing.

At the other extreme, "live" albums tend to be rather curious phenomena. Despite an almost universal failure to capture the "feel" of the live show, nearly every band eventually gets around to recording one. And they all sell.

Well, I've got two recent live albums here — one of the standard, ho-hum variety, the other that rarest of rarities, a virtually perfect live set.

THE FIRST IS from nimble-fingered Alvin Lee and Company, otherwise known as Ten Years After. It is called "Ten Years After-Recorded Live," and it contains 80 minutes of music that will delight TYA addicts, but gets pretty dreary for others. I can only take about one side of it at a time — the idea of listening to the whole thing straight through gives me a headache.

Ah, but wait: Just as it seems all is lost for live albums who should step in but that old master, Leon Russell.

"Leon Live" (Shelter STCO-8917) is the best live album I have ever heard. I expected it to be good — but this is too much. It is even better than the Who's "Live At Leeds" — which was great for completely different reasons.

THAT RUSSELL should produce the best live album in history is not really surprising when you think about it. Leon is the best showman in the grand sense in rock 'n' roll, and it stands to reason that he should cut the best live album.

The most important thing about "Leon Live" is not the music. The most important thing about this album is that it captures the mood of the band, of the audience, of the experience that is Leon Russell at his best.

He plays his audience like he plays his piano — and never misses a note on either — through six sides, nearly two hours of music.

If you're the kind of person who holds off until a real gem comes along, and you haven't bought a record so far in 1973, now's your time, "Leon Live" may be the best we see this year.

THE HIGH COST OF MEAT

Death and taxes can now be beaten
(For death-cryonics, for taxes-cheatin').
But though these victories may be sweet
You just can't beat the high cost of meat.

Some hamburger can still be had
And I hear dogfood isn't bad.
But if you want to feel the most grief
Try and buy a hunk of roast beef.

One couple (call them John and Marybelle)
Did something that was truly terribelle:
Instead of building the kids a nursery,
They bought a steak for their anniversary.

A happy ending to this story?
Well, there's chicken cattciatore.
Or if you'd like another dish,
You might try cream of tunafish,
Cheese, spaghetti (without meatballs),
Even pickled piggies' feetballs.
But as for red meat, cooked on the hibachi,
I'm afraid it's Requiescat in Pace.

SAUSALITO — LEON SPIRO

ON THE STEREO SCENE—

Leon Russell's Very Much Alive Album May Be Best Of Its Kind In Rock History

By BRUCE MEYER

Rock is the first music in history aimed primarily at recording, with performances before live audiences playing a strictly secondary role.

The millions of Americans who annually spend two billion dollars on records and tapes flock to see their favorite bands when they come to town, sure. But the reason they come is because they've heard them on records and they come to watch them play in the same songs they've listened to at home.

All this is relative, of course. There are groups which have a reputation as good "live" acts, as well as those known almost exclusively for their recordings. John Fogerty, former Creedence Clearwater Revivalist, has gone the whole route by creating the Blue Ridge Rangers, a band which exists only in the studio. He plays all the instruments, writes all the songs, arranges and produces the whole thing.

At the other extreme, "live" albums tend to be rather curious phenomena. Despite an almost universal failure to capture the "feel" of the live show, nearly every band eventually gets around to recording one. And they all sell.

Well, I've got two recent live albums here — one of the standard, ho-hum variety, the other that rarest of rarities, a virtually perfect live set.

THE FIRST IS from nimble-fingered Alvin Lee and Company, otherwise known as Ten Years After. It is called "Ten Years After-Recorded Live," and it contains 80 minutes of music that will delight TYA addicts, but gets pretty dreary for others. I can only take about one side of it at a time — the idea of listening to the whole thing straight through gives me a headache.

Ah, but wait: Just as it seems all is lost for live albums who should step in but that old master, Leon Russell.

"Leon Live" (Shelter STCO-8917) is the best live album I have ever heard. I expected it to be good — but this is too much. It is even better than the Who's "Live At Leeds" — which was great for completely different reasons.

THAT RUSSELL should produce the best live album in history is not really surprising when you think about it. Leon is the best showman in the grand sense in rock 'n' roll, and it stands to reason that he should cut the best live album.

The most important thing about "Leon Live" is not the music. The most important thing about this album is that it captures the mood of the band, of the audience, of the experience that is Leon Russell at his best.

He plays his audience like he plays his piano — and never misses a note on either — through six sides, nearly two hours of music.

If you're the kind of person who holds off until a real gem comes along, and you haven't bought a record so far in 1973, now's your time, "Leon Live" may be the best we see this year.

French Chef To Serve TV Fans A Warmed-Over Menu This Fall

By JAY SHARBUTT
AP Television Writer

It's official now. Julia Child has bid adieu to public television and won't be back this fall with new episodes of her "French Chef" series.

The shows you'll see will be re-runs.

It's not that she lacks an underwriter for her popular cooking show. It's just that she wants to take a break after a decade of showing viewers how to whip up Gallic eats.

"THERE ARE people who would like to underwrite new shows, but Julia's been working for 10 years straight," says a spokeswoman at Boston's WGBH-TV, where "the French Chef" is produced.

"She has a house in France and she sort of wanted to take a sabbatical," the spokeswoman said, adding that there is a possibility Miss Child might do occasional cooking specials or resume her series later. She said underwriters are interested in both prospects.

"But we can't do a thing about it until she comes back after Labor Day and we've talked to her about it," the spokeswoman said. "So, there won't be a new series of 'French Chef' programs this fall.

"THERE MIGHT be a few specials if she likes the idea. If she decides to go back into daily production, there might be another series but it wouldn't be ready for this fall, obviously."

Miss Child, a pleasant, matter-of-fact woman, began cooking on public television Feb. 11, 1963. Since then, she's done nearly 330 shows and written several best-selling cookbooks.

Her show was in danger of going off the air last September for lack of an underwriter, which in public TV is a sponsor who pays for the cost of the show but isn't allowed to surround it with commercials.

Finally, the Polaroid Corp., which had underwritten the show for three previous years, decided to do it again for the 1972-73 season when no other support seemed imminent.

WALTER CRONKITE, the veteran reporter and anchorman of the CBS Evening News, has been missing from that week day show since May 28. But he's not ill and hasn't been declared AWOL by the network.

He's just been vacationing, courtesy of the new contract he signed this spring with CBS.

A network spokesman says the five-year contract provides for a three-month vacation each year.

That is indeed a good contract.

ACTOR DUSTIN HOFFMAN, left, will be among the famous participating in the second annual Robert F. Kennedy Pro-Celebrity Tennis Tournament, to be carried Sunday at 3:30 p.m. on Channel 7. Some 70 celebrities and tennis professionals will compete.

Sammy's House Has A History

NBC-TV star Sammy Davis Jr., who will be a frequent guest on next fall's "NBC Follies," lives in a house with a history. Built on part of Mary Pickford's Beverly Hills estate, it was owned earlier by Tony Curtis and Janet Leigh when they were married, then by Anthony Newley and Joan Collins when they were wed.

Africa's Fledgling Film Industry Has Its Troubles

By JANE BERGEROL
London Financial Times

Africa's infant motion picture industry is charting a troubled course, including an almost complete screen blackout of African productions in Africa itself and the rest of the world.

The reluctance of Western nations to show African films is understandable. The U.S. market, for example, is a difficult enough one for any foreign director to crack. And most of the first generation of African film directors come from French-speaking Africa, so make French language films.

If it is naturally more difficult for these predominantly French language films to get a showing on American or British screens, despite growing interest in Africa, what distresses African film-makers is the blackout they get at home.

A GLANCE AT the films showing on any one day in Abidjan, the bustling modern capital of Ivory Coast, fails to turn up one African film. The city's 23 cinemas are filled with "spaghetti" Westerns, Indian romances, Japanese adventures and a handful of the latest French box office successes. And Abidjan is no exception.

"These things are of no value to the people. They don't even understand the humor," says Lionel N,Gakane, one of the few African directors to have won a solid reputation. "African television is the same. It is the dumping ground for all the old American serials,"

To fight back and limit the power of the two or three international distributors who, they claim, have a stranglehold on the African market, the Federation of African Film governments to give them a share in cinema programs, even if they do not all go as far as Upper Volta, which nationalized the country's cinemas.

But some action at government level is essential, they feel, to impose regular showing of African films.

ONE PROBLEM they face is the reluctance of some governments to show films that are often critical of present-day Africa.

Med Hondo, whose "Soleil O" is an irreverent and uncompromising exposure of racism and posturing by white and black alike, knows this well. For three years the film lay unused in his Paris flat.

"No one in France would touch it. Distributors would come out of a showing shaking with fury. I said 'you flatter me," he says. Now it has been playing to full houses in Paris and has collected wide acclaim. But its attack on the French in Africa today, and on some of N'Cakane's "black Frenchmen" have made several African countries reluctant to give it a screening and one government has banned it as "inflammatory".

Color For Aussies

The federal government has decided that color television will be introduced to Australia in 1975. Black and white television was introduced in 1956.

TUNING IN ON TV

By JACK GAVER

Producer Edgar Lansbury, who doesn't have much going for him except the internationally duplicated "Godspell" stage musical, its concurrent film version and the London smash-hit stage musical, "Gypsy," starring sister Angela, will produce for NBC a two-hour version of playwright Arthur Miller's "After the Fall." Miller himself adapted his stage work of 1964 for video. Production will be in New York in October.

The role of Della Street, secretary to Perry Mason, will be played by Sharon Acker in the new CBS series starring Monte Markham as the fictional attorney. Miss Acker played Hal Holbrook's wife in the NBC "The Senator" dramas.

Singer Bette Midler, who has attained attention the past couple of seasons as a nightclub singer and recording artist with a flair for the unusual in the handling of pop songs, will have her first television special on ABC during the new season.

Comedy stars Nancy Kulp and Roger Bowen have been added as regulars to NBC's "The Brian Keith Show," the new ew 1973-74 title of "The Little People," in which the star plays a pediatrician in Hawaii.

Dana Wynter will appear in an episode entitled "Come Into My Parlor" on "Great Mysteries Hosted by Orson Welles," a new syndicated series distributed by 20th Century-Fox.

Alan Landsburg Productions will produce a one-hour special for Timex, "In Search of Ancient Mysteries."

TUNING IN ON TV

By JACK GAVER

Producer Edgar Lansbury, who doesn't have much going for him except the internationally duplicated "Godspell" stage musical, its concurrent film version and the London smash-hit stage musical, "Gypsy," starring sister Angela, will produce for NBC a two-hour version of playwright Arthur Miller's "After the Fall." Miller himself adapted his stage work of 1964 for video. Production will be in New York in October.

The role of Della Street, secretary to Perry Mason, will be played by Sharon Acker in the new CBS series starring Monte Markham as the fictional attorney. Miss Acker played Hal Holbrook's wife in the NBC "The Senator" dramas.

Singer Bette Midler, who has attained attention the past couple of seasons as a nightclub singer and recording artist with a flair for the unusual in the handling of pop songs, will have her first television special on ABC during the new season.

Comedy stars Nancy Kulp and Roger Bowen have been added as regulars to NBC's "The Brian Keith Show," the new ew 1973-74 title of "The Little People," in which the star plays a pediatrician in Hawaii.

Dana Wynter will appear in an episode entitled "Come Into My Parlor" on "Great Mysteries Hosted by Orson Welles," a new syndicated series distributed by 20th Century-Fox.

Alan Landsburg Productions will produce a one-hour special for Timex, "In Search of Ancient Mysteries."

KENNETH MORE and Danielle Darrieux seem a bit dubious in a scene from the tender, touching movie, "Loss of Innocence," which will be shown Thursday at 8 p.m. on Channel 2.

Glen's Other Instrument

Here's today's musical quiz: What two instruments does singer Glen Campbell play?

The guitar, sure. What else?

The bagpipes!

The singer said: "I get a lot of enjoyment out of playing the bagpipes. I even play them around the house. The sounds drive my wife mad?the kids don't seem to mind it too much."

Six Hope Specials

Bob Hope will star in six specials for NBC next season in addition to his Bob Hope Golf Tournament in Palm Springs.

Glen's Other Instrument

Here's today's musical quiz: What two instruments does singer Glen Campbell play?

The guitar, sure. What else?

The bagpipes!

The singer said: "I get a lot of enjoyment out of playing the bagpipes. I even play them around the house. The sounds drive my wife mad?the kids don't seem to mind it too much."

Ask Them Yourself

Want to ask a famous person a question? Send the question on a postcard, to "Ask," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022. We'll pay $5 for published questions. Sorry, we can't answer others.

FOR ED McMAHON

Jack Paar's return to a television talk show has proved to be a disappointment. What do you think is the reason?—T. F. Kane, Durham, N.C.

● Jack and his colleagues evidently thought that he could pick up where he left off ten years ago. But because of the many changes in our society, the parade has passed him by. Those water-closet jokes that caused such a furor when he was in his prime would be tame stuff today. The Tonight Show has been on for almost 11 years, and we've kept in close touch with the scene and our viewers. Many of our people who are now 27 years old and married were with us as teenagers. They grew up with us.

FOR AL KALINE, Detroit Tiger baseball star

I've heard that only one batter ever pinch-hit for Ted Williams. Did anybody ever pinch-hit for you?—James McLoskey, Pacoima, Calif.

● Fred Hatfield pinch-hit for me back in 1954. He hit a home run—and he's never let me forget it.

FOR PAT MORROW,
Rita Jacks Harrington of "Peyton Place"

Is it true that you are giving up acting to study law?—B. K., Whittier, Calif.

● No. Someone printed that I hated acting, but that absolutely isn't so. Acting is fun. And it pays. That's the money that is getting me through law school. Eventually I want to be a politician, and my father convinced me that training and a background in law are necessary before entering politics.

FOR JANET LYNN, skating star

It's no secret that you pray before each performance and consider yourself a religious person. Is there any one experience when you felt the presence of the Lord most intensely? —B. A. Martin, Kankakee, Ill.

● Yes. I remember, when I was in the seventh grade, sitting in church. The pastor's sermon brought forth a torrent of tears, and I vowed from that moment to seek a deeper meaning in life.

FOR SEN. CHARLES H. PERCY (R-Ill.)

I hear you have presidential ambitions, but isn't the Watergate scandal draining power from the White House? And shouldn't it?—James Scott, Scranton, Pa.

● The executive branch has had far too much power. The Congress is beginning to reassert itself in an effort to become, once again, a full-fledged and coequal partner in government. But the Congress should be very careful that it does not overplay its hand to the point of defying our constitutional history.

FOR DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

When an adult plays games with children should the adult let them win or play to the best of his adult powers?—Lynnette Paulsen, Lansing, Mich.

● I don't think an adult should pretend to lose to make a child feel better, because that's dishonest. The emphasis in skill games should be on teaching the child better techniques. If the adult wants the child to win, he should play games in which luck is important.

FOR DIZZY DEAN, ex-pitcher, now sportscaster

What is your feeling toward the new "designated hitter" rule in the American League?—Will Page, Statesboro, Ga.

● I don't like seeing that chance at bat being taken away from the pitcher.

FOR SUSAN SAINT JAMES of "McMillan & Wife"

Whatever happened to the baby that Sally was supposed to have at the end of last season?—Barbara A. Wellman, Clinchco, Va.

● The creator and executive producer, Leonard Stern, decided to write the baby out of the script. Rumor has it that the baby couldn't act!

FOR JOHN G. SCHMITZ,
1972 Conservative party presidential candidate

Why was your campaign ignored by the mass media?—William H. Tribe II, Ogden, Utah

● The mass media have generally ignored candidates other than those of the two major parties, except when there was good reason to believe another candidacy might affect the winner of the election. The prospect of my affecting the election was destroyed because Senator McGovern was decisively repudiated by the American people from the beginning.

FOR SEN. ERNEST HOLLINGS (D-S.C.)

What is the advantage of Gerovital, the Rumanian drug that you and other senators are seeking to bring into this country?—R. Z., Hayward, Calif.

● Gerovital, called the "youth drug," is widely used in Europe and Mexico. It was developed by a 73-year-old woman doctor, Ana Aslan, in Bucharest. Tom Eagleton, Howard Cannon of Nevada and I had an Army doctor from Walter Reed Army Medical Center check out the claims for this drug as a cure for arthritis, for making hair grow and general rehabilitation. The doctor came away much impressed. Still, the U.S. bans the drug. I think we ought to obtain its entry into this country to help the elderly.

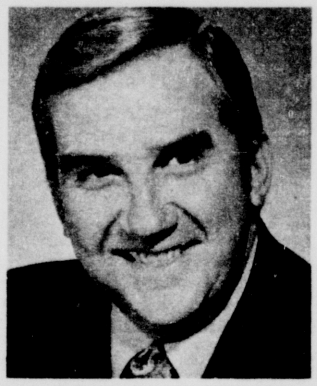
Ask Them Yourself

Want to ask a famous person a question? Send the question on a postcard, to "Ask," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., New York, N.Y. 10022. We'll pay $5 for published questions. Sorry, we can't answer others.



FOR ED McMAHON

Jack Paar's return to a television talk show has proved to be a disappointment. What do you think is the reason?—T. F. Kane, Durham, N.C.

● Jack and his colleagues evidently thought that he could pick up where he left off ten years ago. But because of the many changes in our society, the parade has passed him by. Those water-closet jokes that caused such a furor when he was in his prime would be tame stuff today. The Tonight Show has been on for almost 11 years, and we've kept in close touch with the scene and our viewers. Many of our people who are now 27 years old and married were with us as teenagers. They grew up with us.

FOR AL KALINE, Detroit Tiger baseball star

I've heard that only one batter ever pinch-hit for Ted Williams. Did anybody ever pinch-hit for you?—James McLoskey, Pacoima, Calif.

● Fred Hatfield pinch-hit for me back in 1954. He hit a home run—and he's never let me forget it.

FOR PAT MORROW,
Rita Jacks Harrington of "Peyton Place"

Is it true that you are giving up acting to study law?—B. K., Whittier, Calif.

● No. Someone printed that I hated acting, but that absolutely isn't so. Acting is fun. And it pays. That's the money that is getting me through law school. Eventually I want to be a politician, and my father convinced me that training and a background in law are necessary before entering politics.

FOR JANET LYNN, skating star

It's no secret that you pray before each performance and consider yourself a religious person. Is there any one experience when you felt the presence of the Lord most intensely? —B. A. Martin, Kankakee, Ill.

● Yes. I remember, when I was in the seventh grade, sitting in church. The pastor's sermon brought forth a torrent of tears, and I vowed from that moment to seek a deeper meaning in life.

FOR SEN. CHARLES H. PERCY (R-Ill.)

I hear you have presidential ambitions, but isn't the Watergate scandal draining power from the White House? And shouldn't it?—James Scott, Scranton, Pa.

● The executive branch has had far too much power. The Congress is beginning to reassert itself in an effort to become, once again, a full-fledged and coequal partner in government. But the Congress should be very careful that it does not overplay its hand to the point of defying our constitutional history.

FOR DR. JOYCE BROTHERS

When an adult plays games with children should the adult let them win or play to the best of his adult powers?—Lynnette Paulsen, Lansing, Mich.

● I don't think an adult should pretend to lose to make a child feel better, because that's dishonest. The emphasis in skill games should be on teaching the child better techniques. If the adult wants the child to win, he should play games in which luck is important.

FOR DIZZY DEAN, ex-pitcher, now sportscaster

What is your feeling toward the new "designated hitter" rule in the American League?—Will Page, Statesboro, Ga.

● I don't like seeing that chance at bat being taken away from the pitcher.

FOR SUSAN SAINT JAMES of "McMillan & Wife"

Whatever happened to the baby that Sally was supposed to have at the end of last season?—Barbara A. Wellman, Clinchco, Va.

● The creator and executive producer, Leonard Stern, decided to write the baby out of the script. Rumor has it that the baby couldn't act!

FOR JOHN G. SCHMITZ,
1972 Conservative party presidential candidate

Friendship Between Women: Why It's Different... Why It's Better,

By Rona Jaffe

"Men talk a lot about their old loyalties, their lifetime friends, their old school pals, their old Army buddies, but can they really confide their weaknesses to each other?"

When I was growing up, long before anyone had heard of Women's Lib, most of us little girls were taught that other little girls were not to be trusted: they were catty, selfish, treacherous and would steal your boyfriends, not because they particularly wanted your boyfriends but because it was an instinct born in women to acquire men. Despite this indoctrination, and despite the fact that some of the girls we knew at school were catty, treacherous, and did steal not only boyfriends but clothes and money as well, all of us managed to have close friends, and of course at least one real Best Friend.

Life without one's best girl friend would have been unendurable. Who else would listen to your innermost secrets, never laugh at you, understand, give sympathetic advice, commiserate, and never tell? It was always understood between best friends that no man could ever be the cause of a falling out: if both of you liked the same boy it had to be consecutively, never simultaneously. You could never date your best friend's exboyfriend until she had stated that she was through with him, no matter how many times he appeared at your dorm when she was out and offered to take you for a ride as long as he was there anyway. You were wise to that ploy; that was treacherous. You and your best friend either actually agreed or at least understood by instinct that no casual man, no ego trip, no fling, could ever come between you. He would have to be The Man, and then of course everything would be different, but you both hoped (and really rather knew) that you would never both fall madly in love with the same man at the same time and want him for life, because that was one of the reasons you were such well-matched and trusting girl friends.

When we all grew up and Women's Lib came along to tell us that women were wonderful, any of us who had a best friend already knew it. Men talk a lot about their old loyalties, their lifetime friends, their old school pals, their old Army buddies, but can they really confide their weaknesses to each other? Can they cry in front of their best buddy, unless they're dead drunk and then pretend to have forgotten all about it in the morning? Can they tell each other how afraid they are—not in the foxhole, where pretense is allowed to vanish, but in the office, where sometimes pretense is all there is? Can a man tell his best friend he thinks his wife may be cheating on him, that he's worried sick and what should he do? Can a man tell his best friend that he feels inadequate? There are so many areas in which we humans feel inadequate, and sometimes being able to share these fears with someone close can make them go away. But men seem to have been brought up to act strong, not to admit to weakness and fear, and so when men get together with their best friends it seems they are always doing something: playing tennis, bowling, having a drink, playing cards, fishing, camping, chasing girls, talking business, watching some sports event live or on TV. These are things men can only "do with men." Actually they could do most of them alone or with their dogs, but they choose to do them with their men friends because it is their way of expressing their friendship.

We women, on the other hand, do not have to express our friendship by doing things together. We know that it is usually quicker to shop alone, and when we shop or lunch or play tennis or go to the movies together it is usually for efficiency as well as companionship. When we want to be together we are simply together: we sit down and talk. We talk in our kitchens and living rooms and in restaurants, and we have long talks on the telephone, a gadget

"A man gets off the phone as soon as possible; communication that is not face to face seems to disturb him. Women understand the warmth of a phone talk with one's closest friend...."

to which most men seem to be allergic except when used for business. A man gets off the phone as soon as possible; communication that is not face to face seems to disturb him. Women understand the warmth of a phone talk with one's closest friend when there is a problem to be solved, a fear to be shared and dispersed, or just when one is bored or lonely. Men think they are practical because they use the phone to make dates. We women know we are practical because we use the phone to avoid making dates: why not talk now?

One of the things women who are close friends can talk about at almost inexhaustible length is sickness and health. Men are so squeamish (or are they just indoctrinated still to exude that image of physical invincibility?) that it is a wonder so many men become doctors. Women know that the female body is important and sometimes delicate; we are fascinated by its care and upkeep, we know its well-being is vital. "What did the doctor say?" can set off a monologue between close women friends. Two close men friends would rather talk about what the garage mechanic told them about the car—it's not a threatening subject. But what did the doctor say? "Nothing."

In the giving up of their free time to help each other, men and women are about equal. But the way many women's lives are structured today, with a job and a home to take care of, there is more need of friends to reciprocate in giving up their free time to help other friends, in child-watching or all the fetching and depositing of young children that our busy lives demand, and the women friends come through. Women are much less hesitant than men to ask their friends for favors, largely because we women have always been asked to help, to do things, to come through when there's no one else around, no matter how inconvenient the circumstances, and so we expect the same warmth and courtesy from our close friends that we give to them.

The one area in which women are much more reluctant than men to ask their friends to come through is money. Women very rarely ask their girl friends for a loan, largely because women have been underpaid for so long that we know it would be a silly request. Who has any extra money? Women are still used to asking men for money: father, husband, brother, boss, boyfriend, and if all those fail there's always the man at the bank. Men sometimes ask women for money, and seem to have no guilt about it. Apparently the memory of Mama is still warm in their hearts.

A group of women may look silly dividing the check in a restaurant, but a man looks sillier picking up the check for the whole group when he can't afford it. We women may be phony as can be with strangers we don't trust, but we don't have false pride with our good friends. We know that a good friend is irreplaceable, but a friend you have to fool to keep is not worth keeping. FW

Now! A Naturopathic Doctor says: "Let me show you how you may

'WAKE UP' Sleeping Glands,

See and Feel Yourself Grow Younger"

Here's news about a remarkable discovery — an amazing technique called NATUROPATHIC HEALING that can "wake up" sleeping glands, make you look and feel the way you did 10, 20 years ago!

When you use this remarkable technique, the years seem to melt away like magic! You experience a delightful refreshment of body and spirit which immediately reflects itself in your appearance. Skin tone should quickly improve, so that you actually SEE and FEEL yourself growing younger!

What's more, the Naturopathic way to health is a method of treating the body that is so powerful, I have seen it work even for people suffering from acute or chronic ill health. Relief often comes in minutes!

See And Feel Yourself Grow Younger!

By following this simple method, you may take years off the appearance of your face and body—add years to your life! And in my new book, HEALTH SECRETS OF A NATUROPATHIC DOCTOR, I tell you why!

In this book I show how you may "wake up" sleeping glands that may be making you look and feel years older, relieve painful backaches and other complaints easily, effortlessly, enjoy new vigor, vitality and zest for living you haven't felt for years!

I am convinced that the drying-out tendency, forward bending, and increasing stiffness of the body that we associate with old age does not have to occur at all! Actual clinical tests in hundreds of cases have proven that such changes of "old age" can be greatly slowed down, if not entirely prevented!

And in this book I show you how you may restore the glandular vigor of your youth to make your whole body run like a smoothly-oiled machine!

Now You'll Roll Back The Years!

Let me show you this tested, proven NATUROPATHIC HEALING method that has helped thousands of men and women maintain and regain healthy, vigorous bodies!

People like . . .

- WARREN B., 70, who had developed a stooped and rigid spine. In this book you'll see how he obtained immediate relief, youthful flexibility and freedom of motion with this effortless Naturopathic method. Today, at 90, he looks years younger than he is, is in excellent health, intends to keep his regular job another 25 years, and attributes it all to this wonderful healing method!
- ELAINE W., a nurse, suffering from swollen arms and legs, and puffiness in her face (edema). You'll see how she got rid of her ailment in less than 24 hours with this remarkable method!
- HARRIS S., a doctor who suffered from dizziness so that he was unable to walk unassisted. After a single treatment, the man shouted with joy. He could walk again by himself. The dizziness had magically disappeared!
- LARRY G., aged 56, who had been unable to bend his legs at the knees for twenty-eight years. You'll see how he received a single treatment and is now able to use his legs normally.

These and all the other true stories of real people in real life situations, reported in full in this new book of mine, prove the remarkable effectiveness of what I call NATUROPATHIC HEALING. Surely what has worked for so many others must work for you. It's all spelled out for you, step-by-step, in plain English, with complete easy-to-follow directions.

Simple And Easy To Use!

One of the most astounding things about Naturopathic Healing is the ease with which it works for you! It's all accomplished so pleasantly and enjoyably that it's actually an exhilarating experience in itself!

Now you can use this revolutionary new method for growing younger right in your own home FREE for 10 full days. Yes, if you can read a few simply-told, easy-to-follow instructions, you should achieve your goals of new youth, new health, new vigor, and see startling results in the first 10 days alone!

I'll tell you how to get my book in just a moment, but first I want to tell you about the wonderful help it can give you, how you'll smooth away aches and pains, relieve tensions, and seemingly rejuvenate every muscle, gland and organ in your body.

How To Re-Vitalize Your Entire Body, Cell By Cell!

So new that a new name had to be coined for it, Naturopathic Healing should make you look and feel fresher, younger, far more attractive —almost overnight!

You'll discover how it can . . .

- Help restore skin tone, wipe away wrinkles, give you a youthful jawline!
- Improve digestion and elimination, end constipation troubles!
- Stimulate the vital organs!
- Help relieve painful backaches, foot ailments, unsightly varicose veins!
- Cleanse and purify the bloodstream!
- Activate the glands!
- Help restore and sharpen eyesight and hearing!
- Protect you from colds, flu, and respiratory troubles!
- Soothe the nerves, free you from tension, stress and insomnia!
- Help restore youthful circulation!
- Make unwanted pounds begin to tumble away with NO dieting and NO strenuous exercises!
- Rejuvenate your diet so that your body extracts, to the last drop, every tiny nutrient it needs from food!
- Give you the highest degree of natural immunity from current epidemics!
- A reserve of power that enables you to do all that needs to be done during the day with energy and ambition to spare!
- Help slow down the aging process in muscles, glands and organs to keep them at their peak!
- Help RETAIN and RESTORE your youthful health and appearance—put a feeling of new youthfulness in your body!

Now! Win Back Years Of New Youth, Retain And Restore Your Youthful Health And Appearance!

Let me show you this tested, proven technique that has helped so many men and women maintain or regain their youthful health and appearance! For in this book, I give you the Naturopathic Healing method that saved my life and—for over a quarter of a century—has kept me hearty, fit and vigorous, despite the fact that doctors had given me only one week to live!

The reason this Naturopathic Healing is so successful is that it stimulates certain glands and organs in your body, which otherwise tend to "slow down" and cause premature aging. But this wonderful health method has the effect of reaching deep into your body, giving these glands and organs an effortless internal massage!

And what happens?

HEALTH is what happens! Often instantaneously. In a typical case of backache, for example, within 2 to 15 minutes, pain most mysteriously disappears! You feel more alive, more alert—and a roaring tide of youthful energy floods in to wash away tiredness and fatigue for good!

Naturopathic Health Secrets REVEALED!

I have been using this same technique to help thousands of men and women regain new youth and obtain immediate relief from aches and pains that had been bothering them for years. So effective that even I have often been startled at the results. In this book I give you the full details of this method, and show you:

- A natural remedy for heart and blood vessel conditions which I feel is actually superior to drug therapy. I used this method myself when, in my middle years, doctors gave me one week to live. I could barely stand up, and with dragging feet managed to get around slowly. One month later, I felt stronger than at any other time. I could run and play with the younger set. I felt like shouting to the world about this true panacea. As to the condition of my heart, all pains disappeared like magic and have never returned!
- A special herbal tea which has been used with great success in treating bladder and kidney stones, causing some varieties to dissolve and be eliminated naturally!
- A common tree bark, available in most herbal food stores, which has been used with great success in the treatment of arthritis and rheumatism!
- A delicious and popular "miracle" food, rich in enzymes, ionized minerals, and antibiotics—a source of quick pep and energy, and a proven aid for youthful long life!
- Natural manipulative muscle treatments which I recommend to relieve painful muscle spasm and muscle fatigue; special soaks and tranquilizing baths that also give amazing results!
- Wonderful stretching exercises that should relieve backache, straighten your shoulders, and make you look slimmer, younger, far more attractive!
- An amazing food substance—which you can purchase for pennies without prescription—which is able to stimulate the MANUFACTURE of vitamins IN THE BODY. The amount of vitamins produced naturally in the body this way is said to be from 3 to 50 TIMES the usual amounts taken with our food. And it has been learned that this substance plays an important part in the replacement and rejuvenation of body cells!

And still that's just the beginning! You'll learn of certain foods which have been demonstrated to me to cause hardening of the arteries, kidney disease, wear out the intestinal tract, and speed up the ageing process. And you'll see at long last how to avoid them for a whole lifetime of sparkling good health!

Startling Results!

In this book, I give you the full details of this method, and show you how it has brought instantaneous results to men and women in all walks of life. To people like . . .

- BILL C., who was hospitalized and on the verge of nervous collapse, in such constant agony—due to neck and hip sprain—that sleep was practically impossible! You'll see how he received a single treatment, and in seconds the pain disappeared!
- ETHEL G., a dancer, suffering from excruciating pain in her lower back, and who, in addition, was slightly short of stature and extremely sensitive about her height. In minutes she nearly cried for joy as she felt the instant relief of pains. When her height was checked again, it was found she had grown over one inch!
- LAWRENCE S., suffering for 20 years from pains in neck, spine and hip. After two simple treatments, such as you can give yourself, he was completely relieved of all pain!

Now! A Naturopathic Doctor says: "Let me show you how you may

'WAKE UP' Sleeping Glands,

See and Feel Yourself Grow Younger"

Here's news about a remarkable discovery — an amazing technique called NATUROPATHIC HEALING that can "wake up" sleeping glands, make you look and feel the way you did 10, 20 years ago!

When you use this remarkable technique, the years seem to melt away like magic! You experience a delightful refreshment of body and spirit which immediately reflects itself in your appearance. Skin tone should quickly improve, so that you actually SEE and FEEL yourself growing younger!

What's more, the Naturopathic way to health is a method of treating the body that is so powerful, I have seen it work even for people suffering from acute or chronic ill health. Relief often comes in minutes!

See And Feel Yourself Grow Younger!

By following this simple method, you may take years off the appearance of your face and body—add years to your life! And in my new book, HEALTH SECRETS OF A NATUROPATHIC DOCTOR, I tell you why!

In this book I show how you may "wake up" sleeping glands that may be making you look and feel years older, relieve painful backaches and other complaints easily, effortlessly, enjoy new vigor, vitality and zest for living you haven't felt for years!

I am convinced that the drying-out tendency, forward bending, and increasing stiffness of the body that we associate with old age does not have to occur at all! Actual clinical tests in hundreds of cases have proven that such changes of "old age" can be greatly slowed down, if not entirely prevented!

And in this book I show you how you may restore the glandular vigor of your youth to make your whole body run like a smoothly-oiled machine!

Now You'll Roll Back The Years!

Let me show you this tested, proven NATUROPATHIC HEALING method that has helped thousands of men and women maintain and regain healthy, vigorous bodies!

People like . . .

- WARREN B., 70, who had developed a stooped and rigid spine. In this book you'll see how he obtained immediate relief, youthful flexibility and freedom of motion with this effortless Naturopathic method. Today, at 90, he looks years younger than he is, is in excellent health, intends to keep his regular job another 25 years, and attributes it all to this wonderful healing method!
- ELAINE W., a nurse, suffering from swollen arms and legs, and puffiness in her face (edema). You'll see how she got rid of her ailment in less than 24 hours with this remarkable method!
- HARRIS S., a doctor who suffered from dizziness so that he was unable to walk unassisted. After a single treatment, the man shouted with joy. He could walk again by himself. The dizziness had magically disappeared!
- LARRY G., aged 56, who had been unable to bend his legs at the knees for twenty-eight years. You'll see how he received a single treatment and is now able to use his legs normally.

These and all the other true stories of real people in real life situations, reported in full in this new book of mine, prove the remarkable effectiveness of what I call NATUROPATHIC HEALING. Surely what has worked for so many others must work for you. It's all spelled out for you, step-by-step, in plain English, with complete easy-to-follow directions.

Simple And Easy To Use!

One of the most astounding things about Naturopathic Healing is the ease with which it works for you! It's all accomplished so pleasantly and enjoyably that it's actually an exhilarating experience in itself!

Now you can use this revolutionary new method for growing younger right in your own home FREE for 10 full days. Yes, if you can read a few simply-told, easy-to-follow instructions, you should achieve your goals of new youth, new health, new vigor, and see startling results in the first 10 days alone!

I'll tell you how to get my book in just a moment, but first I want to tell you about the wonderful help it can give you, how you'll smooth away aches and pains, relieve tensions, and seemingly rejuvenate every muscle, gland and organ in your body.

How To Re-Vitalize Your Entire Body, Cell By Cell!

So new that a new name had to be coined for it, Naturopathic Healing should make you look and feel fresher, younger, far more attractive —almost overnight!

You'll discover how it can . . .

- Help restore skin tone, wipe away wrinkles, give you a youthful jawline!
- Improve digestion and elimination, end constipation troubles!
- Stimulate the vital organs!
- Help relieve painful backaches, foot ailments, unsightly varicose veins!
- Cleanse and purify the bloodstream!
- Activate the glands!
- Help restore and sharpen eyesight and hearing!
- Protect you from colds, flu, and respiratory troubles!
- Soothe the nerves, free you from tension, stress and insomnia!
- Help restore youthful circulation!
- Make unwanted pounds begin to tumble away with NO dieting and NO strenuous exercises!
- Rejuvenate your diet so that your body extracts, to the last drop, every tiny nutrient it needs from food!
- Give you the highest degree of natural immunity from current epidemics!
- A reserve of power that enables you to do all that needs to be done during the day with energy and ambition to spare!
- Help slow down the aging process in muscles, glands and organs to keep them at their peak!
- Help RETAIN and RESTORE your youthful health and appearance—put a feeling of new youthfulness in your body!

Now! Win Back Years Of New Youth, Retain And Restore Your Youthful Health And Appearance!

Let me show you this tested, proven technique that has helped so many men and women maintain or regain their youthful health and appearance! For in this book, I give you the Naturopathic Healing method that saved my life and—for over a quarter of a century—has kept me hearty, fit and vigorous, despite the fact that doctors had given me only one week to live!

The reason this Naturopathic Healing is so successful is that it stimulates certain glands and organs in your body, which otherwise tend to "slow down" and cause premature aging. But this wonderful health method has the effect of reaching deep into your body, giving these glands and organs an effortless internal massage!

And what happens?

HEALTH is what happens! Often instantaneously. In a typical case of backache, for example, within 2 to 15 minutes, pain most mysteriously disappears! You feel more alive, more alert—and a roaring tide of youthful energy floods in to wash away tiredness and fatigue for good!

Naturopathic Health Secrets REVEALED!

I have been using this same technique to help thousands of men and women regain new youth and obtain immediate relief from aches and pains that had been bothering them for years. So effective that even I have often been startled at the results. In this book I give you the full details of this method, and show you:

- A natural remedy for heart and blood vessel conditions which I feel is actually superior to drug therapy. I used this method myself when, in my middle years, doctors gave me one week to live. I could barely stand up, and with dragging feet managed to get around slowly. One month later, I felt stronger than at any other time. I could run and play with the younger set. I felt like shouting to the world about this true panacea. As to the condition of my heart, all pains disappeared like magic and have never returned!
- A special herbal tea which has been used with great success in treating bladder and kidney stones, causing some varieties to dissolve and be eliminated naturally!
- A common tree bark, available in most herbal food stores, which has been used with great success in the treatment of arthritis and rheumatism!
- A delicious and popular "miracle" food, rich in enzymes, ionized minerals, and antibiotics—a source of quick pep and energy, and a proven aid for youthful long life!
- Natural manipulative muscle treatments which I recommend to relieve painful muscle spasm and muscle fatigue; special soaks and tranquilizing baths that also give amazing results!
- Wonderful stretching exercises that should relieve backache, straighten your shoulders, and make you look slimmer, younger, far more attractive!
- An amazing food substance—which you can purchase for pennies without prescription—which is able to stimulate the MANUFACTURE of vitamins IN THE BODY. The amount of vitamins produced naturally in the body this way is said to be from 3 to 50 TIMES the usual amounts taken with our food. And it has been learned that this substance plays an important part in the replacement and rejuvenation of body cells!

And still that's just the beginning! You'll learn of certain foods which have been demonstrated to me to cause hardening of the arteries, kidney disease, wear out the intestinal tract, and speed up the ageing process. And you'll see at long last how to avoid them for a whole lifetime of sparkling good health!

Startling Results!

In this book, I give you the full details of this method, and show you how it has brought instantaneous results to men and women in all walks of life. To people like . . .

- BILL C., who was hospitalized and on the verge of nervous collapse, in such constant agony—due to neck and hip sprain—that sleep was practically impossible! You'll see how he received a single treatment, and in seconds the pain disappeared!
- ETHEL G., a dancer, suffering from excruciating pain in her lower back, and who, in addition, was slightly short of stature and extremely sensitive about her height. In minutes she nearly cried for joy as she felt the instant relief of pains. When her height was checked again, it was found she had grown over one inch!
- LAWRENCE S., suffering for 20 years from pains in neck, spine and hip. After two simple treatments, such as you can give yourself, he was completely relieved of all pain!

Rod McKuen—Poet, Songwriter, Singer: How Life Finally Forced Me to Be Myself

By Andamo Crater

FAMILY WEEKLY: With all those hundreds of concerts you do—do you ever get stage fright?

McKUEN: Never. If people pay to see me, we must want to see each other. So what do I have to be afraid of? And I also don't believe in bad audiences. I think you give bad performances. If you don't get to your audience, it's your fault, not theirs. You just have to work that much harder. I go crazy out there sometimes. After I do a few songs, if I feel like I'm not getting to them, I just go bananas. And I work my tail off; I change all the songs right in midstream, switch things around like mad."

FW: Can you tell when you're finally going in the right direction?

McKUEN: Oh yeah—if you can't, you shouldn't be a performer. You know, this year, I will have done 240 concerts in 16 countries. One day, I did three lectures, and for about the last 12 or 13 days I've done two concerts a day.

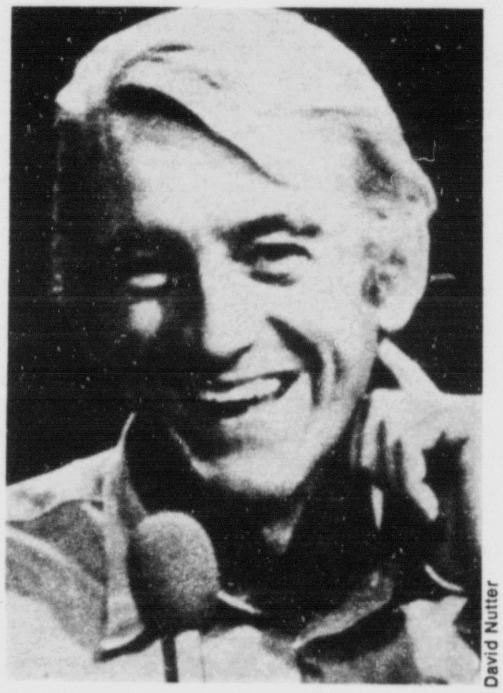
FW: You only began to make it in the late sixties, but I seem to remember your records started showing up as early as 1958 or 1959.

McKUEN: That's right. My first album—"Songs for a Lazy Afternoon"—came out about then. I had a whole different voice then. I lost it singing rock and roll. I had done this rock and roll record as a gag, and after that I found myself doing these concerts. I didn't know how to sing, so I was singing from my throat. I did 80 concerts in eight weeks. By the end of that time, my throat was like hamburger. The doctor said I would never sing again. He also said, "You'll be lucky if you ever talk again." And sure enough, after a few days, I lost my voice completely. It was six months before I could actually talk.

FW: What did you do then?

McKUEN: Well, I went back to California. And I was in the hospital for the first six weeks. I thought to myself: If I can't write and sing the kind of things I want to, I don't want to do anything at all. And it was only then that I began to be successful. But I knew there was no point in my doing rock and roll songs, because there were a lot of other people doing them better than me. And I couldn't say anything within the medium that couldn't be said better by somebody else. So I decided I was going to go my own way.

FW: When did you feel you were getting hold of your audience?



David Nutter

"I'm going to be charitable and not name them, but I think there are singers who sell hundreds of thousands of albums who are afraid to get inside a song and really work it."

McKUEN: It was spooky and strange. It was as though one day you were sort of there, and the next day you were there! I would love to put my finger on that day, but I can't.

FW: Weren't you doing records of your poetry a dozen or so years ago? I remember one called "Beatsville."

McKUEN: I've got to tell you a great story about that album. In fact, there were two albums. The other one was called "Time of Desire." I made them around 1959, and they just sat there on the shelf. When I became a success, the company took those two albums and turned them into 17 albums! Would you believe that?

FW: Why do you write songs?

McKUEN: I think you should have an awfully good excuse to write a song. There should be only three reasons for writing anything. One is to have fun—the most self-indulgent reason. The second one is this—either to write about something nobody else will write about and do it in an intelligent and sensible way, or to write about something that everyone writes about and to write about it differently. Then there's the third reason—the paramount reason for me—I write about people's inability to communicate with each other. And that, to me, is almost a mission in life. I believe in one-to-one communication very strongly. I believe it's the answer to our ills—all of them.

FW: What singers do you like the best?

McKUEN: I'm crazy about Mary Travers. I like Judy Collins and Neil Diamond very much—and, of course, there's Sinatra. I think in my lifetime, there have been two real innovators in music. Sinatra, because he sang on the vowels and because he made every single word understandable. And the Beatles, because they made a form of music, rock, acceptable whether played by the raunchiest rock group or the most sophisticated symphony orchestra.

FW: Do you feel you have been strongly influenced by anyone?

McKUEN: I hate being compared with another writer or singer, but I think you can't help being influenced. We all learned from Sinatra—as writers and as singers. But certainly all Americans have been influenced by Walt Whitman, whether we know it or not. In music, we've been influenced by Aaron Copland, whether we know it or not. It just happens.

FW: Who are you working with these days?

McKUEN: I'm making an album with Hildegard Knef, and another one with Marlene Dietrich. You know, my favorite singers are always people who supposedly can't sing—but who are incredible singers. I love Lotte Lenya's singing and Fred Astaire's.

FW: What does it mean when people say somebody like Fred Astaire can't sing?

McKUEN: It means they can't sing by any musicologist's definition. You know—bel canto. What annoys me even more are the singers who can sing and don't. I'm going to be charitable and not name them, but I think there are singers who sell hundreds of thousands of albums who are afraid to get inside a song and really work it. You know, when Sinatra came to do his album of my songs, he worked incredibly hard. He knew every single song when he came in—there are some very difficult songs to sing in that album. We did the talk songs in 90 minutes, when it would have taken most people three to five hours.

He's a remarkable man.

According to the sports editors of FAMILY WEEKLY newspapers, a certain announcer on UCLA football telecasts this fall will be talking about the exploits of the best college quarterback in the nation.

That sportscaster is Tom Harmon, one of the greatest of all collegiate halfbacks during his days at the University of Michigan and winner of the coveted Heisman Trophy in 1940. He now handles the microphone for KTLA, the Los Angeles television station that carries all UCLA games.

The quarterback whose feats Harmon will be describing, no doubt in glowing yet controlled terms, is Tom's own son, Mark Harmon, a blond-haired senior who stands six feet tall and weighs 185 pounds. Mark has been voted to the quarterback position on FAMILY WEEKLY's third annual All-America team, a 48-player squad chosen by sports editors of the newspapers that bring you this magazine.

In separate balloting, young Harmon, who guided the Bruins to a fine 8-3 record in 1972, was elected the country's best collegiate passer in a close three-way race, narrowly edging out Pacific Eight rival Mike Boryla of Stanford, and left-handed junior David Humm of Nebraska. Boryla is also the son of a famous sports father, Vince Boryla, a former college and pro basketball star who is now general manager of the ABA's Utah Stars.

Harmon, who ran UCLA's wide-open wishbone attack to near-perfection a year ago, completed 30 of 70 passes for six touchdowns, and ran for 444 yards and seven more touchdowns. In gaining his berth on the All-America first team, Mark beat out another running-passing quarterback, Condredge Holloway, a junior at Tennessee.

The other winners in the "best" voting—to select the top runner and lineman in the nation—won their first-team berths with ease. Anthony Davis of the University of Southern California, last year's national champion and UCLA's cross-town rival, received an overwhelming 80 percent of the votes cast for running back, and was acclaimed top runner in the land by an even wider margin. In both cases, the runner-up to Davis, a 5-9, 190-pound junior, was Arizona State senior Woody Green.

Lucious Selmon of Oklahoma drew almost 90 percent of the votes for the first-team berth at middle guard, and the 6-1, 224-pound senior also was elected the best lineman in the country by an almost 20-vote margin over Notre Dame's prodigious sophomore defensive tackle, 265-pound Steve Niehaus. John Hicks, Ohio State's 255-pound offensive tackle, also received considerable support in the "best lineman" category.

Southern Cal's Davis, who likes to be called A. D. rather than Anthony, and absolutely never answers to "Tony," had a serious automobile accident last January that nearly ended his athletic career. Davis suffered a cut (but not severed) Achilles tendon, and a punctured right kneecap, plus numerous cuts and abrasions. But he healed quickly and demonstrated he would be back in the Trojan lineup this fall when he batted .360 and stole four bases while performing as a utility outfielder for the Southern Cal baseball team in 15 games last spring.

A. D.'s athletic forte, however, is football. Trojan Coach John McKay started him slowly last season, and in the first seven games of the year Davis gained a relatively meager 356 yards. Then, in the next two games, he ran 206 and 195 yards respectively against Oregon and Washington State. In the regular season finale against a tough Notre Dame squad, Southern Cal romped, 45-23, and A. D. scored all six of his team's touchdowns, two on kickoff returns of 97 and 96 yards. When Southern Cal completed its undefeated 12-0 season by crushing Ohio State, 42-17, in the Rose Bowl, Davis rolled for 157 more yards on the ground for a season's total of 1,191 and a per carry average of 5.8 yards.

Oklahoma's Selmon is the second consecutive middle guard from the Big Eight to be voted the nation's best lineman in the FAMILY WEEKLY All-America balloting. In 1972, Selmon played in the shadow of Nebraska's Rich Glover, last year's "best lineman" and a nearly unanimous choice to post-season All-America teams. This year Selmon should direct more attention toward himself.

Lucious has two younger brothers also playing football for Oklahoma—LeRoy, a defensive tackle, and Dewey, a back-up middle guard. Lucious made 83 tackles in 1972, ten of them resulting in 48 yards in losses by the opposition. He also broke up two passes and recovered two fumbles. Selmon was a defensive tackle for the Sooners as a sophomore two years ago, but was moved to middle guard in spring practice of 1972.

Southern California, with "best runner" Davis, will get a chance to face the other two FAMILY WEEKLY "bests" this season. The Trojans host Oklahoma for a night game on September 29, and meet UCLA on November 24 in the last game

Place-kicker
Ricky Townsend
Tennessee: 6-2, 198

Greg Gantt
Alabama: 6-1, 190

When all other means of scoring fail, our first offensive team can call on Tennessee's junior place-kicking whiz, Ricky Townsend, who kicked 12 field goals and converted all 31 of his extra-point tries last season. Kicker on the defensive team is Greg Gantt of Alabama, from the same Southeastern Conference as Townsend.

position on FAMILY WEEKLY's third annual All-America team, a 48-player squad chosen by sports editors of the newspapers that bring you this magazine.

In separate balloting, young Harmon, who guided the Bruins to a fine 8-3 record in 1972, was elected the country's best collegiate passer in a close three-way race, narrowly edging out Pacific Eight rival Mike Boryla of Stanford, and left-handed junior David Humm of Nebraska. Boryla is also the son of a famous sports father, Vince Boryla, a former college and pro basketball star who is now general manager of the ABA's Utah Stars.

Harmon, who ran UCLA's wide-open wishbone attack to near-perfection a year ago, completed 30 of 70 passes for six touchdowns, and ran for 444 yards and seven more touchdowns. In gaining his berth on the All-America first team, Mark beat out another running-passing quarterback, Condredge Holloway, a junior at Tennessee.

The other winners in the "best" voting—to select the top runner and lineman in the nation—won their first-team berths with ease. Anthony Davis of the University of Southern California, last year's national champion and UCLA's cross-town rival, received an overwhelming 80 percent of the votes cast for running back, and was acclaimed top runner in the land by an even wider margin. IN THIS GRIND-EM-OUT WORLD, ISN'T IT NICE TO KNOW SOME PEOPLE REFUSE TO GRIND-EM-OUT?

We're sticklers about how Kent is made.

That's why Kent is probably the most quality-tested cigarette made.

We try to get rid of any taste-robbing imperfections before a Kent ever sees the light of a match. (Over 200 different quality checks in the manufacturing end, alone.)

But Kent quality goes beyond that.

We go to 3 continents, 4 countries and 10 states to find the right kind of tobaccos for the milder Kent blend.

To complement this blend, we even invented our own filter, the famous Micronite filter—to smooth the flavor of Kent.

Why are we so adamant about how Kent is made?

Because, that way we can give you the mild, smooth taste that makes Kent what it is: America's quality cigarette.

of the season and what could be a classic Pacific Eight showdown.

There are five Trojans on FAMILY WEEKLY's first team, giving Southern Cal the largest representation of any school. Joining Davis as first-team selections are wide receiver Lynn Swann, defensive end James Sims, and defensive back Artimus Parker, all seniors, and linebacker Richard Wood, a junior.

Texas has the second largest contingent on the first team, including Roosevelt Leaks, the junior fullback who won his position by nearly 40 votes over UCLA senior James McAlister, who also is one of the nation's finest long jumpers in track. Center Bill Wyman and guard Don Crosslin are the other Longhorns on the first offensive squad, and Texas' Glen Gaspard makes the defensive team at one of the three linebacking spots.

Notre Dame is represented by three players on the first team. Mike Townsend, a senior, drew more votes for a defensive back berth than anyone else. In the closest race for any position, Frank Pomarico, another Notre Dame senior, won one of the guard spots, with Crosslin of Texas right behind. Tyler Lafauci of Louisiana State and Bon Boatwright of Oklahoma State were only a few votes back and made the second team.

Boryla Humm

Mark Harmon (first team) and Condredge Holloway (second team) landed the available berths, but Nebraska's Dave Humm and Stanford's Mike Boryla were strong in the voting.

Niehaus, the sophomore defensive tackle, is the third Notre Dame player on our first team. Under the new eligibility rule permitting freshmen to play varsity football at most of the nation's colleges, Steve made the Fighting Irish regular squad last year and was having a brilliant season when a knee injury sidelined him after four games. Expert opinion contends that Niehaus still could be the finest defensive lineman ever produced in the proud football history at South Bend.

Penn State placed two men on the first team, tight end Dan Natale on offensive and tackle Randy Crowder on defense. Ohio State placed Hicks at offensive tackle, and a big linebacker, Randy Gradishar, on the first team. Alabama's 6-6 defensive end John Croyle is the tallest man on either the first or second team, and the Crimson Tide is also represented by punter Greg Gantt. Nebraska, famous for its giant offensive linemen over the years, has another topflight performer in this tradition: 247-pound tackle Daryl White.

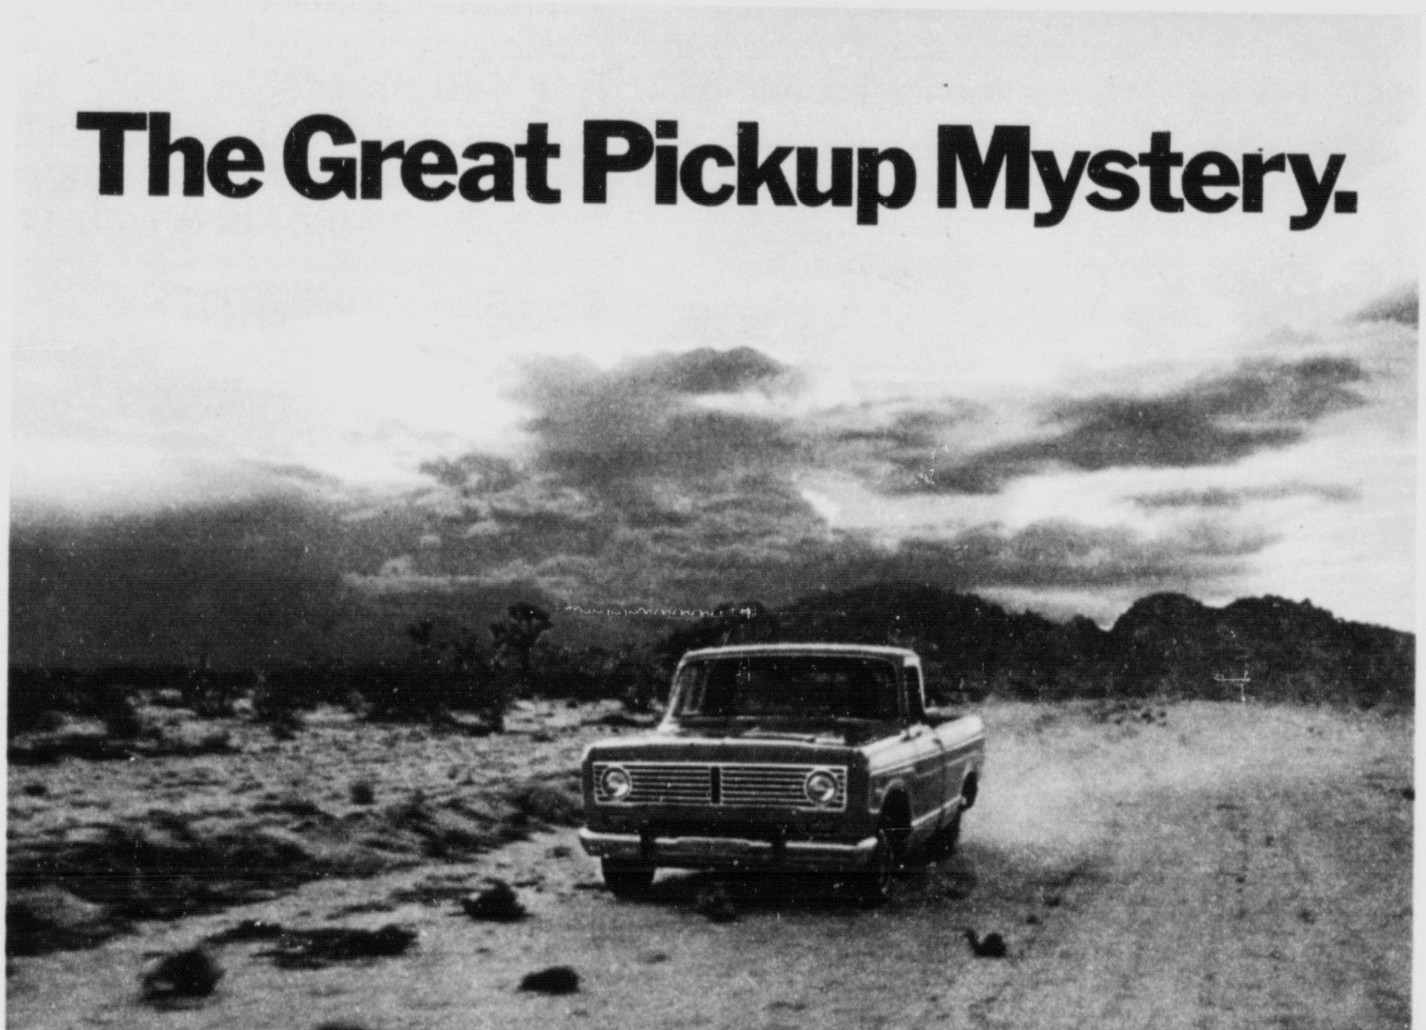
The Great Pickup Mystery.



When most people think about buying a pickup they usually think about just two makes—Ford and Chevy.

Which is precisely why we call INTERNATIONAL "The Other Pickup."

But just because we're not exactly a household word doesn't mean we don't make a great pickup truck. We do.

And if we could just get people to look at us they'd make some surprising discoveries.

First, we have a really smooth ride. And we handle beautifully. And you can select an economical six or any one of three powerful V-8's. Or choose between torsion bar or leaf spring suspension. Or have automatic transmission, power steering and power brakes.

And there's important safety features like a collapsible steering column, a fuel tank located outside the cab and an anti-skid system, available on two models.

So before you buy a pickup, try ours.

How the All-America Voting Went

Here's the way the FAMILY WEEKLY All-America college football team for 1973 developed, position-by-position:

Quarterback: The wishbone offense, which places a premium on a quarterback who can run as well as pass, is the most popular in American college football today. Mark Harmon of UCLA, who runs the Bruins' wishbone attack, and another versatile quarterback, Condredge Holloway of Tennessee, ran one-two for the quarterback job. Nebraska's David Humm, a fine passer, was only a few votes behind them. Harmon, who also is a fine passer but apparently was favored as the first-team quarterback because of his all-round versatility, was voted "best passer," with Mike Boryla of Stanford a close second. Humm was third in this category, only two votes behind Boryla.

Running back: Southern Cal's A. D. Davis won by a landslide, with Woody Green of Arizona State second and Charley Davis of Colorado slightly behind him. A. D. won by an even wider margin in the "best runner" voting.

Fullback: Roosevelt Leaks won over UCLA's James McAlister, with Michigan's Ed Shuttlesworth a strong challenger.

Tight end: In a close race that wasn't determined until the final ballots were counted, Dan Natale of Penn State edged J. V. Cain of Colorado. Henry Childs of Kansas State was another vote-getter.

Wide receiver: Lynn Swann of Southern Cal and Jack Alvarez of Kentucky won top berths. Alvarez held off Danny Buggs of West Virginia and Air Force's Frank Murphy by only a few votes. Bob Revelle of Nebraska and Bill Buckley of Mississippi State had support.

Offensive tackle: Daryl White of Nebraska and John Hicks of Ohio State were front-runners all the way, finishing ahead of Buddy Brown of Alabama and Eddie Foster of Oklahoma. Charlie Getty of Penn State was fifth in the voting.

Offensive guards: Frank Pomarico of Notre Dame finished way ahead of the field. Texas' Don Crosslin nosed out both Tyler Lafauci of LSU and Bon Boatwright of Oklahoma State for the other first-team guard berth. John Houser of Arizona State and Bob Wolfe of Nebraska both had strong support.

Center: Bill Wyman of Texas and William McDonald of Colorado finished one-two and nosed out another contender, Mike McNeely of Syracuse.

Place-kicker: Ricky Townsend of Tennessee was first, nudging Rich Sanger of Nebraska; Fred Lima of Colorado was third.

Defensive ends: James Sims of Southern Cal and John Croyle of Alabama finshed ahead of Mike Truax of Tulane and Van DeCree of Ohio State. Malcolm Minnick of Texas, Orrin Olsen of Brigham Young and Steve Manstedt of Nebraska all were in contention.

Defensive tackles: Steve Niehaus of Notre Dame, Randy Crowder of Penn State, Steve Cassidy of LSU and Benny Sivley of Auburn finished in that order. Robert Pulliam of Tennessee and Dave Gallagher of Michigan had strong support.

Middle guard: Oklahoma's Lucious Selmon was way ahead of Tony Christiani of Miami (Fla.) in the first-team balloting; Paul Vellano of Maryland and Mike Phillips of Cornell both had backers. Selmon won the "best lineman" designation by 18 votes over Steve Niehaus, Notre Dame's defensive tackle. Others attracting votes were John Hicks of Ohio State and Daryl White of Nebraska, both offensive tackles, and Randy Gradishar, Ohio State linebacker.

Linebackers: Richard Wood of Southern Cal and Randy Gradishar of Ohio State had a wide margin over all other candidates. Glen Gaspard of Texas earned a spot on the first team by a few-vote margin over Warren Capone of LSU. Chuck Strickland of Alabama, Ed O'Neill of Penn State, and Michigan State's Ray Nester were next in the balloting.

Defensive backs: Mike Townsend of Notre Dame, the top choice, was well ahead of Artimus Parker of Southern Cal, who, in turn, was well ahead of Jimmy Allen of UCLA. Randy Rhino of Georgia Tech, who narrowly missed the first team, finished ahead of David Langner of Auburn. Paul Hayner of Michigan State and Harry Harrison of Mississippi were close behind.

Punter: Greg Gantt of Alabama made the first team by turning back Michigan State's Bill Simpson. In third place was Rusty Jackson of LSU.

Defensive ends: James Sims of Southern Cal and John Croyle of Alabama finshed ahead of Mike Truax of Tulane and Van DeCree of Ohio State. Malcolm Minnick of Texas, Orrin Olsen of Brigham Young and Steve Manstedt of Nebraska all were in contention.

Defensive tackles: Steve Niehaus of Notre Dame, Randy Crowder of Penn State, Steve Cassidy of LSU and Benny Sivley of Auburn finished in that order. Robert Pulliam of Tennessee and Dave Gallagher of Michigan had strong support.

Middle guard: Oklahoma's Lucious Selmon was way ahead of Tony Christiani of Miami (Fla.) in the first-team balloting; Paul Vellano of Maryland and Mike Phillips of Cornell both had backers. Selmon won the "best lineman" designation by 18 votes over Steve Niehaus, Notre Dame's defensive tackle. Others attracting votes were John Hicks of Ohio State and Daryl White of Nebraska, both offensive tackles, and Randy Gradishar, Ohio State linebacker.

Linebackers: Richard Wood of Southern Cal and Randy Gradishar of Ohio State had a wide margin over all other candidates. Glen Gaspard of Texas earned a spot on the first team by a few-vote margin over Warren Capone of LSU. Chuck Strickland of Alabama, Ed O'Neill of Penn State, and Michigan State's Ray Nester were next in the balloting.

Defensive backs: Mike Townsend of Notre Dame, the top choice, was well ahead of Artimus Parker of Southern Cal, who, in turn, was well ahead of Jimmy Allen of UCLA. Randy Rhino of Georgia Tech, who narrowly missed the first team, finished ahead of David Langner of Auburn. Paul Hayner of Michigan State and Harry Harrison of Mississippi were close behind.

Punter: Greg Gantt of Alabama made the first team by turning back Michigan State's Bill Simpson. In third place was Rusty Jackson of LSU.

In this picture, everybody has a gimmick . . . almost everybody. Try picking the one who doesn't go along. 1. No way. He's Gerry Atric, over-the-hill hippie. Irons his hair twice daily. Cigarettes taste just as flat. Gimmick: Watching bowling pins "do their own thing, man." 2. Naomi Glowsoul. Gimmick: Uses so much body english that police have raided the place four times. 3. Nope. It's Angie "The Arm" Kugelman. Throws so hard three automatic pinsetting machines have quit. Smokes cigarettes so heavily filtered, he's like a man giving mouth-to-mouth resuscitation to a rock. 4. Right. He just likes bowling, not gimmicks. Likes his cigarette honest and no-nonsense, too. Camel Filters. Easy and good tasting. 5. Zooty Smith. Gimmick: Has worn same good luck clothes since he broke 125 in 1942. Smart Cooking

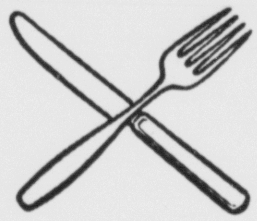
This week, Food Editor Marilyn Hansen prepares turkey wings for the barbecue. "With prices what they are," says Marilyn, "turkey wings—which are available frozen in most supermarkets—are a good answer for many families. (Don't confuse them with chicken wings: Turkey wings are surprisingly meaty and filling.)"

Turkey Wings: A Dollar-Saving Idea for the Barbecue



MARILYN'S MENU

Celery Hearts and Olives
Cranberry Barbecued Turkey Wings*
Crunchy Cheese Tomatoes* Corn Fritters
Country-Garden Salad Bowl*
Fresh Peach Cobbler
Iced Tea Coffee Buttermilk

*Recipe given

CRANBERRY BARBECUED TURKEY WINGS

8 (about 6 lbs.) frozen turkey wings, thawed*
1½ qts. water
1 teaspoon salt
1 onion, quartered
8 peppercorns
½ teaspoon thyme leaves
1 carrot, quartered
1 stalk celery with leaves

Cranberry Barbecue Sauce:
1 can (1 lb.) cranberry sauce
1 cup ketchup or chili sauce
½ cup water
¼ cup firmly packed light-brown sugar
¼ cup butter or margarine
½ teaspoon salt
½ teaspoon garlic powder
¼ teaspoon chili powder

1. Place turkey wings in large 6-8-qt. kettle or Dutch oven. Add remaining ingredients. Bring to boiling. Reduce heat and simmer uncovered 1-1½ hours, or until tender.

2. Remove turkey wings from broth, wrap and refrigerate. Pour broth into container, cover and refrigerate. (Use for soup.)

3. Make Cranberry Barbecue Sauce: In 2-qt. saucepan combine all ingredients.

4. Bring mixture to boiling, stirring to break up cranberry sauce. Reduce heat and simmer uncovered 10-15 minutes, stirring occasionally.

5. Place cooked turkey wings on grill, 4 inches from hot coals. Brush with Cranberry Barbecue Sauce.

6. Broil for about 15 minutes. Turn, brush with barbecue sauce and continue cooking for another 7-10 minutes, basting frequently. When wings are sizzling hot and crusty, serve. Makes 8 servings

CRUNCHY CHEESE TOMATOES

1 cup herb-seasoned stuffing mix
1 tablespoon freeze-dried chives
¼ cup shredded sharp Cheddar cheese
⅛ teaspoon ground black pepper
¼ cup butter or margarine, melted
4 underripe or green tomatoes, halved

1. Preheat oven to 400°F. In medium bowl combine stuffing mix, chives, cheese and pepper. Add butter, toss to combine.

2. Line a shallow baking pan with foil. Spoon about 2 tablespoons crumb mixture on top of each tomato half.

3. Bake about 15 minutes, or until tomatoes are fork-tender and topping is golden brown. Makes 8 servings

COUNTRY-GARDEN SALAD BOWL

1 qt. washed, chilled, torn romaine lettuce leaves
1 qt. washed, chilled, torn iceberg lettuce leaves
½ qt. washed, chilled, torn chicory leaves
½ qt. washed, chilled, torn escarole leaves
1 cup thinly sliced radishes
½ cup thinly sliced green onions
2 cups thinly sliced cucumbers
½ cup coarsely grated carrot
1 packet (0.7 ozs.) cheese-garlic salad-dressing mix
Tarragon vinegar
Vegetable oil
Water

1. Place greens in large plastic bags. Seal with twisters, refrigerate. Place radishes, green onions, cucumbers and carrot in separate small plastic bags. Seal with twisters, refrigerate.

2. At serving time toss greens together in large salad bowl. (If you do not have a bowl large enough, use two smaller salad bowls.)

3. Scatter radishes, green onions, cucumbers and carrot on top of greens. Cover and refrigerate if not serving immediately.

4. Make up salad dressing according to package directions with tarragon vinegar, vegetable oil and water.

5. Toss greens with salad dressing, using a fourth cup dressing at a time, just until leaves are coated. Serve immediately.

Makes 8 servings

Don't Let This Summer Destroy Your Complexion

The summer months may be a recreation season for you, but a near-disaster for your complexion. You enjoy a change of pace that ought to bring your face a relaxed, younger-looking expression. But instead you may end the three-month summer season looking decidedly older.

A single summer day can be a little like a whirlwind tour through all the climates of the world. You swim, then bake yourself on a sandy beach under a desert-like sun. You take wind-swept car rides. You step from sun-baked pavements, squinting against the glare, into chill air-conditioned restaurants or stores. A sudden summer storm leaves the air steaming and humid. Your complexion is exposed to a wide variety of environments, each with shocking suddenness.

Is it any wonder that your skin becomes dryer as the days pass? The dryer your skin, the more that dryness emphasizes little lines and wrinkles. And the older you look. But there's no need to despair. It is possible to enjoy the pleasures of summer and still maintain your youthful look.

Many younger-looking women, from Acapulco to Sydney, discovered that they can barely get through the summer happily without their beautiful secret, the unique fluid known in the United States as Oil of Olay beauty lotion. This summer, share the secret, the lovely benefits of this world-renowned blend. Oil of Olay was created by beauty researchers to soften and silken a woman's complexion. The complexion-cherishing lotion contains a wealth of natural moisture, tropical moisturizing oils and other emollients.

Oil of Olay, available at drugstores, penetrates the important surface layer of the skin quickly, working with nature to ease away the dryness that can make you look older. The beauty blend helps maintain the oil-moisture balance, an essential element necessary for your complexion to look as young as possible. The skin-loving liquid also sets up an effective barrier to keep nature's own moisture from surrendering to sudden environmental changes.

You will know when your skin would welcome Oil of Olay. Whenever it feels dry or slightly tight or rough to the touch, your complexion is asking for, and needs, all the help it can get from the beauty blend.

No matter how often you soothe on cherishing Oil of Olay during the day, apply at bedtime, so it can work its wonders during nocturnal hours. And in the morning, as a moisty, non-greasy makeup base that lets cosmetics stay fresh for hours.

Summer Beauty Hints

Gently bathe away your sun-protective lotion after sunning. Pat your body almost dry, then soothe your still-damp skin with Oil of Olay wherever the sun's rays have reached you.

* * *

During these months when the need for Oil of Olay® is great, always carry a bottle with you . . . to the beach, on weekend trips, when going shopping.

GUARANTEED!

TRIPLE YOUR MONEY IN LESS THAN 30 DAYS...OR GET YOUR MONEY BACK!

THAT'S RIGHT! Now there's a guaranteed-safe way for you to TRIPLE your money in 30 days or less . . . without risking one red cent! You can start small or start large . . . watch a $50.00 investment grow to $150.00, or watch $500.00 grow to $1,500.00 — all within a month! Or you can start with no investment whatsoever, and still pocket a fantastic 200% PROFIT on every easy sale of Merlite Jewelry!

EVERYBODY IS BUYING MERLITE JEWELRY . . . and as soon as you send for your FREE Merlite Profit Outfit, they'll be buying it from YOU! It's a pleasant way to turn a few spare-time hours each week into a handsome second income. You don't need a "sales pitch," you don't need to knock on doors, you don't need to do any hard work at all. Just SHOW Merlite Jewelry to folks you know, and watch these stunning creations sell themselves!

How much money will you make as a Merlite Dealer? There's no way of telling until you've tried — but some of our better Dealers report they've made anywhere from $25.00 to $100.00 in a single hour!

A FULL LINE OF POPULARLY PRICED QUALITY JEWELRY . . . FROM ONE RELIABLE SOURCE

Merlite Industries, a famous name in Direct Selling for over 25 years, has assembled an incomparable collection of the world's most beautiful jewelry for men and women: rings, watches, pendants, fashion accessories, gift items . . . all priced to sell and sell FAST at just $6.00 to $75.00 each. And, because we allow you a full 200% profit as a Merlite Dealer, YOU earn from $4.00 to $50.00 every time you make a sale!

There are dozens of fast-selling styles featuring the fabulous Merlite DIA-SIM®, the man-made simulated diamond that's so hard, so brilliant, so blazingly beautiful that only a trained jeweler can be sure it's not a real diamond. Diamonds cost as much as $1,500.00 per carat . . . but YOU can offer your friends the amazing DIA-SIM® for as little as $15.00 per carat, hand-set in a magnificent ring!

In addition to the DIA-SIM®, the Merlite Collection includes nearly every other popular gemstone, either in natural or high-fidelity simulated form — emeralds, rubies, garnets, opals, star sapphires, and dozens of others. These exquisite stones are mounted in luxurious, designer-created settings of 10K filled gold, 18K heavy gold electroplate, sterling silver, even solid 14K gold! What's more, every Merlite creation is provided with an elegant Gift Case at no extra charge — AND with a written Lifetime Guarantee of Satisfaction!

COMPUTERIZED ORDER PROCESSING GIVES YOU SAME-DAY SHIPMENT

Merlite Dealers enjoy an important sales "plus" in our fully computerized Order Processing System, which assures you of lightning-fast handling of all your orders. And because we maintain a full, million-dollar inventory of merchandise right in our own warehouse, most orders will be on their way to you or your customers within 24 hours of receipt. What's more, we'll drop-ship directly to your customers, if you wish, so that you don't have to spend valuable time making deliveries. There is NO CHARGE for this extra service!

YOUR CHOICE OF TWO NO-RISK MONEY-MAKING PLANS

As a Merlite Dealer, there are TWO ways for you to make the most fantastic profits of your life. If you wish, you can start without investing a penny in inventory; simply show our bargain-packed, full-color Customer Presentation Catalogue to your friends, collect your money, and forward the orders to us for immediate delivery.

Or start with a protected inventory and make money even faster by offering on-the-spot delivery. Our first-order refund policy protects you completely: whether your first order is small or large, we GUARANTEE that you'll sell it quickly and easily within the first 30 days. If not, Merlite will buy back any unsold items from your first order, any time within 30 days of your receiving it, no questions asked! And under either plan, you make a full 200% profit on every sale!

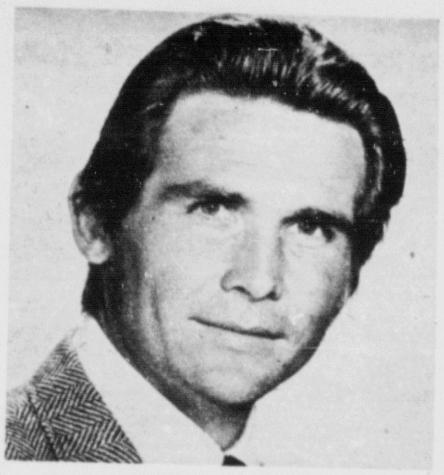
What in the World!



JAMES BROLIN
"Libbers aren't direct"

James Brolin, costar of TV's "Marcus Welby M.D.," talks about Women's Lib: "Somebody asked me what I thought of a woman directing, and I said I think it's fantastic if she can put out the product; but in the meantime, she may lose a lot of her femininity and the thing that makes her attractive to men—which, in the end, is what many liberationists are after. They're after the attention of men, in a sense. That may be a generalization, but to tell you the truth, I think that Women's Lib is not a direct honesty. Sometimes, the Libbers have appeared very frivolous and expressed themselves in terms of not having their cigarettes lit, their doors opened and other things like that, but that's not what they're really about. It's just a way to get attention for other things underneath."

"Astute physicians have for years known empirically that there is a connection between nutrition and mood. Patients who complained of depression, anxiety, irritability, or just general confused thinking, frequently reveal that they are not getting enough of one or more basic nutrients. When these nutrients are restored to the diet, complaints of problematic moods vanish. . . . If a nutritional deficiency exists, the cells of the brain and the central and peripheral nervous systems may function below capacity. Thus, while it may not be literally true that we are what we eat, we are undeniably affected by food, in mental as well as physical ways." From "Depression, A Layman's Guide to the Symptoms and Cures," by Paul Gillette and Marie Hornbeck (Outerbridge and Lazard, $5.95).

"GLOBTIK TOKYO"
Only 477,000 tons, dripping wet

How big is big? For the biggest ship in the world, the "Globtik Tokyo," big means almost a quarter of a mile long, and 79 tennis courts would not be too much for this ship to accommodate. Constructed in Japan, this monster tanker is the biggest moving thing ever built by man. She weighs only a light 477,000 tons deadweight, and her deck area is 25,000 square yards. She carries a crew of 38 men and has a service speed of 15 knots.

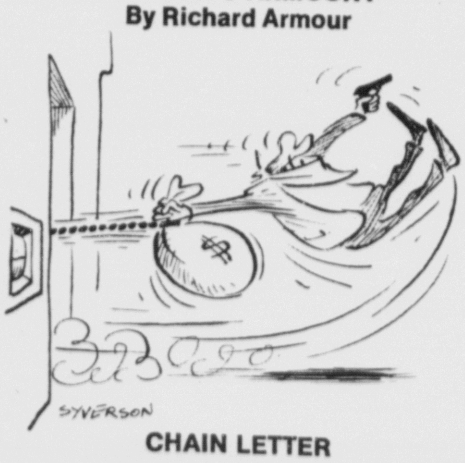
ARMOUR'S ARMOURY
By Richard Armour



CHAIN LETTER

Our bank has pens its patrons use;
On tables they are found.
The pens cannot be carried off,
For they with chains are bound.

Some, filling out deposit slips,
I note reveal disgust
To think that chains should bind these pens
And show such lack of trust.

But my reaction's different,
As I am glad to tell:
I'm glad the bank's like this and hope
My money's chained as well.

To err is human but to really foul things up requires a computer.

THROUGH A CHILD'S EYES
Kids see life differently. Send original contributions to "Child," Family Weekly, 641 Lexington Ave., N.Y., N.Y. 10022. $10 if used—none returned.

I was showing my nine-year-old son the bridesmaid's dress his sister was going to wear in their cousin's wedding.

"What do I have to do in the wedding?" he asked. "Nothing," I replied. "We'll just sit together and watch." "Good," he sighed. "I thought I might have to be a pallbearer or something!"
